PREVENTED OPENING OF BALLOT BOXES

Chairman Hannegan and Fourth Ward Leader Submit Petition — Latter Indicted in Election Investigation.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 17.—Frank P. Aschemeyer, St. Louis lawyer, who recently prevented the grand jury from obtaining ballot boxes in its investigation of primary election frauds, has been recommended to Gov. Park by a majority of the Democratic City Committee for appointment as Judge of the Supreme Court, Division No. 1. John T. Fitzsimmons was elected to the position but died four days after his election.

The indorsement was made in the form of a petition, signed by 39 of the 56 members of the committee, brought to Jefferson City last Thursday and presented to the Governor by Robert E. Hannegan, chairman of the committee, and Jimmy Miller, Fourth Ward Committeeman and boss of the river wards.

Governor Park received the petition without comment, he later told the Post-Dispatch correspondent, and filed it away, to be considered later on with other recommendations that might be made. He said he would not fill the vacancy until near the end of the year.

The Governor did not indicate what he would do about the recommendation. In response to inquiry he said he knew of Aschemeyer and of the latter's part in procuring the Supreme Court order a few days before the election that hampered the grand jury investigation.

Inquiry Caused Indictments.

The case taken to the Supreme Court by Aschemeyer was intended to prevent the opening of the primary election ballot box in the Thirteenth Precinct of the Fourth Ward, where Committeeman Miller "votes 'em like a machine," as he has expressed it. Aschemeyer purported to represent Edward F. Kelly, a voter in that precinct. In a preceding similar case Aschemeyer appeared before the Supreme Court, purporting to represent William Dengel voter in the fifteenth precinct of the same ward.

Despite this handicap the grand jury proceeded with the inquiry and subsequently indicted Committeeman Miller and several others. Miller was indicted on election day on two charges of obstructing and hindering Republican challengers at polling places in his ward.

Aschemeyer has offices in the Telephone building. Last year's city directory listed him as having an office in the suite of the law firm of Eagleton, Henwood & Waechter on another floor. James A. Waechter of this firm is chairman of the Election Board. Gov. Park said he heard that Waechter also was in Jefferson City Thursday, but asserted Waechter did not accompany Hannegan and Miller to his office with the Aschemeyer indorsement.

Names on Petition.

Members of the committee besides Hannegan and Miller who signed Aschemeyer's petition were: M. J. Whalen, Twenty-second Ward; Charles J. Hunt, Twenty-sixth Ward; James J. Fitzsimmons, and Mada Wood, Eighth Ward; Joseph J. Mestres and Rose Diepenbrock, Seventh Ward; Herbert Schmitt and Mrs. Lottie Walsh, Sixteenth Ward; Mrs. Ann Jablonsky, Eighteenth Ward; George Gray, Second Ward; Mrs. Kate Butler, Twenty-first Ward; L. A. May and Mrs. Cathryn Roden, Twenty-seventh Ward; M. J. McGee, Twelfth Ward; A. J. Murray, Eleventh Ward; Mrs. P. H. Hogan, Fifteenth Ward; Mrs. Charlotte O'Connor, Fourth Ward; Dewey J. L. & N. PRESIDENT, W. R. COLE, DIES; STRICKEN ON TRAIN

On Way Home to Louisville After Consulting Doctor When End Comes —60 Years Old.

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 17. — Whitefoord R. Cole, president of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, died of heart disease today in his private car aboard the L. & N. Pan-American. He was 60 years old.

Mr. Cole came here from New York last night and went to Nashville to visit his physician. He had been ill and complained today of pains in his chest. He was on his way home when stricken.

A Negro porter who was with the railroad head when he collapsed, pulled the signal cord and stopped the train near Cave City, Ky. The conductor decided to go on to Cave City, where a doctor pronounced Mr. Cole dead. The train continued to Louisville with the body.

A physician on the train said death apparently was caused by angina pectoris.

Mrs. Cole, the former Mary Connor Bass of Nashville, met the train on its arrival, a few minutes after her son's wife, Mrs. Whitefoord Russell Cole Jr., became the mother of an 8-pound boy.

Mr. Cole became president of the L. & N. in 1926. His father, Col. Edmund W. Cole, was president of the Nashville & Chattanooga Railroad during the Civil War. During the World War, the son was chairman of the board of that line, now the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, subsidiary of the L. & N.

Mr. Cole succeeded the late W. N. Mapother as president of the L. & N. He was born Jan. 14, 1874, at Nashville, was graduated from the college of Vanderbilt University in 1894. At the age of 26 he was elected a director of his father's company. He became a director of the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis, the Western of Alabama, the N. C. & St. L., the C. I. & L. and several other railroads. He was a trustee of Brookings Institute and head of the board of Vanderbilt University.

DRY SUMMER CAUSES MANY BUILDINGS HERE TO SETTLE

Moisture Deficiency Makes Earth Incapable of Holding Normal Load.

The extremely dry weather of the past summer caused settling of the foundations of many houses here. Architects and builders explained that the deficiency of moisture made the earth unusually dry, rendering it incapable of holding a normal load without settling.

In most cases the dropping was slight, but sufficient to cause small cracks in exterior walls and in interior plaster.

LITTLE AMERICA, Nov. 16.—(By Mackay Radio — Delayed) — Long sought evidence confirming the existence of the theoretical transcontinental passage dividing Antarctica was found by Admiral Richard E. Byrd in a flight of discovery yesterday.

In the opinion of the explorer, it was probably the most important flight he has made. It meant to him the capture of a geographical prize on the first exploration attempt of the season.

The discovery is likely to cause a radical revision of existing ideas of Antarctica's structure if it does not actually break the continent into two parts.

Byrd thinks the discovery clearly identifies the extensive land masses to the eastward as insular groups isolated by water passages.

In the flight Byrd was accompanied by his crew of four, Chief Pilot Harold I. June, William Bowlin, Kenneth L. Rawson and Radio Operator Clay Bailey. The flight took the explorer well to the southeast and east of Little America in six hours and 50 minutes. Byrd estimates he surveyed close to 50,000 square miles of unknown areas.

Division Point Sought.

The flight was designed strategically to strike at the supposed point where such a continental division was likely to occur. The apex of the triangular flight rested half way between the Queen Maud Mountain range and the southernmost peaks of the Edsel Ford range, on the coast of the Pacific quadrant.

Byrd reported the weather clear and fine aloft during the 777-mile flight.

The explorer discovered that between the high land known to exist to the north and south, the surface of the barrier dipped substantially enough to convince him a long sought strait lay beneath the waterborne ice. In that vicinity he found the southern frontier of the high plateau. Swinging from this scene, he moved northwest into the interior of Marie Byrd Land. What he saw during the flight convinced him the high masses of land rising along the coast are at least insular groups welded together by the universal ice sheet, if not sufficiently extensive to comprise a continental passage. He believed they may be islands.

More extended investigations must be made, the Admiral said, before his findings are crystallized.

Physically Exhausted.

The flight probably was Byrd's last, it was said, for some time, because of the physical exhaustion brought about by his isolation at Bolling. He failed to make as rapid a recovery as was expected at Little America. The medical officer did not think it wise for Byrd to make the trip, but the ship was ready and he decided to go.

On his return he was extremely tired, but jubilant. He had taken the controls during a part of the flight.

From the navigational point of view, Byrd said the flight was a notable demonstration of the value of the sun compass.

It was the first major survey flight since last summer. Byrd and his crew of four had waited impatiently for a month before the overcast sky cleared sufficiently yesterday.

At 11 a. m., with the thermometer 5 degrees below zero and visibility good, the big multi-motored plane flew across the natural landing field south of the camp and took off.

Advance tractor and sledge parties, strategically situated along the triangular course of the flight, had reported favorable weather ahead. At 12:30 p. m. the Commander reported completion of the first leg of the trip, saying the ship was swinging North for Mount Grace McKinley. His next report, at 3:46 p. m., placed the plane 15 miles North of Grace McKinley Mountain, turning back toward the base, with 200 miles to go.

Flight by Physicist.

Earlier yesterday Pilot Ralph W. Smith of Frederickstown, O., accompanied by Assistant Physicist Arthur Zuhn of Mount Pleasant, Ia., took advantage of the fine weather to make a sustained high altitude flight with cosmic ray measuring instruments.

GARNER FALLS OUT OF TREE

Gets Lost on Deer Hunt But Kills 10-Point Buck.

UVALDE, Tex., Nov. 17.—Vice-President Garner got lost, fell out of a tree in trying to sight camp, and shot a 10-point buck in a one-day deer hunt.

"It was the first time in my life that I have become lost while hunting," Garner explained today on arrival home with a sprained knee and scratches on his body and arms. "The funny thing about it was that I was not more than 300 yards from camp," he said.

UNITED RELIEF RETURNS GIFTS IT SAYS ARE TOO LOW

Directors in Resolution Condem Failure to Contribute Adequately When Able to Do So.

ACTION DELIBERATE, CHARLES NAGEL SAYS

Rejections Decided on So as "Not to Give Semblance of Approval to Violation of Obligation."

A resolution adopted by directors of United Relief, Inc., condemning the failure of persons and corporations to contribute adequately to the welfare fund when able to do so, was made public yesterday at headquarters of the campaign.

At the same time it was announced that several contributions had been returned to the donors, with the explanation that they were regarded as inadequate. This course was recommended in the resolution, which was presented to the board of directors by the committee of 100, the chairman of which is William T. Nardin, who also is chairman of the board of the Chamber of Commerce.

Text of the Resolution.

The resolution follows:

The officials of United Relief have brought to the attention of this committee the fact that some persons and corporations are making no contribution at all to United Relief; that some are giving a mere pittance in relation to what they could and should give to this cause that is of such great importance to the community.

Therefore, be it resolved, That this committee condemns the failure to contribute to United Relief by any person or corporation in the community able to contribute.

Be it further resolved, That we condemn the instances of obviously inadequate giving. We have expressed approval of the "fair-share" giving plan. Every person in the community must give his fair share if the need of the community to care for the helpless young and old and sick and poor is to be adequately met. We cannot determine to the dollar what every citizen should give. We can determine, and we hereby declare that people who themselves live in comfort or even inluxury, and yet contribute to United Relief sums of money grossly disproportionate to their ability to give, are failing in their obligations to the community and to humanity .

Be it further resolved, That we recommend to the responsible officials of United Relief that they do not give a semblance of approval to such violation of obligation by accepting obviously inadequate contributions, but that such contributions be returned to those who offer them with a plain statement of the reason why the contributions are returned, and that a record be kept in the files of the organization of such returned contributions and the reasons for their return.

Be it further resolved, That this recommendation is made because it is the belief of this committee that the acceptance of grossly inadequate contributions is unfair to those who do give generously and fairly, and that such acceptance is harmful to the cause of United Relief now and for the future.

"A Deliberate Action."

Charles Nagel, president of United Relief, Inc., announced the resolution was adopted "as a deliberate action of a large body of responsible citizens." "It was felt," he added, "that steps should be taken to bring the weight of careful judgment to bear on those citizens who, in the opinion of campaign leaders, do not realize their responsibility toward United Relief and what it stands for in this community.

"When the Committee of 100 brought to the board of directors of United Relief specific examples of obviously inadequate giving, and then showed us how these pledges were causing many others to cut their subscriptions, we realized that the situation was a serious one. The resolution which was passed seemed to be the best way to register our judgment in the matter."

The Committee of 100, headed by Nardin, is an advisory body in the campaign which reviews contributions of large corporations and wealthy individuals. The committee acted on the basis of reports submitted by Hord Hardin, chair-

SCOTLAND YARD GETS READY FOR ROYAL WEDDING

Checks Up on Undesirables in London—6000 Special Constables to Be on Duty.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Scotland Yard began to take extreme precautions today to prevent any act of violence from marring the wedding Nov. 29 of Princess Marina of Greece and Prince George, the Duke of Kent.

It was understood officers already have started to make certain no undesirables are permitted to look out of windows commanding a view of the wedding route. Lists of spectators to whom business men and others have rented space, rooms or window seats are being sent to the Scotland Yard record office to be checked.

Scotland Yard also has gone to some pains to determine the whereabouts of certain undesirables.

On the wedding day, in addition to 8000 uniformed police, there will be about 6000 special constables on duty in the metropolitan area.

Royal guests invited to the wedding, who will be under the protection of the yard, include the King and Queen of Denmark, the King and Queen of Norway, Prince Valdemar of Denmark, Prince George of Greece, the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess Cyril of Russia, and two of Marina's sisters.

DIAMONDS FOUND IN BRAZIL: PROSPECTORS' RUSH BEGINS

Hundreds of Men Enter State of Minas Geraes After Word of Discoveries.

By the Associated Press.

BELLO HORIZONTE, Brazil, Nov. 17.—Hundreds of prospectors are invading Western Minas Geraes, fourth largest state in Brazil, since word spread that diamonds had been found there with comparatively little labor. Altogether some 600 carats have been mined.

Stones varying in weight from 20 to 100 carats were found by several men using the most rudimentary methods. All along the Abate River, tributary of the Sao Francisco, may be seen the camps of the prospectors.

The diamond fever thus has been revived in Brazil after 200 years. The first diamond fields were discovered in 1724.

Minas Geraes is larger than any nation in Europe save Russia.

CONVICTS CHEER WRONG TEAM

No Games at Joliet Until Inmates Learn to Root for "Alma Mater."

By the Associated Press.

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 17.—A warm November sun shone down on the Stateville penitentiary football field today, but the team members were heavy-hearted. Despite a record of victories, no game was played.

The reason, Walter Nierscheimer, athletic coach and assistant warden, explained, was because the Stateville rooters are deficient in loyalty to alma mater.

In last Saturday's game with Aurora, the Stateville boys romped up and down the field for a rousing victory. But all the cheers were for Aurora. As a punishment and a warning, Coach Nierscheimer ruled that until the inmates learn to root for those who are risking their limbs for their institution there will be no more games.

CROWDS WELCOME ROOSEVELT TO TENNESSEE VALLEY

VIEWS THE WILSON AND WHEELER DAMS

Lays Wreaths on Tombs of Presidents Jackson and Polk and Visits Colleges in Nashville.

By the Associated Press.

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVENT TO WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 17.—President Roosevelt circled the Tennessee Valley tonight, convinced from his two days' inspection of the feasibility of early extension of this power and human welfare development to other parts of the nation on a broad scale.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes, advocating a new Public Works program, termed the Tennessee Valley experiment "a magnificent success." He and the President talked about plans for the future tonight aboard the train. However, there was no indication of the President's attitude toward the size of next year's expenditure for Public Works.

Visits Wheeler Dam.

Mr. Roosevelt left his special train late in the afternoon to drive to the site of the Wheeler Dam under construction on the Tennessee River as a unit in the development of the valley. He also visited the Wilson Dam and Muscle Shoals, Ala., power plant.

Before entering Alabama in midafternoon by special train, the President and Mrs. Roosevelt drove through cheering crowds for 36 miles in and near Nashville, Tenn., which they reached early in the morning. The President went directly from the train to visit the Hermitage, once the home of President Andrew Jackson. There Jackson's favorite breakfast dish — turkey hash—was served. Returning to Nashville, he drove through the grounds of Vanderbilt University, Ward-Belmont School for Girls, the Peabody Teachers' College and Fisk University where he heard the Negro Jubilee Chorus sing. He laid wreaths on the tombs of Jackson and of President James K. Polk.

Speech at Corinth.

President Roosevelt was greeted at Corinth, Miss., late tonight by a large crowd. From the back platform of his train Mr. Roosevelt spoke to the crowd of the possibilities of the cheap electric power rates which he said was one of the points that ought to be known throughout the United States.

"With these cheaper rates," he said, "you will be able to pay off the money you have borrowed in five and a half years. Thus you're doing something for yourselves and for the rest of the United States.

"As you all know we are trying out things for the problem of the average man—and I may add for the average woman too."

At Tupelo, Miss., Today.

Tonight he was aboard train again for a leisurely journey to Tupelo, Miss., the first town to purchase power from the Tennessee Valley Authority, to see for himself the results there. He will attend Sunday services in the public square in the morning with Senator Harrison of Mississippi, and Representative Rankin.

Throughout his trip the President has taken time daily to hear the latest reports on official affairs and to talk with aids accompanying him. Secretary of State Hull left the train yesterday after a long conference on foreign affairs, particularly about the troublesome London naval discussions, but declined to discuss the conference.

Secretary Ickes continued with Mr. Roosevelt. He asserted the amount of money available was the only limit to the scope of slum clearances and housing.

"This is a problem that society must pay for some day and I would like to see it now," he added.

Mr. Roosevelt is taking these suggestions, together with a trunkful more to his cottage at Warm Springs, Ga., which he will reach tomorrow night and where he will spend two weeks.

NOTED SPORTSWOMAN INJURED IN HUNT

MRS. C. C. RUMSEY

MRS. C. C. RUMSEY HURT AS HORSE FALLS

Daughter of Late E. H. Harri- Suffers Broken Ribs Riding to Hounds.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Mrs. C. C. Rumsey, socially prominent daughter of the late E. H. Harriman, and chairman of the NRA Consumers' Advisory Board, was injured in a fall while riding to hounds near Middleburg, Va., today. Attendants at Emergency Hospital here reported tonight that she was "getting along nicely." They said she had suffered four rib fractures and an undetermined injury to her left leg. Examination at the hospital did not confirm previous report that her leg was broken in three places. A blood transfusion was given the patient.

Mrs. Rumsey was taking part in the hunt of the Piedmont hounds. Her horse fell at a jump and she was caught beneath it.

Mrs. Rumsey is the widow of Charles Carey Rumsey, sculptor, and the sister of William Averell Harriman, chairman of the board of the Union Pacific Railroad, also an official of the NRA. She is the national founder of the Junior League.

Two other women were thrown in the hunt. Mrs. Robert Young, wife of a Virginia steeplechase rider, suffered a broken collarbone. Miss Margaretta Rowland, who made her Washington debut two years ago, escaped unhurt.

ITALIAN KILLED, TWO WOUNDED IN ABYSSINIAN ATTACK

Rome Orders Energetic Representations, Demanding Punishment of Assailants.

ROME, Nov. 17.—A serious incident has arisen between Italy and Abyssinia as the result of an attack by an armed group on the Italian Consulate at Gondar, near Lake Tana, in which one Italian was killed and two were wounded, it was learned tonight.

The Consulate guard, made up of members of the Italian colony of Eritrea, repelled the attack, but three Italian casualties resulted from the exchange of fire.

The Rome Government has instructed its Minister at Addis Ababa to make energetic representations to the Abyssinian Government, demanding prompt capture and punishment of the assailants.

POLICEWOMAN KILLS YOUTH WHO TRIES TO SNATCH PURSE

Had Been Assigned to Stop Such Thefts on Chicago South Side.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—A 19-year-old Negro youth was killed tonight when he attempted to snatch a purse from Policewoman Alice McCarthy, who had been assigned to special duty on the South Side to halt such thefts.

Miss McCarthy said she was attacked by the youth and a companion, who escaped. When she resisted they turned to flee. The policewoman drew her revolver and fired two shots.

CARDINAL GASPARRI VERY ILL

Noted Churchman, Who Is 82, Receives Extreme Unction.

ROME, Nov. 18. — (Sunday) — The condition of Pietro Cardinal Gasparri, 82-year-old former papal Secretary of State, was reported slightly improved early today.

BOLIVIANS DRIVEN FROM SEVEN FORTS IN THE CHACO

Ballivian, Stronghold That Turned Back Five Paraguayan Offensives, Falls Without Fight in Surprise Attack.

CAPTURE OF 10,000 PRISONERS REPORTED

Defenders Said to Be Retreating in Disorder Northward Toward Villa Montes After Firing Munition Dumps.

By the Associated Press.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Nov. 17.—Bolivia's defenses on the Pilcomayo River collapsed today and seven Bolivian forts—the Hindenburg line of the Chaco war—fell into Paraguay's hands.

There was unrestrained rejoicing here as the news spread that Fort Ballivian, the outpost against which five Paraguayan offensives failed, had been taken. Many were ready to predict that the two-and-one-half years of bitter fighting for possession of the low, swampy Chaco Boreal was nearly at an end.

With the shattered Bolivian forces in the Pilcomayo section retreating northward along the only road left open to them—that following a bank of the river—reports reaching here said Paraguay had taken 10,000 prisoners. The victory was considered the biggest of the war. Among the prisoners, reports said, were 50 high-ranking officers and 500 other officers. One of them was Col. Walter Mendez, known as "the Blood Tiger."

Some Flee to Argentina.

The forts that fell with Ballivian included Guachalla, farther up the river, which earlier reports indicated might afford the retreating Bolivians their second line of defense. Tonight Bolivian troops were reported to be fleeing in disorder toward Villa Montes, a major army base.

Official communiques said desperate Bolivians also were seeking refuge on Argentine soil.

The Paraguayan troops swept into Ballivian at 7 a. m. after an all-night forced march from the small fort Independencia, captured yesterday in a surprise counter-offensive, coming with the rainy season already overdue.

zBolivian soldiers, their communications severed by the Paraguayan advance in the Canada el Carmen sector, already had evacuated the fort after setting fire to ammunition dumps and supply warehouses. They attempted no resistance, the war office said.

Sixth Major Offensive.

A few hours later the Paraguayans occupied Guachalla, 30 miles to the northwest, after Bolivians had successively abandoned five unimportant intermediary positions.

The Paraguayan attack at Canada el Carmen, originally believed designed only to relieve Bolivian pressure at Picuiba, 120 miles to the north, developed quickly into the sixth major offensive of the past season's bloody campaign. First Canada fell, then Independencia, and the way lay open to Fort Ballivian.

The moral effect of the fall of Ballivian was described as tremendous. Where the Bolivians could form another line was conjectural, but it was considered possible they might attempt it some distance upriver along the 120-mile stretch between Ballivian and Villa Montes.

Commander's Report.

A communique issued by Major-General Jose Estigarribia, commander of the Paraguayan forces, gave few details of the capture but stated:

"We took an enormous war depot. The enemy, in his flight, fired his deposits. We took numerous prisoners whose numbers are augmenting as dispersed groups present themselves continuously."

Peace Conference Recommended by League Report.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Nov. 17.—A peace conference at Buenos Aires to end the bitter war in the Chaco Boreal was recommended today by the League of Nations' Chaco consultative committee.

The League was authorized to call such a conference n Paraguay and Bolivia accept the report of the committee and hostilities cease. Officials said the United States and Brazil would be invited to participate.

The committee recommended that

PREMIERS DECIDE REICH MUST LET AUSTRIA ALONE

Mussolini and Schuschnigg Agree That Two Alternatives Shall Be Submitted to Germany.

ONE IS TO GIVE HANDS-OFF PLEDGE

Other Is to Sign Agreement With Powers Guaranteeing Independence of Vienna Government.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.)

ROME, Nov. 17.—Benito Mussolini, Premier of Italy, and Kurt Schuschnigg, Austria's Chancellor, agree today that either Germany must express its unmistakable intention to let Austria alone, or must sign an agreement with other European nations guaranteeing Austria's independence.

A Government spokesman announced that Mussolini and Schuschnigg, meeting in the first of a series of conversations scheduled during Schuschnigg's four-day visit to Rome, discussed at great length ways to guarantee permanently Austria's continuance as an independent nation.

Of the two alternatives they decided were alone possible, the second—a treaty to which Germany and all other major European Powers would adhere—was preferred.

Tripartite Pledge Unsatisfactory.

The Austrian Cancellor, who arrived last night amid typical Fascist pomp and ceremony, was little satisfied with the tripartite declaration England, France and Italy made at the last Assembly of the League of Nations, it was disclosed. He felt that assertion was comparatively weak, and some stronger bulwark against threats to Austria's freedom was needed.

(Italy, France and England joined last September in renewing the three-Power declaration they made in February, when the Socialist revolution broke out in Austria, concerning "the necessity of maintaining the independence and integrity of Austria, in conformity with existing treaties.")

"Attention has been turned to another focal point in Europe, the Saar," the Government spokesman said. "But the Saar question will soon be resolved whereas the Austrian question still exists."

Cabinet Officers Present.

Austria's Foreign Minister, Egon Berger Waldenegg, and the Italian Under-Secretary of State, Fulvio Suvich, were present at the conference, held in the Venezia Palace, at which, it was understood, the two leaders also talked over Schuschnigg's recent conversations with Vienna pan-Germanists.

The subject of relations between Austria and Yugoslavia also came up for consideration, it was stated.

After the morning's meeting with Mussolini, Schuschnigg visited St. Peter's Cathedral and afterward drove to the seashore at Ostia. He spent the entire afternoon there, returning to Rome just in time to dress for the State dinner Mussolini gave in his honor.

Speeches at State Dinner.

In his speech at the dinner, Mussolini declared the Austro-Italian understanding "isn't intended to prevent the establishment of friendships with other nations." He added that political and economic pacts existing between Italy, Austria and Hungary are "open to all who pursue the same ideals and ends." Those entering, however, must be said, "accept certain conditions." This was taken to mean that Austrian independence is the guiding principle.

In his reply, Schuschnigg again laid the ghost of the Anschluss (proposed union of Germany and Austria) by declaring Austria was determined to "maintain her independence in the interests of European peace."

Regarding reports of differences between Italy and Austria as a result of Schuschnigg's recent conversations with pan-Germanists, both speakers made emphatic statements that Italo-Austrian policies continued to harmonize.

The Austrian Chancellor's talk with the pan-Germanists was brought up during the conference today and Schuschnigg is said to have convinced Mussolini that it did not mean he had any intention of admitting into his Government the pan-German sympathizers. He has maintained it is better to have the friendship of the pan-Germans than their enmity. Mussolini is said to have agreed on this point, so long as friendship did not signify influence.

Neutrality or War, Says Leader of Austrian Revolt.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Almost empty treasuries may save Europe from war, says Julius Deutsch, leader of the Socialist revolt in Austria last February, who is traveling in the United States. Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's conversations with Mussolini this week-end are but another thrust in the direction of war, Deutsch said.

"However much these journeys of an Austrian Chancellor to Rome may be camouflaged as efforts to 'consolidate peace,' they point straight into war," he said. "And this is why: Two dictators have their eyes on Austria, both equally determined to dominate it: Hitler and Mussolini. If either of them wins it means war. For Mussolini cannot tolerate German military might on his Northern border, nor, on the other hand, can Yugoslavia tolerate an Italian-controlled Austria on its Northern border.

"There is only one way out. The powers must guarantee the neutrality of Austria and make it, like Switzerland, forbidden ground for German, Italian or any other foreign intrigue. The recent three-power declaration on the independence of Austria is not enough, for each power has its own definition of independence. Mussolini takes the view that so long as Austria is kept out of Hitler's clutches it is independent; but Yugoslavia fears Mussolini more than Hitler, and will not permit Austria to remain in Mussolini's clutches."

"If the powers which have the money—Great Britain, France and the United States—refuse to assist any Austria except a neutral Austria, then the neutrality of Austria can be made a fact. But if the powers again are fooled into financing an Austrian Government ready to fall into the arms of Italy, the outbreak of war on that sector is inevitable—and before many months go by. The next three months will tell."

Accused of Plotting Kidnaping

BOLIVIANS DRIVEN FROM SEVEN FORTS IN CHACO BOREAL

the conference arrange a direct settlement, or, if this fails, resort to special arbitral procedure, presumably in a world court.

Cessation of hositilities would be accompanied by creation of a demilitarized neutral zone probably 100 kilometers wide, according to the committee's recommendation. This would be placed under an international commission.

It was understood the arms embargo which Bolivia strongly protested against as unfair caused a dramatic last-minute discussion in the Chaco committee and threatened to endanger an agreement. Italy was said to have spoken of the injustice of imposing an embargo, which was interpreted as a form of penalty, before responsibility for the war was determined. Eventually a compromise was reached.

The text of the report will be published tomorrow. The League will broadcast the essential parts of the text at 3 p. m. The transmission will be in Spanish on a wave length of 32.10 meters and in English at 38.47 meters, with an interval of 15 minute between the two.

The report will be presented to the special assembly of the League, meeting Nov. 20 to consider the Chaco war.

If Paraguay and Bolivia reject the recommendations it is believed the league will be obliged to convoke another special assembly to deal with the situation.

The arms embargo was one of the most delicate questions facing the League committee. Bolivia protested against the embargo as being inspired by the League, and called it a penalty which under the League covenant could not be imposed on a belligerent until it had been proved the belligerent was the aggressor nation.

The League, however, insisted the embargo was an independent action of powers acting under their sovereign rights. League officials said the embargo had been negotiated under the aegis of the League as a result of the Chaco committee's activities.

It was said that should either belligerent reject the recommendations it would put itself in the position of aggressor, and the League would have to decide whether it was feasible to apply the punitive clause of the League covenant and recommend severance of economic, financial and diplomatic relations.

Paraguay's stand has been for a cessation of hostilities first and a subsequent settlement of the territorial dispute. Bolivia has insisted these should be simultaneous, otherwise Bolivia would be placed unfairly in a position of military inferiority.

Bolivia Denies Major Defeat; Still "Dominates Situation."

By the Associated Press.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Nov. 17.—The Bolivian high command said tonight "The report that Fort Ballivian fell in consequence of enemy attacks is false. Abandonment of the fort was ordered because it no longer had any military importance. Nothing was lost in the evacuation."

Another statement said the Bolivian advance in the Picuiba, 27th of November and Piquirenda sectors continued. The War Ministry asserted Bolivia still continued to dominate the situation in the Chaco.

"The actions in the Carmen sector do not interfere with the normal development of military activities carried out by our army with efficient energy," it announced.

TRUCK CARRYING SILVER WORTH $10,000 DISAPPEARS

Driver Started Tuesday from Rochester, N. Y., on 24-Hour Trip, But Is Unreported.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A ten-ton truck carrying scrap silver and sludge valued at from $10,000 to $20,000 from Rochester, N. Y., to Irvington, N. J., has vanished and tonight police of seven states are searching for it.

The silver started from Rochester last Tuesday. The driver, a man named Lorenz, was ordered to deliver his cargo to the U. S. Treasury Department in Irvington.

The silver was contained in 28 drums, and was to be refined for the U. S. Government by the Irvington Smelting & Refining Co.

Police estimated the trip from Rochester to Irvington should not have taken driver Lorenz more than 24 hours.

INSULLS DENIED DIRECTED VERDICT WITH EVIDENCE IN

Judge Wilkerson Indicates He May Summarize the Case After Attorneys Finish.

COURT NOT MERELY AN UMPIRE, HE SAYS

Other Defendants' Motions Also Rejected — Closing Arguments to Start Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. — Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today refused a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal to Samuel Insull.

When Insull's attorneys requested a directed verdict for father and son, the Judge said: "I am satisfied there is evidence under which the Court is required to give their case to the jury."

When the Government completed its evidence but before the defense began, the Insulls did not make a motion for a directed verdict as other defendants did. Their attorney said then they wanted the jury to acquit them.

H. L. Stuart, C. B. Stuart, Frank K. Shrader and Clarence T. MacNeille, four of Insull's 16 co-defendants in the mail fraud trial, made similar motions as seven weeks of testimony in the case came to a close today. Their motions too were rejected. The four, all officers of Halsey, Stuart & Co., investment banking house, held posts at the same time in Insull's Corporation Securities Co.

The closing arguments will open Monday. District Attorney Dwight H. Green said he hoped the case would go to the jury by Thursday night.

Judge May Summarize Case.

Judge Wilkerson indicated, he may summarize the case after attorneys finish.

"I don't often comment on the evidence," he told defense attorney, Floyd E. Thompson. "But I will do it in this case if I feel it is necessary. Judges in this Court are not merely umpires; they are here to see that justice is done."

Another remark of the Judge's heightened the attorneys' interest in what he may say to the jury.

"It is not necessary, to constitute fraud, that there be affirmative misrepresentation," Judge Wilkerson said in ruling on a motion; "the deceit may be by concealment. In sales circulars sent out to small investors, a higher degree of candor is required than in literature intended for financial experts."

Insull's Son Last Witness.

Samuel Insull Jr., 34-year-old son of the principal defendant, was the final witness today before both sides closed their evidence.

He appeared to answer one question on the loss sustained by the Insull family when the Corporation Securities Co., crashed in 1932. The Government had contended that the losses were "mostly paper profits."

"We lost between 14 and 15 million dollars," Young Insull said.

COAL MAN VIOLATES NRA WRIT, HELD IN CONTEMPT OF COURT

Federal Judge Orders Michigan Dealer to Pay $300 Fine or Serve Four Months.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 17.—Reginald S. French, retail coal dealer of Caledonia, Mich., was declared guilty of contempt of Court today for allegedly violating the NRA fuel code, and was ordered by Federal Judge Fred M. Raymond to pay a fine of $300 or serve four months at the Federal Detention Farm.

The Government accused French of failing to comply with the wage and hour provisions of the code for retail coal dealers, and thus violating an injunction issued against him Sept. 14.

Counsel for French challenged the constitutionality of the National Industrial Recovery Act, but Judge Raymond ruled the question could not be raised in the contempt proceedings.

POTS AND KETTLES ARE "DEFENDANTS" AT SOVIET "TRIAL"

"Prosecution" Designed to Improve Quality of Manufactured Goods.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MOSCOW, Nov. 17.—A hundred pots, pans, kettles and pitchers of Russian manufacture went on trial here today as Moscow started its second "prosecution" designed to arouse public interest in the drive to improve the quality of Soviet goods.

The first "technical trial" was held last month, Soviet galoshes being dragged before the bar and convicted of being very poor protection against the slush of winter.

Against today's "defendants" appeared witnesses who testified that handles drop off of Soviet tea-kettles, the enamel melts on the stoves, and that fingers are cut on the rough edges of pots and pans.

But the most serious charge was that the four factories concerned, while managing to turn out excellent goods for export or for sale in Russia to persons having foreign money, are neglecting the Soviet consumer proper.

Ten engineers and professors who sat as judges drew up a five page verdict, setting forth the findings and recommendations for improving the articles.

12 IN INVESTMENT FIRM AT AURORA, ILL., INDICTED

Widow of President, His Brother and Son Among Accused; Loss Estimated at $300,000.

AURORA, Ill., Nov. 17.—Twelve officers and former employes of the W. W. Armstrong Co., Aurora investment house, were indicted today on embezzlement and other charges growing out of losses to investors estimated by the State between $300,000 and $500,000.

The firm went into bankruptcy after the suicide of W. W. Armstrong, its president, last April.

Named in the indictments were Armstrong's widow, his brother and a son, along with three other officers and six salesmen. Among those indicted were: H. G. Griffith, former vice-president, charged with embezzlement. Louis Mombleau, former treasurer, charged with embezzlement. Le Roy Armstrong, vice-president and brother of the late president, charged with embezzlement.

Mrs. Fae Armstrong, the widow and a former director, charged with conspiracy to violate the Illinois Securities Act.

FEDERAL SPENDING CONTINUES BEHIND ROOSEVELT ESTIMATE

Treasury Outgo of $2,603,977,000 for 4½ Months of Fiscal Year—Deficit for Period So Far $1,232,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. — Despite the rapid rate of Government spending, the Treasury was shown today to be hundreds of millions of dollars behind President Roosevelt's estimate of expenditures for this fiscal period.

In his message on Jan. 5, the President made provision for the expenditure of $16,500,000,000 in the two fiscal years ending June 30, 1935. While Treasury figures showed today that $2,603,977,000 had gone out of Federal coffers in the four and one-half months since June 30, experts figure that about $6,800,000,000 would have to be spent in the remainder of the fiscal year to fulfull the Roosevelt estimate.

Deficit Passes $1,232,000,000.

This condition stands in the face of a deficit that already has surpassed $1,232,000,000 for this fiscal year. If the present lively spending rate continues, however, around $6,900,000,000 will have been spent up to next June 30, leaving a sum of about three billion dollars below the estimates made by the President.

Roosevelt expressed the hope of balancing the budget in the fiscal year beginning next June 30, but Treasury officials have said little about that lately. Privately, most concede this projected balancing is out of the question.

An examination of the spending thus far in the present fiscal year shows that emergency outlays have totaled $1,314,946,000, or a little more than the deficit, as compared to $1,289,030,000 for routine governmental outlays.

All revenue sources, however, are providing more money than last year with the exception of customs receipts. The Treasury has collected $1,371,485,000 this year as compared to $1,076,270,000 during the same period in 1933.

Relief Leads Emergency Items.

The figures also show that relief has cost more than any other emergency item thus far in the fiscal year. The item for the Federal Emergency Relief Administration so far is $476,391,011, with winter coming on and little likelihood of any immediate lightening of the load. It is estimated that 17,000,000 persons are still on Federal relief rolls.

The next highest emergency expenditure is for public roads, $182,992,662. Other spending items are: Agricultural Adjustment Administration, $100,473,975; Farm Credit Administration, $17,367,442; Federal Land Banks, $15,918,282; Civil Works Administration, $9,280,706; emergency conservation work, $151,470,947; Department of Agriculture (relief), $61,018,461; public works—Tennessee Valley Authority $11,320,393, loans to railroads $53,558,000, loans and grants to states, municipalities, etc., $69,692,062, Boulder Canyon projects, $9,681,489, river and harbor work, $72,468,644, subsistence homestead $1,817,821, all other, PWA, $127,159,359; Federal Savings and Loan Association, $6,244,031; emergency housing, $1,544,439; Reconstruction Finance Corporation, $5,476,871; Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, $51,725,829; Administration for Industrial Recovery $3,759,601.

TEXAS OUTLAWS KILL MAN, TAKE FOUR OTHERS CAPTIVE

Seize Autos and Occupants to Make Good Escape After Robbery Murder.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WACO, Tex., Nov. 17.—Two outlaws tonight were hunted in Central Texas after killing one man and taking four other persons captive. All the captives were released tonight, three at Prairie Hill and the other, Mrs. Lillian Davis, near Hubbard.

Mrs. Davis, and a Waco printer, Harry Richards, were seized on a street here. Roy McWhorter, a rural mail carrier, was taken prisoner near Axtell and Marvin Jordan, a farm youth, was abducted near Rodney.

Malcolm Stewart, son of a Katy, Tex., physician, was shot to death on a road near Orchard Lane. The outlaws seized the four persons to throw off pursuit.

Mrs. Davis said the outlaws told her they had killed a man and had to make a quick getaway. They jumped on the running board of her coupe in which Richards was also riding. With drawn pistols they ordered her to drive toward Axtell. Near there the automobile gave out of gasoline, and the outlaws detained McWhorter. They took possession of the mail carrier's car and made him go along as hostage too.

Near Rodney the auto stalled, so the outlaws seized Marvin Jordan, a farm youth, and his car.

Stewart, who was 26 years old, had come to Waco last night. He was found dead in his auto. He was a graduate of Baylor University. Robbery was thought to have been the motive.

Pair Engaged to Wed Killed.

EASTLAND, Tex., Nov. 17.—An engaged pair who expected to be married in a few days were killed today by a Texas & Pacific train which struck their automobile. The dead were Miss Nova Fisher, 21 years old, fiance, Frank Clark, 23, and Ray Fisher, 15, brother of the young woman.

FOUR WORKMEN KILLED, SEWER WALL COLLAPSES

Three Others Rescued at Bridgeport, Tex., After Ditch 15 Feet Deep Cavesin, Trapping Seven.

By the Associated Press.

BRIDGEPORT, Tex., Nov. 17.—Buried in a sewer ditch cavein, four workmen lost their lives here today.

The victims, all Bridgeport men, were: F. H. Furr, 40 years old; Claude Mater, 32; Bud Shawn, 26; Molan Gober, 20.

The ditch, 15 feet deep, was being dug at the Bridgeport waterworks for a new filtration plant. Seven men were at work when one wall suddenly caved in. Three workmen were rescued. Relay crews at once began to dig in an effort to reach the other four.

4 KILLED WHEN PLANE HITS HILLSIDE IN FOG

President and Employes of Aircraft Company Victims of Crash Near Los Angeles.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—An airplane crashed in a fog against a hillside 20 miles north of here today, killing four persons, including W. E. (Tommy) Thomas, 38 years old, veteran pilot and president of Pacific Airmotive Corporation of Burbank.

The other victims, al. employes of Thomas, were Roy W. Kidd, 40, foreman of the overhaul department; F. M. Mathews, Kidd's assistant; Dorothea Benham, 19, telephone operator.

The four-passenger biplane fell near a spillway of the main Los Angeles city aqueduct, not far from the Golden State highway. Bodies of the victims were hurled far from the wreckage. That of the girl was found several hundred feet away.

Thomas, owner of the plane, was believed to have been piloting it. He had the reputation of being one of the most cautious, level-headed pilots on the Pacific Coast.

The party took off at 6:30 a. m. from Union Air Terminal at Burbank on an inspection tour over the foothills of the Tehachapi Mountains. Contrary to first reports, the plane did not burn after striking the ground.

Three men at the Los Angeles municipal light and power company station No. 3 saw the low-flying plane through a rift in the fog just before it crashed. They heard the impact, and found the wreckage.

Thomas is survived by his widow. Kidd leaves his wife and two daughters. Mathews is survived by his widow, and Miss Benham by her parents.

PIECE OF BOX, MAN'S SHIRT FOUND IN DISTELHURST CASE

Officials Unable to Say Whether Articles Are Clews in Abduction and Killing.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 17.—A torn piece of cardboard box and a man's white shirt were found today near the spot where the body of Dorothy Ann Distelhurst was discovered Tuesday. The articles were found by Lonie and Lloyd Hamilton, uncles of the 6-year-old girl, on a dump heap on the grounds of the Davidson County Tuberculosis Hospital.

The men turned the box piece and the shirt over to District Attorney-General J. Carlton Loser who said that he could not say whether the finds were related to the abduction and death of the child. Dr. Herman Spitz, Coroner's physician, in an examination of the child's body, found marks such as might have been made by the edge of a corrugated box, on the side of the left foot.

Should the piece of box or the shirt turn out to be of significance in the case, it would be the first clew in the abduction and killing of the girl.

BELLEVILLE MAN KILLED, FIVE HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

ACCIDENT OCCURS AT INTERSECTION

Steamfitter Dies on Way to Hospital — Four Receive Treatment at Army Aviation Post.

Jerry Leahy, 43-year-old steamfitter, 33 North Seventy-eighth street, Belleville, was killed and five other persons were injured in an automobile collision at 5 p. m. yesterday at Scott Field and Carlyle roads, about a mile and a half east of Scott Field.

Leahy was driving west on Carlyle road when his automobile collided with one traveling north on Scott Field road and driven by Sergt. Dan Morris of the Ninth Airship Squadron at Scott Field.

Leahy died on the way to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Belleville.

Morris was treated at the post hospital at Scott Field for cuts and bruises as were the other occupants of his car: his wife, Mrs. Eula Morris, their son, Willie Gene, 6; and Leo Seyd, 17, of Donaldson, Ia. Mrs. Gertrude Leahy, who was riding with her husband, was treated for minor injuries.

Man Leaving Street Car Seriously Hurt by Auto.

Otto H. Knickmeyer, a painter, of 6146 West Park avenue, is at City Hospital with a skull injury suffered when he was hit by an automobile last night after alighting from a street car at Hampton and Manchester avenues. His condition is serious.

Robert Orr, Washington, Mo., driver of the automobile, said that Knickmeyer walked into the side of his machine.

In a statement given out by United Relief, Inc., Hardin said:

"When men who can afford, and do take their families to Europe for the summer give $50 to United Relief, and when other individuals whose scale of living as reported in the society columns of the newspapers indicates they are far from being financially embarrassed, give $50 or $100, we feel that we have a right to call it inadequate support of our relief and welfare activities in the community."

To aid the Committee of 100 in determining whether the gifts of large corporations and wealthy individuals should be accepted by directors of the campaign as representing a "fair share" of the community's burden, there was organized for this campaign a rating committee of which James E. Taussig, former president of the Wabash Railroad, was chairman.

Information on Earnings.

This committee undertook to suggest to prospective contributors the amount which would be regarded as an appropriate gift. In the case of corporations the committee often had access to official earnings statements, or to reports of commercial credit information services. Such detailed information was not available in the case of individuals, but members of the committee sought to inform themselves about the financial standing of prospective contributors, by obtaining the opinions of their associates and by observing their scale of living.

The employe division of the campaign organization also proposed definite gifts, averaging about one per cent of income, to those solicited. On the back of each pledge card is a suggested scale of contributions ranging from 10 cents a week for those who earn between $15 and $20, to 50 cents a week for those who earn between $50 and $60 a week.

The campaign, with a goal of $2,708,000, was formally opened Wednesday night, but for several weeks the larger subscriptions and employe divisions had conducted advance solicitation. At the first report meeting, Friday, pledges of $385,125 or 14 per cent of the goal, were announced. The report included $245,858 from the larger subscriptions division; $95,000 from the employe division; and $44,266 from the general division. Another report meeting will be held tomorrow.

Among the 92 welfare agencies participating, campaign headquarters pointed out yesterday, is the American Red Cross, which is conducting annual roll call nationally, during the period covered by the United Relief campaign. Contributors to United Relief by that fact become members of the Red Cross.

Subscriptions received last week included several from former residents of St. Louis. Among these were Rudolph Ganz, former conductor of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, now a resident of Chicago; McClelland Barclay, widely known artist who now lives in New York; Oscar E. Berninghaus, St. Louis artist who now paints at Taos, N. M.; and Harvey Jablonsky, of the West Point coaching staff.

SAMUEL F. PRYOR DIES IN GREENWICH, CONN.

Former St. Louisan Succumbs After Several Months' Illness With Nephritis.

By the Associated Press.

GREENWICH, Conn., Nov. 17.—Samuel F. Pryor, New York corporation officer, formerly of St. Louis, died tonight at his Field Point Park home, where he had been confined for several months with nephritis. He was 69 years old.

Mr. Pryor was a brother of the late Edward B. Pryor, St. Louis banker and railroad officer. His wife is a sister of Mrs. Frank A. Thompson of St. Louis.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph William Pryor, and spent his boyhood in his birthplace, Palmyra, Mo., later moving to Kansas City and then St. Louis.

He retired as chairman of the executive committee of the Remington Arms Co. of New York last year, after having been connected with the concern for 19 years. He was a director of the Air Reduction Co., American Brake Shoe & Foundry Co. and Shell-Union Corporation of New York.

Surviving are his widow and three sons, Samuel F. Pryor Jr., and Jacques F. and Frederick M. Pryor, all of Greenwich and New York, and a daughter, Mrs. Joseph Breed of Hobe Sound, Fla.

Funeral services will be held here Tuesday, followed by burial at Palmyra, Mo.

NO CHANGE IN CONDITION OF PROSECUTOR ANDERSON

Patient Under Anesthetic Fourth Time for Operation to Drain Infection.

General condition of Prosecuting Attorney Anderson of St. Louis County, in County Hospital for injuries suffered in an assault Oct. 9, remained unchanged yesterday, said the attending surgeon. The Prosecutor has been in serious condition, with an infection and a compound fracture in the left leg.

A general anesthetic was administered yesterday for the fourth time to make incisions to drain the infection, and in order to change the splint. The patient was given a swinging splint, to allow more freedom.

NEGRO LABORER KILLED IN DISPUTE OVER $1

Harold Johnson, East St. Louis, One of Seven Charged With $1131 Robbery July 28.

Cecil Forley, 29-year-old Negro laborer, 2303 Walnut street, was shot and killed by another Negro in a basement poolroom at 2321½ Market street last night.

Soon afterward, a Negro, who said he was John Thomas, 2617 Lawton boulevard, walked into the Laclede Avenue Police Station and said Forley had made a movement as though to draw a weapon and he had shot him in an altercation over $1.

Animals From Many Lands On Edwin A. Lemp Estate

Buffalo and Siberian Yaks, Antelope and Sacred Cattle of India Included in Private Collection.

Edwin A. Lemp arrived at an appointment a few minutes late the other day and explained to his incredulous host that buffalo on the road had detained him.

He wasn't joking; there are buffalo on Lemp's road—Buffalo and Siberian yaks, antelope, Japanese sika deer, sacred cattle from India and even llamas. There are rheas, a South American variety of ostrich, African cranes and waterfowl from the island of Formosa.

Cragwold, Lemp's 200-acre estate on the Meramec river, at Windsor Springs, west of Kirkwood, has been designated a Federal game farm in order that Lemp may keep certain domestic birds and animals. But it is more than that. George P. Vierheller, director of the St. Louis Zoological Garden, says it is "for variety, one of the finest private collections I've ever seen."

The Lemp collection is confined to birds and ungulata, the latter being defined as "An order of hoofed mammals having carpal and trasal bones alternating, os magnum supporting scaphoids, and upper molars quadritubercular, including Perissodactyla and Artiodactyla." There are no carnivora, as the dictionary makers call mammals that live on flesh.

Description of Farm.

Just inside the stone wall at Crakwold is the pheasantry—12 heavy wire runways containing 12 varieties of pheasants. Then the road to the house winds through a fenced hundred-acre plot, clear in the center and wooded at both sides. There it is that the buffalo roam and the deer and the antelope play. In all, 13 species of ungulata are inside the fence, among them auodad or Barbary sheep, nilghi antelope, lechwi antelope, blesbok antelope, blackbuck antelope which cross the ground in 25-foot bounds that carry them sometimes eight or 10 feet in the air; native American pronghorn antelope, swamp deer, axis deer from India, smoothly-trotting barasingha deer and European white fallow deer.

It was there that Lemp was delayed; not that the Buffalo are vicious, but they are huge and reluctant, sometimes, to step aside for a mere automobile.

Past the evergreen trees at the far fence is Lemp's immediate front yard, with 60 pea fowl strutting about and occasionally disputing the right of way of automobiles. There is the common green variety, which is neither common nor wholly green, with shimmering iridescent blue heads; there are white pea fowl and the rare black-shouldered variety. At night they all roost in one tree south of Lemp's ivy-covered stone-and-timber one-story house. In the daytime they walk across the skylights over the patio, with a peculiar heavy stamp that seems about to shatter the glass.

Swimming Pool Now Duck Pond.

Just in front of the house is what was once the Lemp swimming pool, now converted into a duck pond, with tall feathery grasses about the borders and pond lilies inside. There dwell the baikel teal from Formosa, the cranes—sarus, demoiselle and African crowned—and other aquatic birds.

Inside the house, in the patio, are 24 varieties of parrots and the same number of varieties of finches in a space 40 feet square, filled with growing vegetation—about 100 birds in all. Most of the parrots are in cages or on perches, the finches and other birds fly free.

Macaws, scarlet, orange and blue, mutter and whistle beneath the broad, thick leaves of a sinewy rubber tree. Snow-white cockatoos screech and raise their sulphur yellow or deep rose crests malevolently at the approach of intruders. Gray Java sparrow flutters through the matted overhanging lianas. African queen whydah birds, blacks, but far from somber, with graceful, fluttering tails twice the length of their bodies, and strong, golden-barred wings flit across the room.

In one cage is a small—squab-sized—Senegal parrot, from Africa. Lemp is particularly proud of this fellow, with the light green body and gray head, because it is the only Senegal in captivity in the United States. Neither the St. Louis Zoo nor the New York Zoological Park, the outstanding public collections of the world, has a Senegal.

Bird Collector 20 Years.

Lemp, a bachelor, has been collecting birds for 20 years, but his interest in animals is more recent. He is a member of the Zoological Board of Control, governing body of the Zoo, and conferred with Vierheller on the decoration of the Bird House. At present he and Vierheller are directing the final stages of construction of the Antelope House which is to be opened next summer.

Lemp won't discuss the cost of feeding and caring for his vast collection although he points with pride to the profit from the animal collection. Three years ago he had four buffalo. Last week he sold three and he still has six. Net profit to date; five buffalo.

HUMANE SOCIETY EMPLOYE STABBED BY FELLOW WORKER

William O'Shaughnessy in Hospital After Argument Over Sunday Work.

William O'Shaughnessy, an employe of the Humane Society, is at Deaconess Hospital suffering from a stab wound in the chest inflicted last night by Arch Wright, a fellow employe, following an argument over which one of the two should work today. O'Shaughnessy lives at 6160 Crescent avenue.

Wright, who lives in the rear of the Humane Society shelter at 1210 Macklind avenue, where the stabbing occurred, told police that during the argument O'Shaughnessy struck him with his fist. A fight ensued and when O'Shaughnessy appeared to have the upper hand, Wright drew a knife and stabbed him.

Wright was released on bond. In the past few years, he and O'Shaughnessy have worked together on many animal rescues.

DENVER WOMAN HACKED TO DEATH BY ODD JOB MAN

Victim's Husband Says Employe Attacked Him and He Called Police — Murderer Confesses.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 17.—Mrs. Lillian Sarkisian, 51 years old, and wife of Dr. Toros Sarkisian, was hacked to death in the family home on Capitol Hill tonight.

Several hours after the killing Abraham L. Kloian, an odd job man, employed by the Sarkisians, was arrested and, police say, confessed.

Dr. Sarkisian, graduate of Rush Medical College at Chicago, told detectives Kloian struck him from behind when he entered his residence shortly before 6 p. m. Dr. Sarkisian ran out of the house to get help and returned with policemen, who found his wife's body under a rug in a basement room.

"Only a maniac could have committed the crime," said Dr. R. M. Campbell, police surgeon.

The police think Kloian probably aroused Mrs. Sarkisian when he struck her husband and then, after the doctor ran from the house, pursued her to the basement and killed her probably with an ax.

Dr. Sarkisian said Kloian worked as a part-time janitor at the Oriental rug shop which Dr. Sarkisian and his wife operated.

The Sarkisians were married in Chicago and came west in 1903 for Dr. Sarkisian's health. Mrs. Sarkisian formerly was Lillian Moore. They have one son and a daughter here.

BOY, 10, SUPPOSEDLY HURT IN SCUFFLE, HAS LOCKJAW

Dormant Case of Tetanus Flares Up After Fight With Older Lad.

Anti-tetanus treatment was given last night at the St. Louis County Hospital to Charles G. Stephan Jr., 10 years old, of 757 Ruprecht avenue, Affton, who was found to be suffering from lockjaw after it was first thought that he had a spine injury as the result of a fight Monday among children of his neighborhood. The treatments will be repeated every 12 hours.

Shortly after the fight, in which, according to his mother, Charles was beaten by a 14-year-old boy when he went to defend his brother, Howard, 7, Charles complained of a pain in his back and had difficulty in opening his mouth. Physicians believed his spine had been injured, but after learning that he had cut his left knee on a rusty nail about 10 days ago, examined him again and found evidence of lockjaw which had been dormant until the scuffle with the older boy, which caused it to become active.

There was no evidence of a spinal injury, an X-ray examination disclosed.

ACTRESS PHYLLIS RANKIN DIES

Wife of Harry Davenport, Who Is Still on Stage.

By the Associated Press.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Nov. 17.—Phyllis Rankin Davenport, a former star of the American and English stage, died at Canton, Pa., it was learned here tonight. She was 59 years old, the wife of Harry Davenport who is still active in the profession, and the mother of four children, three of whom have been on the stage.

Mrs. Davenport retired about 10 years ago. As Phyllis Rankin she played in "The Belle of New York" and "Florodora." She closed her stage career in "The Cradle Song," in which her husband, two daughters and a son also played.

BOY, 8, IN RESPIRATOR IN ST. LOUIS HOSPITAL

William Green, of Pilot Knob, Mo., Is Suffering From Post-Diphtheritic Paralysis.

William Green, 8-year-old son of Mrs. Charles Allers of Pilot Knob, Mo., who is seriously ill with post-diphtheritic paralysis, has been living since Friday in the tightly inclosed chamber of a Drinker respirator at Children's Hospital in an effort by physicians to restore his paralyzed respiratory muscles.

The boy, who contracted the illness Oct. 1, cannot talk and must be fed through a nasal tube, the muscles of his pharnyx being paralyzed. He is also unable to swallow and the saliva that accumulates in the throat must be eliminated by nurses, who attend him continually.

Three children and 11 adult patients have been treated in the respirator since it was installed at the hospital 14 months ago.

In the respirator, a tightly inclosed steel chamber, seven feet long, two feet wide and two and a half feet high, the patient is made to breathe automatically. Only the head is outside, and a close-fitting rubber band around the neck keeps out all air. A vacuum pump, operated by an electric motor, creates a suction which periodically lifts and expands the chest. The weight of the chest causes the patient to exhale.

There are glass windows, resembling portholes, in the sides. Through a rubber-lined hole an attendant can put his arm and feel the suction, which is gentle and which can be increased or reduced as required.

The St. Louis Health Division, in co-operation with the St. Louis Medical Society, conducted a diphtheria prevention campaign last November and urged that all children be immunized. At that time, the Health Division pointed out that where immunization failed to ward off the disease, immediate application of anti-toxin would prevent death.

Col. W. Robert Davis, 62, Dies.

By the Associated Press.

CLEARWATER, Fla., Nov. 17.—Col. W. Robert Davis, 62 years old, who established the first leper colony in the Philippines and who was Chief Flight Surgeon of the army at the time of his retirement in 1927, died at his home in Dunedin today.

The body will be sent to Washington for services and interment will be in Arlington National Cemetery Tuesday. His widow and a brother survive.

ST. PAUL FLYER WINS MITCHELL AIR TROPHY

Capt. Fred C. Nelson Averages 216.832 Miles an Hour at Selfridge Field.

By the Associated Press.

SELFRIDGE FIELD, MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Nov. 17. — The pick of the Army Air Corps raced today for the Mitchell Trophy, Capt. Fred C. Nelson of St. Paul, Minn., winning over nine other pilots, with a speed of 216.832 miles an hour for the four flights over a 20-mile course.

The slowest of the 10 racing planes whisked over the course at 208.327 miles an hour, breaking the record of 175.4 set by Lieut. Cy Bettis in 1930, when the race last was flown.

The race, two other competitive speed events and a program of maneuvers and stunts were run off in a gusty wind without a forced landing.

The racing pilots today probably would have attained even higher speeds, but the throttles on their planes were blocked because the races were run at extremely low altitude.

Second place in the Mitchell race went to Capt. George P. Tourtellot, Seattle, Wash., whose speed was 214.723. The second fastest time, 215.019 miles an hour, was made by Lieut. George H. Schlatter, Fostoria, O., who was disqualified for cutting a pylon. Lieut. James E. Parker, Anniston, Ala., was third, with 214.328.

The Curtiss Trophy, offered for the first time this year, was won by Lieut. Thomas Gaughen Jr., of North Bend, Neb., who circled the 20-miles course three times at a speed of 191.446 miles an hour.

A "junior birdmen's" trophy went to Lieut. D. C. Doubleday of Johnstown, N. Y., who flew twice over a measured mile at an average speed equivalent to 240.3 miles an hour. The fastest mile was flown by Lieut. H. H. Van Auken, Bergensfield, N. J., at 256.9 miles an hour, but he pulled up short and was disqualified.

Stalin Waives $1000 Bequest.

By the Associated Press.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Nov. 17.—The $1000 bequeathed by Leon Grant McBurney to Josef Stalin, Soviet leader, has been waived in favor of McBurney's children. Lawyers said today a letter from the Russian Embassy at Washington had instructed them to give the money to the family. McBurney, who died several months ago, also bequeathed $1000 to President Roosevelt, who waived the bequest.

331 JOBS PAYING $628,256 A YEAR FOR DEMOCRATS

Only Those Recommended by Executive Board of Party's City Committee to Get Positions.

Members of the Executive Committee of the Democratic City Committee will give out the 331 jobs, carrying a total salary of $628,256 annually, to be filled in offices of Democratic officials elected Nov. 6 to succeed Republicans.

Robert E. Hannegan, lawyer, chairman of the City Committee and of the Executive Committee, announced yesterday that Democrats elected to local offices would consult the Executive Committee about filling the jobs which will be at their disposal. The new officials, he said, had agreed to the policy of making appointments only on recommendation of the Executive Committee, in order to reward party workers.

Indorsement by the Democratic committeeman or committeewoman of the applicant's ward must be obtained by the job seeker before the Executive Committee will approve appointment, the chairman added.

"We also are going to see that these offices are manned by persons capable of doing the work," said Hannegan. "The Democrats are in power now and we are going to do everything possible to play fair with the public."

The Winners and the Jobs.

Democrats elected this month, who will take office next year, and the number of jobs and the annual payrolls in their departments, are:

W. F. Baumann, Collector of Revenue, 97 jobs, $189,650.

H. Sam Priest, Circuit Clerk, 81 jobs, $140,000.

License Collector, Fred A. Renick, 36 jobs, $72,400.

Probate Judge, Glendy B. Arnold, 29 jobs, $74,163.

Clerk of Circuit Court for Criminal Causes, L. J. Kickham, eight jobs, $23,000.

Prosecuting Attorney James P. Finnegan, seven jobs, $21,060.

Clerk of Court of Criminal Correction, John P. Connolly, five jobs, $10,304.

In addition to the foregoing positions, seven newly elected Democratic Circuit Judges and James W. Griffin (Dem.), new Judge of the Court of Criminal Correction, will appoint a court stenographer each, places usually considered personal appointments by the Judges. Next May the term of Amos Seaman (Rep.) as Jury Commissioner will expire. The Circuit Judges in general term, with the Democrats having a two-thirds majority, will fill the place. This office has a staff of five regular deputies.

Dispensers of Patronage.

State Senator Joseph H. Brogan, Third Ward.

Justice of the Peace Jimmy Miller, Fourth Ward.

Jule Eckel, Tenth Ward, Chief Deputy Marshal.

Michael Whalen, Twenty-second Ward.

Harry J. Cantwell, Twenty-fifth Ward, attorney for United Service Car Co. and treasurer of the city committee.

Mrs. Bessie Guenther, Sixth Ward, matron at City Hall.

Mrs. Lottie Walsh, Sixteenth Ward, Deputy State Labor Commissioner.

Miss Ann B. Noonan, Seventeenth Ward, a Deputy Sheriff.

Miss Nell Meehan, Twentieth Ward.

Miss Addie O'Connell, Twenty-sixth Ward.

Mrs. Catherine Roden, Twenty-seventh Ward, a clerk at the State automobile license office.

In addition to the Executive Committee of the Democratic City Committee, other Democrats who have been active in patronage matters have included Chairman Waechter of the Election Board; President Igoe of the Police Board; Mayor Dickmann; his brother, Judge Dickmann of the Court of Criminal Correction; Jesse McDonald, lawyer; Congressman Cochran, J. Wesley McAfee, Circuit Judge-elect, and State Senator Kinney.

BOY, 4, THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN ABDUCTED BY GIRL, 19

Officers Seek Hitch-Hiker in Disappearance of Lexington, Ky. Child.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 17.—A girl hitch-hiker and 4-year-old Jackie Gibbons, whom she is suspected of abducting with no apparent motive, were sought in Kentucky and Tennessee tonight by Federal agents and State police.

The boy has been missing from his home here since Thursday afternoon. The father, John Lawrence Gibbons, who left his work with the Northern States Contracting Co. to help hunt for his son, said he was at a loss for an explanation of the boy's disappearance.

The only clew that has turned up is the report that a girl about 19 years old with long blond hair, and a boy answering the missing boy's description were seen on the highway south of Lexington Thursday afternoon. A filling station man at Stanford, 50 miles away, reported having seen such a pair later. Detective Chief Joe Harrigan of Lexington, said he thinks the girl picked up the boy, hoping the child would arouse sympathy and help her get rides.

BURNED IN NAPHTHA EXPLOSION

Woman Seriously Injured When Cleaning Dress.

Mrs. Alvina Meckfessel, a widow, 4314A College avenue, was seriously burned yesterday when naphtha she was using to clean a dress in the basement of her home exploded and set fire to her clothing.

John Funk, her downstairs neighbor, heard her screams and extinguished the flames with a blanket. She was taken to City Hospital.

TEXTILE WORKERS SERVE NOTICE OF STRIKE PLANS

They Tell Labor Board Walkouts at 200 Mills Will Be Ordered if Terms Aren't Met.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. — Labor leaders representing the textile industry served notice today upon the Textile Labor Relations Board that strikes would soon be ordered in 200 mills unless satisfactory adjustments are made of cases involving alleged discrimination against union men.

The union officials, after a six-hour session, determined finally that no strike action should be taken within the next few days, but instead sent the statement to the Labor Relations Board.

They alleged that the stretch-out system—the increase of work load on individual workers—was being employed in mills in the cotton, wool and silk industries.

Frances J. Gorman, organization director of the textile workers, said a majority of the mills had re-employed strikers without discrimination.

MAN CRUSHED BY ICEBOX DIES

Niles Center Official Holds Such Action Is Justified by Illinois Law.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—The violent end that Queenie met was within the law. With that ruling, a Niles Center Justice of the Peace yesterday ended, at least temporarily, the bulldog-turkhen war that had turned neighbor against neighbor in Niles Center.

Prof. Paul Morrison of Northwestern University brought Walter J. Seifert into court charging him with maliciously shooting the cannine Queenie, valued at $1000. But, contended Seifert, Queenie had been guilty of that gravest of dog-offenses, killing poultry, in this case turkhens, a cross between turkeys and chickens that Seifert raises.

Neighbors appeared as character withnesses, some for and some against the good name of the departed Queenie. The Justice pondered the case for a week, and then made his decision based on a 1933 statute which permits killing of a dog "known to have maimed or killed animals belonging to another person."

The new officials, he said, had agreed to the policy of making appointments only on recommendation of the Executive Committee, in order to reward party workers.

Indorsement by the Democratic committeeman or committeewoman of the applicant's ward must be obtained by the job seeker before the Executive Committee will approve appointment, the chairman added.

"We also are going to see that these offices are manned by persons capable of doing the work," said Hannegan. "The Democrats are in power now and we are going to do everything possible to play fair with the public."

The Winners and the Jobs.

Democrats elected this month, who will take office next year, and the number of jobs and the annual payrolls in their departments, are:

W. F. Baumann, Collector of Revenue, 97 jobs, $189,650.

H. Sam Priest, Circuit Clerk, 81 jobs, $140,000.

License Collector, Fred A. Renick, 36 jobs, $72,400.

Probate Judge, Glendy B. Arnold, 29 jobs, $74,163.

Clerk of Circuit Court for Criminal Causes, L. J. Kickham, eight jobs, $23,000.

Prosecuting Attorney James P. Finnegan, seven jobs, $21,060.

Clerk of Court of Criminal Correction, John P. Connolly, five jobs, $10,304.

In addition to the foregoing positions, seven newly elected Democratic Circuit Judges and James W. Griffin (Dem.), new Judge of the Court of Criminal Correction, will appoint a court stenographer each, places usually considered personal appointments by the Judges. Next May the term of Amos Seaman (Rep.) as Jury Commissioner will expire. The Circuit Judges in general term, with the Democrats having a two-thirds majority, will fill the place. This office has a staff of five regular deputies.

Dispensers of Patronage.

State Senator Joseph H. Brogan, Third Ward.

Justice of the Peace Jimmy Miller, Fourth Ward.

Jule Eckel, Tenth Ward, Chief Deputy Marshal.

Michael Whalen, Twenty-second Ward.

Harry J. Cantwell, Twenty-fifth Ward, attorney for United Service Car Co. and treasurer of the city committee.

Mrs. Bessie Guenther, Sixth Ward, matron at City Hall.

Mrs. Lottie Walsh, Sixteenth Ward, Deputy State Labor Commissioner.

Miss Nell Meehan, Twentieth Ward.

Miss Addie O'Connell, Twenty-sixth Ward.

Mrs. Catherine Roden, Twenty-seventh Ward, a clerk at the State automobile license office.

In addition to the Executive Committee of the Democratic City Committee, other Democrats who have been active in patronage matters have included Chairman Waechter of the Election Board; President Igoe of the Police Board; Mayor Dickmann; his brother, Judge Dickmann of the Court of Criminal Correction; Jesse McDonald, lawyer; Congressman Cochran, J. Wesley McAfee, Circuit Judge-elect, and State Senator Kinney.

Richard Dix and Wife in Court

TEXTILE WORKERS SERVE NOTICE OF STRIKE PLANS

They Tell Labor Board Walkouts at 200 Mills Will Be Ordered if Terms Aren't Met.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. — Labor leaders representing the textile industry served notice today upon the Textile Labor Relations Board that strikes would soon be ordered in 200 mills unless satisfactory adjustments are made of cases involving alleged discrimination against union men.

The union officials, after a six-hour session, determined finally that no strike action should be taken within the next few days, but instead sent the statement to the Labor Relations Board.

They alleged that the stretch-out system—the increase of work load on individual workers—was being employed in mills in the cotton, wool and silk industries.

Frances J. Gorman, organization director of the textile workers, said a majority of the mills had re-employed strikers without discrimination.

MAN CRUSHED BY ICEBOX DIES

John Ellis, Merchant, Succumbs to Injuries Suffered Thursday.

John Ellis, a merchant of 1473 Belt avenue, died at City Hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Thursday when he was crushed under an icebox he was helping to carry down a flight of stairs at 1406 Montclair avenue.

He slipped on the second step from the bottom and the box fell on him.

BOY, 4, THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN ABDUCTED BY GIRL, 19

Officers Seek Hitch-Hiker in Disappearance of Lexington, Ky. Child.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 17.—A girl hitch-hiker and 4-year-old Jackie Gibbons, whom she is suspected of abducting with no apparent motive, were sought in Kentucky and Tennessee tonight by Federal agents and State police.

The boy has been missing from his home here since Thursday afternoon. The father, John Lawrence Gibbons, who left his work with the Northern States Contracting Co. to help hunt for his son, said he was at a loss for an explanation of the boy's disappearance.

The only clew that has turned up is the report that a girl about 19 years old with long blond hair, and a boy answering the missing boy's description were seen on the highway south of Lexington Thursday afternoon. A filling station man at Stanford, 50 miles away, reported having seen such a pair later. Detective Chief Joe Harrigan of Lexington, said he thinks the girl picked up the boy, hoping the child would arouse sympathy and help her get rides.

JUSTICE UPHOLDS KILLING OF DOG THAT KILLED POULTRY

Niles Center Official Holds Such Action Is Justified by Illinois Law.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—The violent end that Queenie met was within the law. With that ruling, a Niles Center Justice of the Peace yesterday ended, at least temporarily, the bulldog-turkhen war that had turned neighbor against neighbor in Niles Center.

Prof. Paul Morrison of Northwestern University brought Walter J. Seifert into court charging him with maliciously shooting the cannine Queenie, valued at $1000. But, contended Seifert, Queenie had been guilty of that gravest of dog-offenses, killing poultry, in this case turkhens, a cross between turkeys and chickens that Seifert raises.

Neighbors appeared as character withnesses, some for and some against the good name of the departed Queenie. The Justice pondered the case for a week, and then made his decision based on a 1933 statute which permits killing of a dog "known to have maimed or killed animals belonging to another person."

JAPAN CONSIDERS STEP TO END ARMS PARLEY DEADLOCK

Expected to Urge Further Discussions Although Rejecting British Plan for Compromise.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—In the face of Japan's rejection of their compromise plan for naval limitation, British participants in the three-power naval conversations here were more hopeful tonight for ultimate agreement than at any time since the negotiations began.

The Japanese delegates, Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudaira, and Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, will deliver Tokio's formal reply to the British compromise proposal next week, informing the British that Japan stands as pat as ever on its demand for equality on the high seas.

At the same time, it was learned, the Japanese will request further conversations as to the possibility of meeting Japan's desire for full equality with the other two powers engaged in the conversations, Britain and the United States.

The British Proposal.

Britain's plan, put forward in an effort to end the deadlock holding the conferences, involved recognition of Japan's right to equality in principle whereas the Japanese want actual tonnage equality, although they would agree not to build up to equality for a certain number of years.

Although not yet advised officially of the Japanese reply, Britain's conferees, headed by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, regard the request for further discussions as indicating Japan wants to reach an agreement.

The delegates from Japan, holding to their original thesis that the 5-5-3 ratio for naval armaments imposed by the Washington treaty must be abolished, see in the British attitude the possibility that both British and Americans may yield to the demand for equality.

The Americans, however, continue their opposition even to the principle of equality, which was first made known two weeks ago.

Americans in Dilemma.

A dilemma, however, admittedly faces the Americans in view of Japan's apparent determination to accept no half loaf, and it appeared the United States delegates might be forced to desert the conference, seek postponement of them or accept any compromise satisfactory to the other two powers.

The British, it was said, also oppose full equality for Japan but it was regarded possible that the British might give in if the Americans did, and if the Japanese modified their demand somewhat.

The Japanese delegation today advised the British that its instructions from Tokio had been received and plans were made for another Anglo-Japanese meeting next week when the rejection of the British plan will be discussed.

The United States delegates, Norman H. Davis and Admiral William H. Standley, were luncheon guests today of MacDonald.

SENATOR KING SATISFIED WITH SILVER PROGRAM

Will Advocate No New Legislation; Borah Disagrees, Wants More Money Issued.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. — Senator William H. King of Utah, a silver bloc leader, said today on his return to the Capital that the present silver program was satisfactory and no new legislation was needed. He predicted international monetary stabilization in the near future on a bimetallic standard as a direct outcome of the administration's silver purchasing program.

He admitted some of his colleagues might not be so satisfied. He said there would be demands from some of them for a speeding up of the purchases and for free coinage.

Senator Borah of Idaho immediately issued a statement that he was not satisfied with the silver program in the first place and was more against it today because the Treasury was "freezing" the silver bullion and not issuing currency against it.

"You can't increase the purchasing power of the people unless you get more money out," Borah said. He advocates a central bank of issue to control the currency.

AMENDED MILLINERY CODE IS EFFECTIVE TOMORROW

Wages Increased About 6 Per Cent and Basic Maximum Work Week Reduced.

An amended NRA code for the millinery industry, increasing wages about 6 per cent and reducing the basic maximum work week from 37½ to 35 hours, becomes effective tomorrow.

The code, as explained by George Baer, vice-president of the United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers' International Union, provides for St. Louis minimum hourly wages of 86 cents for blockers, 73 cents for operators and cutters and 49 cents for milliners. These employes will have a maximum 35-hour week with a provision permitting seven and one-half hours' weekly overtime during six weeks in any season, or 12 weeks a year.

Workers not included in the classified scales may work not more than 42½ hours a week. Their minimum weekly wage in St. Louis will be $13 and the number of apprentices will be restricted to 10 per cent of all workers.

OPEN SEASON ON QUAIL IN NINE COUNTIES THIS FALL

Missouri Game Department Lists Those, Formedly Closed, That Now Permit Hunting.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 17.—Nine counties which have maintained a closed season on quail for the last two years will permit quail hunting this month, it is announced today by the State Game and Fish Department.

They are: Daviess, Knox and Schuyler, when the season opens tomorrow; Andrew, Atchison, Bates and Maries, open Monday; Johnson, open Tuesday; and Cooper, which defeated a proposal to continue the closed season for two years, will open Sunday, Nov. 25.

Seven counties voted in the Nov. 6 election for a closed season on quail for the next two years. They are: Harrison, Scotland, St. Clair, Franklin, De Kalb, Moniteau, and Lafayette. Two counties, Cooper, which was already closed, and Phelps, voted not to close.

DEATH FOR RUSSIANS FOR NEGLECT OF CROPS

Six Sentenced to Execution, 20 Others to Prison—Refused to Do "Women's Work."

By the Associated Press.

TASHKENT, U. S. S. R., Nov. 17.—Six cotton farmers were sentenced to death and 20 others given long prison terms today on charges of neglecting and sabotaging cotton crops in Uzbekistan.

The Supreme Court of the district is holding seven others for trial in the Central Asian cotton district. The government declares the influence of the Kulaks (wealthy peasants) has hindered work on the collective farms.

The Turkish Mohammedan population of Uzbekistan has resisted the modernization of agriculture. The men have refused to pick cotton on the ground that it was "women's work."

The condemned men are A. R. Abdudjaid Ismaliov, Sagman Farmanov, Makhmud Akhmedov, Sappar Kasanov, Djumah Bukanov and Namaz Uratov, all members of collective farms.

The trials were held on the farms where witnesses and evidence were available to the court.

The charges included failure to weed the cotton, mixing of various grades of seed, improper irrigation, planting of corn where cotton should have been used, falsification of records, theft of collective property and delay in picking the crop.

Special Judges were sent to try the alleged offenders following failure of the Republic to turn out more than 64 per cent of the cotton quota assigned it.

CLAIRE WINDSOR NOT TO PAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Claire Windsor, movie actress, today confirmed reports that the $100,000 alienation of affections suit brought against her by Mrs. Marion Y. Read, of Oakland, Cal., had been settled by agreement.

"My attorneys notified me about a month ago that they had obtained a release from Mrs. Read. On their instruction I had been keeping still about it. "All I know about it is that I pay no money. I am sure Mrs. Read was no more anxious to go through it all in court again than I was." In the trial of the suit Mrs. Read received an award of $75,000 damages which was set aside on appeal as being "excessive and unreasonable."

Long Takes His Own Police To Handle Crowds on Trip

Summons Mississippi Governor From Mansion Porch to Join Him in Football Parade at Jackson.

By the Associated Press.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 17.—Huey P. Long came to Jackson today—with eight Louisiana motorcycle police to hold back the crowds. He strutted at the head of the Louisiana State University band, swinging his arm like a windmill; watched the Louisiana Tigers beat the University of Mississippi; then climbed back on his football special to return home.

The "Kingfish" gave Jackson a great show. The Mayor met him at the beginning of the parade, but Gov. Sennett Conner had to be summoned from the front porch of the mansion by a Long aid before he would join the parade. Somewhat reluctantly, he took his place beside the United States Senator from Louisiana and marched from the mansion to the new Capitol, where the Louisiana and Mississippi bands gave a concert, with Long leading the crowd in songs.

Gov. Conner told Long he couldn't get through the crowd to the station to greet him and his party of 400. Senator-elect Theodore G. Bilbo did not appear during the parade. He sat in a box next to Gov. Conner at the game, but did not go out to greet Long when the "Kingfish" crossed over to the Mississippi side before the game.

Long left Baton Rouge at 6:15 a. m. with a 13-car special train. At McComb, the home of Abe Mickal, Louisiana star halfback, he detrained his band and marched through the streets.

After the parade here, Long took the band to a hotel for luncheon, paid cash for the meal, then gave each bandman a dollar for spending money.

Long led the band onto the football field, but then deserted it and began greeting friends. There were calls for a speech, but Long said:

"I didn't come up here to politic. I came up here to see a football game."

He expressed resentment over published accounts that he was using the university football team for his own political advancement.

"Why that's crazy talk," he said, "I love football. We have the finest team in America and I am ready to prove it. We will play anybody who doubts that. We have been invited to play in all the vegetable bowls in the country, orange and sugar bowls and whatnot. We don't know what we are going to do. The Tigers never have put on full steam. There is no telling where they could go if the pressure was put on."

41 LOSE LIVES DURING TYPHOON IN PHILIPPINES

44 Are Missing, Fate of 200 Others in Doubt and Tens of Thousands Are Homeless.

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, Nov. 18 (Sunday). — Forty-one dead, 200 others possibly drowned, 44 missing, tens of thousands homeless and property damage aggregating several million dollars was the toll of Thursday's typhoon in the Philippines. The undetermined fate of 200 persons apparently deluged or swept out to sea at Mauban, kept the casualty list indefinite. Twelve provinces swept by the typhoon have been unable to report fully on the loss of life and property because communications are interrupted.

Two hundred persons were reported dead in Tayabas Province, just southeast of Manila. More than 30 others lost their lives in various places throughout Southeastern Luzon Island, on which Manila is situated.

Mauban, one the east coast of Tayabas, apparently felt the full force of the tempest. One report was that in Mauban alone there were 200 dead. Another, from the Postmaster said the deaths totaled about 100 and many were missing.

Nine Feet of Water in Mauban.

Apparently a great torrent of water swept down upon Mauban after the storm had torn through it. The town of about 15,000, concentrated in deep ravines, was quickly submerged under nine feet of water. Houses were swept out to sea. Roads were blocked by avalanches of mud which blocked the paths of relief workers. Isolation was swift and complete, despite its nearness to Manila—65 miles by air line.

Gov. Rodriguez headed a relief expedition which set out from Lucena, provincial capital, for Mauban last night but had not been heard from tonight. A mountain trail is the only avenue of landward approach to the stricken town since the regular highways have been rendered impassable.

The motor ferryboat Naga of the Manila Railroad was sent from Dohican to Mauban.

Deaths on Samar.

Late reports told of more deaths on the island of Samar but figures were not given. Shortly after the storm struck, four fishermen were reported drowned and 29 are missing in nearby Leyte Province.

Detailed reports also were lacking from Naga, another provincial capital where 20,000 persons were made homeless.

The towns of Sorsogon, Daet and Legaspi, among those hardest hit, also remained to be fully checked.

An early report showed 60 per cent of the bamboo houses of Sorsogon had been blown down. The wind reached 80 miles an hour at one time.

Tells of Girl's Plunge

FRANK (BROADWAY) JONES LEAVING the coroner's office in Chicago yesterday after he told of the leap to death of Miss Louise Nolan, night club hostess, from his room on the seventeenth floor of the Medinah Club. Miss Dorothy Lawler, 20, a former nurse, was the third member of a party in Jones' room. She said: "When Louise told Frank he must choose between us, he said: 'Well, I choose Dorothy.'" With that Miss Nolan dashed across the room, opened the window and leaped.

$200,000 AWARD TO ST. LOUIS WOMAN HELD UP BY COURT

Colorado Tribunal to Review New York State's Claim to Hallett Estate.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Nov. 17.—The Colorado Supreme Court today announced it will review the case of the State of New York seeking the $750,000 estate of the late Mrs. Julia E. Hallett, widow of a Colorado "silver millionaire," who died May 14, 1933. A jury in the Denver District Court returned a verdict in November, 1933, in favor of Mrs. Virginia Mae Gilham of St. Louis, niece and nearest relative of Mrs. Hallett. The jury refused to recognize claims of New York State under a will which Mrs. Hallett had drawn providing for erection and maintenance of a home for aged gentlewomen in Wayne County, New York, as a memorial to her husband, the late Samuel D. Hallett.

The jury found the will had been destroyed and held that its provisions were void. The New York Attorney-General appealed to the State Supreme Court. Other claimans to the estate, besides the niece, are three adopted children of Samuel Hallett.

In the District Court, 11 heirs were recognized. They were, besides Mrs. Gilham, Mrs. Louise Hallett Bain of Springfield, Ill.; Margaret Hallett Land of Melrose, Mass.; Samuel I. Hallett Jr. of Seattle, Wash.; Adis Hoskins of McComb, Miss.; Harry W. Chick of Denver; Robert Chick of Plattsburgh, N. Y.; A. G. Prather of Los Angeles, Sadie G. Hukill of Hinton, Ok.; Marcellus Gilham of Riveria, Cal., and Julia G. Teblock of Hollywood, Cal.

Mrs. Virginia Mae Gilham of 5580 Cabanne avenue was awarded $200,000 of the estate March 27 last, on condition that no appeal be made to the Colorado Supreme Court. She brought Mrs. Hallett's body to St. Louis for burial in the family lot at Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Corn Stalk Disease Kills Horses.

By the Associated Press.

DANVILLE, Ill., Nov. 17.—A new outbreak of corn stalk disease, caused by forage poisoning in corn, was discovered here today by Otis Kercher, farm adviser, and Dr. George Jones, Sidell veterinarian, after they had investigated the deaths of more than 20 horses in Vermilion County this week. Horses that were used in husking corn were the first to become affected.

NAZIS TO DICTATE FARM MARKET PRICES

Agricultural Secretary Says Control Will Be Placed "Above Economic Law."

By the Associated Press.

GOSLAR, Germany, Nov. 17.—Despite drizzling rain, thousands filled the narrow streets of this ancient city today to greet Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler but he failed to appear.

He sent Rudolf Hess, his personal representative in the Nazi party, to take his place at this evening's pageant held in connection with the second Germany-wide Farmers' Congress held under Nazi auspices.

Walter Darre, Commissioner for Agriculture, today administered the oath of loyalty to Hitler to 93 members of the National Peasants' Council, which constitutes sort of an upper house of the farmers' organization.

After instructing the peasant leaders always to remember that national socialism places the common weal before personal advantage, Darre told them the new council must have the welfare of the nation first and foremost in its heart.

"Blood and race are our fundamental conceptions," Darre said. "When we seized power we told the farmers that blood precedes economics."

Earlier the assembled farmers heard Herbert Backe, State Secretary to the Ministry of Agriculture, assail capitalism and assert Naziism plans to place "conscious control of markets" above economic laws.

Sharply contradicting Dr. Erich Winters, Germany's expert on agricultural treaties, who told the Congress Wednesday night the Reich does not plan economic autarchy, Backe pictured for the farmers the day when Germany shall itself produce everything it needs.

He admonished each farmer to be as self-contained as possible and said "every farmer must seek to produce the greatest variety possible."

"We must gradually bring back to Germany those branches of agriculture which world economy took elsewhere," Backe declared, and pointed to the raising of sheep as an example.

Germany, the speaker said, already has made itself independent of the rest of the world as regards bread and meat. He urged that it strive now for self-sufficiency in such staples as milk, lard, eggs and vegetable oil.

The Nazi price-fixing program, recently placed in the hands of former Chancellor Heinrich Bruening's one-time price dictator, Dr. Karl Goerdeler, must take the place of "capitalism's accidental market happenings," Backe asserted.

"We have placed conscious Nazi co-ordination and regulation of markets in its stead," he said.

"In place of the accidental equalization between supply and demand we have put conscious equalization between need and its coverage.

"In place of those almost slavish subordinations of man and his activities to an alleged law of wild price fluctuations in all sorts of exchanges we have put conscious control of markets through responsible determination and fixing of prices.

"This fixed order safeguards the farmer and consumer alike."

Earlier in his address Backe, after predicting the triumph of "regulated" economy over "free" economy, assailed capitalism as looking "only to rentability or profit."

National Socialism, he said, "advocates the most intensive development within each nation of its own resources."

The Farmers' Congress, which was convened by the National Nutritive Guild, attracted peasant leaders from all Europe as well as Germany.

Recaptured at Gates of Chester (Ill.) Penitentiary After Attempt to Get Away.

By the Associated Press.

CHESTER, Ill., Nov. 17.—Harold St. Clair, convicted of killing Dr. Homer L. Meyer, was a prisoner in the Southern Illinois penitentiary tonight and sorry, he said, that officers did not kill him when he attempted to escape at the gates of the prison this afternoon.

"Why didn't you do your duty and shoot to kill?" he demanded of a highway patrolman after he had been recaptured. "I would rather die than enter this place."

St. Clair, former Ohio convict, was brought here by officers after he had been formally sentenced to serve 39 years by Circuit Judge Joe Hill at Shawneetown this morning. As the automobile of Sheriff Hallie Crunk of Gallatin County drove in the gate of the prison, St. Clair jumped out, shouting "Shoot to kill." Officers fired several shots and St. Clair fell three times, apparently wounded. An examination at the prison hospital, however, showed he had not been struck.

Brother Agnon, Noted Coach, Dies.

By the Associated Press.

MORAGA Cal., Nov. 17.—Brother Agnon, 76 years old, professor at St. Mary's College for 50 years, died of a heart attack today. He was widely known as "the father of athletics at St. Mary's." Born in New York City in 1858, he was christened John McCann. For many years Brother Agnon assisted Brother Joseph in coaching St. Mary's baseball team that produced such stars as Harry Hooper and Duffy Lewis, "Dutch" Leonard, Walter Mails, Mike McCann, Bill Simpson and Tiny Leonard.

'ALICE IN WONDERLAND' NEXT IN RANK TO 'MOTHER GOOSE'

Copies Sold Annually Are Put at 1,000,000; Book Was Not Copyrighted.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—"Alice in Wonderland," which Lewis Carroll wrote in 1865 to amuse the late Alice Hargreaves, still ranks high as a children's faroite.

"Everybody publishes 'Alice,'" said one bookseller tonight. "There must be two or three new editions every year, and I wouldn't be surprised if the sales totaled a million copies annually."

No one knows just how many copies have been sold since the book first appeared in England and no one knows how many editions have been printed, because the book was not copyrighted.

"Its popularity cannot be estimated definitely," the bookseller said, "but 'Alice' probably ranks next to Mother Goose as the greatest children's book of all times. It is one of the few books of the Victorian age that have survived. It now is firmly fixed as a best seller."

When W. W. Appleton brought the first edition to this country shortly after the book appeared in England, his publishing associates smiled and remarked that he still was young and would have to learn the business.

TWO GRAIN TRADERS BARRED FOR 6 MONTHS

Federal Board Imposes First Penalty Under 13-Year-old Futures Act.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The first disbarment of a grain trader under the 13-year-old Grain Futures Act came today when the Grain Futures Commission ordered the withdrawal of trading privileges for six months from Adrian Ettinger and Ewing W. Brand of Cleveland, O.

Enacted in 1921 to curtail the activities of market speculators, the law was not used until Jan. 1, 1934, when the action against Ettinger and Brand was instituted. The case was based on their market transactions during May, June and July of 1933.

Subsequently the commission cited Arthur W. Cutten of the Chicago Board of Trade for alleged short selling. It is studying evidence in this case given at a hearing last spring.

Secretary Wallace announced the institution of proceedings against Thomas M. Howell, also of the Chicago Board of Trade, alleging that he and nine associates cornered the July corn futures market in 1931 and forced a 14 per cent price rise for a period of three days.

The commission, in announcing the suspension of Ettinger and Brand from all United States markets, said the light punishment was ordered because the two men did not know they were violating the law. Both admitted, the commission said, most of the essential charges of the original complaint, which alleged that they violated the act by failing to keep records, by concealing transactions on the Chicago Board of Trade and by giving the names of fictitious persons as parties to trading transactions. The commission said they denied making false reports, but admitted such reports were made by an employe. The commission ruled that employers were responsible, under the act, for the employe.

Ettinger and Brand in their defense asserted that the commission had no authority to take action on a past violation, to which the commission replied that such a construction would render the act "wholly ineffectual."

Farm Strike Supporter Is Tarred.

By the Associated Press.

VEGREVILLE, Alta., Nov. 17.—A group of farmers who last night seized George Palmer, former Moscow newspaper man, and daubed him with tar, neglected to apply feathers, it was disclosed today. Palmer spoke at a meeting here early this week in support of the farmers' strike against grain elevators, assailing alleged police violence. He said he was taking a walk when a group of men seized him and tarred him. First reports that he was feathered turned out to be untrue.

BUDAPEST PARLEY TO SEEK REDUCED WHEAT ACREAGES

Quota Pact Likely to Be Extended Two Years and Plantings Progressively Cut Down.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Representatives of 21 nations will meet at Budapest Tuesday to seek agreement on a gradual lessening of the world wheat acreage each year, and on export quotas for the next three years.

Most of the delegates leaving London today for Budapest agreed that the program was the most ambitious undertaken by any of the recent wheat conferences held in an effort to substitute control for the working of natural laws.

The 1933 meeting, at which an international agreement was signed, merely limited production for one year and set export quotas for two years. Quotas for the year ending in August, 1935, must now be reconsidered.

The delegates were confident that the first matter to be taken up at Budapest—the proposed two-year extension of the wheat pact beyond Aug. 1, 1935—could be approved quickly. They hope then to reach an agreement further reducing planting during the next two years.

Operation of the pact in its first year took 13,000,000 acres out of wheat production, not including Russia and China, most of the reduction being made by the "big four" wheat countries—United States, Argentina, Canada and Australia. These countries now want, and expect to obtain, substantial reductions by European countries.

When production for the next two years has been decided, the delegates will proceed to the allocation of basic export quotas for the corresponding shipping years, ending in August, 1936 and August, 1937, respectively.

That settled, they will take up reconsideration of export quotas for the current year, which the London meeting last August failed to decide.

Last items on the agenda are the proposed quarterly export quota system and the quota reserve schemes.

The delegates believed that Argentina, which exceeded the quota set for it during the past shipping season, is now of a more conciliatory mind and ready to co-operate. An American delegation sent to Buenos Aires from Washington during the summer did much to pave the way for Argentina collaboration, it was believed.

John Van A. MacMurray, United States Minister to the Baltic states, who will preside over the meeting, was expected to reach Budapest today from Riga.

C. B. Davidson of the Canadian Marketing Board arrived in London yesterday and left for Budapest today with the Canadian, Australian and British delegations.

Late reports indicating the Australian wheat crop was suffering extensive damage from grasshoppers caused optimism in this group that the Australian quota would be no obstacle to agreement.

W. L. BOUCHARD, FLAT RIVER, HEADS MISSOURI PRESS GROUP

R. C. Goshorn, Jefferson City, Vice-President; Two-Day Convention Closes.

W. L. Bouchard, editor of the Lead Belt News of Flat River, Mo., was elected president of the Missouri Press Association at the closing session of its two-day convention at Hotel Statler yesterday.

Other officers elected for one-year terms were R. C. Goshorn, editor of the Jefferson City Post-Tribune, vice-president; Mrs. Frances O'Meara, editor of the Martinsburg Monitor, recording secretary, and Wilson Bell, editor of the Potosi Independent Journal, treasurer. Fred M. Harrison of Gallatin, retiring president, was elected to the board of directors for a three-year term, as was W. C. Hewitt of Shelbyville.

Resolutions asking the State to discontinue commercial advertising programs over WOS, State-owned radio station at Jefferson City, and criticising a recent postoffice ruling permitting widespread delivery of unaddressed advertising matter, were adopted.

FALLING LADDER HITS GIRL

Child, 7, Injured at Play in School Yard.

Josephine Grecko, 7 years old, 1423 North Jefferson avenue, is at City Hospital with a skull injury suffered when she was struck on the head by a 20-foot stepladder in the yard of St. Bridget's School, 2615 Stoddard street, Friday morning.

Josephine and other pupils were playing in the yard when several of them began moving the stepladder away from a wall of the school building. The ladder fell, striking Josephine. Her condition is serious.

STRIKE OF REPORTERS ON NEWARK LEDGER

Recognition of Guild Demanded, and Rehiring of Eight Discharged Employes.

By the Associated Press.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 17. — A strike of editorial workers of the Newark Morning Ledger began today, but L. T. Russell, publisher, said tomorrow morning's edition would be published as usual.

The strike was voted, 24 to 8, by employes who said they had failed to persuade Russell to recognize the Newark Newspaper Guild in collective bargaining. The publisher said that he had met a guild committee in a "cordial and lengthy" discussion and that the committee had left an ultimatum for his consideration.

The ultimatum demanded that the Ledger re-employ eight workers dismissed this week, make no further dismissals and refrain from engaging any new workers for 30 days.

Guild members said Russell was given until 11 o'clock last night to answer the ultimatum. The publisher said, "They left that ultimatum with me without any deadline hour at all, neither hour nor day, and the next I heard was a strike call at 4 o'clock Saturday morning."

Reporters on Picket Duty.

Pickets were posted by the strikers in Newark streets, at a railroad station and outside the Ledgere building today. Many of the reporters carried placards.

The sports staff, the copy desk and the city desk remained at work, Paul M* Smith, managing editor, reported tonight. Smith said "Overe 50 per cent" of the staff was still working. Arthur Warner, business manager, said 58 are normally employed in the editorial department.

Support of the strike was pledged on behalf of the American Newspaper Guild by Heywood Broun, president, at a mass meeting of the Newark chapter of the Guild tonight in City Hall. Broun described the strike as "a new weapon for us, but the only one in this case."

Publisher's Statement.

The dismissal of the eight employes, Russell said in a statement, was for reasons of economy.

"The editorial department payroll was nearly 50 per cent higher than a year ago and 50 per cent higher than the average of the past four years," he said. "I have not dismissed any member of the staff because of guild affiliation because if I had there would have been an entirely different list of persons dropped—certainly not the inoffensive group that through necessity happened to be the unfortunate ones because their product could be spared with least harm."

MAN CONFESSES EIGHT COUNTY ROBBERIES SINCE SEPT. 27

Robert West, Maryland Heights, Names Four Confederates, All Under Arrest.

Robert West of Maryland Heights, arrested with three companions by St. Louis County Deputy Sheriffs last week, confessed last night, it was said at the Sheriff's office, that he had participated in nine county robberies in which about $200 was taken, eight of them since last Sept. 27.

He named four confederates, according to Chief Deputy Sheriff Arnold Willmann, all of whom are under arrest. West and John Baker of Overland are charged in warrants with robbing The Gables, 7315 Olive street road, of $90 on Nov. 7 and taking $12 from the Olive-Link Mercantile Co. on Oct. 27. Most of the other holdups admitted by West were of street cars.

A third man, Orville Speenburgen of Overland is also charged with the Gables robbery. Warrants have not been issued against the other two, but one of them has admitted taking part in two of the holdups, Willmann said. Deputies quoted West as saying he took part in the first robbery in December, 1932, to get money for a Christmas toy for his small brother.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY DINNER

Park, Clark and Truman Head List of Speakers Tomorrow Night.

Gov. Park, Senator Bennett C. Clark, Senator-elect Harry S. Truman, Congressman John J. Cochran and Mayor Dickmann will be the speakers at the Democratic victory dinner tomorrow night at 6:45 o'clock at the Jefferson Hotel.

The dinner, originally scheduled to be held last week, was postponed on account of the death of John T. Fitzsimmons, Judge-elect of the Missouri Supreme Court. All the newly elected State and city Democratic officials will be present at the dinner. Former Judge Jesse McDonald will preside.

ENTIRE APPROPRIATION TO PWA IS ALLOTTED

Agency, in Report, Shows It Has Obligated Total of $3,700,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. — The Pubilc Works Administration today made its first official accounting of the billions it has spent.

A 92-page, figure-crammed report on how public works money was used up to Nov. 1 made two primary disclosures: PWA on that date actually was "in the red" on allotments; non-Federal projects financed from the original $3,300,000,000 fund were 85 per cent completed, under construction or contract and Federal projects were advanced even farther.

Secretary Ickes' aids said today's accounting indicated the present program would be largely cleared away by the time Congress would be able to provide more funds.

The record of allotments showed that by Nov. 1 PWA had obligated every dollar of the $3,700,000,000 total provided by Congress, $10,135,431 obtained from the sale of bonds through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and $239,431 besides. Since then more money has come from bond sales.

The largest portion of benefits from the PWA program remain to be realized, however, as the Treasury has disbursed less than $1,600,000,000 of public works funds.

Secretary Ickes would like to see the benefits enlarged to a point where direct relief could be eliminated from the national economy. He said employment could be provided quickly this winter on removing railway grade crossings and extending electric power lines into rural areas not now served. He said he saw possibilities in the continued financing of desirable non-Federal projects, in construction of a four-lane highway spanning the nation, in providing housing for the people, and in preventing flood, drought and erosion damage.

For the program now under way, the books on Nov. 1 showed allotments totaled $3,710,375,257, including $1,545,075,908 to 13,200 Federal projects, $998,393,183 to 4052 non-Federals, and $1,166,706,166 to the CCC, CWA, and other Government agencies for executive, administrative and special expense.

Contracts awarded and accounts established aggregated $1,244,859,170 for Federal projects, $476,090,406 for non-Federals. The cost of work being advertised was estimated at $53,120,233 for Federals and $47,175,791 for non-Federals.

Payrolls on Federal projects listed 322,076 names, on non-Federal 149,700, a total of 471,776. Employment provided indrectly in supplying and transporting materials and in supplying and serving workers engaged directly on project sites was estimated to bring the employment figure up to 2,000,000.

Here and There on the Air

By J. L. S.

New Programs Scheduled on KSD.

RISA STEVENS, the contralto who sings featured roles in KSD's Light Opera Hour Tuesday nights, won a place on a radio children's hour when 10 years old, and at 16 joined the New York Opera Comique. A member of the Light Opera Hour chorus when the program first was broadcast she won rapid promotion to roles of importance.

Risa Stevens

A new KSD program, at 12 noon Mondays, is Two Hearts in Song, featuring George Rasely, tenor, and Lucille Manners, soprano.

Dorothy Page, former artists' model who rose to prominence as singer and actress, is billed on KSD at 2:15 Friday.

The song, "Let's Forget Tomorrow," which Jessica Dragonette, KSD's Friday night concert star, sang recently, was written by Maria Grever, a Mexican composer who is the mother of eight children and grandmother of two. Other songs by Senora Grever which Miss Dragonette plans to sing on the air are "Sevillana," "Flor de Lolo" and "Arroyito."

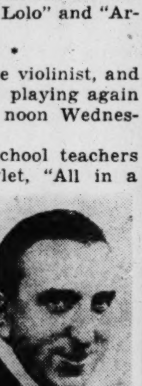
JULES LANDE, the violinist, and his ensemble are playing again on KSD, at 12:45 noon Wednesdays.

A cast of public school teachers will perform a playlet, "All in a Dean's Day," during the Our American Schools period at 4:30 Saturday on KSD.



Jules Lande

Harry Horlick will play his own "Kirpichki" as a violin solo during the Gypsies concert at 8 o'clock tomorrow night on KSD.

"Guests" on Mary Small's period at 12:30 today on KSD will be Lucy Monroe, musical comedy and opera soprano, and the Ramblers trio.

A new song about snowy weather, "Sleighbells," has been written by Howard Dietz and Howard Schwartz for next Saturday night's Gibson Family episode on KSD.

Yvonne Gall, the French opera singer who is being starred on Paul Whiteman's Thursday night programs on KSD, has sung with distinction in nearly every opera house of note in the world, except the Metropolitan.

Hall Johnson Choir on KSD Next Thursday.

THE Hall Johnson Choir will sing spirituals on KSD between 5:35 and 6 o'clock Thursday, with Claude Archer, stage director of "Green Pastures" at the American Theater announcing the program, which will include "I've Been 'Buked an' I've Been Scorned," "Religion Is a Fortune," "Every Time I Feel the Spirit" and "Carry Me Back to Green Pastures." Internationally known for having appeared for nearly five years in performances of "Green Pastures," the choir takes part in the play throughout the 18 scenes. Evelyn Burwell is their director and there are 30 voices in the chorus.

Richard B. Harrison, who plays "De Lawd" in "Green Pastures," will be interviewed at 5:45 Friday on KSD. Saturday, he will appear for the 1563d time in the play. Harrison, long a friend of the late Paul Lawrence Dunbar, will read some of the Negro poet's lines Friday evening. Harrison, 70 years old, won fame in the opening performance of "Green Pastures" on Feb. 26, 1930.

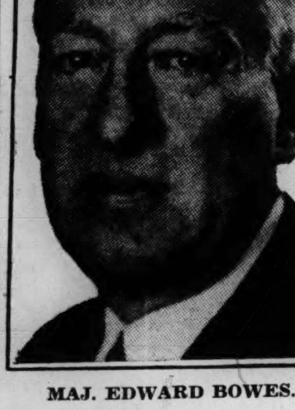
School and Community Programs on KSD.

DR. FLOYD W. REEVES, social and economic director of the Tennessee Valley Authority, will be the speaker on Dr. William Hall Todd's School and Community program on KSD tomorrow evening at 6:15. Ross B. Hoerner, pianist, and Miss Birdie Hilb, soprano, both of the St. Louis public school system, will give a musicale on KSD Tuesday evening at 6:15. Miss Margaret Hayes, librarian of the branch library at Roe School, will speak Saturday evening at 6:30 on the library service and the school.

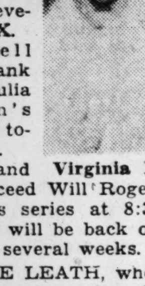


MAJ. EDWARD BOWES.

WHOSE radio program will have its twelfth anniversary at 10:30 this morning on the WEAF chain. Listeners might try for this broadcast on WMAQ (670 kc.), WENR (870), WSM (650), WBAP (800), KOA (830), WDAF (610) or WOW (590). Except for a few absences due to illness, Maj. Bowes has directed his "Capitol Family" in 624 radio performances, and still maintains it as a top rank broadcast feature. Today, he plans to present several noted artists and entertainers.

Network News, Studio Gossip.

VIRGINIA REA of KSD's Sunday night Album of Popular Music program will sing with Isham Jones' orchestra at 8:30 Tuesday night on KMOX. In the old days of radio she was known to KSD listeners as "Olive Palmer."



Virginia Rea

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will speak on "Elementary Education of Children" at 6:45 this evening on KMOX.

Nellie Revell will be Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson's "guest" at 4:30 today on KMOX.

Stoopnagle and Budd will succeed Will Rogers on the Headliners series at 8:30 tonight. Rogers will be back on the program after several weeks.

VAUGHN DE LEATH, who was one of the most popular of singers on the air 10 years ago, will begin a "comeback" series at 1:30 Tuesday on the WEAF net. Recently she has been doing one-station broadcasting. Her program may be carried by WENR (870), WSM (650), WMAQ (670), or WBAP (800), or WHO (1000).

Vaughn de Leath

Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler are billed for the Hollywood Hotel period at 8:30 Friday night on KMOX.

Mitzi Green, the young stage actress, will take part in Jack Benny's program on KWK at 6:00 this evening.

WCFL Key Station On Mid-West Network.

WITH WCFL, the labor union station in Chicago, as key station, a new network is being set up with station links in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin and Kentucky, and plans are afoot to add others, the Chicago Daily News reports. Cities in which the new chain will have stations are Hammond, Joliet, Anderson, Elkhart, Terre Haute, Springfield, Evanston, Racine, Dubuque, Poynette, Janesville, Eau Claire, La Crosse, Sheboygan and Manitowoc. The net probably will be operating by the end of this month, it is said.

Rosa Ponselle will sing the "Vilia" from "The Merry Widow," an "Ave Maria" and "Estrellita" at 8 tomorrow night on KMOX; Nino Martini, "The Kasmiri Song" and "Musica Proibita," Wednesday night, and Grete Stueckgold, the Waltz Song from "Romeo and Juliet," Saturday night.

One Man's Family Returns to KSD

Serial of the Barbours and the Daily Life of an Average Family to Go on a Sponsored Basis at 9:30 Wednesday Night.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY, the everyday chronicle of the life of the average man and woman, which has become one of the dramatic classics of radio, will return to KSD as a weekly sponsored feature at 9:30 next Wednesday night.

Starting nearly three years ago as a sustaining, or non-commercial, serial of the NBC on Pacific Coast stations, One Man's Family immediately attracted a record following. A year and a half ago the broadcasts were extended to Mid-Western and Eastern stations. KSD carried it until the latter part of September when schedule changes and time sharing went into effect.

One Man's Family tells the story of the Barbour family. The author is Carlton E. Morse, a Pacific Coast newspaper man.

Anthony Smythe in "Lead."

THE father, Henry Barbour, a present day successful business man, is played by J. Anthony Smythe, a native of San Francisco. Fanny Barbour, his wife, is more in sympathy with her children than Henry. Minetta Allen has this role.

The eldest son is Paul, a bit cynical and bitter, but with a helpful appreciation of other people's misfortunes and a deep insight into human nature. He is played by Michael Raffetto, grandson of a Forty Niner and a lawyer before he became an actor.

Hazel is the oldest daughter, 27, and still unmarried. Bernice Berwin, who took up acting while she was at the University of California, has this part.

Then come the twins, Clifford and Claudia, just 19. Their specialty is getting tangled in all sorts of serious trouble. Barton Yarborough plays Clifford. He was on the stage in New York with Eva le Gallienne and had a long run in London in "Outward Bound" and in "Interference" for Sir Gerald Du Maurier. Kathleen Wilson plays Claudia, feminine half of the Barbour twins. She followed in the footsteps of her aunt and uncle, Violette Wilson and Irving Pichel, as soon as she could walk.

Others in Cast.

The youngest member of the Barbour family is Jack, played by Billy Page, 14 years old. He was nine when he first began acting before a microphone.

Beth Hawley, the youthful widow in One Man's Family, is played by Barbara Jo Allen, who was a world traveler before she settled into a role that most actresses in American envy.

Dorothy Scott, who was a star in Gilbert and Sullivan operettas before she entered radio, has the role of Patricia Hunter.

Life in the 'Barbour' Home

SCENE from "One Man's Family," the serial of the life of an average American family that will be back on KSD at 9:30 Wednesday nights, beginning this week. Hazel Barbour (played by Bernice Berwin, at left), and Claudia (played by Kathleen Wilson), exerting their persuasive arts on their father, Henry Barbour (J. Anthony Smythe).

Where to Locate Net Programs Not On Local Stations

AS all network programs are not carried by St. Louis stations, listeners might find it worth while to clip this box and keep it for reference. KSD is a link in the WEAF chain, of which WEAF, New York (660 kc.), is the key station. KWK belongs to the WJZ chain, of which the key is WJZ New York (560). KMOX is a member of the CBS net, of which WABC, New York (860), is the headquarters station.

All CBS chain programs are carried by WABC. Some of the others are broadcast by WBBM (770), WHAS (820) or WCCO (810).

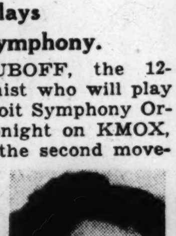
WJZ broadcasts all WJZ net programs, many of which are to be found also on KDKA (980), WJR (540), KYW (1020), WLW (700), WSM (650) and WSB (540).

WEAF network programs are always broadcast by WEAF, and many of them are carried by WMAQ (670), WHO (1000), WBAP-WOAI (800), WDAF (610) and WOW (590), and some by WLW (700), WSM (650) and WSB (540).

It will be noted that WLW, WSM and WSB shift at times from the WEAF to the WJZ net.

Boy Violinist Plays With Detroit Symphony.

GRISHA GOLUBOFF, the 12-year-old violinist who will play with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at 7:00 tonight on KMOX, has programmed the second movement of the Tschaikowsky Concerto in D-major, the "Andante Cantabile" by the same composer, the Wieniawsky "Souvenir de Moscow" and the "Caprice Basque" of Sarasate. Among orchestra pieces will be an arrangement of Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in C-sharp Minor."



Grisha Goluboff

Elly Ney, the noted pianist, and her trio will play the Brahms Trio in B-major during a broadcast from Berlin at 2:45 tomorrow on KSD.

Ninon Vallin, a French soprano who is a headliner in opera in Europe and South America, may be heard in the third act of "Faust" at 11:15 Friday night, Nov. 30, on KSD and other WEAF net stations. The broadcast will come from the San Francisco Opera, where she will make her American operatic debut as "Marguerite." Ezio Pinza, basso of the Metropolitan Opera, will be the "Mephistopheles" and Dino Borgioli, the "Faust." Mme Vallin has sung at La Scala, Milan, Madrid, Vienna, Paris and Buenos Aires, and has just completed a concert tour of this country.

New Captain on Show Boat

Frank McIntyre, 29 Years on Stage, Featured Often on Broadway.

A MELLOW face, yet full of worldly wisdom, a pair of roguishly twinkling eyes, a figure not recently subjected to girth control of its 275 bounds, a manner both urbane and homely, and a disposition that has survived the exigencies and hysteria of Broadway—that's Frank McIntyre, for 29 years an actor, now a member of the cast of KSD's Capt. Henry's Show Boat.

McIntyre was born Feb. 25, 1881, in Ann Arbor, Mich. The young Frank, a boy of some 200 pounds, began his professional life as soloist in the Methodist Church in Jackson, Mich. The giggles of some front-pewers as he sang caused him to seek another avenue of ascent to fame. Fortunately, Frank Keenan, then playing in Ann Arbor, was sympathetic. McIntyre was immediately given a small stage role, and later made his Broadway debut with Keenan in "Honorable John Grigsby," January, 1902.

FROM Keenan to Mrs. Fiske, then to Nat Goodwin, then to Robert Edison playing "Strongheart" in London—so his story runs. Returning to this country, McIntyre was next listed as star of "The Traveling Salesman," a comedy, that was one of the first plays to run a year on Broadway. He then turned to musical comedy, and was featured in "Oh! Oh! Delphine," "Miss Springtime," "Rose of China," "The Greenwich Village Follies" and other successes of the day.

McIntyre came to radio only a year ago, but already his personality is known and liked by listeners. A bachelor, he lives at the Lamb's Club in New York City.

The new Show Boat skipper has accumulated a rich store of theatrical anecdotes sufficient to fill a book. Indeed, that is what he proposes to do with them.

ONE of his favorite stories goes back to the time he was playing the part of Billy Saunders, the center rush in the college play, "Strongheart." Robert Edison was the featured star, but when the play went to Ann Arbor, it was decided to advertise the home town boy in big type. When the posters appeared with the legend that Henry B. Harris was presenting Frank McIntyre, supported by Robert Edison and Company, as McIntyre tells it, natives agreed it was about time someone beside his father was supporting him!

Public Discussions, Informative Talks.

SENATOR WILLIAM E. BORAH is scheduled for an address on the WEAF net at 9:30 tomorrow night, when the National Radio Forum will return to the Monday night period originally established in 1920. He is expected to discuss his recent charges of waste in the administration of Government relief. WENR (870), WMAQ (670), WBAP (800), WHO (1000) or WSB (740) may carry his speech.

Postmaster-General James A. Farley is to speak on the WEAF net at 6:00 this evening as chairman of the Democratic National Committee. His topic will be "Our Party's Responsibility."

Listeners might try the same stations as for Senator Borah.

Sir Arthur Newsholme, former head of the Public Health Service in England, will speak from London KMOX, at 11:45 this morning, on "Medical Care for All."

Presentation by Anne Morgan, president of the American Women's Association of the 1934 award for eminent attainment will be broadcast by the WJZ net at 9:00 tomorrow night. The winner of this year's award is a woman who has won national distinction in social work. WENR, KYW, WLW, KDKA may carry this broadcast.

"BROTHER GEORGE"

FRANK McINTYRE

COMEDIAN of musical comedy fame who has replaced Charles Winninger as master of KSD's Show Boat, Thursday nights.

AMRI GALLI-CAMPI, who will be soloist in the symphony concert at 7 o'clock tonight on WENR-WLS (870), KDKA (980) and WJZ (560), and on KWK at 7:15, is an American of Italian and German descent who has lived most of her life in New York.

Trade Notes

Lowell Thomas Tries New Westinghouse Sets.

Lowell Thomas, the traveler and broadcasting news commentator, has been conducting a radio tour of countries he has viisted, using one of the new Westinghouse "world-wide radio" receivers.

The new Westinghouse sets range from four-tube superheterodynes, tuning from 540 to 1760 kilocycles, to five, six, seven tubers and a large cabinet model with 12-inch auditorium speaker giving full 12-watt output.

There are also two automobile sets, designed for selective tuning, with dust-proof dynamic speakers and automatic volume control.

The seven-tube models give nine-tube performance, and range from 540 to 20,200 kilocycles, or 15 to 559 meters.

A universal four-tube "compact" model has a built-in aerial.

There is a wide variety of all-wave, dual wave, standard broadcasting and short wave receivers in the line, with provision for ample volume and increased fidelity of tone.

St. Louisan Wins Crosley Sales Award.

M. Lindeman, of the Glasco Electric Co., Crosley radio distributor, was among those who attended a meeting at the Crosley plant in Cincinnati recently to receive diamond pins for qualifying for the Crosley One Hundred Per Cent Club. Membership in this club was won by being one of ten Crosley salesmen who were the leaders in sales in September and October. An address by Powel Crosley Jr., head the Crosley Corporation, was a feature of their visit.

Singers for 3-Hour Dance Broadcasts.

SINGERS have been engaged for each of the three orchestras which will furnish the music for the weekly Saturday night three-hour dance program that will begin Dec. 3 on KSD and the WEAF chain. Connie Gates, Frank Luther, Phil Duey and Jack Parker will sing with Ken Murray's band. Helen Ward will be the soloist with Benny Goodman's orchestra. Senorita Carmen Castillo and Luis Alvarez will sing with the Spanish tango group led by Xavier Cugat. Goodman will play clarinet solos, and Murray, who has played in symphony orchestras, will play an occasional violin solo.

Mid-West to Lose KYW Programs on Dec. 3.

KYW, which broadcasts on 1020 kilocycles and has served Midwest listeners from Chicago since 1921, will move to Philadelphia and begin operating its transmitter there Dec. 3 as a link in the WEAF network. It will use the studios of WCAU. The transfer was ordered last year by the old Federal Radio Commission as a step toward equalizing radio station quotas between the various zones. The change will deprive listeners here of some good programs, including certain NBC chain broadcasts not carried by St. Louis stations.

WHO Now Alone On 1,000 Kilocycles.

WHO, Des Moines, and WOC, Davenport, Ia., which have been operating by mutual use of a 50,000-watt transmitter near the former city, have separated. WHO will continue to use the 50,000-watt power on 1000 kilocycles as a WEAF chain station. WOC has been shifted to 1370 kilocycles and now uses a 100-watt transmitter as a link in the CBS net.

Gladys Swarthout will be the singer at 7:30 tomorrow night on KSD with William Daly's orchestra. The Metropolitan Opera mezzo-soprano has programmed an aria from "Louise," and several songs, among them "Speak to Me of Love."

Four concerts by leading instrumentalists and chamber music organizations are scheduled for the Library of Congress musicales at 3:30 Saturdays, starting Nov. 24. The first will feature the Laurent Wind Quintet of Boston and Jesus Maria Sanroma, pianist, on WABC and CBS stations.

Walter Van Kirk, secretary of the Department of International Justice of the Federal Council of Churches, is taking the place of Dr. Stanley High at 6:00 Saturdays on KSD while the latter is on a six-weeks' trip abroad to interview leaders of various European nations and study political and economic developments.

Annie Jamison will sing the title role in a performance of "Naughty Marietta" in KSD's Light Opera Hour Tuesday night.

A complete change in KSD's House Party programs, at 8:30 Monday nights, is expected to go into effect tomorrow evening. Joe Cook, who has been the featured entertainer, will not have a part in the new series, but some "guests" of note are being considered.

Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, widow of the twenty-third President, will take part in a program at 5:00 Friday when she will read part of Abraham Lincoln's "lost speech" in which he paid tribute to Zachary Taylor. This program will be on the WJZ net, possibly on WENR, KYW, KDKA or KVOO.

Objectives of the D. A. R. will be discussed by Mrs. John H. Anderson, historian general of the society, at 3:45 tomorrow on the WJZ net. Try WENR, KYW or KDKA.

Olin Dutra, national open golf champion, will have a role in the Red Davis sketches on KWK Thanksgiving week.

Part of the program for the Byrd Expedition, at 10:30 tonight will go out from the deck of the U. S. Navy Ranger, the new airplane carrier.

A new WLS show, the Hayloft Minstrels, is being broadcast on 870 kilocycles at 10:00 Saturday nights.

Recent Government measures to protect private bank deposits will be the topic of Congressman Franklin W. Hancock, of the House Banking and Currency Committee, at 10:00 Wednesday night on the CBS net.

The speaker in the "Causes of War" series of talks from London, at 4:00 Friday on KSD will be G. H. Cole, economist, vice-president of the Workers' Educational Association and member of the Economic Advisory Council of Great Britain.

"Intolerance" will be the Round Table subject at 11:30 this morning on WMAQ (670).

Sibelius' Fifth Symphony, "Georgica," three folk pieces by the young Bavarian composer, Werner Egk, Alberto Gasco's "Buffalmaco" and the John Alden Carpenter tone poem, will be played by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra today on KMOX. Werner Janssen will conduct.

Queena Mario, KSD's soprano from the Metropolitan Opera, will sing the Gounod arrangement of Bach's "Ave Maria" during her concert at 6:30 this evening.

Franz Trefzger, tenor, will be the soloist with Frank Simon's band at 5:30 today on KSD, singing an aria from "Carmen," Herbert's "Spanish Serenade" and Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Flight of the Bumble Bee" are programmed for the band.

RICHBERG ASSAILS 'ENEMIES OF LIBERTY'

So Terms Those Trying to Defeat Government's Efforts to Uphold Economic System.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Real "Enemies of Liberty" were described today by Donald R. Richberg as "ruthless individuals who, by exalting selfishness as a noble expression of personal liberty, strive to defeat the effort of their Government to preserve and strengthen the foundations of our economic system."

"This constitutional liberty which we all crave," Richberg said, "can only be guaranteed today, not by letting people alone, but by making sure they are so organized for co-operative action that the continuous interchange of necessaries will not break down and leave hosts of people theoretically free but practically deprived of the freedom to earn a living—a freedom which is today denied to millions of American citizens."

The director of President Roosevelt's Emergency Council spoke over the radio under the auspices of the American Bar Association on the subject of "the preservation of constitutional liberty under the new deal." He said when President Roosevelt took office "the guarantees of liberty in the Constitution were in danger."

What Roosevelt Faced.

"Millions of industrial workers had been unemployed for years," he said, "our agricultural population was in dire distress, we had arrived at the necessity of closing all the banks—after the failure of 10,000 — and our economic system was on the verge of a collapse.

"The guarantees of liberty in the Constitution must be translated by any Government under that Constitution into guarantees of an actual opportunity to earn a living by honest, respectable labor, if they are to be living guarantees of human freedom."

Richberg said he did not hold criticism of the actions of the new deal "unpatriotic" but said the freedom which must be preserved is that "of a civilized man to live in a well-organized community where he works with and for his fellow men, where he fulfills obligations to them and they in turn fulfill their obligations to him."

NRA, he said, probably was foremost as a target of criticism of "alleged invasions of individual liberty." He expressed a "keen desire to see doubtful issues receive the deliberative review of courts."

Legislative Opposition.

"But there have been two types of legalistic opposition to the NRA for which I have had no respect," he said. "One is the opposition based on a sweeping denial of the validity of the whole process and a sophistical claim that no code of fair competition could be approved and enforced as a regulation of interstate commerce without a violation of constitutional guarantees. That sort of argument is simply the echo of a thousand arguments that have been made and have failed in the Supreme Court ever since the Congress began to regulate commerce.

"The other type of opposition is the pettifogging insistence upon the right of one individual to nave his special economic interest protected against the overwhelming mass of general economic interest which must then be sacrificed for his particular benefit. When millions of men walk the streets unemployed and millions have been put to work principally by establishing decent labor standards, it is mighty poor citizenship to attempt to strengthen the powers of individuals to break down such standards of wages and hours on the specious plea that in a particular instance a few more men might be employed at sweatshop wages."

Prince George's Marriage On Air at 3:45 A. M.

A DESCRIPTION of the marriage in Westminster Abbey of Prince George of England and Princess Marina of Greece will be carried by WJZ net stations at 3:45 Thursday morning, Nov. 29. The broadcast will include descriptions of the scene outside the abbey before the wedding and again when the royal couple depart for Buckingham Palace after the ceremony.

The several times deferred premiere of Otto Cesans Cesana's "Second American Symphony" is planned for the Radio City concert at 11:30 this morning on KWK.

Charles Hackett, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera, is to sing "Ah, Moon of My Delight," an aria from "Mignon" and several songs with Josef Pasternack's orchestra at 7:30 tomorrow night on KMOX.

Donald Novis, the tenor, will be the featured soloist in the Forty-five Minutes in Hollywood broadcasts on KMOX Thursday nights.

Roxy's program Saturday night will be devoted to another "operetta cavalcade."

Joseph MacPherson, basso cantante, for six years with the Metropolitan Opera, is featured on the early morning Rise and Shine program on WSM (650).

Music from some of the best known operas and operettas will be played by the Marine Band in the 4-H Club periods in the Farm and Home Hour on KWK at 11:30 mornings. Among the composers whose music is programmed are Wagner, Bizet, Saint-Saens, Flotow, Verdi, Mascagni, Donizetti, Gounod, Mozart, Rossini, De Koven, Victor Herbert, Offenbach and Gilbert and Sullivan.

SALESMAN SHOT TO DEATH APPARENTLY BY HITCH-HIKERS

Body Found in Ravine Near Evansville, Ind.; Pockets Rifled, Watch Gone.

By the Associated Press.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 17.—The body of William A. Salamon, about 30 years old, traveling salesman of Detroit, was found in a ravine near the Vanderburgh-Posey county line today. He had been shot in the back and his automobile was missing. Chief of Detective Bert Morris of Evansville said he thought the man had been robbed and killed by hitch-hikers, probably last night.

North of Evansville, several miles from where the body was found, authorities reported a typewriter and several papers had been discarded at the roadside. The body was found by two hunters. The victim's pockets had been turned inside out and his watch was gone.

Officers directed their search for suspects toward Southern cities and also toward St. Louis.

THINKS BREWER PABST'S SON DIED TRYING TO SAVE AID

Investigator at Inquest Into Plane Crash, Says Victim Leaped at 200 Feet.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. — Investigation today indicated that August Pabst, son of a vice-president of the Milwaukee brewing firm lost his life in a futile attempt to save his companion in an airplane crash last Saturday. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

William A. McHale, Special Deputy Coroner in charge of air fatalities testified at the inquest that his investigation showed Pabst apparently remained at the controls of the falling plane until it was within 200 feet of the ground in an effort to get his passenger safely clear.

Pabst was killed when he made a parachute jump too close to the ground. His companion, John W. Swasas, 24 years old of Waukegan, an apprentice seaman, was fatally injured. McHale said Pabst, a Lieutenant in the naval reserve, signaled the Palwaukee Airport for floodlights for an emergency landing, but that the facilities at the field did not provide for this.

COTTON BELT FINED $2000 ON DEMURRAGE CHARGE

Pleads Guilty of Failure to Make Assessment; Shipper Must Pay $1000.

The St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) Railroad was fined $2000 in Federal Court at East St. Louis yesterday on its plea of guilty to a charge of failure to assess demurrage against a shipper.

The W. T. Ferguson Lumber Co., with offices in the Arcade Building, recipient of the favor, was fined $1000 on a plea of guilty. The offense occurred in 1933 and involved $478 in demurrage.

PWA HOLDS UP NEW ORLEANS LOAN AFTER LONG SESSION

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17.—The PWA announced today that $2,500,000 ready to be delivered to the sewerage and water board of New Orleans as a public improvement loan would be held up pending a study by the PWA legal department of legislation passed at Senator Huey P. Long's special legislative session which closed yesterday.

It was reported the PWA was interested particularly in House Bill 36 which makes it possible for Senator Long's political machine to seize control of the sewerage and water board from the administration of Mayor Walmsley.

Fred Metzler, manager of the Schulte National Cigar Store Chain, said three of the four Schulte stores in New Orleans would be closed, releasing 10 employes, because of chain store tax legislation passed by the session. Metzler said the fourth store made profits in the liquor business, and would be kept open.

SILVER JUBILEE FOR CARDINAL MUNDELEIN

Cardinal Hayes, Apostolic Delegate, and 100 Bishops to Attend Ceremony Tuesday.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Ranking representatives of the Catholic hierarchy of America converged on Chicago today to participate in the celebration of the silver jubilee of George Cardinal Mundelein.

Patrick Cardinal Hayes of New York; the Most Rev. Amleto G. Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States; and more than 100 bishops from the United States and its possessions, Canada, Mexico and Central America have accepted invitations to kneel in the Holy Name Cathedral next Tuesday, when the first Cardinal of the West will offer a solemn pontifical mass in observation of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his consecration as titular Bishop of Loryma and Auxiliary Bishop of Brooklyn.

Chicago's Catholics prepared for the most impressive ceremony since they entertained 1,000,000 of their fellows at the Eucharistic Congress in 1926.

Embraced by Pope.

Formal celebration was postponed to next Tuesday because His Eminence was in Rome on his anniversary date, Sept. 21, this year. Pope Piux XI embraced him and offered his personal congratulations for the deeds he has wrought since he left New York's Bowery to don the robes of priesthood.

Cardinal Mundelein was so impressed with the favors he received from Pius' hands that he informed his people "the Pope has been more generous to us of Chicago than to any other of the world's great churches."

The faithful started a movement to raise a huge purse for the Cardinal as a jubilee present. But he halted this and suggested they go to missions instead and make his gift a spiritual offering. Some 205,000 Catholic students engaged in 11,000,000 devotional acts, and the record of their zeal was printed in a red leather volume and presented to the Cardinal.

Cardinal Mundelein's achievements are manifold. In the 18 years he has ruled the archdiocese he has directed the erection of some 600 buildings. These included 119 new educational institutions, 40 homes, hospitals and orphanages and the $10,000,000 St. Mary of the Lake Seminary at the North Shore town which bearh his name—Mundelein, Ill. His followers claim he made Chicago the greatest center of Catholic education in the nation and declare that no diocese in the world has enjoyed such phenomenal growth. But the Cardinal says:

Prefers to Help Despairing.

"I had rather lift up the poor and despairing to a happier life than rear the greatest cathedral in the world."

The Cardinal established 87 new parishes and many monasteries, novitiates and chapels. His hospital system is called "second to none." He founded the Associated Catholic Charities of Chicago, the "Big Brother" movement and the Catholic Youth Organization, designed to provide shelter and wholesome recreation for boys—perhaps with a vivid memory of his youth on Manhattan's East Side. He has consecrated seven Bishops. He has handled one of the most tiring business tasks in the city, but has always centered his efforts on the development of religion, charity and education.

He was born of German parentage 62 years ago. At 17 he graduated from Manhattan College, was ordained in 1895, made chancellor of the Brooklyn Diocese in 1897 and named Bishop in 1909. He assumed direction of the Chicago territory in 1916, and in 1924, at St. Peter's Basilica in Rome, received the red hat of the Cardinalate.

HEYWOOD BROUN ON STRIKE AS NEW YORK COLUMNIST

Has Not Furnished World-Telegram With Writings Since His Offering Thursday Failed to Appear.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—For the second consecutive day, Heywood Broun's syndicated column, "It Seems to Me," failed to appear in the New York World-Telegram today.

Lee Wood, executive editor of the paper, said, "Mr. Broun has failed to provide us a column for use."

No other explanation was forthcoming from the paper, but Broun said he "went on strike" against the World-Telegram when it substituted a reserve column for the one which he had written for publication Thursday.

The column which was not printed, Broun said, was addressed "Dear Syndicate Manager," and contained nothing more controversial than an explanation of his inability to get away from Broadway. The column, which is syndicated, was printed in papers other than the World-Telegram.

FEED HAULED FROM CANADA

Dakota and Montana Farmers Pay 17 Cents Duty on Oats.

By the Associated Press.

MOOSEJAW, Sask., Nov. 17. — North Dakota and Montana farmers, hit by a shortage of feed for livestock, are trucking feed from this city and paying a duty of 17 cents a bushel on oats, 45 cents a bushel on wheat and $2 a ton on mill feed.

The farmers are using immense trucks with especially designed boxes capable of carrying from five to seven tons. The provincial motor license branch has taken in considerable extra revenue on the basis of one cent per ton per mile which is imposed on foreign trucks using highways.

Horses and Mules.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Nov. 17.—Receipts and demand both showed an increase in the horse and mule department last week. Commission arrivals amounted to nearly 1300 head—836 horses and 431 mules. Markets were active in most classes. Cotton mules had a steady trade, with some of the top kinds developing strength. Big mules, on the other hand, eased slightly.

The general run of horses received fairly good support and demand was particularly good for fillies and young mares, from the small Southern stock to the best big farm mares. Unbroke horses of all kinds moved freely, but big work animals were a drag.

*NATIVE HORSE QUOTATIONS.

*MULE QUOTATIONS.

Farm mules, 15.2 to 16 hands, $110@140; colt mules, good size and bone, $80@125; colt mules, small, $50@75; draft mules, $125@150; mine mules, 15.3 to 16 hands, $120@140; mine mules, 14 to 15 hands, $75@100; choice cotton mules, 15.1 to 16 hands, $135@160; choice cotton mules, 14.2 to 15 hands, $110@125; small green mules, over 3 years old, $45@70.

*Quotations are for average animals and do not cover those of outstanding quality or the very cheapest grade.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Selling of the public utility issues checked the recent advance in the securities markets this week.

A number of individual industrial shares continued to move forward, and in the bond market high-grade issues, notably U. S. Governments, were firm.

Security price averages for the most part, however, were pulled down by selling of the utilities. The Standard Statistics Co. price index of 20 representative utility stocks dipped 5.4 points during the week to 50.9, a new low for the depression, just 0.9 of a point under the low level touched in the summer of 1932.

Elsewhere recessions were moderate. The price index of 50 industrials lost only 0.5 of a point, ending the week at 86.6, which is more than double the bottom level of 1932, and the index for 20 representative rails dipped only 0.7 to 36.7, which is nearly three times the 1932 minimum. These indices are based on 1926 as 100.

The selling of the utilities was attributed in brokerage quarters to the report of the New York State Power Authority, which described rates in the northeastern part of the United States as excessive, and to the announcement of a launching of an investigation of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and its relations with the Bell System companies by the Federal Communications Commission. The extent of the declines, however, caused considerable surprise in Wall street, in view of the previously known attitude of the power authority, and the fact that the act creating the communications commission specifically charged it with the duty of investigating the communications companies, so its announcement could scarcely be regarded as a bolt from the blue.

Some Fears Quieted.

American Telephone shares declined substantially, getting down close to 100, and off about 12 points from a week ago, but nevertheless failed to come within gunshot of its depression low of a fraction under 70, touched more than two years ago. It was recalled in Wall street that Walter S. Gifford, head of the telephone company, testified before a congressional committee last May that 98½ per cent of the telephone traffic was intrastate and not subject to Federal regulation.

The so-called "hard money" quarters had their inflation fears quieted considerably by the announcement of the formal lifting of restrictions on export of capital, although they had been but nominally in effect for some time. It was felt that if there were any serious likelihood of a further devaluation of the dollar, the administration would have wished to keep the restrictions in effect. Furthermore, news that the Treasury, through its various investment funds, had sold several million dollars worth of United States Government bonds brought encouragement to certain conservative financial quarters.

United States Government bonds were firm virtually throughout the week. In corporate issues, industrials were firm, but rails and utilities sagged. The Standard Statistics Co. average of 20 industrial bonds closed at 83.6, up 0.3 for the week; the 20 rails at 80.6, off 0.8, and the 20 utilities 88.8. off 0.5.

Telephone Stock Dips.

The stock market held its lines fairly intact at week-end session despite a further severe decline in American Telephone.

Utility shares as a group were forced to retreat into new low ground for the year under a continuation of recent liquidation.

Leading the retreat, American Telephone dipped within a fraction of 100 and closed at 101⅛, off 3⅜. Since the announcement Thursday of a Federal inquiry into the affairs of the telephone giant, which boasts of nearly 700,000 shareholders—a record for corporations—the stock has lost more than 10 points.

Among power issues, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey and North American set minimum price marks for the year or longer.

Nervousness of telephone shareholders was aggravated by the approach of the company's dividend meeting next Wednesday.

Aside from utilities, the share list exhibited stability and in spots manifested an urge to do better. Aviation issues again were in brisk demand but gains of United Aircraft, Aviation Corp. and other members of the group were only fractional.

Such issues as United States Steel common, Bethlehem Steel, Montgomery Ward, American Radiator, Johns-Manville, Chrysler, General Motors, Santa Fe and J. I. Case held to a narrow groove.

Trading was rather brisk for a Saturday session, transfers totaling 453,370 shares. The Standard Statistics Co. average for 90 stocks slipped three-tenths of a point to 72.6.

Tendency to Jog Along.

In most markets the usual week-end tendency to jog along quietly was apparent. In the bond division, the spotlight remained on United States Governments, which recorded addiitonal moderate gains. Commodities were mixed. Wheat closed unchanged to ¾ of a cent a bushel higher. Corn advanced ⅛ to 1⅝ cents, but cotton sagged 10 to 20 cents a bale.

Bullish views in speculative quarters derived more nourishment from the move by business interests to co-operate with the administration in a recovery program and from a return of confidence in the position of the European gold bloc. The French franc recovered further, although it was still at a point which made additional gold imports possible.

Traders displayed new interest in building shares as a result of the F. W. Dodge Corp.'s October figures disclosing a gain of nearly 50 per cent in the contract value of residential building compared with September and of 20 per cent compared with October, 1933.

Congoleum climbed a point to the top price recorded this year. Spiegel-May-Stern, in the distribution field, set a new 1934 mark above 70 and closed up a point. Best, Bullard, May Department Stores, Neisner Brothers and Loew's were lifted a point or more by selective buying, characteristic of the recent demand for stocks.

The British pound finished ⅜ of a cent off at $4.99⅛ and the French franc was .00⅛ of a cent firmer at 6.59 cents. Belgian belgas, Holland guilders and Swiss francs were unchanged at 23.32 cents, 67.55 cents and 32.47 cents, respectively. Canadian dollars held at their previous rate of 102 cents.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Raw sugar was firm today and although no sales were reported, buyers were showing interest at 1-32c above last paid prices, or 2.95 for sugars from store. There were no firm offerings below 3.00.

Future rallied after early declines of 1 to 5 points under liquidation and commission house selling seemed to be promoted by the AAA ruling late yesterday that it was not necessary to pay a duty in order to consider sugar entered under the 1934 quota.

January contracts which sold on the call at 1.71, or 5 points below the previous close recovered all the loss, while July advanced from 1.84 to 1.87, with the general market closing at the best and unchanged to 3 points net higher. Sales were 40,450 tons, of which 26,400 were in exchange. Dec. closed at 1.88, March, 1.78, May 1.82; July 1.87 and Sept. at 1.91.

Refined was unchanged at 4.50 for fine granulated with a fair inquiry reported.

COTTON TRADE LIGHT AND RANGE NARROW

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Except for further December liquidation and switching from near to late months, trading in cotton was quiet today with fluctuations narrow. The market closed barely steady at net losses of 2 to 4 points.

Southern selling was not active, but there was considerable near-month liquidation which was taken by the trade.

At the close December was within 5 points of July, compared with a difference of 7 points at the close of the previous day.

There were rumors of a slight easing in thespot basis in some sections of the South.

The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 70,000, against 170,000 bales last year.

"Hedging" of Wheat at Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 17.—The Liverpool wheat market touched its lowest price of the year this morning owing to hedging from Argentina.

Argentine shippers have been hedging the market, Redmayne Jones, president of the Liverpool Corn Trade Association, declared, but reports that the market was oversold are incorrect.

Today's opening price was a penny per cental lower, and subsequently varied ¼ to ⅜ of a penny below yesterday's closing prices. December wheat closed yesterday at 4 shillings, 9⅜ pence; March wheat at 5 shillings, 2 pence, and May wheat at 5 shillings, 3⅞ pence.

It was pointed out that Liverpool also was hedging the market and that such a position had been even more accentuated than now many times in the past.

SMALL CHANGE IN WHEAT PRICE ON LOCAL BOARD

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Nov. 17.—Wheat futures moved over a rather limited course at week-end session, with domestic and foreign news not exciting. The Chicago corn market was strong. The local market closed ¼c higher on December and ⅛c off on May.

Liverpool closed at its opening price, ⅞ to ½d lower.

Winnipeg started out unchanged to ⅛c lower. The close was unchanged to ⅛c net higher.

December wheat opened at 100¼, down ½ and May wheat 99¼, off ⅜.

Local wheat receipts which were 46,500 bushels, compared with 22,500 a week ago and 46,500 a year ago, included 9 cars local and 22 through. Corn receipts, which were 25,500 bushels, compared with 30,000 a week ago and 51,500 a year ago, included 15 cars local and 2 through. Oats receipts, which were 2000 bushels, compared with 6000 a week ago and 12,000 a year ago, included 1 car local.

St. Louis Cash Grain.

Wheat was steady to 1c lower; corn ¼ @ 1c lower and oats steady.

Sales of cash grain made on the floor of the exchange Saturday were as follows:

OATS—Sample grade white, 54c.

DECEMBER CORN PASSES SEASON'S PREVIOUS PEAK

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Forebodings that this season may be the first ever experienced having no big after-harvest movement of corn made grain prices tend mostly upward today.

December corn quotations surpassed the season's previous peak. Rural competition was so sharp for the meager supplies of corn available that only a single car load was bought overnight for shipment to Chicago, although on the basis of current premiums No. 2 white corn would sell here at nearly $1 a bushel.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅝c off to ¼c up, compared with yesterday's finish, May, 99½ @ ⅝c; corn at ¼c decline to ¾c advance, May, 84⅝ @ ¾; oats unchanged to ⅜c higher, and provisions varying from 5c setback to an equal gain.

Despite much profit-taking on the part of holders of corn future delivery contracts, the corn market rose quickly after an opening dip that resulted from relative limpness of wheat. The fact that less favorable weather appeared to be developing over the corn belt served as a stimulating factor.

In the late dealings, however, July corn lost ground as compared with May and December. One reason was a surmise that July contracts would ultimately feel the bearish effect of domestic wheat harvest operations starting in the southwest about the end of June.

Persistent weakness of foreign wheat markets, together with rains in domestic wheat territory southwest, northwest and eastward acted at times as a handicap to bulls. December wheat, however, showed comparative buoyancy.

Oats were responsive to upturns in corn and wheat.

Rye advanced sharply because of rather general commission house buying.

STOCK LIST MOSTLY HIGHER FOR WEEK

Holiday Cuts Down Aggregate Business — Changes on Whole Not Large.

With the trading week shortened one day by Armistice holiday, a lighter volume of business was done on the St. Louis Stock Exchange last week, though prices were unchanged to higher for most part. Small advances were recorded by Wagner Electric and International Shoe, while Aloe and Coca-Cola Bottling on small trades were up two points each.

Brown Shoe and Missouri Portland closed unchanged.

FARM EQUIPMENT INDUSTRY MUCH BETTER IN 1934

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Barometer of the farmer's purchasing power, the farm equipment industry has enjoyed better sales and collections so far in 1934 than in any year since 1931.

Reports to the farm equipment institute show an increase in sales for the first eight months of this year of about 85 per cent over those for the corresponding period of 1932, indicating a volume for the entire year of between $180,000,000 and $190,000,000. This compares with sales of about $120,000,000 in 1933 and $117,000,000 in 1932.

This was the picture of the industry described by Harry G. Davis, research director for the institute.

WEEK'S METAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Further irregularity was noted in most of the metal markets this week.

Copper ruled steady on an expanding volume of sales. Domestic buyers were said to have been influenced by receipt of larger orders for finished products, a favorable view of October statistics and reports that American producers were participating in latest efforts to obtain a reduction of world's copper production.

The October figures revealed a reduction of 11,500 tons in refined stocks in the United States, although partially offset by increases abroad.

Despite resumption of mine curtailment, leading to prospects for a steadier ore market, zinc prices were shaded late in the week. Offerings by some smelters of spot supplies at concessions reflected unsatisfactory demand for nearby requirements, although somewhat better inquiry for early 1935 deliveries was noted.

Lead prices were reduced $1 per ton at the close of a quiet week. For some time sales have been less than daily smelter output and consumers have thus far shown no inclination to anticipate December needs.

On the other hand, antimony continued firm, advancing an additional cent per pound in sympathy with higher Chinese cables, limited offers from the Far East and a scarcity of spot supplies of Chinese grades. Buyers, however, are not inclined to pay the sharply higher prices and business has been dull.

Tin fluctuated irregularly over a narrow range. The trade generally has adopted a waiting attitude pending expected filing of tin plate prices for 1935 early next week. Mills would then re-enter the metal market, it is said, if consumers place thier 1935 plate requirements.

Further moderate expansion in steel mill operations to around 27 per cent of capacity was credited to slight increases in demands from miscellaneous buyers whose inventories are now low. Structural awards were larger, but buying by automobile manufacturers has been reserved. Any change in finished prices for the first quarter of 1935 are expected to be announced by Nov. 20. Scrap prices were advanced 50 cents per ton in the Pittsburgh district.

BUSINESS INDICATORS

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Statistics appearing during the past week and indications, according to Moody's index figures for freight car loadings, electric power production and steel ingot output.

These index figures are adjusted for seasonal variation—that is, if the change from the previous week should coincide with the normal seasonal change, the index figure would be unchanged.

BONDS IRREGULAR BUT U. S. ISSUES FIRM

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The continued firmness of U. S. Government securities provided the bond market with a fairly cheerful background in today's brief session, although generally there was considerable irregularity in evidence.

Some of the utilities and rails exhibited a rather heavy tone, apparently in sympathy with the stocks of these groups. Various industrials, however.

The activity was a little more pronounced than normally for a two-hour day. Transfers totaled $7,621,000, par value, against $5,918,000 last Saturday. Governments accounted for about $2,370,000 of the aggregate. The Standard Statistics Co. average for 60 domestic corporate loans was off one-tenth of a point at 84.3. On the week this composite showed a decline of three-tenths of a point.

In the Federal list Home Owners Loan 2¾s reached another peak at 96.7, up 10-32ds of a point. Treasury 3⅛s were the most active with a gain of 5-32ds. Although Federal Farm 3¼s, Treasury 4s and Liberty first and fourth 4¼s were off slightly, the remainder of the Governments held advances of 2-32ds to 9-32ds.

Among the company divisions, Murray Corp. 6½s jumped 3⅛ points to 98¼. Small gains were recorded by issues of Armour & Co., Chicago & Western Indiana, Detroit Edison, Goodyear, Interboro Rapid Transit and Phillips Petroleum.

Losers of fractions to around a point or more included some loans of American Telephone, Brooklyn Union Gas, Consolidated Gas, Utilities Power & Light, Southern Pacific, Frisco, Chicago & North Western, New Haven, International Telephone and Missouri Pacific.

Foreign obligations were quiet and mixed. The Australians edged up to new year's tops and bonds of Copenhagen and Cuba improved. Polish and Argentine issues were somewhat reactionary.

Bond men saw a sign of the times in the announcement three large corporations were undertaking refunding operations through the sale of more than $60,000,000 in bonds to private groups, thus avoiding the necessity of registration under the Securities Act. In some quarters the news was viewed as the most significant investment circles have received in a long time, for it pointed to a new avenue for resumption of the flow of capital through private channels. The Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, retiring $90,000,000 in 5 per cent debentures partly through private sale of $37,000,000 in new bonds; Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, with an $18,000,000 refunding operation, and Consumers Power Co. of Michigan, in a private transaction involving about $8,000,000, all resorted to the expedient of financing through sale of securities to a restricted number of institutional buyers in order to avoid red tape.

The oil industry has been conspicuous in the movement to reduce funded debt and to simplify capital structures. A boom industry of the post-war decade, when the demand for gasoline and oil products increased rapidly, it made large demands upon the capital market, even during the early stages of the depression. Aside from Standard Oil of New Jersey's refunding and redemption program, the Shell Union Oil Corp., recently called $26,000,000 in 5 per cent debentures and the Humble Oil & Refining Co., controlled by Standard of New Jersey, retired nearly $19,000,000 in debentures last month. Some of the smaller companies have taken similar bond retirement steps.

UTILITY LIQUIDATION A FEATURE ON CURB

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Further liquidation in utilities was a feature of today's irregular curb session. Fluctuations generally were confined to fractional limits.

Industrials held up rather well in the face of the lower trend among the power shares. A number of specialties, including some of the aircraft issues, showed small net advances.

Standard Oil of Kentucky was firm on the declaration of an extra dividend of 50 cents along with the regular quarterly distribution.

LEAD, ZINC AND COPPER

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Tin barely steady; spot and nearby 51.20; future 51.25. Antimony, spot 13.50. Other metals nominally unchanged.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Lead futures closed easy, 5 points lower. Zinc futures closed easy, 3 points lower. The close: Lead—Dec., 3.34c nominal; Jan., 3.37c nominal; March, 3.43c nominal; May, 3.49c nominal. Zinc—Dec., 3.77c nominal; Jan., 3.79c nominal; March, 3.85c nominal; May, 3.91c nominal.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Rentes again led the strong upward movement on the Bourse today in which nearly all issues participated. The closing was firm.

BERLIN, Nov. 17.—The slight improvement in the Reichsbank's gold foreign currency coverage to 2.28 per cent for the past week stimulated prices on the Boerse which were higher throughout the list. The closing was firm.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Market closed.

TURPENTINE, FLAX AND LINSEED

Linseed oil in one to four barrel lots was quoted at 10.3c per pound for raw and 10.7c for boiled.

SAVANNAH, Nov. 17.—Turpentine, dull, 48 asked; no sales; receipts, 361; shipments, 2286; stock, 19,070. Rosin, dull; no sales; receipts, 1181; shipments, 3115; stock, 141,341; quote: B, 4.00; D, 4.05; E, 4.10; F and G, 4.20; H, I, K and M, 4.40; N, 4.55; WG, 4.85; WW and X, 5.15.

New York Coffee.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Coffee was steadier today on foreign buying promoted by less favorable private advices regarding the 1935-36 Brazilian crop, but demand otherwise was limited owing to dullness of the spot market.

Santos opened 3 to 6 higher and closed 3 to 8 higher. Sales, 12,000. No. 7 opened 1 to 4 higher and closed 3 to 5 higher. Sales, 5000. Closing quotations: Santos, Dec., 10.40c; May, 10.30c; May, 10.29c; July, 10.28c; Sept., 10.30c; No. 7, Dec., 6.93c; March, 7.17c; May, 7.32c; July, 7.44c; Sept., 7.50c.

WALTER GIFFORD PROMISES AID IN A. T. & T. INQUIRY

"We Have No Skeletons to Be Exposed," He Says, "Public Has Right to Fullest Information."

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. — Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., today promised the Federal Communications Commission he would co-operate in its inquiry into the company's operation.

Since the inquiry was announced Thursday, common stock of the company, held by nearly 700,000 persons, has dropped more than $10 a share. The closing price today, off 3⅜ from yesterday, was 101⅛.

Gifford's statement follows:

"In a business as extensive as ours, which so vitally concerns so many people, the public has a right to the fullest information as to how its affairs are conducted.

"We therefore have no objection to investigations by properly constituted authorities at any time. We have no skeletons in the closet to be exposed.

"Disturbing to Confidence."

"It is regrettable, although perhaps inevitable that public investigations should be disturbing to confidence, at least until all who have criticisms to make have made them, and the company has had an opportunity to reply.

"We are primarily concerned with furnishing the people of this country with the best possible telephone service at the lowest possible cost, consistent with fair treatment of employes and of those who have invested their savings in the business.

"We believe there is no conflict between our aim and the aim of the Federal Communications Commission and we welcome the opportunity to place before that body all the facts as to the manner in which our business is conducted."

While it has been impossible accurately to check the source of the selling, brokerage houses reported a preponderance of odd lot selling orders. A more accurate check will be available when the transfer books of the company begin to record the transactions in the next few days.

Study Ordered by Congress.

In quarters close to the company, it was asserted that any general assumption that the Federal Communications Commission investigation necessarily portends the overturn of rate structures and corporate alignments was unfounded, because the investigation is mandatory under the Communications Act of 1934. The commission already has conducted investigations into exclusive contracts between railroads and telegraph companies.

Directors of the telephone company will meet next Wednesday to take action on the quarterly dividend. While no comment was made in advance of the meeting, it was the expectation in usually well-informed circles that there would be no change in the rate which has been $9 annually since 1921, although not fully-earned since 1931.

JULIUS ROSENWALD'S NIECE ELOPES DAY AFTER DIVORCE

Mrs. Florence Stein and Tom Menefee, Formerly of Houston, Tex., Wed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—One day after her divorce from Montefiore Stein, wealthy La Salle street broker, Mrs. Florence Stein, niece of the late Julius Rosenwald, eloped to Waukegan, Ill., with Tom Menefee, formerly of Houston, Tex. She divorced Stein Thursday on the ground of cruelty. Last night she and Menefee drove to Waukegan, accompanied by four friends, and were married. Then they started East to sail for a year's honeymoon in Europe. Before departing, they expect to visit Washington so that the bride's 20-year-old twin sons, who are in school in nearby Virginia, may meet their new step-father.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Walter Elliott Fruit of Houston and the late De Witt Clinton Menefee. He came to Chicago six or seven years ago. His wife is the daughter of the architect, Sigmund Eisendrath. When she was married to Stein 21 years ago Irene and Vernon Castle were their only attendants. Later at their home Irene Castle met Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, to whom she was married later.

TURKEY TO SETTLE WITH U. S.

Lump Sum of $1,300,000 to Be Paid Over War Requisitions.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—A lump sum settlement of $1,300,000 for American claims against Turkey for property requisitioned or destroyed during the World War has been agreed upon by the two Governments.

Fred K. Neilsen, American member of the Turkish-American commission which has been studying all claims in Istanbul during the last nine months, returned to Washington today with a comprehensive report on the proceedings for the State Department. Of the 900 cases considered by the commission, approximately 600 were rejected, and 300 will be given further consideration by the State Department.

13,000 VIEW STREAMLINE TRAIN AT UNION STATION

Union Pacific Carrier to Be on Exhibition From 10 A. M. to 9 P. M. Today.

Approximately 13,000 persons viewed a Union Pacific streamline train, which is on exhibition at Union Station, between noon and 9 p. m. yesterday. It will be on view today between 10 a. m. and 9 p. m. on Track One at the west end of the station.

Each visitor was handed a metal "lucky piece" picturing the train and a pamphlet describing it. The train consists of a Diesel-engined locomotive, or "power car," a mail and baggage car, three Pullmans, and coach equipped with a kitchen. It recently established a record of 56 hours, 55 minutes for the 3300-mile run between Los Angeles and New York.

KIDNAPING CHARGES DISMISSED

Woman Charged Mother With Abducting Former's Daughter.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Kidnaping charges brought by Mrs. Helen Starr Brock Josephson against her mother, Mrs. Libby Starr, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., were dismissed today by Magistrate Louis B. Brodsky. Mrs. Josephson accused her mother of having abducted her daughter, Constance, age 9.

The magistrate said the intent named in the law was not proved, and that the grandmother had the child's best interest at heart.

ANDREW RUSSEL VERY ILL AT FEDERAL PRISON FARM

MILAN, Mich., Nov. 17.—Andrew Russel, 79 years old, former State Treasurer and Auditor of Illinois, now serving an 18-months sentence at the Federal Detention Farm here, was reported by Superintendent John J. Ryan tonight to be "a very sick man."

Russel's wife and members of his family visited him Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Russel remaining with him in the Federal Hospital. Physicians of the Public Health Service are caring for him. Russel has been an inmate of the farm for three months. The nature of his illness was not disclosed.

He was sentenced in connection with the failure of the Ayers National Bank at Jacksonville, Ill.

F. J. OLTMAN, MISSOURI RELIEF OFFICIAL, DIES

Secretary and Confidential Aid To Late Festus J. Wade for 17 Years.

Fred J. Oltman, St. Louis disbursing officer for the Missouri Relief and Reconstruction Commission and previously for the CWA, died yesterday at his home, 6063 Kingsbury avenue, after an illness of six weeks. He was 49 years old.

Death was due to Hodgkin's disease, which is chronic enlargement of the lymphatic glands and spleen, with progressive anemia.

For 17 years, until the death in 1927 of Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co., Mr. Oltman was Mr. Wade's secretary, assistant and confidential aid.

He was born here and attended Webster School, starting work as a stenographer for the old Hargadine-McKittrick Dry Goods Co. He became secertary of one of the partners and later for the receiver. Then he answered Mr. Wade's newspaper advertisement for a secretary. The banker had tried about 10 young men, seeking one he liked and could trust, and who could travel with him. Friends told Mr. Oltman he could not get along with his new employer, but in a two-week trial he made a start which ripened into a close business friendship.

He went to Paris with Wade for a meeitng of the International Chamber of Commerce considering post-war public finances. Mr. Wade was chairman of the American Bankers' Association committee on the subject. His secretary made tabulations for him, on the basis of which he advocated, upon his return, cancelation of the allied war debts, as a business proposition to help trade.

Promotion was offered the bank president's assistant several times and he had offers of official positions with other banks. Mr. Wade died Sept. 28, 1927, the day before the tornado. He was treasurer of the local Red Cross chapter. On Mr. Oltman's shoulders fell the burden of handling the large relief fund.

In March, 1929, Mr. Oltman and his former employer's son, Festus J. Wade Jr., resigned from the bank to form an investment banking firm, Festus J. Wade Jr. & Co. Mr. Oltman was vice-president of that concern until two years ago, when he became connected with the firm of Kenneth H. Bitting & Co. Inc. He had been in the new position only a few days when stricken with arthritis, which made him helpless at his home for a year. Upon recovery he took the CWA position.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Frances Kutter Oltman; a son, Elmer Howard Oltman; a daughter, Miss Gladys Oltman, and his mother, Mrs. John F. Oltman. The funeral will be held at the Math Hermann & Son mortuary, Fair and West Florissant avenues, at 2 p. m. tomorrow, with burial in Memorial Park Cemetery.

HORSES TO BE RETAINED FOR LARGE PORTION OF ARTILLERY

33 Batteries to Be Horse-Drawn, 41 Motorized; Animals Preferred in Rough Country.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—War Department plans for motorization and mechanization of artillery units to become effective Dec. 1, it was shown today, provide for the retention of 33 horse-drawn batteries of 75 mm. guns, while 41 units will be motorized.

After discussions continuing since the world war, army officers have decided that, despite the greater mobility of motor drawn guns on good roads, the faithful horse is still necessary over muddy roads or through rough country.

Training units of the Field Artillery School at Fort Sill, Ok., will be increased to two regiments, one battalion and a brigade headquarters through reconstitution of units to become inactive at Fort Snelling, Minn., and Fort Riley, Kan. The enlisted strength at Fort Sill will be increased approximately 100.

The horse-drawn artillery will be retained at Fort Sheridan, Ill.; Fort Hoyle, Md.; Fort Sam Houston, Tex.; Fort Riley, Kan.; Fort Snelling, Minn.; Fort Myer, Va.; Fort Francis E. Warren, Wyo.; Presideo of Monterey, Cal.; Fort Bliss, Tex.; Fort Benning, Ga.; Fort Bragg, N. C.; and Fort Sill.

PATERSON BROAD SILK WORKERS VOTE TO STRIKE

Union Head Says 15,000 Will Walk Out Wednesday Over Contract Owners Say Was Abrogated.

By the Associated Press.

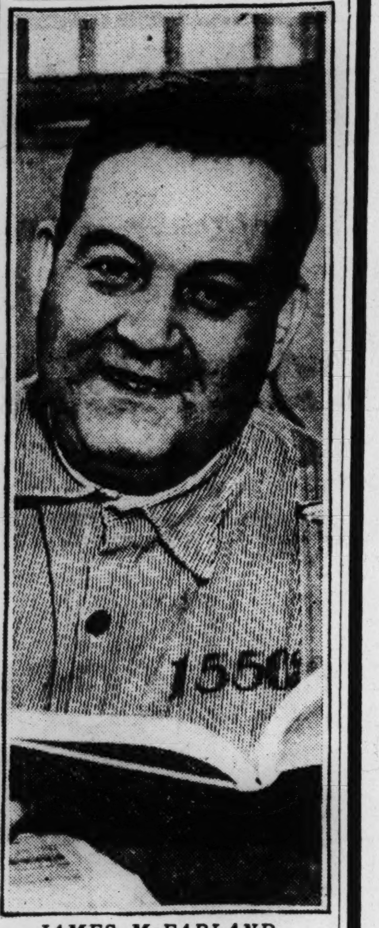
PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 17.—Eli Keller, general manager of the Associated Silk Workers, announced today that broad silk workers had voted to strike next Wednesday at midnight. He said about 15,000 would walk out.

Keller said the union would demand that the manufacturers honor a contract, signed more than a year ago at the conclusion of the 1933 textile strike. The manufacturers declared this contract was abrogated in September when the silk workers joined the National Textile strike.

The contract provided that there should be no strike in Paterson unless 40 per cent of the silk and rayon looms in the competing areas outside Paterson were idle. At the time of the national strike the manufacturers said only 15 per cent of the looms were idle, but the union leaders asserted 55 per cent were idle. Since the return of the workers, Keller charges, there have been wage reductions and discriminatory acts against those who walked out.

A strike of 20,000 dyers and finishers has been in progress in the Paterson area since Oct. 25.

Convict Who Studied Law, Won New Trial



JAMES McFARLAND, SERVING 50 years in Folsom Prison, Cal., on a murder charge, he devoted his spare time to law books. As a result, he wrote a brief, asking for a new trial, appeared as his own attorney, and won the new trial and a writ of error. McFarland was arrested 25 years ago. A few months later he was declared insane and committed to an asylum. Shortly thereafter he was returned to court, pleaded guilty and given a 50-year term. In his plea for a new trial McFarland contended that he was not discharged as cured by the asylum; therefore he was insane at the time he entered the guilty plea.

SCOTTSBORO CASE AGAIN BEFORE U. S. SUPREME COURT

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The Scottsboro case is back in the Supreme Court. A petition was filed today asking the court to review the conviction of Clarence Norris, now under sentence of death for assault on a white woman on a rail road train near Scottsboro, Ala.

Norris is in the Kilby prison at Montgomery, Ala. His execution is set for Feb. 8, a 60-day delay having been granted him yesterday to permit his counsel to carry his case to the highest court.

It is understood the same attorney will file a petition next week asking for a review of the conviction of Haywood Patterson, in the same case.

The petition filed today asserts that Alabama courts refused to permit the introduction of material evidence offered to prove that there had been race discrimination against Norris. It declared the indictment and conviction of Negroes by juries from which Negroes were systematically excluded was a deniel of the equal protection of the law guaranteed by the Federal Constitution.

When the Scottsboro case was previously before the Supreme Court, the conviction of Norris and Patterson was set aside on the ground that they had been deprived of the benefit of counsel and the case was sent back for retrial.

MO. PAC. TO SPEND $600,000 FOR AIR-CONDITIONING OF CARS

Federal Court Authorizes Installation in 68 Coaches by Next Summer.

The Missouri Pacific Railroad has received authority from Federal Judge Faris to install air-conditioning equipment in 68 passenger cars by next summer. The railroad is being operated by a trusteeship under authority of the Federal Court.

The railroad announced yesterday that 193 passenger cars in operation on its lines would be air-conditioned by that time. This includes 102 cars owned by the Pullman Co. and 21 owned by the International Great Northern and St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico Railroads, operated as part of the Missouri Pacific system.

Thirty-five passenger cars now operated over the Missouri Pacific have air-conditioning.

OMAHA SALESMAN GETS FIVE YEARS FOR EXTORTION

Lyle Erwin Was Arrested by Federal Agents Last June With Dummy Package of Money.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 17.—Lyle Erwin, Omaha salesman, was sentenced to five years in prison by United States District Judge J. A. Donohue today on charges of extortion.

Erwin was found guilty this week. He was charged with writing and sending letters demanding $6000 from Early E. May, Shenandoah (Ia.) merchant. He was arrested in June by Federal agents and Iowa State officers. When arrested he was in possession of a dummy package of money placed by the officers.

After sentence was passed, Erwin told the Judge he was not guilty.

FEDERAL JUDGE TAKES HAND IN FAMILY ROW

Liquor Violator Must Stay Sober, Be Good to Family or Lose Parole.

George A. Raynor, 46-year-old farmer of Cobden, Ill., must be kind to his family for the next three years or go to prison.

He pleaded guilty in Federal Court at East St. Louis yesterday of operating an illegal whisky still. Federal agents reported that when they raided the farm last August Raynor was intoxicated and was beating his wife, mother of 11 children.

Judge Wham sentenced Raynor to two years in prison, then paroled him for three years with the admonition, "If I hear that you are drunk and abusive to your family during the term of this parole you will go to the penitentiary."

Gilbert R. Harding, 32, of Fairfield, Ill., was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for interstate transportation of a stolen automobile.

Richard Clelland, 21, of Excelsior Springs, Mo., and James Tatum, 21, Birmingham, Ala., were sentenced to 18 months each in the Federal Reformatory at Chillicothe, O., for driving a stolen automobile from Missouri into Illinois.

Walter Porter, Negro of Cairo, Ill., also pleaded guilty to a charge of interstate transportation of a stolen automobile and was sentenced to 18 months in the reformatory.

John M. Adams, 33, Negro, Centralia, Ill., pleaded guilty of possession of counterfeit coins and molds and was sentenced to a year and a day in the reformatory.

Rear Admiral Coontz Is Better.

By the Associated Press.

BREMERTON, Wash., Nov. 17.—Physicians at the naval hospital here reported today Rear Admiral Robert E. Coontz, U. S. N., retired, was "considerably improved," after a slight heart attack. The former Commander-in-Chief of the United States fleet will remain at the hospital for a rest. He is a resident of Bremerton.

500 Persons Apparently Dead Revived by Two Instruments Recently Developed by Doctors

'Artificial Pacemaker,' a Gold Needle Stimulates Heart Beats — 'Insufflator' Used in Asphyxial Cases.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Nearly 500 persons apparently dead have been brought back to life in New York and Chicago by two scientific instruments recently developed by physicians. Many were quite literally "dead" by ordinary tests—a few of them new-born babies, for whom the last hope had been given up. The 500 were restored not only to life, but to health.

The one big fact in organized medicine's restoration was the knowledge that the body's organs do not die all at once. The brain seems the most perishable. Two minutes is the average time assigned for it to live after the heart stops. But there is evidence that it may survive longer, perhaps for six to eight minutes. Men dead for 15 to 70 minutes have been revived with brains uninjured.

Internal organs like the liver may live for many hours. Hair follicles have been found definitely still alive three days after death.

Finally, this life can be maintained indefinitely in individual organs. At Johns Hopkins Medical School parathyroid glands are removed from the human body, kept alive outside for several weeks, then transplanted to another body. There they not only may live, but grow larger.

Devices Prolong Co-ordination.

Animal hearts, if fed, can live forever. Human hearts are believed to possess exactly the same capacity. But the co-ordination is not eternal. It is at this point that the new medical instruments enter, to prolong co-ordination, even after "death."

This lengthened period is not long, two or three up to at most 75 minutes after "death." It is used only when medical men believe the patient can be restored to complete health.

The immediate objective is an annual company of American "dead" about equaling the number of automobile fatalities. It is believed that as many as 50,000 in this group could be saved yearly if the new devices reached them soon enough.

These persons now die of more than a dozen diseases and accidents. These include carbon monoxide poisoning, electric shock, poison gas, drowning, anesthesia, infections, infantile paralysis, mechanical suffocation, pulmonary complications, atelectasis (lung collapse), drug poisoning and fires.

The victims of these troubles are likely to have healthy bodies, but die from a sudden blockage, either of heart or lungs. It is from this class that virtually all those come who have been brought back from seemingly certain death. There is no progress yet toward restoring to life the person who has died of a wasting disease—nor any wish by physicians to attempt it.

A Pacemaker for the Heart.

About 200 of those revived here and in Chicago were treated with the "artificial pacemaker," a gold needle which stimulates heart beats with electrical impulses at the rate of 30 to 120 a minute. This needle was brought out two years ago by the Witkin Foundation of Beth David Hospital, New York City. It grew out of the fact that up to 1930 about 60 persons, apparently dead, had been restored by hypodermic injections directly into their hearts.

Adrenalin was frequently used, but even a "shot" of caffein similarly given restored some of the patients. This all called attention to a mighty effort which Nature herself makes in every heart, in the first 90 seconds after it stops, to get it to resume beating.

The heart quickly loses alkalinity, and its acidity rises. With rising acidity the heart becomes a better conductor of electricity, its own natural control is partly electrical, with exceedingly faint chemico-electric currents. The prick of a needle, without any hypodermic at all, is an electric shock to a heart in this condition. Realization brought the perfection of the artificial pacemaker to supply electric impulses.

How Gold Needle Is Used.

It was found that the heart has an electrical pacemaker of its own, a small group of cells in the right auricle, which seem to regulate the beat of the entire heart muscle. The gold electrical needle is used to substitute for these pacemaking cells.

Use of the needle tip there, instead of haphazardly about the heart, appears to be frequently the direct source of restoration. For in the left side of the heart the electric needle, or any other stimulant, may set off beat impulses to interfere with the signals of the natural pacemaker on the other side of the heart. It is that kind of interference which mild electric shocks cause, resulting frequently in death. For a long time the cause of death from such light shocks was not understood. Now it is one of the forms of death which can be recalled, simply by using the gold needle on the other side of the heart.

The definite steps in restoring life after a heart stops beating now comprise four cycles. First in the 90 seconds immediately after heart stoppage, when acidity and electrical conductivity are rising, the chance of comeback is 80 per cent, either by gold needle or by the older forms of stimulation.

After 90 seconds and up to five minutes the gold needle drops to 70 per cent; the others to 30. From five to eight minutes after death the others lose all chances of recall to life, but the gold needle can restore about 30 per cent. After eight minutes there is no uniformity. A few have been revived after 70 minutes. The longest for the gold needle is 74 minutes.

"Insufflator" Developed.

The other new device for restoration is an insufflator, sponsored by the Society for the Prevention of Asphyxial Death. It is a pressure apparatus for mechanical breathing, which goes a step farther than the "mechanical lungs," the equipment of emergency squads and artificial respiration.

Insufflation forces oxygen and carbon dioxide into the lungs. Moreover it mixes them when necessary in proportions to stimulate as well as give the ordinary effects of air.

In the normal atmosphere there is less than 1 per cent of carbon dioxide. The insufflator uses 10 to 30 per cent of this gas. As sponsored by the Asphyxiation Society it is easily portable. It picks up where other methods of revival end. The society has the indorsement of the American Medical Association.

It is a medical rather than a lay instrument. It is in use now in about 30 medical institutions. At the Cornell Medical Center in New York City the insufflator is credited with reviving 300 babies born with atelectasis. Their lungs were collapsed into virtually a solid mass.

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—One goal in the first period for the Boston Bruins was enough to send the Eagles down to their third defeat in four National Hockey League games here tonight, 1 to 0.

But that margin does not really tell the difference between the big "Bruising Bruins" and the St. Louis team, for the Boston club, much heavier than the Eagles, carried the fight to the St. Louis team nearly all the way and it was only due to the great work of Beveridge in goal that the score was not larger.

It was the first game for the Bruins on their home ice this season and the crowd was estimated at about 10,000 persons.

Babe Seibert scored the lone tally of the game on a pass from Nels Stewart, less than three minutes before the close of the first period when Burr Williams was off the ice because of a penalty for trip-

A penalty against Burr Williams near the close of the first period gave the Bruins a chance to score on which they capitalized. Stewart passed backward to Seibert, who was standing near the St. Louis blue line, and with most of the players banked in the goal mouth, he banged one past Beveridge for the initial marker of the contest.

It was an anxious period throughout for Bill Beveridge and two penalties against the Eagles, one for Bowman and one for Williams, made Bill's task the more difficult.

With Bowman off the ice, Beveridge was equal to the job even when the Bruins, led by the bad boy of hockey, Eddie Shore, attacked with five men. How he ever knocked the puck out so often even he probably will never know, but he did.

Then when Scotty got back, Williams was chased and this time even Beveridge couldn't keep the puck out of his net every time. And the score resulted.

Jeff Kalbfleish started at right wing for the Eagles and missed the best St. Louis scoring chance of the period in the first minute of play when he picked up a rebound of Shannon's shot but failed to connect.

Two penalties against the Bruins in the second period, one against Shore for tripping and the other against Emms for holding, gave the Eagles a chance to even the count but they could do nothing with their opportunities so closely did the Boston team check them.

O'Neil Nullifies Penalties.

Marty Barry, Boston center, knocked Bowman down after play stopped and was given a misconduct penalty of 10 minutes which only meant that he had a 10-minute rest for the penalty was against him and not against the team and a substitute for him was permitted.

Beveridge had a little relief in the session because he did not have a stop until after 12 minutes had been played, then a penalty against Frew gave him a little business.

The third period was a rather dull one for more than half of it, the Bruins chose to go strictly on the defense and the Eagles were unable to penetrate.

Two penalties against the Eagles, one on Kalbfleish and the other on

Pat O'Dea Watches Badgers Knock Illini Out of Title Fight

By the Associated Press.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 17.—Wisconsin's Badgers, battered into the role of underdog by a road trip that was a bitter failure everywhere except at Michigan, handed their legendary hero of football, Pat O'Dea, a degend long to be remembered today by defeating the heretofor unbeaten Illinois elevn, 7-3.

Spurred onward by the presence of O'Dea, their gridiron hero immortal who went into self-imposed exile 15 years ago to escape the plaudits of the crowds and then capped his sudden return to be guest of honor at today's homecoming game, the Badgers arose to smash through the Illini defense and come through victorious.

Twenty-seven thousand fans were given probably their greatest homecoming in all Badger football history as the Illini, their hopes of a share of the Big Ten championship blasted, walked dejectedly off the Camp Randall sod in the wake of a wild, back-slapping crew of Badgers.

Scores on Intercepted Pass.

The downfall of the Illini was sealed in the second period when Allen Mahnke, Badger center, intercepted a pass from Les Lindberg on the Illini 23-yard line and raced across the goal for a touchdown. The play came so quickly that it not only dazed the Illini, but the huge crowd that only a few minutes before had been exhorting the Badgers to "hold 'em."

Lindberg, whose deadly throwing arm kept the result in doubt until the final minute of play, dropped back to throw a short one in that deciding second but he waited too long.

In crashed the rejuvenated Badger line and the throw was blocked. As the ball popped backward into the air, Mahnke snatched it, wheeled around and easily beat the Illini tacklers across the enemy goal. With Tom Fontaine holding the ball, Mario Pacetti arched the kick for the extra point squarely through the uprights.

Illinois Scores in Third Period.

The lone Illini tally that put them back into dangerous contention came in the third period when the Badgers foolishly tried to rush the ball on fourth down deep in their territory. Two Illini tacklers hauled Null down and he fumbled, Waller recovering on the Badger 15-yard line. Rushes carried it to the nine-yard line and Lindberg dropped back with Beynon holding and kicked the ball over for the only Illinois score.

Statistics favored Illinois, the Illini getting 10 first downs to Wisconsin's seven and rolling up 72 yards from scrimmage to 65 for the Badgers. The Illini did complete nine passes but could not frame them when they meant touchdowns. Mahnke, Jensen, Kummer and Jankowski, who later was injured and had to be assisted off the field, stood out for Wisconsin; for Illinois, the heroes were Beynon, Lindberg and Antilla.

WENTZ DEPARTS FOR PONCA CITY; CARDINAL DEAL IS STILL "OFF"

By Dent McSkimming

With one of the principals in the transaction out of the city, it is unlikely that any progress will be made today in the proposed sale of the St. Louis Cardinals by President Sam Breadon to Lew Wentz, Oklahoma millionaire. Wentz departed in his own plane from Lambert Field shortly before noon yesterday for his home in Ponca City.

Before his departure, Wentz said that he may return to St. Louis Wednesday or Thursday, but denied that he had any fixed engagement with Breadon for reopening their discussion relative to the transfer of the club. Breadon, likewise, said that, so far as he was concerned, the deal remained "off, indefinitely," and that nothing further would be done until he returned from his Florida vacation.

The Dean Brothers.

Circumstances indicate that Breadon will meet the Dean brothers in Florida and talk contract terms and, roving off into the field of conjecture, it may be that the sale of the club is being held up pending the signing of these two pitching stars. The Cardinal club, with the Dean brothers signed and satisfied, has one market value, whereas the Cardinals with no Dean brothers under contract may have another value in the eyes of a prospective purchaser.

Not only has Wentz departed from St. Louis, but Branch Rickey, vice-president of the Cardinals, is also out of town. Rickey departed Friday night, telling newspaper men that he was going to visit members of his family in Ohio. It

No Substitutions on Eli Eleven; 41-Yard Pass Play Brings Score

By Alan Gould
Associated Press Sports Editor.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 17.—Eleven stalwarts in blue, eleven "iron men" of Yale who laughed at the odds and the opposition against them, rose to magnificent heights of gridiron achievement today and swept Princeton from the ranks of the nation's unbeaten teams in the most spectacular upset of the 1934 football season. The final score was 7 to 0.

An astounded and electrified crowd of 52,000, jamming Palmer Stadium's concrete horseshoe to capacity, saw the Gallant Elis seize the opportunity for a first-period touchdown, staunchly defend their lead against two crushing counterattacks and crown their dazzling triumph by playing throughout the game without making a single substitution.

The Bulldogs entered the game as underdogs, on the short end of 3 to 1 odds and conceded no more than an outside chance to topple one of the most formidable squads of gridiron talent in the country, but they sprang upon the unsuspecting and bungling Bengals with such ferocity from the outset, that all thought of a Princeton walkover was speedily dispelled.

The Elis not only accomplished the most stunning form reversal of the season but ended the Tiger winning streak after it had reached 15 consecutive games. It was Princeton's first defeat since the Bengals were trampled at the end of the 1932 season by Yale, 51 to 14, and promptly established the Blue as favorite to capture its first "Big Three" championship in a decade. Yale plays Harvard at New Haven next week in the closing game of the season.

Yale's decisive touchdown was

WRAY'S COLVMN

The Strange Case of Sam Breadon.

MEASURED by the yardstick of success, Sam Breadon ought to be the most popular man in baseball, particularly in his home town. Yet one of the reasons for his willingness to witndraw from the ownership of the Cardinals is a feeling that he is something of a pariah in his own baseball bailiwick.

Sam can't understand it. He took a club that was $150,000 in debt in 1920 and lifted it into a two-million dollar enterprise. He turned deficits into large profits and ran the value of the club's common stock up from $25 par to $150 or more a share.

He, with Branch Rickey, conceived the idea that since baseball players could not be bought —the club at the time had no money—they must be developed. With Branch Rickey he parlayed the idea into what is known as the "chain store" system of subsidiary minor league teams—a plan that has spread through both major leagues until it is now popular with almost all of the important major league owners.

What Sam Did for St. Louis.

BREADON developed the system, with the aid of Rickey, to such a degree that since it began to produce results in 1926 the Cardinal idea has developed five pennant winners and three world championship teams in nine seasons!

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 17.—Jimmy Conzelman's Washington University Bears displayed their best running attack of the season this afternoon and the most powerful scoring punch in the history of their football competition with the University of Missouri as they battered, pounded and romped over Frank Carideo's defeat-weary Tigers. The score was 40 to 13 and the margin of victory easily could have been doubled.

From scrimmage the Bears gained 359 yards to 155 for the Tigers and while the first downs showed the Bears with only 18 to the Missouri eleven's 10, those figures do not tell the story of the Washington superiority. For three quarters the Tigers were unable to gain except through the air and not until the fourth period, when fourth and fifth string Washington reserves were given a chance to smell the smoke of battle, did the Tigers show a running attack worthy of the name.

Bears Solve Tigers' Air Attack.

Only for a few minutes in the second quarter when Arthur Lochiner was throwing tremendous passes to the far corners of the gridiron end frequently finding receivers in the clear, did the Tigers look like a football machine. And shortly the Bears solved the passing attack. However, the Tigers had the consolation of gaining 125 yards through the air, compared to 117 netted by Washington passes.

The contest, bitterly fought despite the lop-sided score, was rough at times and two players were put out of the game. Walter Gog, a smiling, baby-faced sort of a person, was banished for alleged slugging. Gog suffered a broken nose, and while trying to carry on despite the injury, he resented what he considered rough tactic and landed his right on the face of Lochiner.

In the fourth period Barney Finkle of the Tigers thought he was being treated with undue roughness and tried to kick his way out of a pile up. He was ordered from the game.

Conzelman's Psychology Wins.

Before the game Conzelman practiced a bit of psychology. He told his athletes that they were thinking too well of themselves and that they had faltered each time they met a stout foe and pointed to the Illinois and Kansas games as examples. He belittled the victories over the other teams vanquished by the Bears and suggested that there must be something wrong with a team's innards when it folded up each time the enemy was stalwart.

Conzelman knew his men. The Bears took the field with fighting determination and in a trifle more than three minutes they had smashed their way down the field for the first touchdown of the

MAPLEWOOD DEFEATS U. CITY, 7 TO 6, WINS COUNTY TITLE

Joyous Maplewood Fans Tear Up the Goals, Cause Riot

JOYOUS fans of Maplewood High School, celebrating their victory over University City, thereby winning the county league football championship, tore up the goal posts following the victory of their team at University City's field. Supporters of University City immediately swarmed after Maplewood's rooters and prevented them from carrying away the uprooted posts.

Few of the crowd of 2500 mingled among those fighting for the goal posts, and police soon restored order. One arrest was made, but the police released the prisoner immediately. It was not determined whether he was from Maplewood or University City.

By Reno Hahn.

Maplewood High School's football team, with an impregnable line, a well-coached outfit, and the kicking foot of Les Nortman won the County Football League championship yesterday afternoon by defeating University City High, 7-6, at the latter's field before a crowd of 2500.

Nortman's kick from placement that added Maplewood's point after touchdown gave his team its winning margin, as the Maplewood forward line broke through when Blades was attempting his conversion after the Indians had scored midway in the fourth period.

First Year Coach Triumphs.

Ben Douglas, first year coach of Maplewood, is one of the few county coaches to win a championship in his first season. He had difficulty in getting his team into winning form at the start, losing his first game, but thereafter his team was undefeated, although tied by Normandy in another early season game.

The victory broke University City's long reign as county champion, and many other marks that the Indians were holding. It broke the Indians' string of undefeated games at 21, held them to less than two touchdowns in any one game, and stopped the line plunges of Dick Yore almost completely, although he scored once.

It was the playing of Maplewood's line that defeated the Indians, for their backfield, with Yore doing most of the work, was slightly superior to Maplewood's. The fast charging forwards of the Maple Leafs broke through constantly to spill the Indian backs, and also blocked two punts, one of them being converted into the winning points in the third quarter.

Forward Pass Succeeds.

Pingle went off his right tackle and made eight yards. On the next play, Maplewood was penalized five yards for off side. Christman then threw a quick, short pass to Bud Orf, who leaped high in the air and snagged the ball. Bud ran five yards to the goal line, barely crossing the line before going out of bonds.

Nortman made the extra point on a place kick, and gave Maplewood its victory, although that wasn't decided until the Indians had scored and had their extra point place kick blocked.

50-Yard Pass Big Factor.

It was a pass that gained 50 yards that put University City into scoring position, and that backfield player without an equal in the county, Dick Yore, threw it to Harvey Rhode, who was in the game with five stitches in his lower lip. The ball rested on Maplewood's 12-yard line, and from there, Yore personally conducted it over.

Yore smacked that obstinate and determined Maplewood line five times, each try gaining a few yards through nothing other than Yore's powerful drive. The fifth play carried it over from the two-yard mark. Eugene Blades, dependable place kicker, attempted the extra point, but as has been said, the Maplewood line did not allow the ball to get away, and scoring was ended for the afternoon with Maplewood on the long end of the 7-6 score.

Central Scores Its First Victory, Defeating Soldan; Cleveland Beats Beaumont

By Harold Tuthill.

Those elusive boys from the Carondelet section of the city were turned loose again yesterday afternoon and Cleveland won its third City High School League football victory by defeating Beaumont, 26 to 12, at the Public School Stadium. Central sprang a mild surprise when it broke a string of six consecutive scoreless losses by upsetting Soldan, 13 to 6, in the second contest. The attendance was about 3500.

A total of 18 points was scored in the first six minutes of the first game, Cleveland collecting 12 and Beaumont eight. A sample of what to expect was served when the Carondelet lads, using their "wide-open" formation, scored their first touchdown four plays after Charley Buffa took the initial kickoff. Kenneth Harris, track star, sprinted 39 yards for the touchdown.

Pfeiffer Intercepts Pass.

It wasn't long before Cleveland counted again. Ed Pfeiffer intercepted a pass and ran to the Beaumont 38-yard line. Then a succession of plays carried the ball to within inches of the goal and Russ Tonga crashed through for the touchdown. Neither point was added to the first two scores.

Apparently, the urge to score became contagious, because Beaumont decided that it was about time for the Blue Jackets to be on their way. Beaumont received the kick-off after the second touchdown and worked the ball up to Cleveland's 45-yard line. Wilson Schwenk then tossed a 10-yard pass to Russell Sainz, who galloped 35 yards for a score. Fitzgerald's place kick for the extra point was no good.

The Old Patriotic Play.

Just as the second period ended, Kenneth Parris took a "Statue of Liberty" pass and ran 17 yards to the Beaumont's 16-yard line. On the second down in the second period, Tongay scored his second touchdown and when he also plunged the extra point, the score was 19 to 6, in Cleveland's favor.

Beaumont came within striking distance by also scoring in the second quarter. Herman Wanger returned Tongay's kick-off to the Beaumont 33-yard line. The Blue Jackets picked up 12 yards and then Wagner was run out of bounds at Cleveland's 45-yard line. Schwenk passed 15 yards to Sainz, who fumbled after a short run, the ball rolling out at the Cleveland 10-yard mark. However, it was still Beaumont's ball. On the first crack, Schwenk went off right tackle for a touchdown. Victor Theiling's plunge for the extra point failed and the score at the intermission was Cleveland 19, Beaumont 12.

Multiple Pass Works.

Cleveland counted once more in the third period. A series of lateral pass plays brought the ball to Beaumont's 15-yard line, where Lon Ganzner was on the end of a multiple pass. Ganzner ran the distance to the goal line and Tongay plunged the extra point.

Central came back strong to record its first victory in five starts. Soldan scored in the first period when Carl Steimnitz scored on a short plunge. Then Central tied it up in the third quarter when a forward pass from Joe Fawcett to Harold Wright put Jack Porter in position to score from the 10-yard line.

A fumble led to the winning score. Len Sparks, Soldan back, was trying to pass when he was tackled on the six-yard line, the ball eluding his grasp. Two Central boys fell on the ball. Then on the third try, Joe Fawcett carried the ball over the goal line. Tom Cigno converted the extra point with a drop kick.

The North Side Walther League will begins its fifteenth basketball season with a triple header at Bethany Hall, Natural Bridge and Clay, this afternoon, beginning at 1:30 o'clock.

COUNTRY DAY BEATS CLAYTON HIGH, 24-13

The Country Day football team faltered in the early portion of its inter-league game with Clayton High School yesterday afternoon on the latter's field but came through with decisive thrusts in the second and final quarters to clinch the contest. The final score was 24 to 13.

A Kirksville Teachers' College football team finally has played a game in which it did not score a victory, but neither was it defeated. The St. Louis University freshmen held the "Reserves" of Kirksville to a 6-6 tie yesterday afternoon at the Walsh Memorial Stadium and thus the Billikens salvaged some honor out of meetings on successive days with the Teachers, the varsity having lost to the visitors Friday night, 19-0.

A spectacular punt return of 55 yards by Quarterback Minkey in the second quarter enabled the Billiken yearlings to earn their tie. Minkey took the kick on his own 45-yard line, shifted to the right, decoying all his would-be tacklers to one side, and then streaked to the left and down the sidelines behind well-executed interference for the touchdown. His placekick was blocked.

Kirksville had counted in the first five minutes of the game and gave the impression that it was merely continuing where the Friday nightmare (for St. Louis) had ended.

scored midway in the first period on a sensational 41-yard passing play after a succession of Princeton fumbles enabled the Elis to keep striking through the air. From a fake punt formation, Quarterback Jerry Roscoe faded back on fourth down and threw a high pass down the "center alley." It looked like a wild pitch until Larry Kelley, rangy right end, leaped high, stopped the ball with one hand, grabbed it and started off on a tangent from Princeton's 25-yard line.

Aided at first by some fine blocking, Kelley seemed to be bottled up along the sideline, with eight yards to go, only to twist free and finally slip through three Tiger tacklers in his mad dash for the goal line.

WRAY'S COLUMN

pers year after year and in a way that contributed to advertising the town better than any other single medium.

In addition to this, the pennant-winning Cardinals have drawn thousands of persons and many millions of spending dollars to the merchants of this community, in the last decade. The Chamber of Commerce recently estimated at more than $600,000 the outside spending money brought to St. Louis by the three world series games played here this fall.

Yet, in spite of all this, Breadon has felt that he is unpopular in his own city and has privately expressed the view that it would be better if he withdrew from the ownership of the club.

And this feeling has been accentuated by recurring criticisms of his "system" and methods of writers in other cities.

That is a situation without parallel in the history of major league baseball and explains fully Breadon's willingness to become just a spectator in a sport to the history of which he has so conspicuously contributed.

What Do the Fans Think?

YOU'D say that instead of "ragging" Sam, fans might rather be expected to erect a monument in his honor. But there is no denying that a petition with such an object in view would not get to first base.

"He's cheap with his baseball players," one fan complained to this writer. And yet Breadon himself volunteered the statement, recently, that his 1934 payroll was surpassed by only three of the 16 clubs in the major leagues.

"He doesn't treat his players right when they begin to get old, after having helped him win pennants," is another complaint. But that is a statement without foundation. True, Breadon believed in trying to keep his club free from dead wood or decaying timber. He believed in selling players when they had passed their peak but before they slowed up so as to interfere with the team's success. From the standpoint of keeping a winning team in St. Louis, the policy might well be praised instead of condemned. But, as a matter of fact, Breadon has taken very good care of several veterans who have been loyal to the organization.

Players, Not Manager, Won.

"WELL, what can you think of a man who fired manager after manager who had given him good service, some of them after only one year, and three of whom won four pennants and two world championships for him?" was another objection volunteered.

Probably the public never got over Breadon's first surprising move when he gave Rogers Hornsby "the gate," after Hornsby in one year and a half of management had lifted a last place club onto a world's championship pedestal. The whole baseball world was shocked by this stroke. Perhaps it laid the foundation for fan opinion of the Cardinals' president. At any rate there was a great uproar and lots of heated criticism, which was only partly forgotten when Frankie Frisch, replacing Hornsby, played almost superhuman baseball the following season.

Bob O'Farrell, McKechnie and Southworth all received short shrift as managers, McKechnie after winning a pennant. Gabby Street's displacement after winning two flags did not help to soften fan bitterness. Undercurrent of opinion was that Cardinal managers were not getting a square deal.

Looking for the "Right Man."

BUT Breadon's explanation of that is satisfactory, or at least plausible. "We are hunting for the right man for our organization," Breadon said at one time, "and we have not found him yet. Our ball club is strong enough to win a pennant with any old manager. We give the manager the players who have stuff enough to do it on their own. I will not be satisfied until I find the right man for the job."

And events may seem to bear out this viewpoint, as to the playing power of the Cardinals.

Difficulties over distribution of world series tickets have at times played a part in arousing public hostility; but on this point Breadon was on sure ground. It may be said that during the most of the world series games held here he leaned backward in an effort to obtain an equitable distribution of world series tickets, devising a "book" scheme which made it certain that the fans who were consistent patrons of the club's games during the season would be accommodated first.

The Knockout Punch.

THIS season the criticism of Breadon reached a new peak, especially around the circuit. Out-of-town writers pilloried Sam for his failure to do salary justice to the Dean Brothers. The critics sniped at Sam frequently and some of the shafts that scored were extremely painful.

"Why pick on me?" was Breadon's complaint. "I brought up Paul Dean from the minor leagues with the usual $600 advance in salary. A minor league success has to make good in major league company before he is paid an important salary.

"As for Dizzy, he signed gladly last year, without waiting for a 1934 contract to go out in the usual way. He was delighted at the time. And the figure was all right because he won only two more games than he lost, in 1933."

Which, in a way, was all O K and reasonable enough. A successful season by any baseball player is usually reflected in an increase of pay the following year.

But the verbal javelins continued to prick Breadon during and even after the season. Many of the criticisms of Breadon and of his system were vitriolic and, in some cases almost libelous.

That was the straw that broke Sam's back. To friends he let it be known that he would be glad to get out of a business where appreciation was at so low an ebb that business principles were considered mere niggardliness and success repaid with obloquy.

A cold analysis seems to indicate that Sam's grievance was well grounded. But some of Breadon's friends believe that he could have done all that he has done and still had the fans eating out of his hand, if he had spread a little salve. Perhaps, when diplomacy was handed out, Sam was not at home.

THOMSON WINS MELBOURNE GOLF EVENT WITH 283

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 17—Jimmy Thomson of Los Angeles, who went along with a professional team just for the ride, today won the $5000 Melbourne centenary golf tournament with a total of 283 for the 72 holes. He was so overjoyed by his victory that he turned a handspring on the final green as he sank the putt which gave him a 72 for the final round and victory.

Leo Diegel finished second with a three-day total 72-72-71-74—289 with Gene Sarazen, former United States and American open champion, tied for third with G. Naismith, only Australian to finish in the money, with totals of 290.

Joe Ezar Shoots 296 Score.

Ky Lafoon of Denver and Harry Cooper of Chicago, followed Sarazen and Naismith with totals of 292. Joe Ezar, the Waco (Tex.) Nomad, Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., and Paul Runyan, United States, each had 296 while Joe Kirkwood the former Australian and Sarazen's barnstorming partner, had 298 and Densmore Shute of Philadelphia, former British open king, had 302. Ed Smith of La Cross, Wis., trailed the invaders with 304. Runyan, Wood, Diegel, Shute, Lafoon and Cooper comprise the team sent over by the United States Professionals organization.

BOB MURPHY STARS AS McBRIDE DEFEATS ST. LOUIS U. HIGH, 13-0

Playing on the green sodded turf of Walsh Memorial Stadium before about 3500 spectators last night, McBride defeated St. Louis U. High, 13 to 0, to assure McBride second place in the Prep League standings. Western previously clinched the title.

Bob Murphy scored all the winners' points. In the third quarter he took the ball over on three line plunges from the 16-yard line and then plunged for the extra point. He also carried the ball over on two plunges from the two-yard line immediately after the fourth period opened, after making a 49-yard run shortly before the close of the third period.

Vashon Wins, 57-6.

Pitt Eleven Sinks Navy by 31-7, Scoring On Sustained Drives

By the Associated Press.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 17.—Navy's fond hopes of carrying a perfect record into its gridiron duel with Army a fortnight away were smashed by the relentless fury of a Pittsburgh attack that bowled over everything in its drive to a 31 to 7 decision here this afternoon.

Victor in seven successive games and recognized as the best Navy team since 1926, the Sailors were at no time a match for the Golden Panthers, who resorted to straight, hard driving football for touchdowns in every period save the second.

Before one of the largest crowds ever to jam into Thompson Field Stadium—25,000 spectators—Pittsburgh crushed the Sailors with two long marches for touchdowns in the opening period and the pleas of 1700 blue-coated, white-capped midshipmen were of no avail to this scrapping young Navy team that found its weapons all but useless against the armor of Pitt.

Pitt Rips Navy Line.

The Pittsburgh forwards pried holes in the Navy forewall through which the ball carriers darted, always preceded by one or more burly interferers to handle the Navy secondaries. Whether it was an off tackle shot or an end sweep, all the Pittsburgh runners had to do was lug the ball, for their way always was cleared by fast, effective blockers.

So alert was the Panther defense that many of Navy's plays were shattered before the Sailors could get under way. Fred Borries, the lanky Louisville youngster, was all the attack Navy had and the Panthers kept him so shackled that he could do little damage. Navy completed 10 of its 20 passes for a gain of 117 yards but only once, when the Middies scored in the second quarter, were these completions serious to Pitt.

So powerful was the rushing attack of the Pittsburgh foursome, Munjas, La Rue, Nicksick and Weinstock, that it reeled off 435 yards with its rushing offensive, aided to some extent by a group of substitutes which had Herb Randour as their leader. Navy gained only 85 yards rushing and collected seven first downs against 25 for Pitt.

Pittsburgh took the opening kick-off and, with Nicksick slipping loose for a pair of 15-yard runs and Weinstock battling the Middies' line consistently, the Panthers drove 80 yards for a touchdown in the first five minutes, with Weinstock hurdling the forewall for the last yards.

Navy failed in its chance to gain and gave the Pittsburghers another chance, which they quickly accepted, with La Rue running the final 12 yards around left end.

Against Pittsburgh's second team Navy scored its lone tally in the second period, Borries passing 20 yards to King, who was in the open, but was pulled down on the 15-yard ilne by Kutz. The Sailors were not to be denied and after punching out a first down on the four-yard line Borries passed to King over the goal for the touchdown.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 17.—Dana X. Bible broke out another surprise substitute here today and defeated the stubborn Kansas Jayhawkers, 3—0, with a field goal booted out of a puddle in the fourth quarter by Virgil Yelkin, a clean, unsoiled player sent into the muddy battle for that specific purpose.

The wily Nebraska catch, playing as usual with an ae in the hole, saw his sprinting halfbacks mired and helpless on a muddy gridiron, and the brightest of the lot, Lloyd Cardwell, disabled on the first scrimmage play, before he sent in Yelkin at the opportune moment.

It came about midway through the final quarter a few plays after Fullback Glenn Skewes had swept loose around his right end on a 44-yard jaunt that carried to the Jayhawk 36-yard line and provided the build-up for the only score.

Skewes electrified and saddened the Kansas home-coming crowd of 17,025 by streaking off down the side line after a deadly dull punting duel into which they settled after Nebraska's longest infantry excursion was halted and tossed back from the four-yard line in the first quarter.

Nebraska had a little the worst of the kicking battle through the second half when Fred Harris sent long punts spinning deep in the Husker territory.

After Skewes' great run, Halfback Bob Benson made the next appreciable gain, but almost bobbled the ball away. He recovered at the 14-yard line and later advanced seven yards short of the goal.

Then came Yelkin, a marked man with his clean uniform among the mud-covered war-horses. Skewes hit the middle of the line in a perfunctory way that left no doubt that the next play would be a try for field goal.

It was a treacherous chance on the slippery gridiron that hobbled Nebraska's end runs.

Quarterback Henry (Chief) Bauer received the passback, dumped the ball squarely upright on the 13-yard line and Yelkin delivered the field goal to give the game a typical D. X. Bible climax and leave Nebraska undefeated at the top of the Big Six standing.

WENTZ DEPARTS FOR PONCA CITY; CARD DEAL STILL "OFF"

is not known whether he will join Breadon in Florida for possible contract negotiations with the Deans, but the history of the club's methods in such cases indicates that Breadon will have Rickey at his side when he meets the Deans.

Thus far, all assertions that negotiations for the sale of the club are "off" have come from Breadon, not from Wentz. The Oklahoman has remained as non-committal as a wooden Indian. He could not even be induced to admit that the deal is off. "Mr. Breadon and I have agreed that he will make any announcements that are to be made," he repeatedly insisted.

It is worthy of note that Wentz has spent a great deal of time since the "deal-off" announcement in getting acquainted with St. Louis people and conditions of investigating the relation of the ball club to the city. His enthusiasm for the Cardinals apparently suffered no relapse, but, rather, increased, leading to the natural assumption that the game of buying and selling will be resumed at an early date.

Wentz Arrives at Ponca City.

PONCA CITY, Ok., Nov. 17.—Lew Wentz, Ponca City (Ok.) oil man who has been negotiating in St. Louis for purchase of the St. Louis Cardinals, returned here today with the statement that any discussion of the matter must come from Sam Breadon, principal Cardinal shareholder.

He arrived here by airplane ahead of a storm.

"Of course," said Wentz, "it is generally known that I have had a talk with Sam Breadon with a view to making a deal for his interest in the St. Louis National League baseball club.

"My trip was a pleasant one," Wentz added, "and gave me opportunity to get a fair outline of the baseball situation in St. Louis. I found that Mr. Breadon is not only a success in baseball but a success in whatever business he undertakes. I not only admire his ability, but I am fond of Sam personally.

"He has been identified with the Cardinals for a period of more than 15 years and now, when his institution is at its peak of success, it would be a serious and important matter for him to separate himself from it.

"Any time he should deem it wise to do so, he would be the one to so announce to the public."

Cornell Upsets Dartmouth, 21-6

By the Associated Press.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 17.—Upsetting speculation, Cornell's big red team, winner of only one early season game, today decisively trounced Dartmouth, using the forward pass effectively in two of the four periods, 21-6.

Gordon Stofer carried over two of the Cornell touchdowns, snatching passes from Bill Condon and Walter Switzer. Switzer put the game safely away in the fourth period by intercepting an Indian pass and speeding 45 yards through the entire Green team. Stofer added all the points on place kicks.

Dartmouth's feared passing attack functioned successfully only once. In the second period Ed Chamberlain flipped a 30-yard pass to John Matzinger who, well beyond the last defender, raced the remaining 12 yards. Donald Hagerman missed the goal. Thereafter it was all Cornell.

The men from Hanover made only three first downs to Cornell's seven. In rushing the margin was Cornell 103 yards, Dartmouth 72.

Bears Score Six Touchdowns And Smother Missouri, 40-13

game. They added another in the first quarter, tacked on two in the second and scored a touchdown in each of the periods of the second half.

Glory of the victory was divided with maximum efficiency, the six touchdowns being scored by six players. Chick Droke, the best blocking back on the squad, had the honor of going over for the first one and his buddy and running mate. Captain Harry Brown, tallied the other touchdown in the opening period. Ray Hobbs, Don Wimberly, Roy Martintoni and Mike Zboyovski were the other Bears who crossed the Tiger goal line.

The 40 points constituted the largest total ever scored by a Washington eleven against a Tiger team in the 33 games played. The fattest previous score was registered last year when the Bears defeated Missouri, 33 to 7.

Bears Score After Three Minutes.

Washington's first touchdown was scored after they received the kick off opening the game. Wimberly returned the kick to his 32-yard line and Brown started the 68-yard drive by darting off tackle for two yards and then making a first down on the 44-yard mark. Droke sliced through on a spinner for seven yards and Wimberly hit the line for a first down on the Missouri 45. Droke went off tackle for five and the Tigers called for time out.

It did no good for when play was resumed Droke found a hole and darted through for a 19-yard gain, reaching the Tiger 21-yard mark. Brown was stopped and the Bears were penalized five yards for offside, but Wimberly, his aim excellent again, dropped back and chucked a pass to Droke who eluded three would-be tacklers and scored a touchdown.

Zboyovski received a punt and ran it back to his 36-yard line to start the second touchdown drive. Brown made four and Droke added 11. Wimberly was stopped, but Droke dodged through for nine yards on a spinner and Wimberly made it first down on the Tiger 32.

Brown Scores Second Touchdown.

Moller started an end-around play and lateral-passed to Zboyovski for a 16-yard advance and Brown was good for six yards. Droke and Wimberly made it first down four yards from the end zone and Brown in two thrusts went over for the touchdown.

The Tigers scored their first touchdown early in the second quarter. The drive started on the Tiger 31-yard line and when a 15-yard penalty for illegal use of the hands nullified part of the gain, Lochiner threw another long one to Johnson, who reached the Bear five-yard line only to have the play called back. Discouraged not at all by the bad break, Lochiner fell back again and heaved another pass to Johnson, who again reached the five-yard line before Ed Wagner brought him down. Lochiner tossed another one to Johnson, who caught the ball in the end zone for a touchdown.

Hobbs scored the third Washington touchdown in the second quarter on an end-around play, the final thrust in a 22-yard drive that followed a run-back of a punt by Zboyovski, who took a lateral pass from Hudgens.

Just before the half ended Beezley, substitute for Lochiner, fumbled a punt and Martintoni covered the ball on the Tiger six-yard line. The Bears were penalized 15 yards for holding and then completed a complicated lateral-forward pass for a touchdown. Brown took the ball from center and gave it to Hobbs on an end-around play. Hobbs lateral-passed to Ozment and Tommy forward-passed diagonally across the field to Wimberly, who made the catch in the clear and went over for the touchdown.

A minute after the third period started Martintoni intercepted Lochiner's long pass and ran 50 yards for a touchdown, aided by excellent Washington blocking.

With substitutes defending for the Bears, the Tigers took the ball on downs late in the third quarter deep in their own territory and marched down the field for a touchdown in the final quarter, Bourne breaking through on an end-around play after the Washington line had repulsed three thrusts.

Conzelman sent his regulars back into the game after this score with Zboyovski at quarter, Brown and Droke at the halves and Wimberly at fullback and the combination quickly put over the final touchdown. Brungard returned the kickoff to his 35-yard line. Brown made seven and Droke added enough for a first down. Brown then cracked through and ran from his 45 to the Tiger 14-yard mark before he was stopped. Droke was stopped on a line play but this was merely designed to set up the next one.

Droke passed to Moller on an end-around and Moller lateral-passed to Zboyovski for the score.

The game attracted about 7500 customers, including a large delegation of Washington students and alumni who made the most of a pleasing afternoon.

It was the third straight Washington victory over the Tigers and the Bears' sixth triumph of the season in eight games.

CHICAGO HOLDS OFF MINNESOTA FOR ONE HALF BUT LOSES, 35-7

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 17.—Minnesota's football ripsaw sliced off another victory today in its march toward the Western Conference title, cutting down Chicago with a 35 to 7 triumph before 46,000 spectators.

Five times Minnesota swept up the gridiron and five times the golden-shirted warriors planted the oval behind the goal line. Chicago's Maroons, unable to launch a sustained scoring march, finally counted in the last few minutes when Cullen, substitute quarter, intercepted a pass and ran 55 yards for a touchdown.

Minnesota pounded up and down the field. Kostka, alternate fullback, boring through the Maroon forward wall, substitute halfback Alfonse buzzing around the ends, and Lund knifing through the tackles for smashing gains that netted 335 yards and 21 first downs by rushing. Chicago got 84 yards and four first downs by rushing.

Berwanger, Chicago's great backfield star, played a whirlwind game on defense in the first half as he led his mates in stopping Gopher attacks for two periods.

The Maroons, however, interfered with a 31-yard pass intended for Tenner from Lund in the first period and the Gophers were given the ball on Chicago's one-yard line, where Beise plunged through right guard for the first Gopher touchdown on the next play.

Nothing could have stopped Minnesota as the second half got under way.

In the first period Flinn almost got away for a touchdown after taking a 25-yard pass from Berwanger, but Lund pushed him out of bounds on the Gopher 35-yard line and intercepted Berwanger's next pass on Minnesota's 24-yard line. With two minutes left to play, in the second period, Chicago made a great bid for a touchdown when Wright, substitute tackle, recovered Lund's fumble of Berwanger's punt on the Gopher 17-yard line. Two long passes over the goal line thrown by Berwanger, were knocked down, however, as the period ended.

IOWA STATE SHOWS EARLY POWER AGAIN, WITH DRAKE RECEIVING

By the Associated Press.

AMES, Ia., Nov. 17. — An Iowa State football team displaying the furious attack of its early season form, swept to a 33 to 12 victory today in its traditional game with Drake University.

W. & J. POWER PUTS XAVIER TO ROUT

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17.—Conceded barely a chance even to score, Xavier University's dashing little team outfought the heavy Presidents of Washington and Jefferson today, until power took its toll in the final period to give W. and J. victory by a score of 20 to 13. Two intercepted passes counted toward the invaders' scores.

The Passing Show.

THE Kirksville Teachers showed the Bills
How football should be played;
But while they gave the fans some thrills,
No brilliant plays were made.
And when their evening's work was done,
And smoke had cleared away,
'Twas found the Pedagogues had won
Their twenty-fifth straight fray.

His cherished crown Bob Olin took
From Maxie Rosenbloom;
It was a fracas for the book
And filled the fans with gloom.
The customers began to boo,
While some began to curse,
And the referee between the two
Said Maxie was the worse.

Upon Jim Londos' classic brow
Still rests the laurel crown;
To him Jim Browning had to bow
And humbly knuckle down.

LONDOS
BROWNING

He holds the ancient Greeks in awe,
To know them is his wish;
The Latin bards may take his taw,
But Browning is his dish.

Bob Olin, who conquered Max Rosenbloom Friday night, is a former Golden Gloves amateur champion. And, as a professional, the customers maintain that Bob is still an amateur champion.

Slapsie Maxie.

AND though he licked no champion scrapper,
He trimmed the world's most famous slapper.
A champ who specialized in flicking,
But never gave a guy a licking.

FRISCH WILL ATTEND MINOR LEAGUE MEETING AT LOUISVILLE

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 17.—With such weighty questions to decide as the future of the play-off system in the American Association, the all-star American and National League midseason classic and the proposed reduction of the number of little world series games from nine to seven, greats and near-greats of the baseball world will begin treking into Louisville tomorrow for the annual convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

The Convention Committee estimates approximately 1000 players, managers, owners, league officials and sports writers will be present.

The American Association, of which T. J. Hickey is president, will give the convention a running start Monday, holding its annual meeting two days before the convention proper is scheduled to begin.

Among the notables of the game slated to attend are Ford Frick, new National League president; Frankie Frisch and Bill Terry, respective managers of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants; Lou Comiskey, president of the Chicago White Sox; Eddie Collins, part owner of the Boston Red Sox; Fred Clarke, former manager of Pittsburgh; Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves; Larry MacPhail, busines manager of the Cincinnati Reds; Ray Schalk, Buffalo manager; Dutch Reuther, Seattle pilot; Ike Boone, manager of the Toronto Leafs, and Joe E. Carr, promotion manager of the National Association.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's high commissioner, indicated that his arrival would be delayed because of the death of his brother, Frederick Landis, in Logansport, Ind.

30,000 STAND IN RAIN TO WATCH TROJANS BEAT OREGON, 33 TO 0

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—The long football drouth ended for Southern California today. Howard Jones' Trojans defeated the University of Oregon, 33 to 0.

A crowd of 30,000 spectators sat in a rain to see the men of Troy win their first game since they stopped College of Pacific, Sept. 29.

Oregon scored six first downs before Southern California made its first.

VANDERBILT'S IDENTIFY AND DREEL WIN BOWIE FEATURES

STABLE TAKES PRINCE GEORGES HANDICAP AND BURCH MEMORIAL

By the Associated Press.

BOWIE, Md., Nov. 17.—Identify, son of Man O' War and Footprint, raced to victory in the Prince George's Autumn Handicap today to climax a double triumph for young Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's stable.

The chestnut colt, ahead all the way from the first quarter, captured the mile and a sixteenth feature for three-year-olds and upwards in 1:47 4-5 to finish a length and a half ahead of Mrs. Deering Howe's Only One. Mrs. J. D. Mertz' Watch Him was third, a half length back of Only One.

In the race before, another Vanderbilt entry, Dreel, three-year-old son of Trojan and Blazing Ember, left the favorite far behind and won a head victory over J. H. Buchanan's Happy Go in the six-furlong, all-age Burch Memorial Handicap, supporting feature. Col. E. R. Bradley's Bold Lover was third.

Largely overlooked in the wagering, Dreel was worth $24.30 for a $2 straight investment. Identify rewarded his backers at the rate of $13.10 for a $2 ticket to win.

The Man O' War colt, claimed by Vanderbilt from Mrs. M. L. Schwartz at Pimlico for $3000, enriched his new owner by $2555 by winning the Prince Georges Handicap. He was given a perfect ride by Johnny Bejshak, son-in-law of J. H. Stotler of Baltimore, trainer.

A banner crowd turned out for the races. Joseph B. Boyle, general manager for the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, operator of the track, put the attendance at upward of 15,000.

WESTERN M. A. AND BURROUGHS CAPTURE "A" FOOTBALL GAMES

Western Military Academy's "A" football team scored four touchdowns in a big second-period attack and defeated the Principia Academy "A" team, 44 to 7, in an ABC League game yesterday afternoon at Taylor Field. Bob Cutler scored four touchdowns for the winners.

In another "A" game, Burroughs won from the Blewett eleven, 7 to 0, on the Burroughs' field. The only touchdown was made in the third quarter when Johnny O'Neil passed to Leschen, who tossed a lateral to Jimmy Blackman, who in turn ran 30 yards for the score. Russe plunged for the extra point.

Principia's "B" team was beaten by the Burroughs "B" squad on the same field, 13 to 7, while the Principia "C" team won from the Burroughs "C" outfit, 33 to 0.

Amateur Wrestlers Signed.

Large Enrollment Expected at Opening of Sherman Park Boxing School Tomorrow

Basing his expectations upon the response at Concordia and Mullanphy centers, Benny Kessler, director of the Post-Dispatch boxing school, said last night that he anticipates a record attendance at the opening session of the Sherman Park Community Center group, tomorrow night.

So far as numbers go, Sherman was the biggest until last year, when the movement was more or less experimental, and Kessler looks for a very considerable increase in interest this year.

"At both Concordia and Mullanphy on opening nights, I was pleased to see what interest was shown by the boys who went through the training course last winter," said Kessler. "Many of them are sure to take the instruction again, although those boys who participated in the eliminations are not eligible for that series again.

"Another thing that is encouraging is the nature of the questions the boys put to me after the preliminary talk. They prove the youngsters are grasping the idea and are serious in their promise to go through with the course."

At each of the three community centers, Concordia, Mullanphy and Sherman, instruction classes will be conducted twice each week until early January. The course opens with the barest fundamentals of boxing and advances gradually through all stages of a boxer's development, even to the point of diet. An elimination series culminating in a night of grand finals climaxes the course. Last year's finals, held at the Arena, attracted almost a capacity crowd and brought out some thrilling bouts in which the participants displayed remarkable skill for first-year boxers.

Any boy between 16 and 21 years may join the course by filling out and submitting the attached blank. He should bring the blank with him to the community center closest to his home and turn it in to the instructor. There is no fee. The classes will be conducted at Sherman Park on Monday and Wednesday nights; on Monday and Friday nights at Mullanphy and on Tuesday and Thursday nights at Concordia.

PENNSYLVANIA M. C. STILL UNSCORED ON IN FIVE CONTESTS

CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 17.—Pennsylvania Military College's football team remained undefeated and unscored on today as it piled up its fifth successive victory by beating Susquehanna 39 to 0.

Three of the six touchdowns were scored by Mal Stevens, fullback, whose 66-yard run in the second quarter to score featured the game.

In the third period the powerful P. M. C. line had a tough test when Susquehanna gained first down four yards from the goal line, but the Cadets stopped the offense almost at the double stripe.

Carondelet and Perfection Play De Molay Feature

Still smarting from the sting of the 13 to 0 lacing administered to them in their first meeting of the season, the Perfection Chapter eleven, slowly losing its grip on the title captured last year, faces Carondelet Chapter, present leader, in the feature of the De Molay Football League doubleheader, this afternoon a Sister's South Side Park, Kingshighway and Chippewa avenue. St. Louis and Sentinel meet in the curtain raiser, at 1:30 o'clock.

Coach Oliver E. Ammon's South Siders, who are undefeated, untied or unscored upon in five contests this season, will have their full force ready. Carondelet will be in perfect condition for the fray as they drew a bye last week. Perfection should extend its rivals in this game, for they showed plenty of power in crushing the Sentinel aggregation, 34 to 0, last week.

RINGENBERG AND LONGIARU WILL BOX AT COLISEUM

Russ Ringenberg, lightweight champion of Springfield Ill., and Egon Longiaru, the most promising of this season's crop of local simon pures, have been signed to meet in one of the five five-rounders on Benny Kessler's all-star amateur boxing card next Wednesday night at the Coliseum. Ringenberg and Longiaru were unknown here until each upset the dope by handing Art Pierson, for several years St. Louis' leading amateur lightweight, a trimming.

Ringenberg has had more experience than Longiaru, but the St. Louis boy's punching power and ring generalship may overcome that advantage.

Irvin Striebel, 230-pound Western A. A. U. heavyweight titleholder, is training seriously for the feature battle. His opponent will be the 6 foot 8 inch Chicago heavyweight, Burt Bartz, who has won 30 matches, 18 of them by knockouts. Bartz, who is only 18 years of age, was the Chicago Golden Gloves novice champion when he was 16 years old and, at present, is rated as the most promising amateur heavyweight in Chicago.

Striebel, a finalist in his division in the National A. A. U. tournament last spring, has lost but one match during the past few years of competition.

Light - heavyweights Jackie Nichols, St. Louis knockout artist, and Herman West, Southern Illinois champion from Buckner, will meet in the semi-windup.

The Jimmy Webb-Barney McDuffee match is not expected to materialize because McDuffee is laid up with an injured ankle. Johnny Martin, Springfield (Ill.) battler, who lost a hairline decision to Webb recently, is being considered as his opponent.

About 30 fighters have signed entry blanks and are eligible to compete in the three preliminaries.

MISSOURI'S WRESTLING SQUAD BEGINS WORK

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 17.—Three lettermen, several squad men from a year ago and a half dozen husky sophomores have added an optimistic touch to the start of workouts for the 1935 University of Missouri wrestling varsity.

Marvin Fender, Jamesport, 175 pounds, 1934 Big Six champion, is Coach Charlie Fisher's principal pride and joy amongst the returning lettered grapplers. Other monogram winners back for another season are Joe Bartels, St. Marys, 135 pounds, a senior, and Harold Starr, Moberly, 126 pounds, in his second year of competition.

Carl Hulen, Centralia, who captained the 1934 yearling mat men and is a 145-pounder, is the leading light in the sophomore ranks. Others are: Howard Harness, Bowling Green, 118 pounds; M. T. Lundstrom, Kansas City, 170; Carl Bahr, St. Louis, 165; Vernon Bates, Richmond. Reserves making a bid for a varsity position include: Ray Donham, Kansas City, 175; Glen Anderson, Sikeston, 155; Lloyd Grieb, Diamond, 145; and Howard Pyle, Columbia, 180.

The Missourians have carded a pre-Christmas battle for next Friday against a Kansas City Athletic Club wrestling aggregation in Kansas City.

Bowling Notes

The Will Doctors totaled 3048, with Mitzi Weinstein contributing 675, and made a clean sweep of their match with the Falstaffs in the feature of the Vescovo Scratch League last week. The Doctors scored a high single game of 1057. Cone Hermann topped the Falstaffs with 656, including a 268 count. Cliff DeWees rolled 616 and helped the Grand-St. Louis team take three games from the Ilsas. The Webbsters won two from the Allhoffs and the Budweisers took two from the Irish Village team in the other matches. Harry Frederic had a 617 for the Budweisers.

Mary Dreyer scored 587 to lead the bowlers in the women's Wednesday Night Handicap League at Heidel's Recreation. Miss Dreyer's best game was 223. In the feature match, the Schmitts won three games from the Pete Columbos. Pauline Schulte, 538; Gene Huelsman, 533, and L. Wild, 522, topped the winners. In the other matches, the Beiderwiedens took two from the Morganfords, the Schreibers dropped two to the Heidels and the Pennys won two from the Bigaltes. Mary Heidel, 545; M. Wilkinson, 527, and A. Schneider, 523, were the 500 shooters.

A benefit match will be bowled at the Metropolitan Recreation tonight with the Budweisers of the Major City League opposing the Schumachers of the Heidel Recreation. The match is scheduled to begin at 8 p. m., with the entire Budweiser line up appearing against the Schumachers. The latter team is composed of Tony Suttmoeller, John Wasser, F. X. Barry, Paul Lohaus and Ernie Montgomery.

The Brocks set a new high team three in the Mound City League at the Del-Mar Recreation last week, shooting 2859, and won the odd game from the Judge Butlers. Watkins had a 620 for the winners. In the other matches, the Ray Fosters took three from the Silver Seals, the Comforts won three from the Liberty Bells, and the Nationals took three from the Hauptmans.

Stories Are Varied.

Tales Missouri nimrods have been telling since the opening of the quail shooting season Nov. 10 have been as varied as shooting conditions themselves are reported. Not all hunters report success in their ventures afield, but some are as enthusiastic as ever about hunting notwithstanding adverse luck reported by many sportsmen.

From Jefferson City comes the story of two groups of hunters who went afield in Central Missouri on the same day. One group brought back full game bags while the others said they were poorly rewarded for their efforts. All of the sportsmen were well equipped with good guns and all were shooting over dogs. Hardly had the one group of successful hunters ceased telling of their luck than they went hunting again only to return with game bags almost empty.

Reports from all parts of the State indicate similar conditions and suggest that while the conditions this fall are short of ideal there are birds to be had in scattered localities. Some of the game wardens say the quail are to be found in the wooded upland areas. All seem to agree that the natural supply of native birds this season is low and that the brood stock should not be shot out, but ample birds allowed to remain to start the 1935 breeding season.

Tests for Dogs.

While the State's hunting dogs are being put to a hard test to find birds this fall the field trial animals from Missouri continue to win laurels in meets throughout the Middle West.

Shenie's Freckles, the setter owned by Harry Turner of Cherry Box, Mo., which won the derby stakes at the Missouri State field trials at Sturgeon a few weeks ago, won the derby stakes a few days ago at the Des Moines field trials. Paul Alexander's Shine's Orlando Jane, a pointer from the Paris, Mo., kennels, placed second in the derby. Smith's Mack, a setter owned by Granville Crump, Sturgeon, Mo., dog man, placed second in the all-age stakes at the same meet.

Tree-Hunters' Inning.

Tree hunters are having their inning now with the season on furbearers open since Nov 15. It is estimated, however, that the take of racoons this year will continue to be small owing to the slowly depleting natural stock. Opossum, however, are considered to be approximately stable in number.

It is believed that the racoon will ultimately benefit from the Federal reforestation program now under way in Missouri. One of the factors for the passing of the raccoon, conservationists say, has been the deforestation and elimination of woodlots, once an important part of every farm.

10,000 Duck Stamps.

While no accurate figures are yet available, it is believed there are between 10,000 and 15,000 persons in Missouri with Federal duck stamps. These stamps, for which $1 is charged, are being issued in an effort to obtain funds for the restoration of waterfowl breeding areas and for creating waterfowl sanctuaries.

Sportsmen along the Missouri, Mississippi and Osage rivers have reported fairly good duck shooting, the degree of success usually being dependent upon the location of the blinds and number of decoys.

Longer Fishing Season.

Open weather this fall has not been particular conducive to good hunting condition, sportsmen say, but it has permitted fishermen to extend their season by weeks. Some of the best catches of the year have been reported during the last week. Reports from the Lake of the Ozarks have been notable.

Former Lieutenant-Governor Edward H. Winter and C. O. Millsap of Jefferson City caught 15 bass weighing a total of more than 50 pounds at Ramsey Heights, near Lakeside, one day recently. Mrs. E. W. Decker of Jefferson City caught an eight-pound bass in the same part of the lake.

Audubon Society.

The Audubon Society of Missouri will hold a joint meeting with the St. Louis Academy of Science at Columbia, Dec. 7, Dr. Rudolf Bennitt, secretary, has announced. Another date on the conservationists' calendar is Jan. 21, when the American Game Conference is to be held in New York City.

Game Refuges.

William Hopkins of Milwaukee has been assigned to the National Forest Service in Missouri to cooperate with Dr. Rudolf Bennitt, wild life technician for the United States Department of Interior and Missouri Game and Fish Department, to establish game refuges in the national forest areas. Refuges are being established now in Federal forest lands in Dent, Crawford, Iron and Reynolds counties.

The system to be established will consist of individual game refuges, ranging in size from four to six sections, distributed throughout the forest units in such a way that part of the unit will have within it an area in which game can breed and live in safety, radiating out into the surrounding territory in which hunting will be permitted according to the State laws. This is the system which has proven successful in Pennsylvania, Michigan and New York.

Burleigh Grimes an Officer.

The Franklin County Sportsmen's League had a meeting at Union, Mo., Friday and voted to support the closed season on quail and to help protect the birds during its enforcement. A program of game conservation in accordance with the program outlined by the United States Biological Bureau was then adopted.

A drive for expansion of membership was instituted and a fee of 50 cents a year was voted to become a member of the league. The officers of the league were named as follows: Fred Meyer of Washington, Mo., chairman; Burleigh Grimes, New Haven, Mo., vice-chairman; H. C. King, St. Clair, Mo., treasurer; B. J. Scheve, Catawissa, Mo., secretary.

16 Basketball Games Listed By St. Louis U.

A basketball schedule of 16 games, including foes that rate at the top in Mid Western cage circles, has been announced for St. Louis University by Coach Mike Nyikos.

Opponents for the Billikens have been drawn from the Big Ten, Missouri Valley and Big Six conferences, in addition to several teams from more distant points. Duquesne University of Pittsburgh is a newcomer to the schedule.

One of the features of the approaching basketball campaign from a local standpoint is the "round robin" series to be played in St. Louis between Missouri, Washington, Illinois and St. Louis universities before the Christmas holidays. On Dec. 21 a doubleheader at the Washington U. Field House will bring Missouri against St. Louis and Illinois against Washington, while on the following night at the St. Louis U. gym the Billikens will clash with Illinois and Missouri will pair off with Washington.

Coach Nyikos has been drilling his athletes for more than a month in preparing them for the tough schedule he has arranged. Charlie Dirksen and Bob Cochran, forwards; Len Hoffman, center, and Dave Mattis are veterans returning.

The complete St. Louis U. schedule for 1934-5 follows:

Dec. 8—Alumni here.
Dec. 13—McKendree here.
Dec. 18—Duquesne here.
Dec. 21—St. Louis vs. Missouri and Washington vs. Illinois, at the Washington Field House.
Dec. 22—St. Louis vs. Illinois and Washington vs. Missouri, at the St. Louis U. gym.
Jan. 5—Nebraska here.
Jan. 8—Drake here.
Jan. 12—De Paul here.
Jan. 22—Washington here.
Feb. 2—Missouri Miners here.
Feb. 16—Loyola of Chicago here.
Feb. 18—Missouri Miners, there (tentative).
Feb. 23—Marquette here.
Feb. 26—Washington, there.
March 1—Loyola at Chicago.
March 2—De Paul at Chicago.

Skating Title Races Will Be Held Tomorrow

The race for points in the city skating championship and Olympic trials will continue tomorrow night at the Arena in a third-round program with the leaders in all divisions excepting one having only a slight lead.

Charles Pfleger is setting the pace by a wide margin among Class C men, having scored 60 points and leading Max Smith and Raymond Maus by 40 points.

Five Class A men have scored points, with Truman Connell of the Winter Garden Club having only a 10-point lead on Lamar Ottsen, national indoor speed champion, despite the fact the Arena Athletic Club racer missed the opening round of competition. Of the other three men, John Bretz has 40 points, Weber Ley 20 and Vernon Goldstein 10. Harry Furman, Eddie Weidler and Ora Stone have failed to score, while Mel Dubinsky has retired from competition.

Bob Degenhart is pacing the Class B men with points, Bob Dusseau is leading among the intermediate boys, while the junior and juvenile boys begin their city competition tomorrow. Among the women, Elsie Laskowitz is 20 points in front of Alice Carnoske, while in Class B, three girls, Betty Caull, Lee Wilhardt and Annamae Dickie each have 30 points.

Thirteen events have been placed on tomorrow's program, with a sixth of a mile dash for juniors and juveniles, 880-yard race for the seven other city series divisions, an 880 and a two-mile race for the men in the Olympic trials competition, and two figure skating exhibitions.

A 10-cent admission will be charged to help raise St. Louis' Olympic fund quota of $1000.

Buffalo to Train in Florida.

COLGATE HANDS SYRACUSE ITS FIRST DEFEAT BY 13-2 SCORE

By the Associated Press.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 17.—Colgate, the band of magicians of the North, tumbled Syracuse from the ranks of the undefeated today, winning 13-2 before a crowd of 35,000. Colgate scored on a short forward pass in the second quarter and a 50-yard run back on a punt by McDonough in the third period.

First Quarter.

Syracuse showed great power at the start marching 50 yards to Colgate's 15-yard line before Merz's pass was incomplete on fourth down. Toward the close, however, Colgate was threatening dangerously. After Bogdanski had intercepted a Syracuse pass, Irwin made 21 yards around end and Kern passed to Bogdanski for first down on Syracuse's 13-yard line as the second period ended scorelessly.

Second Quarter.

Line plays failed but Kern tossed a short pass to Kuk to Syracuse's seven and then completed a heave over the goal line to McDonough for a touchdown. Irwin placekicked goal. Syracuse came back with a 69-yard drive but Colgate took the ball on downs a few inches from the goal. Colgate was on the defensive the rest of the way but Syracuse could not seriously threaten again.

Third Quarter.

Another Syracuse drive again ended inches from a touchdown but the Orange scored a safety a moment later when Kern tried to run from behind his own goal and was forced out of bounds before he could reach the playing field. But the Red Raiders came back to score another touchdown when McDonough took a punt and raced half the length of the field behind fine interference. Irwin missed the kick and Colgate led, 13-2 as the period closed.

Fourth Quarter.

Syracuse kept pounding away without getting anywhere in particular and it was a punting duel much of the way. One Orange drive carried far down field but a long pass, Minsavage to Wamseck, was caught out of bounds when it might have gone for a touchdown. Syracuse tried a flock of passes in the final minutes but could not make them connect and Colgate won, 13-2.

Goalie Murray Expected to Join St. Louis Flyers

Manager Shrimp McPherson's goalie headache disappeared entirely yesterday. Definite word that Mickey Murray, star net guardian of the St. Louis Flyers last year, was still in the hockey picture, was received at the Winter Garden. With it came a demand for a substantial increase in salary.

"I figure Mickey is just the boy I need to give me the outstanding team in the league this year," said "Doc" Wainwright, Flyers' owner, and immediately dispatched a wire telling Mickey to get here in time for a few days' rehearsal before the opening game of the season at Kansas City, Friday night.

The tonic of having Murray back on the squad added new life to yesterday's two workouts.

Three additions to the previous day's squad of eight were on the ice yesterday. Paddy Padden, one of the outstanding forwards in the league and the AHA's leading scorer last year, proved that he can still put plenty of speed into his skates as he began drilling for another assault on enemy nets. Billy De Paul, formerly with Buffalo and Tulsa, made his first appearance with the team, working out as a wingman. The third addition was Ray Kisker, a St. Louisan, who is also trying out for a wing position.

Pete Palangio, regular forward last year, arrived in St. Louis last night and will make his first appearance on the ice this morning. With his presence, and the first appearance of Mickey Murray, McPherson's present squad will be complete. Shrimp himself, Gordon Teel, Pete Palangio, Paddy Padden, Bus Perrault and Billy De Paul make up the list of forwards with Leo Carbol, Helge Bostrum and Joe Matte at defense and Mickey Murray as goalie.

Fraser Muirhead, Jim Jamieson and Ray Kisker, who are trying out for the first time this year, complete the squad of 13 which is beginning its final few days of workout preparatory to the opening league game with the Kansas City Greyhounds at Kansas City Friday night.

Two workouts will be held today, the morning session beginning at 8 o'clock and the evening period at 6:45. The public is invited to view these drills. The ticket sale for the first league game in St. Louis with the Kansas City Greyhounds here next Sunday, will open at the Arcade Building tomorrow.

Trojans in Intercity Game.

Coach Ronald (Paul) Gray's Indianapolis Middies will play Colombo's Trojans in an independent football game at National Park, Kingshighway and Arsenal, this afternoon. Vic Sacheis, end, and Jim Van Vountran, regular quarterback, out for several weeks because of injuries, will be in the Trojan lineup.

OLYMPIC ATHLETIC CLUB ORGANIZED

ALL CLASSES OF AMATEUR SPORT TO BE FOSTERED IN ARENA EVENTS

Announcement of the organization of the Olympic Athletic Club of St. Louis, with an enrollment to date of more than 500 associate members, was made last night by its president, Dr. Jesse R. Robinson, veteran local sportsman and former track star. The club is affiliated with the Western A. A. U., according to Dr. Robinson, who stated that the organization is making a drive for 1000 additional members.

Outlining the new organization's plans, Dr. Robinson revealed that the club has arranged for the use of the Arena for amateur sports attractions it will sponsor during the winter season, with a view to presenting inter-city boxing tournaments and other athletic events on a major scale. Field and track competition, basketball, wrestling and swimming are other sports in which the Olympic A. C. will take an active part. The first event will be an inter-city amateur boxing program to be held early in December.

The development of strong representative teams of St. Louis athletes to compete in Western A. A. U. championships, intersectional and national tournaments will be the chief objective of the Olympic A. C., according to Dr. Robinson, himself a veteran of some twenty years' experience in coaching and training athletes.

On Cochems' Team.

Back in the days when Eddie Cochems was making football history at St. Louis University, one of the star ends of that famed gridiron eleven was Jesse Robinson. After graduation from the university, he joined the formidable old Missouri A. C. track team and starred for a number of years as a sprinter, equaling the world record for the 50-yard dash on one occasion and negotiating the 100-yard distance in near-record time in capturing the sprint honors at numerous meets.

At Culver Military Academy in 1923, Dr. Robinson served as assistant coach of its field and track squad and its amateur boxing team. He spent the next 10 years at that institution and was credited with developing one of the strongest aggregations of prep school athletes in the country. His son, Jesse Jr., a former member of the Culver boxing squad, captured flyweight title honors last year in the Chicago World Fair championships, and subsequently defeated the leading flyweight boxers of New York, Cleveland, Detroit and several other cities the Chicago team visited.

Associated with Dr. Robinson in the new Olympic A. C. organization are a number of the crack Missouri A. C. athletes of a generation ago, including Jimmy Rector, Chauncey Heath, Joe Forshaw, Irwin Biehl, Hans Wulff, Herman Laubis, Gus Goessling, Carl Forline and Bobby Gresham, who have long since settled into business or professional pursuits outside the field of athletic endeavor. All are eager to see St. Louis regain its old-time supremacy in amateur sports.

Advisory Council.

Members of the Advisory Council of the Olympic A. C. include Circuit Judges Robert W. Hall and Joseph F. Dickmann, City Judge James P. Finnegan, Dr. Collins A. LeMaster, Dr. Walter Pierce, Dr. John J. Connor, Alphonse G. Eberle, Emmett Golden, Allen Peterson, Emmett P. Griffin, Freen B. Nulsen, Robert Tomsen, Gwynne Evans, Edward Keith, Ben F. Bryant, Norman B. Howard, Oliver F. Ash Jr., Edwin H. Hilmer, John E. Stephens, Otis H. Bainbridge, John P. Egan, Roger Putnam, G. E. Kellenberger, Don E. Morrill, Earl J. Kendrick, Charles Augustin, George A. Schoening, William O. Joern, Richard R. Von Dach, Walter St. Cyr, Jack Sullivan, Harry Cook, Morris Goldberg, John Furla and Robert D. Roberts, Joe Schultz, Col. E. J. McMahon.

DON WHITE, WASHINGTON BASKETBALL COACH TO ADDRESS CHURCH LEAGUE

Don White, coach of the Washington University basketball team, will address the West End Church Basketball League in a meeting at Kingshighway Presbyterian Church at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

Mat Show Thursday.

Two finish matches and three preliminaries are to be offered on Bill Schwabe's wrestling show Thursday night at the Coliseum. John Anderson, St. Louis University wrestling coach, and Tony Rath, a local welterweight, are down to meet in one of the features. John Demsko, Polish middleweight; Virgil Kramere, a 155-pounder; Louis Woolsey, former boxer; Morris Golub, from Washington University; Sam Spovale, an Italian, and Al Haemmerle of Maplewood are on the program.

E. R. BRADLEY DONATES $10,000 TO ORPHANS

By the Associated Press.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 17.—Col. E. R. Bradley today mailed checks totaling $10,000 to Kentucky's orphans and underprivileged children. Col. Bradley has been making outright gifts since discontinuance of his private one-day charity race meeting at Idle Hour Farm here. This year's contribution represents a per capita gift of $3.10.

'They Shall Not Pass'—Clancy Speaking.

King Clancy, of the Toronto Maple Leafs, who oppose the St. Louis Eagles in a League Hockey match, Tuesday night at the Arena. Clancy is rated one of the greatest defense players in the league, and passing him will be no easy matter.

GONSALVES TO PLAY HALFBACK IN GAME TODAY

Billy Gonsalves, colorful soccer star of the Central Club, will be at center halfback in this afternoon's game with the Ben Millers at Sportsmen's Park, if Coach Alec McNab goes through with his plan of yesterday. Gonsalves has been playing an inside forward position.

"Our defense has been a bit wobbly," explained McNab. "I would like to use Lehman and Gregg in the fullback line, Gonsalves at center half with Hebberger on one wing and John Kane on the other. That may weaken our attack, but with a stout defense our club should look a lot better than it has to date."

There is also a possibility that Jim Watson, a sturdy youngster from Gillespie, Ill., will be at inside right, and Jimmy Roe, hitherto out with a bad knee, back at inside left. If these changes materialize, the Ben Millers will be up against a much stronger central club than the fans have seen this season.

In the opening game of the league doubleheader, Johnny Marre's club will oppose the Hellrung & Grimms. The Marre's have not yet lost a game in four starts. They have suffered a serious loss in the injury of Benny Nash, but John Marre has a way of popping up with a likely youngster when things look black. Nash appeared set for the greatest season of his career when he suffered a broken foot, two weeks ago.

Phil J. Riley, president of the league, announced that the score of the Gunners' game at Detroit will be posted. He has invited the clergy to attend as guests of the management.

The probable starting lineups:

FIRST GAME.

HELLRUNGS.	Pos.	MARRES.
Pollvogt	Goal	Rodriguez
Lyons	L. B.	J. Garcia
Tracy	R. B.	Zensen
Coughlen	L. H. B.	Benoist
Gonzales	C. H. B.	Fay
Egan	R. H. B.	Kenny
Reidy	O. L.	McAuliffe
L. Garcia	I. L.	LaPosha
Leahy	C.	Simmerman
Ahrens	I. R.	Cronin
A. Garcia	O. R.	Brengle

Starting time, 2 p. m. Referee, Robert "Ribby" Murphy. Linesmen, Jimmy Dunn and Oscar Mossman.

SECOND GAME.

CENTRALS.	Pos.	BEN MILLERS.

Desse Roche made it tough for Beveridge for a few minutes but there was no scoring.

BOSTON, Nov. 17.

Immediately after the game, the Eagles departed for New York where they meet the New York Rangers in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night after which they return to St. Louis to play the Toronto Maple Leafs at the Arena, Tuesday night.

The game here was played in the Boston Garden, which is a part of the North Station, a railway terminal. The Garden's publicity department claims 18,000 people can be seated in it, but for a hockey game its capacity is apparently about the same as the Arena, around 11,000.

It is arranged differently, however, with several balconies, the topmost of which does not afford a very good view of the game. The price for seats in this balcony is 40 cents with the cheapest reserved seat costing $1 and others ranging to $2.75.

Some of the Eagles, who played football in Canada, journey to Soldiers Field this afternoon to watch Harvard wallop New Hampshire. It was a perfect day for football, bright and sunny, with no wind and the weather was warm enough for the comfort of spectators.

The boys are already beginning to look forward to their first invasion of Canada which follows their game at Detroit, Sunday, Nov. 25. Their next contest after that, is in Toronto, Dec. 1 and there is a battle of ballots going on as to where the interval is to be spent.

It is likely that the club will not return from Detroit to St. Louis before going to Toronto. Some of the Canadians would prefer to stay in Detroit, others want to go to Toronto. Some live there and others live close enough that they would be able to visit home.

The Bruins are big and husky. Their first forward line averages more than 190 pounds in weight with Barry and Clapper each scaling around 200 pounds and Beattie 175 pounds.

The Boston Club's uniform is brown, gold and white and the St. Louis players were a little uncertain whether it would be easy to distinguish friend or enemy.

The Bruins defense wear a headgear similar to a football headgear, except that the top consists of strips instead of solid leather.

Governor Park Invited.

By the Associated Press.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 17.—Governor Charles W. Bryan today said he and Mrs. Bryan have invited Governor and Mrs. Guy B. Park of Missouri and Dean F. A. Middlebush, acting president of the University of Missouri and his wife, to be the Governor's guests at the Missouri-Nebraska football game here next Saturday. It will be Nebraska's homecoming.

GUNNERS' BEST TEAM TO START AGAINST LIONS IN GAME TODAY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DETROIT, Nov. 17.—With the proceeds, after actual expenses are paid, going to the Good Fellows and the Old Newsboys' Home Funds, Chile Walsh's St. Louis Gunners and Potsy Clark's Detroit Lions, unbeaten National Professional Football League eleven will play here this afternoon.

The Lions, of course, rule the favorites because they have chalked up nine consecutive victories at the expense of National League opposition. The Gunners, on the other hand, swamped five independent teams and then defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates to remain in the undefeated class.

Brute Mulleneaux, center, is the only new comer who is slated to be a starter. The others, Tackles Earl Elser and George "Sunday" Munday, and Guard Russell Lay, like Corzine, are listed as reserves. Center Johnny Rogers was not taken on the trip.

For the first time this season Chester "Swede" Johnston and Charley "Cy" Casper, the Gunners' ground-gaining twins, will start.

Other games today are: Chicago Cardinals vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee; Boston at Philadelphia and Brooklyn at Pittsburgh.

FIRST PLACE AT STAKE IN THREE MUNY CIRCUITS

Three games in the fifth round of the Municipal Soccer League this afternoon will feature battles for possession of first place.

The Irish Village eleven, with three tie games to its credit, will defend its one-point lead against the Trojans at Sherman Park. At Concordia Park, St. Francis De Sales will endeavor to hold a similar margin against St. John the Baptist while in Fairground No. 3, the Russo New Deals and the Strodtmans will be fighting it out.

Today, also, the dove of peace is expected to guide the activities at Forest Park when the Carlstroms play the American Zincs in the opener and St. Ambrose opposes the Belmontes in the second contest. St. Ambrose and Carlstrom have settled their differences since their row last Sunday.

The schedule:

By the Associated Press.

JOPLIN, Mo., Nov. 17.—Mercer Arnold of Joplin, chairman of the Executive Board of the Board of Curators of the University of Missouri, said here today that, so far as he knew, no action had been taken on signing a coach for next season and that no recommendations have been made thus far.

HADLEY RIFLE SQUAD BEATS BURROUGHS TEAM

The Hadley School boys' rifle club defeated the John Burroughs team in a dual match at the 50-foot indoor range, the Hadley team totaling 675 points to 572 for Burroughs.

Hadley's high four shooters were Smentowski with 173, Barkhoffer with 171, Weirshem with 168 and Riggen with 163. Burroughs' high four were Jones with 153, Peden with 150, Bernard with 147 and Coumbs with 122.

St. Mary's Gaels Meet Santa Clara On Coast Today

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.

TWO of the keenest rivals in the history of far western football, St. Mary's Gaels and Santa Clara's Broncos, will match gridiron prowess here tomorrow before more than 60,000 fans.

Santa Clara has not defeated St. Mary's since 1923, and for the first time since that day, Coach Clipper Smith's Broncos will be favorites. Last year they tied 6—6. Riots have marked some of the games.

The unbeaten Santa Clara eleven, which held Stanford to a 7 to 7 tie early in the season, is generally ranked as the strongest ever to wear the Red and White Bronco colors.

COLLINSVILLE HIGH DEFEATS BELLEVILLE, 7-0

Collinsville High School finished its 1934 playing schedule in the Madison-St. Clair High School Conference yesterday afternoon at Collinsville by defeating Coach Edgar Gunderson's Belleville Maroons, 7 to 0. Play was in mid-field during the major portion of the game.

After battling to a scoreless tie for three quarters, Collinsville tried a long pass near the end of the final quarter that it did not complete, although the officials ruled Collinsville receiver was interfered with and the ball was put in play on the Belleville four-yard line. On the second play, Walter Gerding plunged the needed two yards for the touchdown. Don Ward placekicked for the extra point.

Another Madison-St. Clair Conference gridiron game played on the East Side yesterday saw Wood River High turn back the Madison, 19 to 7, at Wood River. Two of the victors' touchdowns followed blocked punts, while their third was scored on an intercepted pass. Madison scored their only touchdown in the third quarter on a series of line plunges.

In another game, th. East St. Louis eleven defeated Edwardsville, 14 to 10. in a non-league game at Edwardsville.

The lineups and sumary:

COLLINSVILLE	Pos.	BELLEVILLE
Evers	L. E.	Baer
Detomitis	L. T.	W. Baltz
Hoga	L. G.	Becker
Schuline	C.	Patterson
Ferrarri	R. G.	Breischaker

Nevero	R. E.	Knefelkamp
Moore	Q. B.	Schussler
Ward	L. H.	Heisler
Gillispy	R. H.	Goelet
Gerding	F. B.	McKelvey

Score	1	2	3	4

LOCAL FIELD HOCKEY TEAM TO PLAY TODAY

The All-St. Louis field hockey team will play its first match on a local field this morning when it meets a Central Illinois quad at 11 o'clock on the old cricket grounds in Forest Park. The local squad won, 1—0, from Milwaukee and lost to the North Shore squad by the same score in games played in the Midwest tournament.

Ann Liversedge, graduate of Maryville College, was the only St. Louisan selected on the team to represent the Midwest in the national tournament to be played in Boston, sometime this month.

The St. Louis starting lineup will probably be:

KEN PENNER SIGNED TO MANAGE LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 17.—Ken Penner, who made a brave attempt to lead the Louisville Colonels out of the American Association wilderness last season, has signed a contract to manage the team in 1935, right gifts since discontinuance of and business manager of the Louisville Baseball Company, announced today.

Neal said Penner will get a substantial salary boost for his good showing last year. Ie again will be a player manager, and is expected to do a good share of relief pitching.

Aviator Herndon Guest At Cities Service Co. Luncheon and Meeting

Homer F. Gay, manager of the Cities Service Oil Co., presided at a luncheon at Hotel Jefferson Wednesday in honor of Hugh Herndon, who is making a tour of 38 states for the company.

Herndon said that his mission for the Cities Service Co. was to work for greater safety in flying. He explained that his company's ship, a Stinson Reliant, was equipped with carbon monoxide testers which analyzed the content of air in the cockpit. This exhaust pipe analyzer, which is attached to the ship, has a nine-way switch, making possible analysis of the exhaust gas from each of the nine cylinders in the Lycoming motor with which the Stinson is powered.

An evening session, described as the fourth educational conference of the Cities Service Co., was held in the ivory room at the Jefferson Hotel, Wednesday night, and was attended by more than 300 employes and dealers of the company. Gay presided at this meeting, which was opened with music by the Webster Groves High School Band. A talk was made by Frank K. Lee. The meeting was concluded with a talk by Herndon, who related experiences in his 'round the world flight.

American Airlines Spends $2,500,000 For New Planes, Engines

When Pilots James Ingram and William Lester, of American Airlines, flew a new Douglas transport plane from Fort Worth to Chicago in three hours, 52 minutes recently, they did more than establish a speed record for the route. Their flight emphasized the final step in a re-equipment program American has instituted in the last six months at an estimated cost of $2,500,000.

This expenditure included the purchase of 30 new planes, the renovation of eight others, and the acquisition of 92 new Wright Cyclone F-2 and F-3 type engines By the first of the year, American Airlines will have in operation 12 Curtiss Wright Condor day coaches, six convertible Condor sleepers, 10 Douglas transports and 10 Vultees.

The Douglas in which Ingram and Lester clipped an even 30 minutes off the previous Fort Worth-Chicago record, was the first of the fleet which will complete this program. These large planes will be used to accelerate schedules between principal metropolitan centers served by the system, and first service is scheduled for the Chicago-New York route, via Detroit and Buffalo.

Several improvements distinguish the 1935 Douglas from previous planes of the same general type. Alterations in the rudder and elevator design have resulted in better flying stability. Use of improved propellers has permitted smoother and more efficient operation. Minor changes in structural design have allowed a pay load gain eequivalent to one passenger and his baggage. Present gross load of the plane is 18,200 pounds.

First Dodge Rolled Off Assembly Line Twenty Years Ago

On Nov. 14, the Dodge factory celebrated the twentieth anniversary of the production of the first Dodge car, which was sold and delivered on a drive-away to Nashville, Tenn.

President K. T. Keller, of the Dodge Corporation, speaking at a luncheon in Detroit, said that when the first Dodge car was built, the factory occupied 900,000 square feet of floor space, while the present floor area is 5,810,462 square feet. In 1914, the Dodge payroll had 4000 factory workers. In the peak production days of 1934 the factory employed 29,108 wage earners.

In the six weeks of the company's 1914 activities, 249 Dodge cars were shipped. In the following year shipments jumped to 45,033, and they mounted to 70,799 in 1916. The 100,000 mark was reached in 1917 when shipments reached the total of 110,271. Production dropped somewhat in 1918, due to the World War. More than 15,000 Dodges were delivered during the war to the Government.

On July 1, 1920, the 500,000th Dodge was finished. Dodge No. 1,000,000 was completed Dec. 12, 1923. Less than four years later the 2,000,000th Dodge rolled off the lines. The day when the 3,000,000th Dodge motor vehicle will go into service is only a few months off.

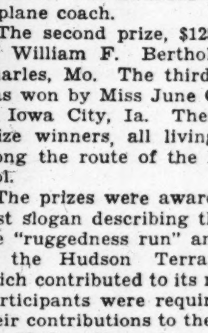
F. L. Garard has been appointed used car manager for the Hudson-Frampton Motor Co., and will have charge of the firm's used car places at 4525 Delmar and at Grand and Gravois avenues. The appointment was announced by William Denhard, secretary of the Hudson-Frampton Co.



F. L. GARARD

Garard has been in the automobile business for the past 11 years, and is widely known in the St. Louis territory.

He has had much experience in retail selling, having been both sales manager and factory representative in the territory.

For a while in 1933 he was with the Hudson-Frampton Co. as a sales representative.

New Trailer for Auto Has Caster Wheel and Convenience Features

The Bailey Auto Body Co., 1320 South Grand boulevard, has been appointed distributer for the Caster Wheel Trailer Co., Streator, Ill., which manufactures the Anthony dump body and also this new monowheel trailer.

According to E. M. Pelke, sales manager of the Bailey Auto Body Co., there is a definite demand for such a trailer, both from the pleasure standpoint and commercially.

The trailer rides on a 16-inch jumbo junior air wheel, mounted in a swiveled Timken roller bearing yoke, so that the wheel turns and follows the car to which the trailer is attached, like the caster on the leg of a bed.

Faulkner, New Auburn President, Thinks Cars From Users' Viewpoint

Says Every Auto Engineer Ought to Spend Two Weeks Yearly in Retail Selling.

Policies that Roy H. Faulkner, newly elected president of the Auburn Automobile Co., may be expected to follow are indicated, it is said, by something he said to a newspaper reporter about three years ago.

"I have had many and diverse bosses," he said. "I have been the victim of many dispositions and temperaments, and from it all I have learned many things. I have learned that men do more through affection than they do through fear.

"Most of a man's working hours are spent at his work, and they should be happy hours."

Faulkner, regarded as an exceptional public speaker, holds his audience chiefly by his obvious sincerity of utterance.

"He is a born salesman," a friend says. "An automobile to him is not just a vehicle with four wheels and an engine. He builds around it an aura of beauty and desirability. He believes that people buy automobiles for more than mere transportation. That is why when he first became a retail automobile salesman in Cincinnati years ago he made a mark for himself. He was not interested in nuts and bolts. He saw an automobile in terms of customer appeal. He interpreted these cars to his prospects, what they would do and how they would do it. He still 'sells' by the same methods.

"'Every member of the engineering department,' he once said, 'should spend at least two weeks a year on the retail salesroom floor selling cars to the public.'"

"What about the independent's place in the automobile industry?" Faulkner was asked.

"The answer to that question," he replied, "is, 'Are Americans individual?' In other words, there is, and always will be, a definite place for an automobile company that builds a motor car with individuality and quality at a moderate price. Americans as a whole like individual things. They don't always buy what they desire because perhaps at the time their finances will not permit it, or there is some other economic or pertinent reason. Most of us want to be somebodies, we want to be individual, different. Our families want our motor cars, our clothing and our homes to reflect our prosperity.

"In periods of economic stress, price becomes an important factor. As prosperity returns, the price factor becomes less dominant and quality and individuality become uppermost. The independent manufacturer, like Auburn, because of its flexibility in production, can give the public this individuality. More, the independent can give engineering advancements quickly.

"Auburn has made its greatest strides by being a leader—by setting the pace. We plan to continue this leadership—to keep well in advance—and I don't mean 'maybe' by that statement."

Iowan's Slogan Wins Terraplane Contest

Winners in the slogan contest held at the conclusion of the Hudson Terraplane "ruggedness run" were decided by the three judges at a meeting at St. Louis on Saturday, Nov. 3. J. M. Taff of Fort Dodge, Ia., won first prize for the best slogan and was awarded a new Terraplane coach.

The second prize, $125, was won by William F. Berthold of St. Charles, Mo. The third prize, $75, was won by Miss June Constantine of Iowa City, Ia. There were 17 prize winners, all living in towns along the route of the Prairie Patrol.

The prizes were awarded for the best slogan describing the spirit of the "ruggedness run" and qualities of the Hudson Terraplane car which contributed to its ruggedness. Participants were required to drop their contributions to the contest at the Hudson-Terraplane dealer establishments in the cities on or near the route.

Similar contests are being held after each of the 16 runs in various sections of the country from coast to coast. In these "ruggedness runs," cars, selected at random from owners who have had upward of 10,000 miles service from them, are driven two weeks continuously, night and day, over circuits ranging from 1500 to 2000 miles.

Ford Co. Announces Assembling of Cars Here Will Be Resumed

Reopening of St. Louis Plant Part of "Million Car" Production Program for 1935.

Resumption of assembly operations at Ford Motor Co. branches in St. Louis and in Long Beach, Cal., is contemplated as part of the Ford "million car" production program for 1935, it is announced at the company's offices in Dearborn, Mich.

The two branch plants were closed, so far as assembly operations were concerned, early in 1933.

Exact dates for resumption of operations at the two plants have not yet been determined. But assembly will be resumed in time to provide adequate output volume in advance of the spring selling season, it is stated.

The St. Louis branch serves the eastern half of Missouri and most of Southern Illinois.

Decision to reopen the plants was reached as a result of the increased sales volume in 1934 and anticipated improvement in 1935, it was explained.

In addition, Ford recently has reopened the sales branch at Charlotte, N. C., serving North and South Carolina, and has opened a new sales branch at Green Island, N. Y., to serve Northeastern New York, Vermont and Western Massachusetts.

Recorder Measures Effect of Car Motion, On Passengers, Driver

In the salesroom of the Oliver Cadillac Co., 4100 Laclede, distributor of Cadillac and La Salle cars, is an instrument for measuring riding discomfort in a car in motion. It is an invention of the General Motors Proving Ground research engineers, and is one of the many means of making tests of contemporary products.

"In our contact with many owners of fine cars we find an ever increasing interest in the development of 'knee-action' wheels," said Guy W. Oliver, president of the company. "This instrument is placed on the rear seat of any car just where the passenger would sit. Regardless of the speed at which the car is driven, every disturbing movement of the car which reaches the passenger is registered by pressure on the machine and accurately recorded on a rideograph chart. The ride recorder can be used on any type of large or small car, at any speed, and on any kind of smooth or rough roads. The typical American highway is full of long waves and surface irregularities caused by temperature changes. At the increased driving speeds of 30 to 60 miles per hour now generally used, these road waves constantly disturb the riding action of cars and cause fatigue and discomfort for the passengers and drivers.

"While it is not generally known, in cars of conventional design the front springs are twice as stiff as the rear springs, because they hold the rigid axle in position, help to keep the steering in alignment and resist the twisting of the axle by brake application. In the new Cadillac and La Salle, an entirely new principle of chassis design has been developed which introduces a new standard of riding comfort.

Chevrolet Co. Passes 10,000,000 Production As It Enters 24th Year

Company Observes Its Twenty-third Anniversary as Auto Manufacturer—Formed in 1911.

Chevrolet's twenty-third anniversary was celebrated throughout the United States by Chevrolet factories and sales personnel Wednesday of last week. Not only did the anniversary mark a period of time, it also marked the completion of the 10,000,000th Chevrolet, which rolled off the assembly line in the Flint plant at 11 a. m., Nov. 13.

At exactly the same time, car No. 10,000,003 was completed and rolled off the assembly line at the St. Louis assembly plant of the Chevrolet Motor Co.

Chevrolet, one of the pioneers in the development of America's automobile industry, was originally formed on Nov. 14, 1911.

Upon completion of Chevrolet No. 10,000,003, which is one of the new standard model four-door sedans, the car was placed in front of the factory where a large group of factory foremen and office personnel gathered to celebrate the achievement.

The Chevrolet St. Louis plant is the largest of all Chevrolet assembly plants.

The car was taken to the Coronado Hotel where a business meeting of the St. Louis Metropolitan Chevrolet dealers was in progress.

Pontiac Co. Sets Up Its Separate Field Sales Organization

St. Louis Zone Enlarged to Include 147 Counties, With W. P. Winslow as Manager.

Following important changes in sales organizations resulting in the establishment of separate field forces by the Pontiac Motor Co. and the Buick Motor Co., H. J. Klingler, president of the Pontiac Motor Co., announces that his company has established four regional headquarters and 22 zone offices.

Twenty-two Pontiac zone offices now are located in various sections of the country. The St. Louis zone organization of the Pontiac Motor Co. has completed the reorganization, both as to personnel and territory lines. With a new allotment of territory, the St. Louis zone becomes one of the largest in the United States, having been enlarged by the addition of counties in Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Missouri, making a total of 147 counties. There is a population of 3,779,545 people now in the St. Louis zone.

The management of the St. Louis zone will be under the supervision of W. P. Winslow as zone manager, and L. A. Fleener as assistant zone manager.

The zone parts and service department will be handled by B. A. Kortier, who has been transferred to the St. Louis zone from the Chicago zone.

Furnace Oil Corporation, Liberty Bell Oil Co. Merger Is Announced

The Furnace Oil Corporation, 1418-32 Wittenberg avenue, has been merged with the Liberty Bell Oil Co., it is announced by Charles Osthoff, president of the Liberty Bell concern, and F. E. Niedringhaus, president of the Furnace Oil firm.

The merger, according to Niedringhaus, makes the combination the largest marketer of burning oils in the St. Louis area. It carries a complete line of petroleum products, including Shell gasoline, motor oils and greases.

The entire personnel of the Furnace Oil Corporation, according to Niedringhaus, will continue with the combination. Niedringhaus will be director of fuel oil sales, assisted by Henry F. Niedringhaus and Fred C. Orthwein Jr.

Annual N. A. D. A. Session In Detroit Jan. 14-15

Plans are being made for the annual convention of the National Automobile Dealers' Association in Detroit on Jan. 14-15.

"On-to-Detroit committees are being organized in every section of the United States with a view to making the attendance thoroughly representative, and insuring the largest gathering of automobile dealers ever held.

More than 30,000 motor vehicle retailers are active members of N. A. D. A. They employ directly at least 350,000 persons and the business of automobile retailing is the second largest in dollar volume, approximating $6,000,000,000 annually.

Buick Re-establishes Zone Organization Throughout Country

C. L. Alexander Appointed Manager for St. Louis District With Offices Here.

An announcement by Harlow H. Curtice, president and general manager of the Buick Motor Co., states that as of Nov. 15 a completely new Buick zone organization has been established.

All functions of the Buick field organization will be separated from those of the Pontiac Motor Co., with which they have been combined since the consolidation of Buick, Olds and Pontiac sales activity three years ago.

It is understood the change will not affect individual dealers and distributers, many of whom are merchandising both Buick and Pontiac cars, except that they now will deal directly with the two factory sales organizations.

The move, seen as a development resulting from enlarged retail volume during the past year, re-establishes the separate sales entities of both Buick and Pontiac as was done in the manufacturing divisions a year ago. It has necessitated a realignment of Buick sales zones throughout the country and the appointment of zone and field officials to fill important posts thus created.

Establishing of a zone office in St. Louis of the Buick Motor Co. is announced by W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager. C. L. Alexander, veteran automobile man for a number of years associated with the sales divisions of General Motors, has been appointed zone manager, with O. V. Klem as his assistant.

Among other members of the St. Louis zone staff are J. F. Dawson, office manager; D. O. McDonnell, parts and service manager, and H. M. Mann, assistant parts and service manager.

3 SALES SHOW ACTIVE MARKET FOR RESIDENCES

English - Style 14 - Room Home at 66 Lake Forest Occupied Promptly After Purchase by Dr. E. Alfred Marquard.

DR. RAINEY BUYS IN WASHINGTON TER.

Transaction Closed by Mary Potter Love Inc.—Kingsbury Blvd. Residence Bought by Dr. Frankenthal and Wife.

Three transactions in residential properties passing into the completed stage last week reinforced the spreading confidence that the market for that class of real estate is still decidedly actual in St. Louis. Both were brought about on the basis of desire for homes and willingness to pay for them at fair values, the three being sold for an aggregate nearing $100,000, actual figures not being disclosed in either instance.

On Wednesday of last week, Dr. and Mrs. E. Alfred Marquard took possession of the impressive English style residence at 66 Lake Forest, following shortly the transfer of title. Representatives of principals acting in the deal were the Lake Forest Development Corporation, through W. L. Gourley, director of sales, and the Clayton Realty Co.

The residence is one of the most attractive in that beautiful tract that has undergone unusual development on a high-level scale within a comparatively short period, being located on Clayton road near enough to the city to have all the advantages of both city and county. It occupies a site 200x200 feet, sufficient to make a surrounding in keeping with the improvement. The dwelling, completed little more than two years ago, contains 14 rooms, six of them bedrooms, having five baths, also a rathskeller in the basement and three-car garage. It is of fireproof construction, the interior finishing being fully in keeping with the pretentious modern home structure in every detail.

It was stated by Sales Director Gourley that 11 homes in Lake Forest have been sold since the first of the current year at prices ranging from $30,000 to $50,000 and that the development extends to eight others under construction.

17 Washington Terrace Sold by Mary Potter Love, Inc.

The second of the striking residential sales of the week was concluded by Mary Potter Love, Inc., the property being a stately home, 17 Washington terrace, that has for some years stood among the finest in that semi-private district. It is of three stories, constructed of stone and yellow brick, with a conspicuous array of costly and beautiful woodwork in its interior finish, being practically fireproof and with every modern convenience. It is the former home of the late C. S. Gauss and family, and was sold as part of his estate by the trustee, the St. Louis Union Trust Co., the purchaser being Dr. Warren R. Rainey. Among the alterations as definitely planned and authorized by Dr. Rainey, is one to make the residence thoroughly in keeping with the family needs and desires, the result of which will be to permanently shut off the entire third floor, this being expected to add much to the attractiveness of the house.

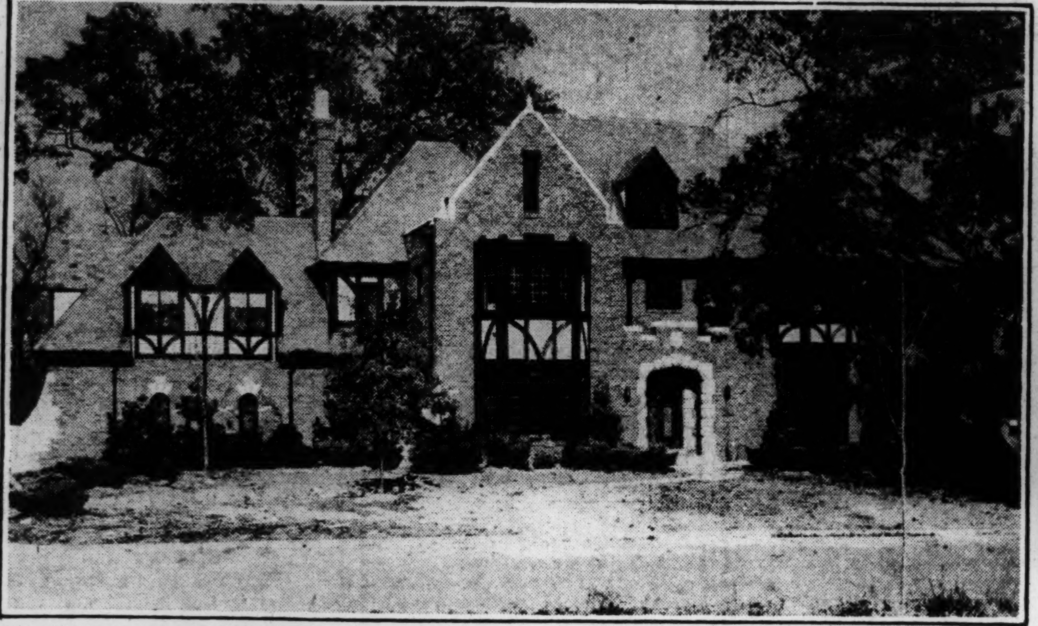
Kingsbury Residence Deal Closed by the Weisels Co. and Mary Potter Love, Inc.

A third residence of the conspicious type, in style and location, was among the week's sales. This was reported as a transaction closed by the Henry R. Weisels Co. and Mary Potter Lane, Inc., the Weisels representative being Arthur Goldman. The property is at 7431 Kingsbury boulevard, and the purchasers were Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Frankenthal. The sale was for the account of Mrs. Marie L. Peters, who was represented by Mary Potter Love, Inc. The residence is a very attractive modern one, containing nine rooms, three baths, with hotwater heat, hardwood floors, a garage, on lot having an approximate frontage of 200 feet. Dr. and Mrs. Frankenthal will occupy their new home about Dec. 1.

CORNET & ZEIBIG CLOSE LEASE OF 2026 DELMAR

The Service Laboratories, Inc., has leased the building at 2026 Delmar boulevard, which has been entirely reconditioned to meet its requirements. The lease was handled by Cornet & Zeibig.

Evidence of Demand for Attractive Homes in Sales Last Week



66 Lake Forest, 14-room residence bought and occupied by Dr. E. Alfred Marquard and family. Sale negotiated by Lake Forest Development Corp., and Clayton Realty Co.

TWO APARTMENTS SOLD AT FORECLOSURE

Bondholders Bid in Ellsworth and Russell Arms Properties.

The Ellsworth Apartments, 4405 West Pine boulevard, and the Russell Arms Apartments, 3300 Russell boulevard, were sold at foreclosure at the Civil Courthouse yesterday for the benefit of holders of defaulted first mortgage bonds.

The Ellsworth, against which there are $329,000 of bonds, was bid in by the bondholders' committee for $60,000. Bondholders bought the Russell Arms for $40,000. Bonds outstanding against this building total $159,000.

Hugo Monnig represented the bondholders at each sale. Non-depositing bondholders of the Ellsworth issue, he said, would get about 20 cents on the dollar, and holders of Russell Arms bonds who did not deposit them with the committee, about 23 cents.

The Ellsworth, an eight-story building containing 75 apartments, was constructed in 1927, being financed by a bond issue of $380,000, sold to the public by Strauss Bros. Investment Co. of Chicago. The building was among the assets of the American National Assurance Co., which were acquired by Central States Life Insurance Co. in a merger last year.

The Russell Arms is a three-story building containing 30 apartments. Fidelity Bond & Mortgage Co., which went into receivership in 1931, sold the bonds which financed its construction. The building was owned by the Euclid Mutual Co., of which Leo H. Gamp is president.

REAL ESTATE ACTIVITY IN OCTOBER 48.6 PER CENT

Real estate activity in October, 1934, was measured by an index of 48.6, according to the compilation made monthly by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. This is based upon official reports of deeds recorded in 62 cities, using the monthly totals of 1926 as its base. The October figure is 3.9 below the September figure which was the high point for the current year. It is, however, 6.6 points above the October, 1933, figure.

TAX EXEMPTION FOR HOMES PUT IN FLORIDA CONSTITUTION

Florida, by a vote of two-to-one, adopted a constitutional amendment to exempt homes up to an assessed value of $5000 from taxation. W. D. Outman of St. Petersburg, chairman of the State committee in behalf of the measure, states that homestead tax exemption will be used as the entering wedge for a proposed complete revision of the State taxing laws to give more equitable treatment to real property.

Young reports that there has recently been considerable inquiry for investment properties.

PROPERTY LEASE CHANGE MADE BY WASHINGTON U.

Washington University, through its real estate agent, Isaac A. Hedges, announces a term lease to the Renard Linoleum & Rug Co. of the basement and first two floors of the seven-story building at the southwest corner of Thirteenth street and Washington avenue from April 1, 1935. At that time the lessee will relinquish the upper five floors, which Washington University will rent for loft purposes.

TWO BUSINESS LEASES MADE BY MERCANTILE COMMERCE

The Mercantile-Commerce Bank and Trust Co. last week closed a lease of 3021-23 Locust street, a modern one-story structure, to Joseph Monti, operating as the Progressive Automotive Parts Co. He has been occupying the building adjoining on the east, and in taking the new location is increasing his floor space 100 per cent, in addition to having a building with more modern facilities. Alterations and improvements are under way. The lease was made for Albert and Emma Herminghaus and others. The Mercantile-Commerce represented all parties in the transaction.

The same company also leased 1017 Franklin avenue to the Specialty Furniture Co., headed by Harry Kornblum, who has been in the retail furniture business in the central part of the city for five years and in coming to the downtown building will have three times his present floor space. The lease was made for the Thomas Dunn estate. Mercantile-Commerce represented both principals.

The Henry R. Weisels Co. reports having leased for a long term the storeroom at 502 N. Seventh st., between St. Charles and Washington avenue to the Harry Simon Stores, Inc. The lessee is operating a chain of retail millinery stores throughout the Southwest including Oklahoma City, and plans the earliest practicable opening of its first one in St. Louis. This will be about Jan. 1. The lease was made for the Neustetter Cloak and Suit Co., represented by the Weisels Co., and the lessee by the Briett-Naumer Realty Co.

LUNCHEON MEETING TO STEP UP BUILDING INDUSTRIES

A luncheon get-together meeting of building materials manufacturers and dealers, construction interests, architects and engineers will be held next Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the building industries exhibit on the eighth floor of the Arcade Building. The purpose is to link up the building industry with the better housing movement in the city and St. Louis County, under auspices of the National Government, with full co-operation by the Chamber of Commerce.

Expenditures for Improvements Made Before Start of Campaign in City and County Not Included.

Pledges to make an aggregate expenditure of $4,714,019 for modernization, repairs and alterations of their respective properties were received from residents of St. Louis and St. Louis County, it was shown in a tabulation of the reports received up to last Thursday night from workers in the Better Housing campaign being conducted by the Federal Housing Administration in cooperation with the City and County Chambers of Commerce. It is believed that the total for the two weeks ended yesterday will be in excess of $5,000,000.

This would be more than one-half the minimum goal of $10,000,000 set at the beginning of the 90-day campaign, and greatly exceeds the results achieved in the first eight working days by any other city conducting similar campaigns.

Up to last Tuesday night the field force of 900 men and women had canvassed 35,823 of the estimated 200,000 or more buildings in city and county. Signed pledges to make improvements during the next few weeks were received from 6082 owners. Pledges to undertake new construction totalled 348, alterations 904, and additions to existing buildings, 336.

The smallest pledge thus far reported was for an expenditure of $3, and the largest $165,000, made by a business institution, which planned extensive plant improvements. Pledges to make expenditures averaging $25,000 for plant improvement were received from 100 business concerns, and several other firms reported plans costing from $50,000 to $100,000.

Walter W. Head, general chairman of the campaign, yesterday emphasized that the total to date does not include construction work that has been completed. To date, pledges totalling $109,750, which were found on the recheck to have been completed before the start of the local campaign, have been excluded.

Initial reports of work that has been completed in accordance with the pledge made by the property owner were received at campaign headquarters last week. These showed that approximately $40,000 of the work had been completed. This work was mostly small jobs, but in nearly every instance the volume of work actually done was greater than what the owner had promised to do.

Roy Schroder, field representative of the headquarters staff of the National Emergency Council, announced yesterday that more than 1000 home modernization and repair loans had been issued by the various financial institutions of Missouri, in accordance with the National Housing Act. Of this number, more than half were issued in St. Louis. The loans range from $100 to $2000, the maximum permitted under the law. Since the local campaign started, Schroder said, more applications for loans had been made to the financing institutions in St. Louis than had been requested in all of the weeks prior to the opening of the drive.

The Associated Bankers of St. Louis, at a meeting held at the Coronado Hotel under the direction of Harry Rehme, vice-president of the Cass Bank & Trust Co., unanimously indorsed the Federal Housing Administration's program, and pledged their co-operation in the local campaign. The action was taken after Schroder had outlined details of the national program and had urged their support.

The local campaign will be extended this week to the downtown section of the city. Heretofore, canvassing of property owners has been confined to the outlying sections but, beginning tomorrow, 35 men and women will begin the task of contacting building owners in the business section to urge their participation in the drive. Special headquarters in the Bank of Commerce Building and a staff of workers has been set up there to direct that division.

BUSINESS LEASES CLOSED BY BREITT & NAUMER CO.

The Breitt & Naumer Realty Co. last week closed a lease to the Day & Night Garage of a one-story garage-type building containing approximately 10,000 square feet, at 922 Chouteau avenue. The move by this company from 1021-25 Chouteau avenue was made necessary by need for additional space. The lease was made for Elizabeth J. O'Donnell, Mary O'D. Griesedieck and E. A. O'Donnell, the Breitt & Naumer Realty Co. representing all parties.

Breitt & Naumer also leased to the Robert Baskowitz Co. approximately 25,000 square feet of space in the building at the corner of Main and Victor streets, from the National Lead Co., the property being served by the Missouri Pacific and Terminal Railroads. Both principals in the transaction were represented by Eugene L. Wehmeyer of the Breitt & Naumer company.

The Christian Brinkop Real Estate Co. reports having negotiated a lease with the Cities Service Oil Co. for the service station, just completed by S. G. London, contractor, at the southwest corner of Loughborough avenue and Leona street.

BY-LAWS AMENDMENTS UP FOR ACTION BY REALTORS

In addition to the election of a president and six directors, active members of the St. Louis Real Estate Exchange, at the annual meeting to be held next Tuesday, opening at 10 a. m., will act on a pending proposal to amend the by-laws of the exchange with reference to payment of annual dues and the membership fee.

The proposed amendment requires the payment of annual dues of $50 quarterly instead of semi-annually, as at present, the revised dates being the first days of January, April, July and October. It also stipulates that the admission fee of $50 shall be paid at the time of filing application with the executive secretary, it being provided, however, that the board of directors may suspend this requirement for a stated period. The amendment has been approved by the directors.

Chester A. Dougherty, the incumbent, who completed the term of Bernard Dickmann, who retired when elected Mayor of St. Louis, also a full term of one year thereafter, is the only nominee for president, as are the following six active members for the board of directors, that being the number of vacancies to be filled: William A. Federer, Louis Maginn, Eugene D. Ruth, Edward M. Thornhill, Clarence M. Turley and Cyrus Crane Willmore. With no opposition, the election of these nominees is assured.

16,000 HOLC LOANS MADE IN ST. LOUIS DISTRICT THUS FAR

Others May Be Granted but Federal Agency Will Receive No More Applications.

Having loaned approximately $1,800,000,000 of a $3,000,000,000 fund, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation has let it be known that no more applications for loans will be received, and that only about 400,000 of the more than 1,000,000 applicants now before that bureau can be taken care of out of the remaining $1,200,000,000. This announcement is coupled with the further statement that Congress will not be asked for the appropriation of additional funds. Should that program be unchanged, the HOLC will become a memory simultaneously with the ides of March.

It is stated that the number of loans made through this Federal bureau in St. Louis and its area is about 16,000. With more than four months to continue its distribution of building funds, and a more or less considerable number of applicants from this center up for consideration, material increase of the total stated is probable. Just how great an aggregate from the original $3,000,000,000 made available to the bureau has been and will be allotted to applicants from this center, will not be known until the final accounting after lending activities have closed.

That beneficial effects have attended the loans is admitted by real estate interests in St. Louis, but the measure of them is variously estimated, according to the extent to which they have come into close view of those engaged in the real estate business. Chester A. Dougherty, president of the Real Estate Exchange, declined to estimate this effect, or to make a statement on any phase of the matter, in view of the scant information had thus far. He was further impelled to silence by the fact that the announced purpose of the bureau might undergo revision, in which event anything that he or any other person, outside high official quarters, might say, would serve no good purpose as a general proposition.

SUBURBAN PROPERTY FOR SALE—University City

OFFER

To prove that we have the most outstanding home values today we offer to actually permit you to live in any one of our new homes now constructed on a 90-day trial basis. You must merely prove your ability to be able to buy one, to any bank or responsible escrow agent.

YOU PAY US NO MONEY

If for any reason at all you are dissatisfied, or that you find a better value within the 90 days you merely pay a nominal rent for the time you have occupied the house, without any further obligations at all.

Tune in on KSD at 9 P. M. Today for Our Program

Alabama

FARMERS in Baldwin County, Alabama, are fortunately located. Desirable climate productive soils, good home conditions, abundant rainfall. Several thousand carloads of early produce are shipped to Northern markets annually, growers receiving cash at shipping points. The early crops are followed by second crops on the same land. Baldwin County is a proved good, prosperous, general farming, livestock, poultry and trucking region. About 80 per cent of the farmers on lower Baldwin are from the North. Good land still available at reasonable prices. For illustrated literature write E. J. Hoddy, General Development Agent, Dept. B-94, Louisville & Nashville R. R. Co., Louisville, Ky.

California

IN CALIFORNIA SMALL FARM HOMES beat the depression. Such homes are the solution of many of our economic and social problems. Less working hours per week make it possible to derive a good part of the living for the average family from a small tract. California offers this opportunity where many varieties of fruits and vegetables are grown the year round. The Small Farm Home is a proven success in many localities in California. The Santa Fe Railway has no land to sell, but offers free information service to help you get right location. Low fares to California. Write for illustrated Southern California folder and our farm paper, "The Earth," free for six months. C. L. Seagraves, General Colonization Agent, Santa Fe Railway, 934 Railway Exchange, Chicago.

Revolt in Spain Is Analyzed by Ex-Ambassador

By DON SALVADOR DE MADARIAGA,
Former Ambassador of the Spanish Republic at Washington and Paris and Delegate to the League of Nations.

MADRID, Nov. 17.

THOUGH I daresay that, seen from afar, Spanish events may loom more tragic and sensational than they actually have been, there was in Spain no lack of either tragedy or sensation between Oct. 6 and 15, when the republic, which boasted of its bloodless establishment on April 14, 1934, bade fair to catch up in one week with previous and more sanguinary revolutions known to history.

As for sensation, the whole country was more or less in a turmoil but there were three centers of particularly grave agitation: They were Madrid, the most socialistic town in Spain, where the general strike was complete and for days the only occupiers of the street were the armed forces of the Government frequently molested by snipers.

Catalonia, in which the Catalan Government after having assured the Central Government of its ability to keep order, put itself at the head of a rebellion to declare the Catalan State within a Spanish federation had collapsed after a few hours' siege within its palatial seat of office in Barcelona.

Finally, Asturias, the most important coal mining district in Spain, an impregnable knot of mountains inhabited by a race of sturdy and able mountaineers amongst whom Socialism, Syndicalism and Communism have of late made great strides.

Tragedy of Asturias.

The Asturian situation was the gravest of the three, not merely on account of the geographical, racial and economic circumstances just pointed out, but also because of the purely fortuitous fact that the miners are accustomed to the free handling of explosives. Moreover they were able to secure control of several important Government armament workshops well stocked with rifles, machine guns, munitions and even field guns.

The Spanish army, at the time in a period of transition between the old, overstaffed and inefficient apparatus of the monarchy and a smaller and—when fully organized—much more efficient defense force, had to be drawn upon. After inevitable delays due in part to the incredible difficulty of communications—bridges and tunnels having been destroyed by the rebels—in part to the natural reluctance of the high command to bombard towns inhabited by peaceful people though held by the rebels, the district was pacified and it laid bare before the shocked country the gashes left on its old towns by the fratricidal war.

For this sensation is a tragedy since it need not have happened at all. No one can hope to understand the Spanish events of October if he start from the premises that there was a grievance to be redressed.

Status of the Parties.

The position may be summed up as follows: Spanish political opinion, as was shown in the last general election, falls under three groups of about the same bulk: On the Left, are a mass of workers and a few intellectuals who follow Marxist views and whose opinions vary from those of Lenin to those of moderate socialism.

On the Right, a clerical mass including peasants, the majority of women, many members of the middle class and the monarchist more or less resigned to the republic.

There are three reasons for this, two of substance and one of circumstance. The middle parties have no commanding principle to serve—such as Marxism for the Extreme Left and clericalism for the Extreme Right. Among them, matters of personal leadership take on a greater importance. They therefore tend to perpetuate under the republic the personalistic character of political life under the monarchy.

Causes of Party Split.

Between clerical Gil Robles and Socialist Largo Caballerro there are about half a dozen Center groups. To these two substantial reasons—lack of clear-cut principles and overabundance of leaders—must be added the unfortunate circumstance that when in December, 1931—on Senor Alcala Zamora's passing from the presidency of the Provincial Government to that of the republic the first Constitutional Government was constituted—Azana, the Prime Minister, disregarding the opinion of Lerroux, chose to keep the three Socialistic Ministers in office even at the cost of the radical collaboration in Cabinet and Parliament.

In thus leaning on the Extreme Left, Aza-

Governor Olson Tells How He Will Attempt To Make Over the Social Order in Minnesota

Elected on a Platform Denouncing Capitalism and Declaring for a Co-Operative Commonwealth, He Lacks Legislative Strength to Accomplish Much Immediately, and Must Proceed Gradually.

Governor Floyd B. Olson

By Marquis W. Childs,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 17.

MINNESOTA voted at the election the other day to revise the social order—to make it over again from top to bottom in accord with the platform of the Farmer-Labor party. No other state in American history has ever approved by official ballot so radical a program. Unless, adds Gov. Floyd B. Olson, re-elected to his third term on the Farmer-Labor ticket, it would be that collection of states which drew up the Declaration of Independence. Inherent in the American Bill of Rights, Gov. Olson insists, is the right of peaceable revolution, the right to change the social order when that order no longer even pretends to fulfill the promise of the founding fathers—life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness in a free democracy.

"And I'm not making you any Fourth of July oration," the Governor says, his round, blue eyes intently earnest and solemn for the moment, "I'm telling you what I believe and what we are trying to do here. What we are doing is in the American tradition. The right to be free and the right to be happy. The rights of property have been given an utterly disproportionate place. We must come to the understanding that property is only an incident to the attainment of the real end—economic freedom.

"That is one thing I am working for—a new legal concept of property rights. Under monopoly control of the means of production, opportunity has declined and declined and declined until it gets down to a job. That is the only property that most people can have—that they can ever have. We must work out a concept under which the right to a job is the first property right—the right to a livelihood, the property right that comes before all others.

"That's the way the truck driver out in the street feels about it. The job belongs to him—it is his property right. And he'll fight for it, as he did here in Minneapolis last summer.

"It is not that we propose to destroy property rights. We intend to broaden them. Collective ownership is the ultimate property right—property in which everyone owns a share. That is the basis of a co-operative commonwealth. And if you can't achieve it with capitalism, you've got to do it with something else."

Platform Uncompromising In Rejecting Capitalism.

The preamble of the platform of the Farmer-Labor party, on which a majority of State officers, a United States Senator and three Congressmen were elected, is uncompromising in its rejection of capitalism.

"Palliative measures will continue to fail," says the platform. "Only a complete reorganization of the present social structure into a co-operative commonwealth will bring economic security and prevent a prolonged period of suffering among the people.

"We, therefore declare that capitalism has failed and that immediate steps must be taken by the people to abolish capitalism in a peaceful and lawful manner and that a new, sane and just society must be established; a system in which all the natural resources, machinery of production, transportation and communication shall be owned by the Government and operated democratically for the benefit of all the people and not for the benefit of the few."

Enormously resourceful, by admission even of his enemies—who are numerous—Gov. Olson is now working out the "immediate steps" which he hopes will be the beginning of the new order. Only 42 years old, he has had long political training in a harsh school. There are no tricks he does not know.

Because of certain peculiarities of the Minnesota election laws, under which a candidate for the Legislature does not run under the party designation, and because of strong opposition to the Farmer-Labor platform in the small towns and even in more conservative farming areas, the Governor will probably face an unfriendly Legislature. But he is not ignoring the implications of the 16-point Farmer-Labor platform. His plans cover each point, whether for the coming session or future sessions. Step by step he would push the revision that his party has demanded, knowing full well the obstacles in his way.

Executive Discusses Planks in Platform.

Gov. Olson discussed frankly each of the 16 planks in the platform and what he hoped from them, as follows:

1. Agriculture. Legislation will be introduced at the coming session of the Legislature to extend the Minnesota mortgage moratorium act two years. The period of redemption would also be extended.

A section would be added to the law which would better protect the farmer from foreclosure or eviction. Gov. Olson is proud of the United States Supreme Court decision upholding the Minnesota mortgage law, for which he was chiefly responsible. In this decision was the implication that law must not be used to hamper social progress but be broadened by interpretation to meet new circumstances and changing conditions. In preparing his legislative program, Gov. Olson takes no little hope from this decision. He would introduce further legislation to broaden the Farmer-Labor homestead tax law, passed at the last session, so that both farm and city homesteads would be exempt from taxation for the first $4000 of valuation.

2. Marketing—Already Minnesota has more producers' co-operatives than any other state, Gov. Olson points out. At present these co-operatives exist in conjunction with private business. He is considering legislation which would actually discriminate in favor of the co-operatives, particularly through exempting them from certain forms of taxation to which they are now subject. It is thought that such legislation would have an excellent chance of passage, since even conservative members of the Legislature are known to be committed to co-operation. They are stanch Republicans but they come from communities of Scandinavians or Finns to whom co-operation, on a non-profit basis, is an accepted way of life. They would not dare oppose co-operative legislation, if it were presented properly, it is said.

High Hurdles Ahead of Public Ownership Plan.

3. The industrial program includes the public ownership of mines, water power, transportation and communication, packing plants, factories and all public utilities. "That," says Gov. Olson, "was the plank that nearly broke our back." It goes farther, he points out, than the Socialist platform.

Achievement of any part of this phase of the platform comes squarely against the present State Constitution. The initiative and referendum of legislative measures by voting citizens is not possible under the Constitution in this State. Only the Legislature may initiate legislation and only the Legislature may refer it to popular vote. Gov. Olson is afraid that he will never be able to get the coming Legislature to refer any direct legislative proposals looking toward public ownership to a vote of the people. Although municipal ownership of utilities has been successful in numerous communities in Minnesota, state ownership of a utility system would require an amendment to the State Constitution, in Gov. Olson's opinion.

However, he is preparing to move in other directions toward the ends suggested in this plank. A bill was introduced in the last Legislature giving municipalities which own and operate power and light plants authority to extend their lines to neighboring villages and towns within a radius of 25 miles. This bill was made law but only after a compromise with the conservatives who insisted upon an amendment which prohibits the sale of electric current to towns, largely limiting the scope of the law to farm sales. Gov. Olson would remove this restriction and greatly extend the radius so that a municipal plant might expand and supply a wide territory with current. Campaign literature pointed out the advantage of such legislation by citing the example of Virginia, Minn., where the municipal plant supplies electricity at two cents a kilowatt hour in contrast with its next door neighbor, Eveleth, where the rate under a private company is 7.5 cents a kilowatt hour.

The private utility companies serving Minneapolis and St. Paul have no franchise. At several elections the voters in the Twin Cities have refused to grant a franchise and only by a narrow margin they defeated a proposal to establish a municipal plant in St. Paul. Gov. Olson has plans for sponsoring a municipal utility system for St. Paul and Minneapolis which he is not yet ready to divulge. The plan includes the introduction of natural gas which has been brought within 50 miles of the city limits.

Hopeful of Co-operative Packing Plants.

One of Gov. Olson's aims in sponsoring a plan to fix the price of basic farm commodities—a plan which he took to Washington at the head of a delegation of Western governors—was to enable co-operative packing plants to exist. Under present conditions, Gov. Olson says, if a co-operative marketing group should attempt to process the cattle which it now sells co-operatively to private plants, it would come up against such price-cutting methods as they could not withstand. Despite the anti-trust laws, the big companies would combine to force out a co-operative, the Governor says. Price-fixing would prevent private firms from outbidding the co-operative, he maintains, and he has not given up hope that some such plan may be made to work, at least long enough to allow a strong co-operative packing plant to become established.

The State already owns many iron mines which are now under lease to private companies. The royalties go into a permanent trust which is used chiefly for educational purposes. One of the reasons why the Farmer-Labor party stood, in plank number 16, for government ownership and operation of munition plants was that it was hoped it would be possible to sell iron out of Minnesota mines directly to the Federal Government for this purpose. In the face of monopoly ownership of the steel industry in the country at large, it would be difficult or impossible for a state to enter into direct competition in the production of steel, the Governor points out.

He recognizes that this is a piecemeal approach to public ownership but it is what he considers to be practical for the immediate future. Meanwhile plans and tactics looking to the more distant future will be drawn up. The Ontario system of public ownership was recommended in the campaign literature of the Farmer-Labor party for submission to popular vote.

4. Employment—Besides those public works now being constructed with Federal funds, the Governor would introduce legislation at the coming session to provide a State public works fund to take unemployment off direct relief. By tapping new tax resources Gov. Olson thinks a substantial fund could be obtained for such purposes.

His followers here give him credit for first proposing the system of work relief now followed by the Federal Government. On March 8, 1933, he suggested at the conference of Governors called by President Roosevelt that the unemployed be put to work making goods for themselves in idle factories. The proportion of employed on work relief is larger than in almost any other state, partly as a result of the Governor's aggressive policy in obtaining Federal funds for this purpose. He was, incidentally, the only Governor to be appointed State Administrator of Relief.

Social Insurance Program Modified.

5—Social Insurance—As originally stated in the platform this plank called upon the State to take over and operate all forms of insurance, not only the newer forms of social insurance having to do with unemployment and industrial hazards, but life insurance, too. During the campaign this was modified, the Governor and other Farmer-Labor candidates taking the view that co-operative companies, working on a non-profit basis, had already made considerable advance in the older types of insurance and that life, accident, health insurance, belonged properly to the co-operatives rather than to the State.

The exceptions would be unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation and old age pensions which would be administered by the State. A compulsory old-age pension law was passed at the last session of the Legislature but it must be liberalized, Gov. Olson says. Now the whole burden falls upon the counties with the result that bankrupt counties in the northern part of the state, where there are the most applicants for benefits, are unable to pay. "The state must be a partner," says Olson, "in order to equalize the differences between the prosperous and the impoverished counties."

Gov. Olson has advocated unemployment insurance since the campaign of 1924, in which he was defeated. At the last session he introduced a bill calling for unemployment insurance which he will reintroduce. Under it the employer contributes 4 per cent of total payrolls, the employe nothing and the State nothing more than supervisory costs. The Governor considers it a good bill. It would be co-ordinated with the system of State employment offices which were created under a measure that Secretary of Labor Perkins has taken as a model for national legislation. Both these bills were drawn up in collaboration with the economics department of the University of Minnesota.

These measures for social insurance have a good chance of passage, Gov. Olson feels. He would exempt the co-operative life insurance companies from taxation just as he would exempt the producers' co-operatives.

6—Conservation—At the 1931 session, during Olson's first term as Governor, a conservation commission was credited to co-ordinate all the resources of the State. Now the Governor proposes to broaden the authority of the commission so that it will have author-

Feeling Grows Saar Plebiscite May Not Be Held

By ALBIN E. JOHNSON,
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SAARBRUECKEN, November.

WITH the final voting lists ready, at least so far as the Plebiscite Commission is concerned, nearly 530,000 Saarlanders will receive their long-awaited opportunity to say whether or not they wish to return to the Fatherland next January.

As the date of the plebiscite approaches, however, there is a growing feeling that something will happen to prevent the balloting. The report of the League's Plebiscite Committee, which was framed in secrecy at Rome early in November when Baron Pompeii Aloisi, Italian; Lopez Olivan, Spaniard, and Cantilo, Argentine, met to reconsider the situation, is awaited with apprehension. It will be submitted to the extraordinary session of the League's Council which meets Nov. 19.

Although the registration lists for the plebiscite closed officially Oct. 23, there were nearly 25,000 would-be voters who found they had not been included. There were also nearly 40,000 names on the lists which were challenged either by the German Front—the Saar Nazi organization—or the Socialists, Communists and anti-Hitlerites.

Registration Fraud Charges.

The opponents of the Nazis persist in their claims that the German Front has padded the lists with 100,000 fictitious names—names of people long since dead, or who have left the territory. They also claim that the inmates of jails, poorhouses and insane asylums have been registered, so that their votes can be cast for Hitler.

The Nazis, on the other hand, charge that the opposition is deliberately filing complaints so as to clutter up the plebiscite machinery and make voting in January impossible.

A prominent member of the Commission is authority for the statement that while there were thousands of illegal names on the registration lists, there has been thus far no evidence of deliberate fraud. Most of the non-qualified voters registered by mistake or through ignorance of the necessary qualifications, which are that a voter must be over 21 years old and have lived in the Saar territory since 1919.

Danger of Armed Outbreak.

Considerable fear is felt both by the International Saar Governing Board, presided over by G. F. F. Knox, an Englishman, which governs the territory for the League, and by the Plebiscite Commision, that if balloting is delayed serious disorders may result. The possibility of a Nazi putsch is not precluded. There are about 15,000 young residents of the Saar enrolled in the Nazi Labor Front. At one time their leaders threatened direct action but the blunt warning from France that the troops would occupy the territory caused Berlin to tone down its propaganda. The Socialists, Communists and anti-Nazis also are said to be armed and if they should make a successful coup d'etat and set up an autonomous government they are certain to have French sympathy, at least.

At this moment the situation is fraught with danger and not until the fate of the Saar has been definitely and fairly determined will Europe breathe easily.

Other Territories Sought.

That the German Nazis, after having brought the Saar back under the Swastika emblem, will start a drive to regain Schleswig and Eupen and Malmedy, is the conviction expressed by Germans and French residing here in this, the most French city in the entire Saar territory.

Schleswig was given to Denmark after the World War on the theory that it was stolen from Denmark previously by the Prussians. Eupen and Malmedy, one-time Belgian regions, were given to Brussels after a "plebiscite." Both regions are included in the Nazi map—known as the Rosenberg Plan—of a Greater Germany.

According to charges made by I. P. Neilsen, a deputy in the Danish Parliament from Schleswig, the German Nazis there are systematically boring in in preparation for a putsch at the proper moment. Berlin has spent more than 5,000,000 marks, Neilsen asserts, buying up 70 large estates and placing them under German ownership. There are now more than 60 private German schools in the province, as against less than 30 two years ago. In their "economic penetration" the German employers will employ only German or pro-Nazi laborers. A Schleswig German Front is nothing more than a unit of the Nazi storm-troop organization, as it is in the Saar.

That the Belgian Government is cognizant of the infiltration of Nazis in Eupen and Malmedy, is evident from the formidable defense program the Cabinet has approved. Some time ago—before the advent of Hitler—Belgians openly advocated the sale to Germany of certain parts of the territories which are pre-

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

On Coal Yard Distribution.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IN PROTESTING against the retail coal code prices established for St. Louis, the spokesman for a small coal dealer is reported in your issue of Nov. 15 as making this statement:

"One of the factors in the situation is that some companies which have coal yards scattered over the city, established in the days before motor trucks, because horses couldn't deliver so far, are still trying to maintain outmoded yards, trying to stick to the horse-and-buggy days at the expense of the public."

I wonder if this gentleman would kindly tell us where coal dealers could store their stocks of fuel, much of which is held to meet the huge increase in demand caused by severe cold snaps, if not at coal yards conveniently located throughout the city? If all coal dealers closed their "outmoded yards," and imitated this gentleman's way of doing business, a large part of the public would freeze for days before they could be supplied from direct mine shipments, even if the mines could extract coal fast enough to meet the rush demand. Cutting down operating costs in business can be carried to a point detrimental to the public welfare, and this proposal is one instance of it.

Which Kind of Americanism?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

FRANK N. BELGRANO, Commander of the American Legion, in speaking of Armistice day, said the former American soldier is firm in the belief that there is only room in this country for one ism—Americanism—and is ready to defend it.

Would he have us defend a brand of Americanism that ruthlessly defends an exploiting class, one that would have a U. S. Siberia in Alaska, or advocates death to those who also oppose some isms, namely, Fascism and capitalism? Or the kind of Americanism as taught by Washington, Jefferson and Paine, that we have a right to alter or abolish any government when it becomes destructive to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness?

Duck-Hunting at Old Monroe.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

FEDERAL and State game departments should investigate and correct the duck-hunting situation at Old Monroe, Mo. I shot in a blind there recently and witnessed the worst lack of sportsmanship I have seen in years.

Blinds are rented from $2.50 to $5 per day per man by professional guides. These blinds are so close together that it is disgusting to a real duck shooter. No more than 75 or 80 feet separate them and, if a gun were accidentally discharged, it could easily kill a hunter in the next blind.

The Federal Government says one can use only 25 live decoys. Well, each blind at this place has 25 decoys, but when a duck flies down Cuivre River, it sees not 25 ducks but at least 1000.

I heard 400 shots fired at one time on at least 10 occasions. I cannot understand why all the hunters shoot, but they do.

Courtesy for Better Housing Workers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE men and women who are making the solicitations for the better housing campaign in St. Louis should be treated with courtesy by everyone on whom they call.

These people are being given employment, plus the fact that they are engaged in a task which will mean work for many others, the use of considerable raw materials, and payrolls for lots of people who haven't had them in a number of years.

The committee's published figures on the results for the first week are an indication of the way the St. Louis public is responding to this program, which is one of the most practical that the present administration has put forth to bring us back to normal.

Jonah's Broken Back.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IN a recent issue of your paper, there appeared an account of the death of Jonah, the Zoo's sea elephant, the cause of death being stated as pneumonia and possible injury resulting from a broken back.

A day or two later, there appeared in the Daily Magazine section of your paper a picture of Jonah, showing the 4000-pound mammal leaning far backward in an endeavor to reach a tempting fish held in the hand of the keeper. I have been present on numerous occasions when Jonah was made so to perform for the entertainment of the crowds. A normal sea lion might easily perform the same stunt without injury, but this 4000-pound sea elephant could hardly perform and do it without injury to himself. It is no wonder that he died with a broken back. It seems a shame for the city to have spent $7000 for Jonah, an unusual and genuine attraction, and compelling him to perform dangerous stunts which undoubtedly hastened his end. The taxpayers again paid the bill.

ANIMAL LOVER.

GEN. SMUTS' ARMS PROPOSAL.

Gen. Jan Smuts of South Africa, one of the British Empire's ablest public men, has made a plea in London for armament equality between Germany and the other nations. It is a proposal that on its face combines justice and expediency. Justice, because Germany, galled by the Versailles Treaty terms, has good ground for resenting the armed status of her neighbors. Expediency, because Germany is now rearming, and open recognition of that fact would clarify the European atmosphere.

But whether such a plan could be agreed upon in the present state of Europe's mind is highly doubtful. France, for one, may be expected to resist to the last breath any move that would increase the relative strength of the Reich. Motivated by past war-like statements of the Nazi leaders, France (and other Powers as well) doubtless will refuse to agree to either method by which equality may be obtained: reduction of forces of the victorious nations, or increase of Germany's military machine.

The impasse derives from the former Allies' failure to keep their pledge to reduce armaments. This gave the German people their greatest post-war grievance, and threw them into the arms of a political group that promised to right that wrong. The Allies themselves thus created the German Frankenstein monster.

It is Gen. Smuts' view that a grant of equality to Germany would bring that nation back to the disarmament conference, and make possible a paring of armaments by all hands. That is a solution devoutly to be hoped for. But will the other nations trust Hitler and his followers with a full-sized military machine with this possibility in view? On the other hand, how far will they go to prevent German rearmament in the event that no agreement can be had on the grant of equality? Will they avoid all action at present, in the hope that a democratic and conciliatory government will eventually succeed the Hitler regime?

The European armaments muddle, which imperils the world's peace and threatens bankruptcy to all the peoples, was created by the short-sightedness and vengeful spirit of the victorious nations themselves. Today, confronted by the knotty problem of what to do about Germany, they are stewing in their own juice. Recognition of equality or reduction of armaments a dozen years ago would have prevented the Nazi upsurge and made Europe a comparatively tranquil region today. As it is, Gen. Smuts' suggestion finds these nations in the position of a huntsman frantically clutching a bear by the tail.

A NEW GRADE-CROSSING DEVICE.

Experiments are being conducted, Railway Age reports, with a new type of railway crossing protective device—a barrier which rises up in the roadway 50 feet from the track just before the train arrives. The inventors claim it will "positively bar" motor cars from the crossing. This ingenious device has an air of promise, but it can scarcely be presented as a final solution of the problem. The human element being what it is, fatalities occur with regularity at crossings guarded by watchmen, by gates, by colored lights, gongs and other kinds of signals. It is safe to predict that, should the new device be adopted, it will not be long before we hear of a hurrying or reckless motorist dashing his machine into or through the barrier, with painful if not fatal results.

Last year's casualty record of the American grade crossing was 1360 killed and 4430 injured. Such devices as the new type may reduce this toll, but the only sure way of ending the menace is to separate permanently the flow of highway and railway traffic by means of overpasses and underpasses. Such a program would be costly, but if the authorities wish a highly useful form of public works that would employ many men and consume much material, they could do no better than to launch, with the railroads' co-operation if possible, an extensive program of grade-crossing elimination.

VERMONT IS SLIPPING.

Events age swiftly in this era of speed. That election of Nov. 6, for example. Less than a fortnight away and already its temples are graying, its step gropes in the prudence of venerable caution. Reference to it is prefaced with apology. Yet speak of it we must. The inexorable statistics require us, reluctantly, to say that Vermont, herself, is really no better than she should be.

Let us hasten to assert that our reproach implies no moral turpitude. It is with the political behavior of the proud Green Mountaineers that we are, perforce, concerned. The State's loyalty to the Republican party has been accounted among the eternal verities. And yet, as the tally of the years only too accusingly reveals, her majorities read like the law of diminishing returns.

Look at the fateful figures. In 1924, Vermont was Republican by 64,000, which might almost be called unanimous. Four years later, that monumental judgment had subsided to 46,000. And in 1932, attrition had whittled the margin down to 23,000. A continuous decline, we submit. But what about the first Tuesday following the first Monday of November, 1934? A mere hair line of 1500 votes separated Vermont from throwing herself into the arms of the all-conquering Democrats.

What of the next test? Thirty-six, sprinting down the calendar, will all too soon be upon us. As we scan the election reports two years from now, shall we behold Vermont gazing star-eyed at the Democratic Donkey, enraptured, enthralled, lost? That is just about what the wild waves are saying.

OIL POLLUTION AND WILDFOWL.

The oil-burning ship is a notable contribution to navigation, but it means also a high mortality for aquatic birds and for fish. When the thick, oily residue is dumped into the water, it remains afloat. It gums the feathers of wildfowl and mats the fine down that protects their bodies against cold. As a result, they are unable to fly, and perish from cold, hunger or drowning. Thousands of dead birds have been observed along the coasts, killed by oil pollution. Great quantities of fish, shrimp, crabs, etc., too, are killed by the oil globules. Fishermen have learned that where oil is seen on the surface, no herring or mackerel will be found.

A law was passed by Congress in 1924 making it unlawful to discharge oil into coastal or navigable waters, and a convention among 13 nations, adopted in 1926, was directed toward the same end. Obviously, such measures are impossible to enforce, for a vast army of inspectors would be required, and the offending vessel usually is far on its way before the offense is discovered. However, a mechanical separator has been perfected that takes the oil out of the waste, so that the discharged fluid is comparatively free of oil. Conservationists suggest that the maritime nations agree to make it compulsory for oil-burning vessels to be equipped with this device. Action along this line seems a logical solution for a situation that should be ended on humanitarian, as well as economic and recreational, grounds.

THE BASIC PROBLEM.

A cautious tone dominated the President's speech last week on his social security aspirations. He has decided to concentrate for the present on unemployment insurance. Old-age pensions and health insurance are not forgotten, but are pushed into an indefinite future. He emphasizes that he is setting up "long-time objectives." As for unemployment insurance, which will be on the administration program to be submitted to the new Congress, it must be "a co-operative Federal-State undertaking"; State laws are needed to put it into operation; it must not be a dole; it must be separate from the present relief system; it must be financed by contributions, not taxes; it must be based on sound actuarial principles.

The speech fell notably short of the expectations aroused in some of the President's supporters by his economic security address of last June and his subsequent appointment of a committee to work out a security program. It was not in line with the theory that the President would construe the election returns as a mandate to engage in unlimited Federal spending on social-welfare projects. Rather, it suggested that the heavy weight of responsibility laid upon him by the election may have had a sobering effect. To say that it indicated a move to the right is to play with words; it indicated simply a coming to grips with realities. The limitations imposed by our governmental system, to say nothing of the state of the Federal Treasury and of private business, stand in the way of an overnight march to Utopia.

The road is long and hard, as the President realizes. There was nothing more significant in his speech than the observation that "there can be no security for the individual in the midst of general insecurity"; that the first task of the nation "is to get the economic system to function so that there will be a greater general security."

In other words, the first task of the nation is to get the unemployed back to work. Solve unemployment and the solution of the rest of our problems will follow. Unemployment insurance, however meritorious the plan, cannot end our present troubles. It can be merely another palliative. It can help only those who have jobs, not the jobless. Our first concern is to provide jobs.

The President gave only the broad outlines of the insurance plan he will propose. Judgment upon it must be suspended until it takes more definite form.

UNHAPPY NEWS FROM ENGLAND.

In view of England's reputation as a place where free speech is inviolate, it will come as no little shock to many persons to learn that there is now in that country a National Council for Civil Liberties. Such an organization is not only in existence, but, judging by a report of its activities since its formation early this year, is finding plenty to do. In its fight against encroachments on the liberties of Englishmen, it has led a national campaign against the sedition bill, organized committees to report instances of provocation at public demonstrations, investigated cases of victimization in matters of free speech and assembly and supplied legal aid for defendants in civil rights cases in need of such help. Among the sponsors of the movement are some of England's most distinguished citizens, including Harold J. Laski, Henry W. Nevinson, Havelock Ellis, H. G. Wells, Bertrand Russell, G. P. Gooch, David Low, G. D. H. Cole, Julian Huxley and C. E. M. Joad. Apparently, Hyde Park is no longer the shining symbol of freedom which it was for so long, and if this is so, there is cause for regret wherever individual conscience is recognized as the prerequisite to progress which it is.

OUR FIRST ARCHIVIST.

Public historical records in medieval England were part of the royal treasure; they are today in charge of a special Government department. Other nations have taken similar steps to preserve important documents, but the haphazard methods of the United States have long been the despair of historians. Federal records are scattered in more than 100 repositories in Washington alone. Trunks and boxes stored in basements and attics have been considered good enough; many documents have been lost or damaged. Efforts to obtain a central archives building had been in vain from 1810, when the plan first was presented, until the depression. Then, as a public works measure, such a structure was authorized, at an eventual cost of more than $12,000,000, and it is now nearing completion.

Congress created the position of archivist of the United States, with a $10,000 annual salary, to supervise the tremendous task of assembling and cataloguing the mass of neglected papers. It is obviously a task for an expert of long training, and the President now has appointed, at the suggestion of the American Historical Association, a man whose record speaks of ample qualifications. He is Dr. Robert D. W. Connor, professor of American history at the University of North Carolina. Dr. Connor was archivist of his State from 1912 to 1921, has been secretary of the North Carolina Historical Commission for 18 years and has published several volumes embodying his researches. He has assembled for the university a fine collection of documents bearing on the State's history, gathered largely by a campaign to enlist public co-operation.

The future investigator of American history will depend much upon Dr. Connor as his country's first official archivist. And he in turn will be indebted to the work of James D. Preston, librarian to the Senate, who has done yeoman work in salvaging important documents from forgotten files in the last few years, and in calling public attention to the need for the work now to be undertaken.

"Of Making Many Books"

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

The O. Henry Awards

PRIZE STORIES OF 1934. Selected and Edited by Harry Hansen. (Doubleday, Doran & Co., Garden City, N. Y.)

NINETEEN authors are represented in this, the sixteenth annual volume of the O. Henry Memorial Award prize stories. The judges were Suzanne La Follette, John Erskine and Burton Rascoe. There prizes were awarded, as follows: $300 for the best short story, to Louis Paul for "No More Trouble for Jedwick"; $200 for the next best short story, to Caroline Gordon for "Old Red"; a special prize of $100 for the best short short story, to William Saroyan for "The Daring Young Man on the Flying Trapeze."

The winning story, if it may be called such, is concerned with some doings of a Negro, Jedwick, who has just escaped from the chain gang and is on his way to New York. His doings are as follows:

Stopping to ask a Negro woman for a drink of water, he casually accomplishes that which is a prime essential to sophisticated literature, and moves on down the railroad track. Many must have noted that if there are two great themes in our movie-minded world, murder is the other one. So Jedwick must have another drink by way of meeting requirements. The white man who gives him the drink is about to turn him in, so Jedwick kills the fellow, and moves on. While riding a freight train that night, he kills a brakeman who undertakes to evict him. He escapes in the darkness and next morning catches a ride to New York in a truck.

That's all. No more trouble for Jedwick! As a mere fragment, the piece is well written, and a sentimentalist is free to read any meaning into it that may please him.

"Old Red," priced at $100 less than "Jedwick," is obviously the better piece of work. Not that it matters much either way, save for the indubitable fact that $300 is $100 more than $200. It is a good, an amusing character sketch of an old liar and braggart who likes to fish so well that he does not get around to committing either of the two more fetching sins—at least, not in the sketch. If it were a sample lifted out of some integrated novel, the piece might seem more notable.

"The Daring Young Man on the Flying Trapeze," specially priced at $100, is relatively quite a bargain. Being not only a short story, but a short short one, it is perhaps even sketchier than the two other winning sketches, but there is at least the quality of imagination in it. It sets forth, by the "stream of consciousness" method, the whirling chaos of broken day dreams that pass through the giddy mind of a young man dying of starvation. It is finely, convincingly done, and it seems a pity that it is not a part of some organic presentation of human experience.

There are much finer things in the collection than these winning pieces; but unhappily they were not formless, and form is old-fashioned, for the simple reason that we are living now in a state of chaos, involving all realms, from the economic to the cultural. In his discerning introduction, Harry Hansen remarks upon this lack of form as follows:

"Their authors do not consider this a fault but a virtue, and the editor, while agreeing that this affects claims to perfection in short story writing, is nevertheless ready to include them because they show exactly what is taking place in the short story."

They do show this indeed; also what has already taken place in every other field and for the same reason.

"The arguments," Mr. Hansen further remarks, "is related to the old one of classicism versus impressionism, of the perfect whole against the suggestive part." But the argument, as he would no doubt readily grant, concerns far more than an esthetic principle, and is related to vastly more than the old strife between "classicism and impressionism." It concerns the old antagonism between integration and disintegration, form and chaos, reality and illusion, sanity and insanity. There is no truth in the fragmentary. There is truth only in the organic.

Curiously enough, this rage for formlessness, that has been going in America for 22 years, is intimately associated with social and political radicalism. Now the only just quarrel that the sane social radical can have with our society is precisely this: that our society is not organic, is not integrated; is, in fact, far from sane. Yet radicals commonly favor in the cultural realm the same fatal forces of disintegration that they deplore in the social and political realm!

The conception of organic form is not, as so many radicals seem to suppose, a bourgeois vice. Had that conception, in its social aspect, ever been central in bourgeois philosophy, we would not now be floundering in this chaos.

It should not be surprising that a bitter, spiteful, sordid materialism accompanies this rage for the formless, the fragmentary view of the human scene, as it most conspicuously does. Nor is it to be regarded as accidental that the mean and the nasty are so highly favored. Noting with what enthusiasm social radicalism espouses a myopic materialism, one might suppose that bourgeois civilization had not been hopelessly materialistic!

ONE'S COMPANY. By Peter Fleming. (Charles Scribner's Sons, New York City.)

PETER FLEMING will be remembered as the brilliant young Englishman who, two years ago, undertook a journey into the wilds of Brazil in the hope of learning something about the fate of Col. Fawcett and gave the world a delightful account thereof in his "Brazilian Adventure." The book was a joy to read, and there was some writing in it not commonly equaled.

Peter Fleming has been off on another adventure—this time a journey through Russia, Siberia, Manchukuo and China. Among other things, he interviewed Pu-yi in Manchukuo, flew to Jehol, accompanied a Japanese column on a bandit hunt, investigated the Communist situation in South China and interviewed the Generalissimo of the armies of the Chinese Republic.

Aside from the interesting and valuable information that he has for the reader the charm of the book is attributable to his light-hearted inability to take his own or other men's doings very seriously; and yet strangely enough, he is not fairly to be accused of superficiality. He writes as with a twinkle in his eye, and laughs readily but not with scorn.

TRIGGERNOMETRY: A GALLERY OF GUNFIGHTERS. By Eugene Cunningham. (Press of the Pioneers, Inc., New York City.)

CONSIDERING the large number of books about the gunfighters of the old West that have appeared in recent years there might seem to be no good excuse for another. But this one deserves not to be lost in the ruck of books on the subject.

According to those who know him, Cunningham, a Texan, who "sort of grew up to fit a horse's back," is himself blood-brother of the adventurous breed of which he writes. In addition to some years of service as a ranger, he was the intimate friend and associate of Lee Christmas, and saw some Central American revolutions from the inside. Also, he gives convincing evidence of being an expert in the matter of firearms. As for the authenticity of his book, Eugene Manlove Rhodes vouches for the fact that Cunningham "writes for the most part from first-hand knowledge and, at worst, from accounts given by participants or eye-witnesses."

The characters discussed are all familiar but many of the old tales are convincingly revised, not, however, in the spirit of the debunking wiseacre. There is an especially interesting chapter on the career of Lee Christmas, and the concluding discussion of pistol technique in general should delight any gun-crank and add considerably to the education of most of them.

THE TAKING OF THE GRY. By John Masefield. (The Macmillan Co., New York City.)

THE scene of this latest prose tale by the British poet laureate is laid in "Santa Barbara on the Eastern Spanish Main," and the action takes place during a revolution in which the country's navy is opposed to the forces of the state.

A single incident is narrated with great circumstantiality. The ship, Gry, loaded with munitions for the revolting navy, has fallen into the hands of the constituted authorities through the perfidy of its captain, and is being held in the harbor of the capital, Santa Barbara. A young naval officer and his friend, a pilot, undertake to seize the Gry and tow her out of harbor, the main entrance to which is barred at night and carefully guarded. But there is another means of escape—a channel so difficult to navigate that the authorities have ignored it.

The story is concerned with the stratagems, daring and skill by which the two young seamen manage to seize the Gry and escape with her through the all but impassable "back door" of the harbor.

Gov. Olson's Plans for Minnesota

ity over all water power rights. Legislation will be introduced providing that specific consent of the commission must be obtained before a power plant can be built. The powers of the commission will also be increased with reference to land use so that it will be possible to remove submarginal land from production without fighting, in each instance, a tangle of red tape.

7—Reforestation—"I've got a fine Land Use Committee at work on legislation," says Gov. Olson. At the head of this committee is Dr. Raphael Zohn, perhaps the foremost authority in the country on forests and water resources. Specifically the Governor will propose to take over about 6,000,000 acres of land, on which taxes are now delinquent, for reforestation. This is for the most part cut over land which is held by large lumber companies that have no intention of redeeming it, according to the Governor. Scattered over this area are farmers, lured there by glowing advertisements of the big companies, who have failed for the most part to get even a subsistence living from their 40 or 80 acres. The problem of what to do with these farmers held u, the reforestation program at the last session, but Gov. Olson now feels that it can be carried out.

8—The St. Lawrence waterway—The Legislature would call on Congress to ratify the treaty with Canada enabling construction of the St. Lawrence link with the Great Lakes. This is of special interest to Minnesota since supposedly it would make Duluth an ocean-going port.

Not Very Hopeful of Educational Program.

9—Education—What stirred opposition under this head was the proposal that the State print the text books to be distributed free to all students. The Republicans charged that the Governor proposed to introduce Communist propaganda into schools by this means and the Governor answered that the material in the text books would be finally determined, as before, by the educational heads. It is felt that there is little opportunity at the coming session to put over this proposal, but already an approach to it is being made. Gov. Olson's Commissioner of Education, Rufus G. Rockwell, formerly of the Department of Education of the State University, is preparing a series of supplementary pamphlets which, it is said, will throw light on modern social problems ignored by current text boks. For example, the manufacture of munitions will be discussed in relation to the causes of war, and biology will be considered from the modern functional point of view.

Use of Liberal Pamphlets in Schools Optional.

Dr. Rockwell is having these pamphlets prepared by experts in various fields at the university. This is one way, he says, to pass higher education — often criticised by rural Minnesota as a costly luxury—down to the mass of the people. The pamphlets will not be compulsory reading in the schools, but will be available for those educators who wish to use them. Dr. Rockwell says that virtually all text-books are written from a narrow point of view in the East, with little or no consideration for regional differences.

The plank further called for the abolition of compulsory military drill at all schools supported by State money. This was largely carried out by the action of the Board of Regents of the university, now controlled by Olson, making drill optional with the individual student. Legislation may be drawn up to make the optional clause into law. Minnesota and Wisconsin have the only two land grant state universities in which military drill is not compulsory.

Taxation Bonds and the Soldier Bonus.

10—Taxation: At the last session the Legislature passed an income tax law, but it was pretty much emasculated, by conservative opposition. Now the Governor proposes to broaden its base and step it up progressively, especially in the higher brackets. Five per cent is the top at present. The Governor would also quadruple the present inheritance taxes, which are now only nominal. "On estates of over $100,000 the tax would be almost confiscatory," says the Governor. The inheritance tax law would be made to include gifts.

11—The soldier bonus: A legislative memorial or resolution to favor the bonus in accord with the platform is the only possible action under this plank.

12. Tax-exempt securities — The Legislature would call upon the Congress to abolish the tax-exempt provisions in future Federal bonds. Minnesota, which already has $111,000,000 in tax-exempt securities outstanding, would cease to issue this kind of bond. In actual practice, with the market for public bonds what it is, this would merely mean that the interest on Minnesota issues would have to be raised, Gov. Olson says.

13. Elections—All parties include this plank which specifies legislation calling for the election of legislators under the designation of the parties to which they belong. While all party platforms approved this measure, it may fail of passage, since the "ins" got elected by the old method and may fear a change.

14. Consumers' co-operatives—Legislation is being considered similar to that which would exempt marketing co-operatives from provisions that now classify them with private business for taxation and other purposes. This legislation, too, is expected to win support from conservatives who have always stood for the principles of co-operation.

Central State Bank of Deposit Proposed.

15. Money and banking — The party platform called on the Federal Government to nationalize banking, with money and credit a Government monopoly operated without profit. But until this can be achieved, Gov. Olsen will seek to have a central State bank of deposit set up. The bill providing this institution was drawn in collaboration with the Independent Bankers' Association of Minnesota, opposed to the two big banking chains that are concentrated in the Twin Cities. This would be, first, a depository for all State funds, and, second, bank of rediscount. The Governor opposes direct loans by this State bank at the present time, holding that politics would play too large a part. This has been the weakness, he says, of North Dakota's State bank. The bank would be in a position, under the terms of the law creating it, to give financial assistance to sound co-operatives at less than the commercial rates of interest.

16. Munitions—This likewise calls merely for a petition or memorial to Congress to make the manufacture of munitions a Federal monopoly.

That is as far as Gov. Olson is prepared to go at the present moment in outlining his program. But he is a rough and tumble fighter who never misses an opportunity and never fails to employ to the fullest advantage whatever weapons he can get his hands on. He has emerged from past legislative sessions with more than even his friends had hoped for.

Capital Tax Law Seen as a Convenient Club.

Just now there is considerable speculation on whether or not he will use the capital tax as a club to force reactionary members of the Legislature to approve his bills. The capital tax was discovered by a shrewd Farmer-Labor lawyer in a forgotten law of 1879. If it is upheld by the State Supreme Court, which now has it under consideration, it will enable the State to tax not the physical valuation of an industrial plant but the capitalized value as represented by the stock issues of the company. Those who have attempted to revive the law point to the fact that industrial firms are forever pushing down the value of their physical assets for taxation purposes and forever pushing up their capitalized valuation by boosting stock issues; this law would get at the discrepancy created by these two factors, its advocates say. It would be confiscatory as applied to many firms, it is said. The largest flour milling concern would have to pay about $650,000 in back taxes under this forgotten law. Those who know the Governor best realize that he will not ignore such a weapon if it is available to him.

He and the leaders of the party closest to him are aware that they are launched upon a great experiment, which will be watched with the most intense interest all over the country. The right to experiment, they hold, is one of the primary rights of a state and they quote the decisions of Justice Brandeis, particularly in the Oklahoma ice case, to support their view. It is Justice Brandeis' thesis, often expressed, that the State should properly be the laboratory for governmental experiment. The Federal Government, by its very size, and by its remoteness from the mass of the people governed, is far less free to experiment, Justice Brandeis holds.

Above all, Gov. Olson has an awareness of human values, acquired, perhaps, in his background which includes a St. Paul slum and several years as a longshoreman and an I. W. W. on the Pacific Northwest coast. He looks upon the Russian experiment with caution—he has been branded a Communist too often—but his feeling is that apparently the Russian Communists have been throughout too arbitrary, too dictatorial. Change cannot come in America in that manner, he says.

How Radicals Framed Farmer-Labor Platform.

In a most curious and interesting way the Farmer-Labor platform illustrates how the party works, how it is organized in this state. It happened that Gov. Olson was in Washington while the platform committee was drawing up its radical demands. The men who actually controlled the committee were for the most part men who have served long years in the radical movements that have shaken this part of the country, former Socialists, former Non-Partisan Leaguers. Men such as Howard Y. Williams, head of the Farmer-Labor Political Federation, which seeks to cement a group of Western States together as the nucleus for a radical third party. Men such as Joseph Gilbert, editor of the Midland Co-Operator, published by the Midland Co-Operative Oil Association, an ardent worker for many years for the Socialist party and the Non-Partisan League.

These radicals were in control of the committee and they decided that the time for political expediency was past. They well knew that there was an office-holding, office-seeking clique in the party which would not welcome their platform, but nevertheless they framed it and had it adopted over the opposition of conservative elements in the general convention. When Gov. Olson read it, he was frankly taken aback. He is too good a politician not to have realized how hard it would be to carry the platform in the face of the fierce outcries of the conservative interests.

Thinks Party Would Have Lost Six Months Earlier.

If the election had been held in May, he is of the opinion that the Farmer-Labor party would have lost. Every possible political and personal charge was brought against him during the campaign and yet, the extreme left-wingers in the party say with pride, he never once hedged. On the eve of election he said over a statewide radio network:

"We denounce the present system because it is based upon greedy, avaricious, individualistic profit. The depression itself not only indicts, but convicts the system, founded upon the survival of the fittest, which has placed fabulous wealth in the hands of a few and which has denied to the many the bare necessities of life.

"We boldly propose to substitute for it a system which is based upon co-operative action, a system which will afford an opportunity not only for work for the unemployed, but for a decent standard of living and economic security for the masses."

Expects to Enter Race for Senate in Two Years.

The Governor's vote was smaller in the rural areas than in the previous two elections, but larger in the cities. The former he attributes to the conservatism of the small towns in the southern part of the state. Business men made farmers believe their farms would be taken from them. The votes that he gained in St. Paul and Minneapolis he attributes to the class consciousness which the truckers' strike of last summer aroused.

"I'm glad now," he says, "that we won on the clean-cut issue of radical change, even though a more moderate program might have given us a stronger Legislature."

Immediately after the election he set to work organizing the Legislature. He believes that he will have the House at least on a "liberal" basis so that trading will be possible. Of the Senate he is doubtful. In two years he hopes to run for the United States Senate. Already they are saying out here that some day he will be President. That is loyalty—loyalty to the man and to what he stands for. But he is quite definitely a man with a horse—to use the figurative expression which he himself applies to leaders with drive, dynamic energy, dramatic appeal. And even his enemies concede that he has more brains than most men on horseback have had. How far he may go no one ventures to say.

Many Old-World Ideas Rooted in Minnesota.

Much of what has happened politically in Minnesota is explained by the Scandinavians. A homogeneous, clannish people, they settled in solid groups that resisted the general diffuseness of American life. They brought with them certain heritages, of co-operation, of political education, of radicalism, the conservatives would say. Whole colonies of Finns came over after the Russian revolution of 1905. In their remote towns in the north woods they kept alive the traditions of revolt and economic equality. They formed what has been for more than 15 years the largest and most successful consumers' co-operative wholesale society, with headquarters in Superior, Wis., covering the northern part of both states.

There are whole counties in Minnesota, notably Carleton County, where a chain store has never been able to operate successfully because of the co-operatives which the Scandinavians have maintained. It has not been through superior efficiency alone, although the co-operatives do profess to be more efficient than the chain stores in those communities, but through loyalty to the co-operative idea, that these community ventures have succeeded. Adult education—another tradition from the old world—and a high cultural and social level have been maintained in these Scandinavian communities.

Very rare have been the successful political candidates in late years who have not had Scandinavian names. Gov. Olson is well aware of the political value of his parentage. His mother was a Swede from the southern province of Varmland, his father a Norwegian from the fjord town of Trondhjem. And, to make it even better, he married a Czech, thus getting in another racial group occupying a considerable area in the northwest part of the state.

It has been only in recent years that the Scandinavians have made their influence felt for liberal, even radical government. For many years Minnesota was ruled by a Republican machine, said to be as corrupt as that which controlled Pennsylvania. And there are conservative Swedes, as Gov. Olson discovered when, during the election campaign, he talked about the social advances made in Sweden, holding that country up as an example for his own state. Conservative Swedish business men denied the implications of what he said and the controversy was carried to Sweden itself. All agree that the Scandinavian population is at the base of the success of the Farmer-Labor party. An educable people, they have already begun an intensive campaign of education for Farmer-Labor principles, looking to the campaign of 1936.

Conservative Interests Important in State.

Conservative financial and industrial interests of great power, mining, milling, grain, lumber, are concentrated in Minneapolis and St. Paul. The grain trade controlled on the Minneapolis exchange is second only to that of the Chicago Board of Trade. Two great railroads, the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern, have their principal terminus in Minneapolis. It is hardly necessary to add that these interests are unremitting in their opposition to what the Farmer-Labor party stands for.

It is all here, all of mid-western life in the 84,682 square miles of Minnesota. That is one reason why what happens in Minnesota in the next four years may be of significance beyond the borders of the State.

Minnesota Ranks 18th in Population Has Great Wealth in Iron and Timber

MINNESOTA is a Middle-Western State containing all the elements that have gone into the making of the middle of America. Every phase, every connotation is here, with some overtones that other states lack. Its population is 2,569,900. It is the eighteenth state in the union in that respect.

Its nearest neighbor and its nearest counterpart is Wisconsin. But to the south, Minnesota's cornfields and conservatism match those of Iowa. Sinclair Lewis took at least the physical environment for his "Main Street" literally out of his Minnesota home town of Sauk Center, although the home town always said it was a caricature. Politically Main Street is unchanged by the years of the depression, say the leaders of the Farmer-Labor party, citing the large Republican vote in the Southern counties of the State.

To the north, despite the vast lumbering operations of 30 and 40 years ago, are still great forests, an estimated 21,000,000,000 feet of spruce, valuable for pulpwood in this age of swiftly diminishing forest reserves. Twenty-five years ago the State was third in lumber production, now it is eleventh.

There are 10,000 lakes in Minnesota—at least that is the claim of the aggressive State Tourist Bureau. And they draw enough summer visitors to put the tourist industry in fourth place in a list of the State's resources. Gov. Olson ranks the State's resources as follows: Dairying, iron, wheat, tourist.

The great Cassaba and Cuyuna ranges contain huge reserves of iron ore, among the largest in the world. They are for the most part held by a subsidiary of the United States Steel Co. and supply much of the raw material for the Pittsburgh industrial district. Great iron freighters formerly lay at the docks at Duluth constantly loading. The depression has curtailed the production of iron in Minnesota from 34,165,777 tons in 1930 to 17,063,591 in 1931 and to 5,154,291 in 1932. The relief burden is heavy in the iron ranges.

Minnesota, as of 1930, had a high per capita wealth, $3371. In literacy the State stands eighth, with a rate of 1.3 per cent of illiterates, made up of 0.4 per cent among the native whites, 4.3 per cent among the foreign born whites, and 2 per cent among the Negroes, who form a small proportion of the population.

The State university at Minneapolis is one of the largest in the country with an enrollment of 12,000.

The Scandinavians, the Swedes, the Norwegians, the Danes and, always linked with them, the Finns, form the racial base of Minnesota. The Germans come second, with the Irish a close third.

Feeling Grows, Saar Plebiscite May Not Be Held

ponderantly German, in an effort to eliminate causes of friction. Now Belgium is determined to preserve her sovereignty over the region at all costs.

Refugees Are Fearful.

In this section of the Saar pro-French and pro-German groups are about equally divided. Realizing that there is not the slightest chance that the territory will vote to become French, the anti-Germans are throwing their strength to the autonomists, who want to make the Saar independent or autonomous and under League portection.

It is asserted that a fair and uninfluenced vote in January is impossible because of pressure—economic, personal and otherwise—that is being exerted by German Nazi agents. Fear of reprisals once German sovereignty becomes a fact, is also widespread. Tens of thousands of refugees from Nazi Germany — Socialists, Communists, Trade Unionists and Catholics—will have to move on, when the Saar returns to the Fatherland, if they wish to avoid harm. League control, or supervision by an International Commission, for a period of several years, regardless of the result of the plebiscite, is demanded as the only guarantee of justice.

Because of the struggle between Hitler and both the Protestant and Catholic Church in Germany, the religious element is expected to play a decisive role in the voting in the Saar, which is overwhelmingly Catholic.

Spanish Revolt Analyzed By Former Ambassador

na forced the radicals to lean to the Extreme Right, and the Center was hopelessly split into parts which have remained ever since unreconciled.

The after effects of this fatal decision led to the total defeat of the Left and Extreme Left in the last general election. Power passed on to a combination of the radical party and the clerical Extreme Right.

The Turn to Revolution.

This fact produced a profound disappointment in the Left and Extreme Left and led a number of them to think of seeking to restore the position not by the slow methods of democracy but by the livelier methods of armed revolution.

Now there is no question that the party led by Gil Robles had not expressed its allegiance to the republic when it went to the polls—although in many districts it went on a mixed ticket with radicals who were Republicans long before the Center Left had thought of it.

The bitterness felt by the Left is therefore explicable particularly as they all know their nineteenth century, and may remember several instances of fights and revolutions made to rescue Spain from clericalism, which, after victory, saw clericalism come back as if nothing had happened.

Nevertheless, the clericals are in office as a result of a general election made under a Government in which the Left was amply represented and under an electoral law prepared by a Government exclusively composed of the Left and Extreme Left.

In these circumstances, revolt was unpardonable. In my opinion, despite clerical press accusations to the contrary, the Left has not revolted, but the Extreme Left has.

Now, it is easy to show that this revolt was moved not by principles but by impatience and ambition in some leaders and a generous but uninformed and pathetic belief in a socialistic millennium in the masses.

Catalan Revolt a Blunder.

The Catalan episode must be dealt with separately. It was a blunder rather than a crime, of the party in office, and by no means of Catalonia, and with federalistic aims and by no means separatist.

Under a system of generous home rule, which they themselves had outlined, discussed and voted in the Constituent Assembly of the republic, the Catalan Government chose to profit by the plight of the Central Government to declare the Catalan State within a Spanish federation.

Nobody, even in Catalonia, has a word to say for them either on grounds of political ethics or of political acumen, and their rebellion was put down by a General who is himself a Catalan and a stanch home ruler.

The Central Issue.

The central issue, however, was that between the Extreme Left and the Extreme Right. We are asked to believe that the cause of the rising was the formation of the Lerroux Cabinet, with three members of the Extreme Right as Cabinet Ministers.

It was not its cause, but merely its signal. That the Socialists, led by Largo Caballero, prepared a revolutionary rising—much to the regret of other leaders, such as Besteiro—was known by all Spain.

Moreover, there is no direct and unbridgeable opposition between the Extreme Right and the Extreme Left on any point of practical politics except that both cannot be in office at one time.

In labor matters the Extreme Right is fair; in agrarian affairs it is open minded; its monarchical leanings are at most a theoretical indifference as to the actual form of government, but it is far too skillful to fight on two fronts, jeopardizing its clerical interests for the beaux yeux of Alfonso.

In this relativism as to forms of government, its members are incidentally good disciples of the Socialists.

What Socialists Sought.

It is, therefore, a mistake to believe or imagine that the Socialists tried to "rescue" the republic from the clericals. They aimed at power by the direct road of armed attack.

As to the future: So long as the Socialist party was as a loaded gun, the Clerical party had outer reasons to be prudent. Now that the Socialist gun is unloaded, Spain must rely on the inner reserves of prudence which the Right may possess by nature.

If they know how to handle the position of exceptional power which the fatal error of their adversaries has presented them with, they may enable the country to work in peace and through 1935 to prepare for the following year the constitutional reform which by general consent seems indispensable.

Fight on Article 26.

The Extreme Right aims at this reform because it wants article 26 removed from the Constitution so as to place the relations between church and state on a footing more in harmony with the beliefs of its adherents.

Others, particularly among the younger generation, are of opinion that this opportunity should be seized to modernize the Constitution, for, though born in 1931, the Constitution has rapidly aged and is no longer in harmony either with the requirements of our day or with those of the peculiar ways of the country.

The present rising has been a warning. If it stimulates the country to think afresh of its constitutional and political problems, the tragedy and the pity of it will at least have served a useful purpose.

Spanish Constitution Proclaimed Dec. 9, 1931.

Article 26. All religious denominations shall be considered as associations subject to special laws. The State, the religious, the provinces and the municipalities shall not maintain or favor or financially aid the churches and the religious associations and institutions.

A special law shall provide for the total extinction within a period not exceeding two years of State grants to the church.

Those religious orders, the rule of which requires in addition to the three canonical vows a special vow of obedience to an authority other than that of the State, are declared dissolved. Their property shall be nationalized and used for charitable and educational purposes.

The other religious orders shall be regulated by a special law enacted by the constituent Cortes which shall incorporate the following provisions: (1) Dissolution of those orders which, by reason of their activities, endanger the safety of the State; (2) registration of the orders which are permitted to continue in a special register under the jurisdiction of the Department of Justice; (3) inability to acquire and hold, either themselves or through an agent, more property than that previously considered sufficient for their lodgings and the direct fulfillment of their particular purposes; (4) prohibition of the practice of industry, commerce or teaching; (5) submission to all the tax laws of the country; (6) obligation to render to the State annual accounts of the investments of their wealth in relation to the aims of the order.

The property of religious orders may be nationalized.

Funny Film Noises Cost Hollywood Pretty Penny

Building Up Library of Sound Is a Serious Business, But Thorough — You Can Rent a Penguin's Chirp, If You Wish.

By H. H. NIEMEYER.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 17.

IF you happen to be thinking of making a barnyard film, or a wild African jungle picture or something about Byrd at the South Pole you need not worry about spending any time and money recording the sound effects. If you have to register a cow's moo or a lion's roar or the voice of a penguin calling its mate, you can get it, or them, on a few minutes' notice for a small fee. Authentic, too. No imitations by ex-vaudeville performers but faithful reproductions made on the hoof and recorded for movie purposes. All the big cinema studios have their sound effect libraries as carefully catalogued as any Carnegie library in the country.

If you recall the old nickelodeon days you will remember that the piano player furnished the necessary effects to go with the otherwise silent movies. The first mechanically-recorded sound registered for pictures was the noise of a traveling train. It was a synthetic noise made with a little one-cylinder machine fashioned offhand in a studio from a piece of gas pipe and the works of an old alarm clock. Turned by hand it was pretty crude, but just the same the customers who saw the picture, "The Pullman Porters," a short subject made in May, 1927, got a real thrill out of it. Although it hasn't been in use for many years, having been discarded a few months later when replaced by train noises actually recorded on a train, it is kept in the library as a matter of sentiment.

THE second sound effects recording ever made was of depot noises during the arrival of a train. This was made in a Los Angeles station with the first remote control system ever installed for such a purpose and used for the same short subject, "The Pullman Porters" and subsequently for at least a hundred other pictures. The third effects recording was crowd noise at the Pasadena Rose Bowl football game on New Year's Day, 1928. The pandemonium that resulted when Roy Riegels, California center, ran the wrong way to a touchdown that didn't count—for his team—against Alabama, is still one of the cherished possessions of the sound effects department at Warner Brothers.

With these three recordings as a foundation, the Warner sound effects was started, early in 1928. Each new picture added new items for this library of noise, until now there are some two thousand varied sound effects ready for immediate use whenever needed.

There is listed, for instance, under the general heading of "Biffs and Bangs" such interesting sounds as "Socks on the Puss," "A Fall through a Door," a "Kick on the Pants," the "Sound of a Gavel" and a "Boxing Glove to the Button." Not all of the cataloging is so colorful, however. Much of it is highly technical. Airplane noises of every kind and description occupy at least a hundred separate cards. Men have risked their lives to get the sound effects of a "sputtering motor," or a "dead stick landing." New effects of this nature were recorded during the filming of James Cagney's picture, "Devil Dogs of the Air."

Under the general heading of "animals," there is an amazing collection of noises. One is listed as "Mad Tom Cat, with Hisses." Nothing is said about the difficulties encountered in recording the mad tomcat but the fact is it took four men working five nights to get it and it must have cost nearly a thousand dollars to record.

TO RECORD properly the dog howls necessary in the mystery picture, "The Case of the Howling Dog," the sound effects department resorted to patience and watchful waiting. The dog was left alone on one of the vast sound stages for an hour. At the end of that time it was presumed that he had become lonesome. Then, through a hidden loud-speaker, a harmonica was played for the animal's benefit. It was too much for the lonely dog. He sat down on his haunches and howled. The recording instruments caught it perfectly.

Under the letter "B" there are several interesting noises listed. "Bed Clothes Being Changed" is one. "Boiling Pot" is another. Still another is captioned "1000 bottles shaking in an earthquake." The last named effect is synthetic, cut from the picture, "Frisco Jenny." When a real earthquake comes everyone is too excited to care whether the bottles shake or not.

But it is the sound effects that deal with people that are most amusingly listed in this catalog. One caption reads, "Chewing Gum—very juicy." "Man eating apple" is another. And under the heading "Celery," there are two notations. One is "One person eating celery." The other is "Two persons eating celery." The imagination of the man who made up this catalog seems to have influenced one heading, which reads exactly as follows: "Dead man's groans." Screams, most of them from the capable throat of Alice Doll, who used to scream for Constance Bennett and Ruth Chatterton, are listed with many variations. "Kisses" and "Kitchen noises" are the only two items listed in the "K" group.

E. Robert Schmitz To Be This Week's Symphony Soloist

E. ROBERT SCHMITZ, French master of the piano, will be soloist, playing the Mozart D minor concerto and the incidental piano part of Manuel de Falla's "Nights in the Gardens of Spain" in the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra's concerts at the Auditorium next Friday afternoon and Saturday evening. Schmitz is appearing as soloist with the orchestra for the first time.

The concerts will also be notable for the first presentations in America of an "Ouverture pour une operette imaginaire" by the young French composer, Jean Rivier. M. Rivier's "Imaginary Operetta" is not in the spirit of Romberg, but in the spirit of Mozart. It exists, of course, only in his dreams. The work was composed in Paris in 1930, and in 1931 had its first performances at the Concerts Straram, being hailed by the critics as delightful and important.

The complete program for the concerts, is:

Ouverture pour une operette imaginaire .... Jean Rivier
(First performance in America).
Concerto in D Minor for pianoforte and orchestra (K446) .... Mozart
I Allegro
II Romanze
III Rondo
Mr. Schmitz.

$5000 for Vultures Above Capitol Dome

IT IS often the litle things that mount up into big money in the movies. Recently, for instance, Walter Wanger, producer of "The President Vanishes," laid $5000 on the line to make one scene for that production which lasts but four seconds on the screen.

It is an allegorical sequence, showing a flock of vultures swooping and soaring around the dome of the national capitol at Washington. To secure the scene he had to send one camera crew to Washington to film the dome and and the sky above it, and another crew to Yuma, Ariz., to photograph soaring vultures. In all, the journeys totaled some 6000 miles. The two films were made into one to secure the desired result.

Mummers Play Dec. 7.

"The Mad Hopes," comedy by Romney Brent, will be the first presentation of the season by the Mummers, dramatic group, at the Wednesday Club, on the evening of Dec. 7.

THE WEEK'S NEW FILMS :: :: By Colvin McPherson

THE originality of "Crime Without Passion," at the Shubert this week, is so striking and has such evidence of intelligence that it might well carry away anyone eager to welcome development in the cinema art. It is the first work which Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur have written, directed and produced as well. They have written or adapted such noteworthy pictures as "Scarface," "Viva Villa," "Rasputin and the Empress," "The Front Page," "Twentieth Century," "Design For Living" and "Underworld." The gentlemen not only know their theater, but their magic lantern. Yet "Crime Without Passion," which toys with the perfect crime theme, is hardly more than a display of the authors' talents. Bit by bit, it is extremely clever and deeply interesting. To Slavko Vorkapich, special effects director, Hecht and MacArthur gave full play to create, artificially, a mood by tricks on the film. Vorkapich, whose name is applied by studios to the extremely technical type of work which he does, does create a mood. The average spectator says to himself, "This is silly. I don't believe in such things," but it is the surrender of common sense to Mr. Vorkapich, nevertheless. Acting is well above par. Claude Rains, who has appeared in movies previously only as "The Invisible Man," is the criminal lawyer who has a crime of his own. Margo, Mexican dancer, and Whitney Bourne, New York society girl, both new, are introduced with success. And to go a little farther in their playfulness, Hecht and MacArthur, photographed Helen Hayes (Mrs. MacArthur) and Fannie Brice, visitors during the filming, as extras. "Kentucky Kernels," also on the bill, is a Kentucky lark for Wheeler and Woolsey. It is one of the best and certainly the cleanest effort by two genuine comedians. The ordinary movie-goer will find in it a murderous amount of fun.

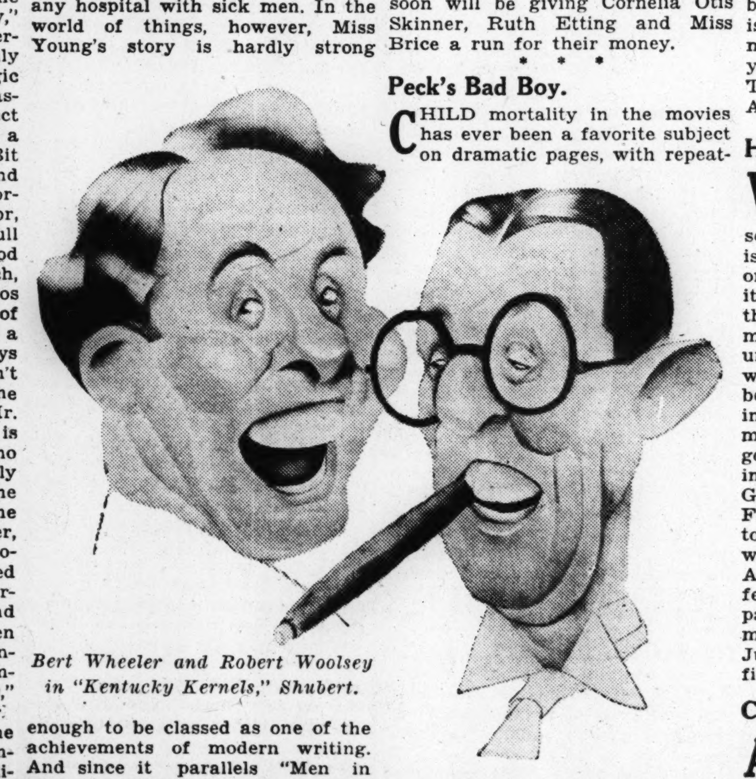
White Parade.

WITH obvious motivation through its entire running, the picture at the Ambassador realizes what probably most impressed its authors—the religious beauty and emotional appeal of young women entering the profession of nursing. The solemnity of the marching figures in the opening and closing moments has never been excelled. The plot is hardly worth analysis. A young nurse, Loretta Young, becomes acquainted with a wealthy young man, John Boles, who is impressed by her beauty and falls in love with her. On graduation day, she has to decide between him and her job. She takes the job, principally because she likes it better. Miss Young has never appeared more ethereally lovely and she is surrounded by a group of beauties who would jam any hospital with sick men. In the world of things, however, Miss Young's story is hardly strong enough to be classed as one of the achievements of modern writing. And since it parallels "Men in White," it brings the realization that "Men in White" was frail, too. "Bachelor of Arts" is termed the second feature of the bill. If you have known college freshmen like Tom Brown, you will enjoy his characterization. If you haven't, you've missed something.



Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey in "Kentucky Kernels," Shubert.

Transatlantic Merry-Go-Round.

CLEARANCE papers are issued to the picture at Loew's, which, with one thing and another, is worth a night out. A tale of murder, jewel theft, card-sharping and romance on an ocean liner is set to music, and pretty good music at that. In order of value are suggested: The engaging "drunk" performance of Sydney Howard; a tabloid version of Jack Benny's more or less famous burlesque, "Grind Hotel"; the grand warbling by Frank Parker, Mitzi Green's Arliss imitation and the Busby Berkeley stuff. Incidentally, Miss Green is rather grown-up now and probably soon will be giving Cornelia Otis Skinner, Ruth Etting and Miss Brice a run for their money.

Peck's Bad Boy.

CHILD mortality in the movies has ever been a favorite subject on dramatic pages, with repeated recital of the names of Jackie Coogan, Baby Peggy and other starlets who have blinked out of popularity. Yet, quite as conventionally, most war horses of the legitimate stage trace their debuts back to being carried onto the boards in Shakespeare's first stage of man. And here, at the Fox this week, is nine-year-old Jackie Cooper, a veteran of six years' work, doing as nice a job as when he started. With proper stories, he may easily continue his movie career on into Lionel Barrymore roles. "Peck's Bad Boy" represents remodeling of a favorite theme about the tragedy in a boy's life when he discovers that he is an adopted child. The supporting cast holds up well. Thomas Meighan is a fine father for the boy; Dorothy Peterson makes a splendidly deceitful aunt and Jackie Searl, who apparently once a snitch is always a stinker, gives Jackie somebody to pummel. "That's a Good Girl," also on the Fox bill, is a British picture of average British quality. The traditional impenetrability of the British (for Americans) is borne out in the joke about "You mean you've had that wreck five years and have never had a car." They're just getting that one in Albion.

Hell in the Heavens.

WARNER BAXTER'S picture, which has something to do with a war somewhere, is a sermon on fear. Taken as such it is an exceptional picture. It not only picks the emotion to pieces, it plays on the one theme through the entire story. As usual, Baxter makes the show a personal triumph. In considering reality of the war background, Baxter appears to be merely the head of a small flying club in the California hills with members who amuse themselves by going out every morning and playing at shooting Germans. And the Germans, who write in English to Frenchmen, seem to want to play, too. They drop the handkerchief with messages every day. In "Night Alarm," accompanying Missouri feature, Bruce Cabot is a newspaper reporter who dominates his managing editor, City Hall and Judith Allen, and goes to all the fires.

College Rhythm.

A TIME-HONORED and confessed literary art is to "write around it," to cover up a lack of coherence with a neat game of hare and hounds. Such is the writing of "College Rhythm." Now, if you had to put Jack Oakie, Lanny Ross, Joe Penner, Lydi Roberti, Mary Brian, Helen Mack and a Rose Bowl game into one movie, what would you do? You'd put Jack on the football team, Lanny in the college band, and you'd make Joe the keeper of Goo Goo the Duck, the team's mascot. You'd do a lot of inane plotting so Joe could say, "You nasty man!" or "Don't never do that!" "College Rhythm" is only an expensive effort at "writing around it."

"Green Pastures" Returns For Four Performances

Pulitzer Prize Play, Here in 1932, To Open at American Theater on Thursday, With Original Cast.

"THE GREEN PASTURES," celebrated Pulitzer prize play which had a two weeks' engagement here in February and March, 1932, will return to the American Theater this week for four performances, beginning Thursday night. A Saturday matinee is set for 2:15 o'clock.

In the last two and a half years, "The Green Pastures" has been on a tour unparalleled in the annals of the present-day theater. Up and down the country, in small town and cities, in all kinds of theaters and picture houses, the same company of Negro actors has given its version of the Bible story.

Scheduled to return to Broadway in February, "The Green Pastures" by that time will have visited all but four states. It has been played in one Canadian province. Of special record is the fact that the Negro troupe has traveled throughout the South and has been highly acclaimed everywhere.

Nearly 100 persons are in the company, which is the same that appeared here previously, with the exception of Samuel Tutt Whitney, as Noah, and Alonzo Fenderson, as Moses, who have died.

RICHARD B. HARRISON, who appears as "de Lawd," has never missed a performance, and when the curtain goes up at the American Thursday night, will reach No. 1560. He celebrated his seventieth birthday six weeks ago.

The son of slaves who fled to Canada by the "underground railway" (his father belonged to the Bullock family of Kentucky and his mother to the Chouteaus of Missouri), Harrison was born at London, Ont. When he was a youth, the family moved to Windsor, Ont., and the boy slipped over the river to Detroit, Mich., where as bellboy, waiter and Pullman porter, he earned the money to take lessons for the stage.

About 1891, he became a dramatic reader, touring the country on chautauqua circuits with nearly all of Shakespeare in his repertoire. He became a close friend of Paul Laurence Dunbar, and shared a joint home with the poet. Harrison had been giving summer courses in the drama at a North Carolina college and had gone North to lecture for the Greater New York Federation of Churches, when he was picked for the most important role in the play.

Other notable figures in the cast who have missed no performances are Daniel L. Haynes as Adam, George Randol as Pharaoh, Susie Sutton as Mrs. Noah, Edna Harris as Zeba and Charles H. Moore as Mr. Deshee. The original Hall Johnson "Heavenly Choir" of 30 Negro voices is an integral part of the presentation.

ALTHOUGH having received a comfortable fortune from "The Green Pastures," the author, Marc Connelly, has continued writing and his new play, "The Farmer Takes a Wife," now on Broadway, appears to be headed for a successful run.

As in the case of "The Green Pastures," which was suggested to him by Roark Bradford's Southern sketches contained in "Ol' Man Adam an' His Chillun'," Connelly has adapted the Walder Edmond novel, "Rome Haul," story of Erie Canal activity. Frank B. Elser collaborated on the play.

Other playwrights are turning to American history for dramatic material. "Jayhawker," a Civil War piece with a Kansas setting, is from the pens of Sinclair Lewis, the novelist, and Lloyd Lewis, Chicago dramatic critic. Although not receiving a clean bill of health from critics, "Jayhawker" has had favorable comment, especially for the performance of Fred Stone in his first dramatic role.

Still another American setting will be seen in a Maxwell Anderson play of George Washington at Valley Forge. It is due at the Guild theater soon.

Joe Penner in "College Rhythm," Orpheum Theater.

First Performance Of "Yellow Jack" Tomorrow Night

"YELLOW JACK," Sidney Howard's dramatic history of Dr. Walter Reed's fight against yellow fever in Cuba following the Spanish-American War, will be presented by the Little Theater of St. Louis at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow night at the Artists' Guild, 812 Union boulevard. This play is the second of two that comprise the first Little Theater repertory season, under the direction of F. Cowles Strickland.

The drama was written in collaboration with Paul de Kruif, whose "Microbe Hunters" included the record of Dr. Reed's "human guinea pig" experiments to discover the carrier of yellow fever. Sidney Howard worked intermittently for six years on "Yellow Jack," which was presented last season on Broadway. The role of Dr. Reed will be acted by Bruce G. MacFarlane, president of the Cryptic Club, experimental laboratory of the Little Theater. Cast in the roles of the medical research men are Percy Ramsay as Jesse W. Lazear, martyred by the experiment; Elliott Bergfeld as Aristide Agramonte, the Cuban, and J. William Lucas as James Carroll. The only feminine part will be taken by Miss Anna Ivy Sargent, as Miss Blake, nurse of the yellow fever ward.

"Yellow Jack" will run tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. "The Late Christopher Bean," which opened the Little Theater repertory season last Thursday, will resume its run for three days, beginning Thursday of this week. The two plays will keep the Little Theater open for a solid month.

"First World War" Record of Period From 1901 to 1918

AFTER basking for 15 years in the gloom of the vaults and secret archives of nations which participated in the late war, films heretofore unseen by the public, have been unearthed and brought to light on the nation's screens as "The First World War."

One of the rarest "shots" in existence is in the opening sequences of the picture. It is the only actual motion picture ever made of Germany's "Iron Leader" Otto Von Bismarck. The sequence dates the film's beginning of 1901 and it gradually unfolds the plans, hopes and ambitions of some 600 Presidents, Kings, Emperors, Queens, Princes, Sultans, Czars and Kaisers through the 12-year period to the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand and the opening gun of the great war.

The balance of the film is devoted to actual scenes of the various battles in which more than 22,000,000 men appear, in addition to hundreds of embattled airplanes and more than a score of ships being torpedoed. The finished picture was cut from approximately 400,000 feet of film which required more than eight months to compile.

CARD OF THANKS

WE wish to extend our most sincere thanks to Rev. Haefele, Rev. Toelle, organist, singers, ladies' societies, pallbearers, honorary pallbearers, the employes of the Henry Leidner Undertaking Co., relatives and friends for their kind assistance and many beautiful floral offerings tendered us during the sad bereavement in the loss of my dear wife, mother, aunt and friend, Clara E. Feutz.
THE BEREAVED FAMILY.

IN MEMORIAM

BOEDGES, BLANCHE (nee Linhoff)—In loving remembrance, who died Nov. 22, 1931. Sadly missed.
MOTHER, BROTHER, SISTERS.

COVERT, BERT N.—In sorrowful and loving memory of my dear husband, who departed this life Nov. 21, 1933. Sadly missed by WIFE.

DONNELLY, JAMES—In loving memory of James Donnelly, who passed away Nov. 18, 1931.
The rolling stream of life rolls on,
But still a vacant chair
Recalls the love the voice, the smile
Of the one who once sat there.
Sadly missed by CHILDREN.

GASTORF, MARY—In loving memory of my dear mother, departed this life Nov. 22, 1933.
Sadly missed by
DAUGHTER, EDNA.

HARRIS, BEN DORSEY—In loving remembrance of my dear husband, our father and brother, who departed this life Nov. 16, 1933. Whose memory we will forever cherish and respect; sadly missed by WIFE, MRS. HELEN HARRIS, AND CHILDREN AND SISTER, MRS NOLLIE A. RYAN.

IN MEMORIAM

HEROLD, OTTO—In loving memory, who passed away Nov. 20, 1930.
Not dead to us who loved him,
Not lost, but gone before;
He lives with us in memory,
And will forever more.
Sadly missed by
WIFE, EDNA L. HEROLD,
AND SON, ROY.

JUDY, JACK E.—In loving memory of our dear husband and father, who departed this life Nov. 21, 1933.
It was sad indeed the way you had to die, Without a chance to say good by. Your spirit flew before we knew that you from us had gone. If you had raised your dying head and bade us all a farewell the blow would not have been so hard to those who loved you so well. Sadly missed by YOUR LOVING WIFE AND SON.

KOENIG, MATTHIAS H.—In memory of my beloved husband, who departed this life five years ago Nov. 19, 1929.
Sadly missed by wife,
LILLIAN KOENIG.
Requim high mass 8 o'clock, St. Vincent's Church, Monday, Nov. 19, 1934.

FLORENCE.

NELSON, JAMES W.—In loving memory of my dear husband, who died Nov. 20, 1927. MRS. MARGARET NELSON.

NORRIS, DOROTHY—In loving memory of my darling daughter, who passed away one year ago, Nov. 16, 1933.
Sadly missed by
MOTHER AND ALL WHO LOVED HER.

OLLIGES, GERALDINE—In loving memory of our daughter, who departed from us in her fifth year, Nov. 21, 1929.
Our hearts seem withered in sorrow,
Our eyes bedimmed with tears;
We dread the expected tomorrow,
Longing for you, Geraldine dear.
Sadly missed by
MOTHER AND DAD.

RAPP, LOUISE—In loving memory of my dear wife and our dear mother, who departed this life one year ago, Nov. 16, 1933.
A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is still;
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
Sadly missed by
HUSBAND, CHILDREN,
And all who loved her.

SENN, RAYMOND—In memory of our little son who passed away Nov. 15, 1929. Nothing but memories since that sad day, when one we loved was called away.
PARENTS, SISTER AND BROTHER.

SPENGEMANN, WALTER E.—In loving memory of Walter E. Spengemann, who departed this life Nov. 23, 1930.
Dearest husband, how I miss you,
Since from earth you passed away;
Sad my heart, but sweet the memory,
As I think of you today.
Sadly missed by
HIS WIFE, BERTHA SPENGEMANN.

STUBER, MARY M.—In loving memory of Mary M. Stuber, who passed away Nov. 20, 1933.
Dearest mother, how we miss you,
Since from earth you passed away.
Sad our hearts, but sweet the memory,
As we think of you today.
HER CHILDREN.

DONT SELL GOLD
JEWELRY AT OLD GOLD PRICES
SMITH JEWELRY CO.
507 N. Grand at Olive
Are in a position to pay you more money for your jewelry than old gold value.
Most articles can be repaired and worked over into saleable jewelry.
Therefore, your old gold is worth more to us than gold value.
If you find upon inspection that your articles are beyond repair, we will pay you the top cash price for old gold jewelry, gold teeth, watches, etc., based upon the Government price of $35.00 per ounce for fine gold.

SALESMEN WANTED

MEN

Let me set you up in a profitable business of your own, backed by a national institution with powerful resources.

During the past 6 weeks I have set a number of men up in business for themselves in Missouri and still have a few opportunities left.

If on a personal interview you can satisfy me that you are honest, reliable and trustworthy and really have a desire to succeed, willing to study and are teachable, you may be the very man I am looking for.

Our business is very profitable. Many of our associates earn as much as $50.00 in a single day and after they become experienced handling our business receive a sizeable monthly income not regulated by seasons, as ours is a year around business.

Selling experience not necessary, as if you are selected, you are thoroughly trained at no expense to you. Some of our most successful associates never sold anything before joining us. We stand all expenses of business, training you completely in our system, and in addition to giving you merchandise on open account, carry all your time payment paper. You do not invest one cent with us. We finance everything. Our business is depression proof, as same has increased constantly throughout the past four years.

With 1934 our biggest year to date, we have thousands of satisfied customers in this territory and are considered one of the country's outstanding organizations. There are no strings connected with this offer and if you can meet the above requirements, you will be granted a personal confidential interview which will quickly determine our mutual interests. Apply Monday morning, 9:15 to 1:15, at 512 Paul Brown Bldg., 9th & Olive Sts.

DYNAMITE

The biggest shot of the ages is about to blow off. We want every live-wire, go-getting Salesman, Agent and Distributor to get in touch with us at once.

We are introducing the newest and fastest selling item ever offered in the sales field.

Product retails for 49c and is so meritorious it has the demand and appeal of all merchants and the entire public.

This is the hottest deal ever offered so don't fail to write for complete details.

Fairy Scenes of Old Japan At The Mahaffey Sisters' Debut

"URASHIMA TARO," a Japanese fairy story told in the Orient for more than 1000 years, was enacted in a ballroom for the first time Friday night for the debut party of Miss Katherine and Miss Adelaide Mahaffey at the Bridlespur Hunt Club. The host was their father, Birch Oliver Mahaffey, 9 Portland place. The occasion of two sisters being introduced to society simultaneously; the artistry and ingenuity of Tetsu Uyeda, versatile manager of the Bridlespur Hunt Club who has worked for several months building the setting, and the unusually large number of guests (almost 700) made it an outstanding party of all debutante seasons.

The story; Urashima Taro, a skilled young Japanese fisherman with a sympathetic nature, returning home from work one day, finds a group of boys tormenting a tortoise. Rather than have the creature tortured, Urashima buys it. Several days later, as he fishes far out in the ocean, the tortoise offers Urashima a ride on his back to the bottom of the ocean and a visit to the palace of the Dragon King of the Seas.

The title was placarded in blue over the reception door. The synopsis was printed in short paragraphs above the entrance to the first ballroom, inclosed in one of two marquees large enough to accommodate the guests, which were built as additions to the clubhouse for the night.

The decorations began in the living room, where Mr. Mahaffey and his daughters received their guests, the effects achieved by wall-size marine scenes. Because Miss Katherine Mahaffey was born in Honolulu, the guests began there in their imaginary trip through the fairy tale, although Mount Fujiyama was pictured in the hall. Diamond Head Mountain rose in the background, Waikiki Beach in the foreground. Real palm trees reached the ceiling at each side. On the opposite side of the room began the story of Urashima. At left the Japanese school boys were torturing the tortoise, at the right the tortoise was released for a string of gold coins.

The undersea ride of Urashima was the important feature of the decorations. The guests walked figuratively into the shallow water off the Japanese coast. A great expanse of silver cloth rippled softly over them, and the green floor added to the illusion of the ocean bed. Neptune's bar was built on a coral reef at one end of the room. Behind a false wall of aquamarine gauze, ending far above the heads of the dancers, life-like sea serpents and fish of many colors swam through moss and undersea growths, silhouetted against indirect pale green lights. They were propelled on slender threads by concealed, electrically-driven devices. In the center of the wall, Urashima, the fisherman, on the back of his tortoise, was headed downward toward the Dragon King's palace, where later the tortoise, by magic transformation, turned out to be a princess. So the guests, following the traveler, descended a short flight of steps under the deep water. Overhead the waves changed to deep green with an effect of greater depth, and on the surface of the water above was anchored a silvered cruiser, a real boat, with deck lights glowing. To complete the submarine illusion, each of the surrounding walls in this room were gauze covered. Back of the filmy substance larger sea monsters threatened. Shark, dolphin, mullet, cuttlefish, sole and flounder swam together and a giant octopus crept about.

At one end of the room was the palace with gilded walls aswarm with fiery dragons. An interior light glowed through a circular window on the princess—Mr. and Mrs. Uyeda's daughter, Vivian, wearing a bright-colored kimono sent from Japan by her grandmother for the occasion. (Later she sang for the guests.) At the opposite side was an orchestra, brought from New York, behind a great wave flowing over sea weed. An elaborate buffet table of seed food, including mounds of lobster in silver flowers, and cuttlefish from Japan, and whole roasted pigs, was set in an alcove.

The host and guests of honor stood in a bower of flowers, baskets of giant white chrysanthemums, a part of the 200 or more baskets, many of them filled with roses and orchids, sent to the sisters for their debut. The flowers screened the living room door from the hall, and were banked high a painting of

Fortune-Telling Tea for Debutantes

THE future was foretold, the past recalled, and wishes were gravely granted or refused to the debutantes yesterday at a fortune-telling tea given by Mrs. Lon O. Hocker at the St. Louis Woman's Club. To add to the gayety of the party, each young woman's horoscope was cast in the hearing of all of the guests, the entire group of this season's buds. The only secret withheld was the wish of each.

The appointments were informal and the guests were served by the hostess, or poured their own tea, from a table arranged in the lounge.

Mrs. Clifton R. Dudley, a graduate of Mount Holyoke College and a friend of the hostess, presided as the gypsy fortune teller in a black velvet costume with gay scarves and gold jewelry. She was seated in the Indian room of the club. Lon Hocker Jr. sang Mexican songs to his own accompaniments on the guitar, and occasionally the guests sang with him.

Mrs. Hocker gave the party in honor of Miss Jane Wells, Miss Jane Caulfield and Miss Nancy Mitchell. In addition to the guests of honor and the debutantes, the hostess entertained Mrs. Henry S. Caulfield, Mrs. Samuel A. Mitchell and Mrs. Tom K. Smith, mothers and an aunt of the honorees; Miss Wells' sister, Mrs. Whitelaw T. Terry; Mrs. James Murray Rogers, Mrs. Roy Calvin Dobson and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Duncan Calvin Dobson.

Plans for Wedding Of Cornelia Jones

THE marriage of Miss Cornelia Jones, daughter of Mrs. Senter Marshall Jones, 7025 Washington boulevard, and Elster Baker Copeland of Circleville, O., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Copeland, 7124 Forsythe boulevard, will take place at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night at the University Methodist Church, the Rev. Dr. John F. Caskey, officiating. A small reception will follow at the home of Mrs. Jones.

The bride will be given in marriage by her brother, Senter M. Jones, and will be attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Jones, as maid of honor, and by Mrs. Otto Conrades, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Lester McConnell Abbott and Mrs. H. Fullerton Willhite, bridesmaids. Otto Conrades will be best man, and John Langenberg, Davis Grant, Jerome Bernoudy and Arthur Leonhardt ushers.

Following a honeymoon in the South, Mr. Copeland and his bride will live in Circleville.

Mrs. James A. Yates Jr. gave a luncheon Tuesday for Miss Jones. Last night Mr. and Mrs. Willhite gave a cocktail party at their home, 7018 Washington boulevard, followed by a dinner dance, with Mr. and Mrs. Conrades as host and hostess, at the Missouri Athletic Association. Following the rehearsal tomorrow night, Mr. and Mrs. Abbott will give a dinner at their home, 29 Ridgemoor drive.

The out-of-town guests include Miss Anne Bennett of Circleville, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Conrades.

Stewart-Gissler Wedding Plans

PLANS have been completed for the wedding of Miss Catherine Penn Stewart, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Stewart, 5266 Washington boulevard, and Carl Frederick Gissler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Gissler, 6935 Amherst avenue. Invitations have been received for the marriage, which will take place at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 27, at Christ Church Cathedral. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. John E. Hines, assistant rector of the Church of St. Michael and St. George. There will be no reception, but a dinner for the bridal party

Luncheon Given For Debutantes

MISS MILDRED WEBSTER, Miss Mary Louise Tobin and Miss Grace Sager, three debutantes of the season, shared honors at a luncheon given yesterday at the St. Louis Woman's Club by Mrs. Fred M. Hoag, 625 Skinker road.

Yellow and royal blue were chosen for the table decorations. A blue bowl filled with yellow chrysanthemums and pompoms formed the center-piece, and at each place was a nosegay of violets and yellow roses tied with yellow ribbon. Yellow tapers in silver candelabra lighted the table. At a smaller table, decorated with more of the yellow blossoms, Mrs. Hoag entertained Mrs. W. Van Holst Pellekaan, aunt of Miss Webster; Mrs. John C. Tobin, Mrs. LeRoy Sager and Mrs. James Westlake.

Seated at the debutante table were the following: Miss Dorothy Dobson, Miss Althea Hickey, Miss Martha Ann Day, Miss Virginia Burns, Miss Betty King, Miss Marjorie Chrisler, Miss Marjorie Henger, Miss Cornelia Klinefelter, Miss Virginia Powers, Miss Antoinette Schlafly, Miss Frances Bates, Miss Elizabeth Switzer, Miss Alice Sullivan, Miss Mary Josephine Wagner and Miss Betty Hall.

Children's Play By Junior League

THE first play of the season for children to be presented by the St. Louis Junior League will be "Pinnochio," which will be given at three performances at Assembly Hall No. 3 of the Municipal Auditorium. The performances will be given at 10:30 o'clock in the morning Saturday, Dec. 1, and Saturday, Dec. 8. There will be a special performance for under-privileged children Saturday, Dec. 1, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The cast: Pinnochio, Mrs. Francis D. Seward; Lampwick, Mrs. D. D. Walker III; Geppetto, Miss Martha Love; The Fire Eater, Miss Christine Jones; The Talking Cricket, Miss Katherine Boyd; Columbine, Mrs. Whipple Van Ness Jones; Harlequin, Mrs. Robert Cochran; Punchinello, Mrs. H. Torrey Foster; The Fox, Miss Emily Lewis; The Cat, Mrs. Joseph Sanford Harris; The Blue Fairy, Miss Hillary Boogher; The Falcon, Mrs. Paul Goessling.

The staff producing the children's plays is composed of Mrs. John Crago, coach; Miss Noel Kennerly, stage manager; Mrs. John B. Kennard Jr., production manager; Miss Jane Francis, scenery; Mrs. James A. Seddon Jr., costumes; Mrs. Neill O'Day, properties; Mrs. Joseph Sanford Harris, business manager and chairman of ticket committee; Miss Mary Boyle, Mrs. Thomas W. Pettus and Miss Roccena Baldwin, publicity.

Jane Ray Johnson's Engagement Announced

THE engagement of Miss Jane Ray Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erse C. Johnson of Carrollton, Mo., and Richard Wadsworth Robinson, son of Mrs. George Rowan Robinson, 443 West Argonne drive, Kirkwood, and the late George Rowan Robinson, was announced today at a luncheon given by Mrs. Johnson at her home.

Miss Johnson attended the University of Missouri, and is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. Mr. Robinson also attended the University of Missouri, and belongs to Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

The wedding will take place in December in Carrollton.

Fairy Scenes at Mahaffey Debut

Buddha which reached to the ceiling above the fireplace. As a further Oriental gesture, a great carved ebony divan, flanked by carved ebony chairs heavily inlaid with mother of pearl were arranged back of the receiving line. Live tortoises frightened by the noise and lights, were tied by ribbons to the chair legs.

The debutante sisters wore gowns fashioned alibe of white net over white taffeta, with trains formed of garlanded pleatings, beginning at the knees, interspersed with perpendicular ruffled panels. The drop shoulder bodices were defined by three pleatings, caught in front by jeweled clips. Both gowns were complemented with crushed girdles of lame, Miss Adelaide's of blue and Miss Katherine's of nasturtium, ending in broad flat bows and long train ends at the back. On their left arms the young women wore muffs of crinkled velvet covered with purple orchids.

Their aunts, Mrs. I. D. Kelley, Mrs. Balfour Stuart Craib of New York and Mrs. William D. Orthwein II, assisted. Mrs. Kelley was in gold cloth with green accessories; Mrs. Craib wore green and gold embroidered net and Mrs. Orthwein wore white satin shot with gold and trimmed with sable around a deep, low placed cape. All wore sprays of orchids in shoulder corsages.

The out-of-town guests included Mrs. Henry Weiss of Houston, Tex., who is visiting Mr. and Mrs Craib; Miss Eileen Hopton of London, a guest at the Mahaffey home; Miss Cynthia Wills of New York, visiting Dr. and Mrs. Kelley; Earl Sinclair, New York; Tom O'Gorman, Providence, R. I., and David Lovell, Worcester, Mass.

The debutante guests of honor are the granddaughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Cullen McBride. Their mother, who died more than a year ago, was Miss Laura McBride. They were educated at the Sacred Heart Convent in St. Louis, Fermata School, Aiken, S. C., and at Mlle. Boissier's School in Neuilly, France. Last year Miss Adelaide attended a finishing school in the East.

WEDDINGS and ENGAGEMENTS

INVITATIONS have been received for the wedding of Miss Virginia Emig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Emig, 7230 Lindell boulevard, and Dr. Leo P. Geary, son of Mrs. J. W. Geary of Mobile, Ala., which will take place Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at Our Lady of Lourdes Church.

The prospective bride has chosen as her matron of honor Mrs. Russell T. Niemeier and as her bridesmaid, Miss Leona Hall. Dr. Geary's best man will be Russell T. Niemeier and Dr. Raymond W. Bence will be groomsman. The ushers will be Edward G. Marsh and Jerome A. Switzer.

Many parties are being given in Miss Emig's honor.

Mrs. Rose Levin, 5815 Delmar boulevard, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Lillian Levin, and Sidney L. Brasch, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Brasch, 5333 Maple avenue. The ceremony took place Thursday at the home of Rabbi Samuel Thurman, who officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Brasch will live at 5544 Pershing avenue.

The wedding of Miss Mildred Dauernheim, daughter of August H. Dauernheim, 3675 Wilmington avenue, and Glenn Rensfrow of St. Louis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rensfrow of Oklahoma City, Ok., will take place Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Trinity Evangelical Church, the Rev. Paul R. Stock officiating. The ceremony will be followed by a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Schuler, 3879 Holly Hills avenue.

Miss Dauernheim was guest of honor at a luncheon and shower given at her home Tuesday by Mrs. Sophia Doelling and Mrs. Claire Tolle.

The engagement of Miss Laurette M. Goldman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Goldman, to Donald J. Loeb of Kansas City, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Loeb, has been announced.

Miss Goldman is a graduate of Fontbonne College and attended Washington University. Mr. Loeb attended Washington University.

No wedding plans have been announced.

Miss Esta Frelich, daughter of Mrs. William Fisher, 1320 Hamilton avenue, will become the bride of Leonard Strizak of Chicago, Sunday, Dec. 23. The wedding will take place in Chicago. Miss Hilda Stein was hostess at a shower in honor of Miss Frelich, Sunday, Nov. 4, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stein, 1292 Hamilton avenue.

Miss Winifred Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Whitney of Mapleton, Minn., and Lester J. Garber, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Garber, 321 Belt avenue, were quietly married Monday morning in the chapel of St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church, with the Rev. Dr. Ivan Lee Holt officiating.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Carl L. Beckers and Mr. Beckers was best man for Mr. Garber. Others at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Garber, parents of the bridegroom; and Mrs. E. L. Ward. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Forest Park Hotel. After a motor trip to Minnesota Mr. Garber and his bride will live at 321 Belt avenue. She was graduated from the Stout Institute, Menomonie, Wis. Mr. Garber was graduated from Culberland University in Tennessee.

The marriage of Miss Ida Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Fox, 727 Heman avenue, and Leonard Gelber, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gelber, 750 Leland avenue, took place last Sunday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at Berger's Farm. Rabbi Jacob R. Mazur officiated in the presence of 600 guests.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a high neckline outlined in lace, and long, tight sleeves pointed at the wrist. Her veil, arranged as a coronet, was held in place by small pearls, and her train fell from the waist. She carried a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. J. Fox, who was matron of honor, wore blue crepe trimmed in royal purple and carried bronze chrysanthemums. Miss Goldie Pankewer wore aquamarine blue velvet. Miss Rosalyn Riefler wore a gown of tomato red sequins, and Miss Dorothy Millman's dress was pink satin. Their bouquets of chrysanthemums matched their gowns.

Mr. Gelber had as best man Jack Fox, and as ushers Simon Sokolik, Irving Fox and Al Ludwig. Miss Marilyn Kravitz was flower girl and Kenneth Fox ring-bearer.

After a honeymoon in Kansas City Mr. and Mrs. Gelber will live at 720 Heman avenue.

Social Life in the National Capital

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.

AUSTRIAN MINISTER AND MME. PROCHNIK have instituted a new idea in presenting their daughter Valerie to society—a sort of installment debut. Last week, Mrs. Prochnik gave one moderate-sized tea, at which Valerie received with her. Dec. 11 she will give another. Jan. 6 she will give still another. The Prochnik acquaintances have been divided into three equal lists, one for each tea. As a result, the tea of the week just past was far from the usual jam.

Mr. and Mrs. Rafael Lopez de Onate—she was the former Ellen McAdoo, daughter of Senator McAdoo—created something of a stir by dancing the tango in the main ballroom of the hotel at which they stayed while here. They sailed Wednesday from Baltimore for Europe.

Notes of St. Louisans • Visiting in Paris

PARIS, Nov. 17.

A BRILLIANT ball, which also was by way of being a farewell party for Princess Marina of Greece, opened the international social season in Paris this evening at the very exclusive Union Interallie. The ball was preceded by a concert for Russian charities, given under the auspices of Marina's mother, the Grandduchess Helen of Russia.

Many Americans came to the ball, either as patrons or guests, among whom was Harry M. Blackmer of Teapot Dome fame, who is an exile here. Accompanied by her closest friends—the Count and Countess Alex de Casteja and Madame Jean Ralli—Princess Marina wore a pervaiche blue pebbled crepe trimmed with two chrysanthemums thrust through her belt, with a maching cape lined with dark blue.

At the concert Eide Norena and Thomas Alcaide sang, and at the ball that followed supper tables were reserved for the American Ambassador and Mrs. Jesse I. Straus, the British Ambassador and Lady Clerk, the Canadian Minister, Philippe Roy, Prince and Princess Christopher of Greece, Mrs. H. H. Barjes, Mrs. Bradish G. Johnson, Mrs. John A. Logan, Mrs. Donald Mixsell, Mrs. Perry Belmont, Mrs. Gustav Porges, Lady Rothermere, Countess de Viel Castel, Mrs. John Freeman, Clifton Baumann and Louis Gillet.

Electric Engineers' Meeting.

The St. Louis division of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will meet at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday at the Engineers' Club, 4359 Lindell boulevard. A. H. Nucholls of the Underwriters' Laboratories in Chicago will speak.

Women to Hear Indian Chief.

The American Citizenship and American Homes Committees of the eighth district of Federated Women's Clubs will hold a meeting at Vandervoort's Auditorium Wednesday morning, at 10:30 o'clock. Chief Sunrise, a pure-blood Sioux Indian, will discuss, "American Citizenship and the Indians." Attired in native dress, he will sing songs of various tribes. Mrs. Foster Brown, chairman of American Citizenship, will preside.

London's Interest In Royal Wedding

LONDON, Nov. 17.

INVITATIONS already are out for the wedding of Prince George and Princess Marina in Westminster Abbey, Nov. 29, and there are many disappointed socially prominent persons. Diplomats, politicians, and members of Parliament have been favored at the expense of the aristocratic set. Many of the friends the Princess and her father, Prince Nicholas, had in Paris have been declined with the official excuse that the space in the Abbey is limited.

Meantime, London hotels are overcrowed. Private apartments are bringing boom time rentals. Theaters are sold out. Liquor restrictions have been relaxed so that for four days and nights the health of the bride and bridegroom may be drunk at any hour. Special parties have been arranged at boom prices.

Little Anglo-American Bridget Warnum presented a bouquet to Queen Mary when she and King George opened the new building of the Royal Institute of British Architects at Portland place. Many of the mural decorations in the new building are the work of Bridget's mother, the former Mirian Gerstle of San Francisco.

St. Dominic's Priory at Haverstock was the scene of the wedding of Elizabeth Waddington, formerly of Indianapolis and now of Stanmore, Middlesex, to Patrick O'Neill Power. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the American Women's Club. The bridal veil of old Brussels lace was first worn at the nuptials of the bride's grandmother.

Talk on Current Topics.

Miss Bertha Doane gave the second of her series of six talks on current topics Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Thomas R. Collins, 5265 Westminster place.

SEMINAR AT ST. LOUIS U.

To Be Held Thursday by School of Medicine.

After the program, there will be a tea dance in the Women's Building from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock when the sororities will hold open house in the chapter rooms. Dean Adele Chomeau Starbird, Mrs. Richard Bartlett, Dean Walter E. McCourt and Mr. and Mrs. Clay Ballew will be chaperons.

A review of the Book, "Facts of Socialism," written by Jesse Wallace Hughan, national founder of Alpha Omicron Pi, will be given by Mrs. Evelyn W. Gauger, president of the alumnae chapter of the sorority, at a meeting to be held tomorrow evening at her home, 3211 University street. The review will be followed by a discussion of the platform of the Socialist party. At this meeting the members will pack Christmas boxes of clothing, cakes and candies to be sent to the Frontier Nursing Service at Hyden, Ky., a philanthropy of the national organization.

The alumnae of Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority will meet for dinner Thursday evening at the Saum Hotel. Mrs. Ralph Grassmuck, Miss Helen Kohl, Miss Ruth Nax and Miss Ruth Koerner, chapter president, will be hostesses.

Mrs. Earl Hathaway, 7798 Lile avenue, Richmond Heights, will be hostess for a dinner meeting of Alpha Phi Alumnae tomorrow evening. Miss Edith Heier will be assisting hostess.

The alumnae chapter of Alpha Chi Omega will meet at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Thomas F. Gentry, 5534 Cates avenue. The assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Paul Plummer and Miss Margaret Gardiner.

Theta Sigma Phi Journalism Sorority will meet tomorrow evening for dinner at the home of Miss Dorothy Blackwell, 5622 Enright avenue.

A recommendation that all actives and pledges holding FERA positions be deprived of membership in sororities is being considered by the Women's Panhellenic Association. The argument that all of the money earned by the students is used to pay dues, is met with the answer that there is little difference between such a position and one not secured through the Government agency and that no one would suggest that students holding part-time positions off the campus be denied affiliation with fraternities.

Standing first in scholarship for the twelfth consecutive semester, Zeta Tau Alpha sorority has won permanent possession of the Panhellenic Scholarship Cup awarded by the Women's Panhellenic Council of Washington University. The general average of grades for all sororities has risen during the past two semesters. Delta Gamma ranked second and Kappa Alpha Theta, third, both sororities retaining the same positions they held in previous semesters. Alpha Xi Delta rose from seventh to fourth place. The scholarship rating of the 10 sororities and the number of their members is as follows: First, Zeta Tau Alpha, 11 members; second, Delta Gamma, 23; third, Kappa Alpha Theta, 39; fourth, Alpha Xi Delta, 25; fifth, Pi Beta Phi, 33; sixth, Alpha Chi Omega, 36; seventh, Kappa Kappa Gamma, 26; eighth, Gamma Phi Beta, 27; ninth, Phi Mu, 29; tenth, Delta Delta Delta, 19.

Pi Beta Phi won the first prize for the best sorority float in the homecoming parade. Honorable mention went to Alpha Chi Omega.

Mrs. George W. Stephens, Mrs. C. A. Jones and Mrs. P. E. Harth will be hostesses for a 1 o'clock luncheon meeting of Alpha Xi Delta Mothers' Club Wednesday in the Women's Building.

A tea in honor of pledges and their mothers will be given tomorrow afternoon in the lounge of the Women's Building by the Alpha Chi Omega Mothers' Club.

The Sigma Alpha Mu Mothers' Club will meet at 11 o'clock Thursday morning at the chapter house, 6186 Kingsbury boulevard, to discuss plans for a card party to be given before the holidays.

SCHOOL and COLLEGE LIFE

THE St. Louis University Playhouse Club will give a program of its portmanteau plays on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock as the guests of Mrs. Ferrell Buchanan-Bentley in her music studio in the Musical Arts Building. The plays will be "The Green Coat," by Emil Augier and Alfred de Musset, and "I'm Going," by Tristan Bernard. The participants will be: Miss Elsie Hobelman, Miss Mary Eileen O'Connell, Robert Burnes, Robert Hoff and Ferguson Barker.

The players will be introduced by Milton McGovern, director, who will also give a dramatic reading.

The St. Louis University School of Medicine will hold a faculty seminar Thursday evening in the Medical School, following a dinner to take place at 6:30 p. m. The speakers of the evening will be Dr. William D. Collier, Dr. Albert Kuntz and Dr. Garold V. Stryker.

Among the subjects to be discussed will be "Some Dangers of Correlation in Medical Education as Brought Out at the Nashville Meeting", "Sympathetic Nerve Fibers to the Upper Extremity from Sources Lower Than the Second Thoracic Segment"; and "Rational Management of Epidermomycosis of the Hands and Feet."

The fourth annual horse show sponsored by the Hosmer Hall Athletic Association will take place Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the Missouri Stables. John Burroughs, Loretto Academy, Visitation Academy, Webster Groves High School and Hosmer Hall will be represented. In addition to guest competitions, there will be game classes in which all five schools will compete. There will be a novelty class.

Committee chairmen for the show are: General chairman, Miss Helen Louise Lipp; entries, Miss Nancy Streiff; decoration, Miss Elvira Schroeter; ring, Miss Isabel Kieffer; program, Miss Lonabess Willcockson; awards, Miss Elain Cohen. Judges for the show are Miss Norma Engle, Bernard M. Murphy and L. J. Sverdrup. Mrs. Helen da Costa Dunnegan, athletic director of Hosmer Hall, is director of the show.

Two members recently have been added to the faculty of St. Louis Country Day School. Manson Brien, formerly of Dayton, O., has been appointed a master in French. He is a graduate of Princeton and has done graduate work in the University of Michigan, where he expects soon to get his doctor's degree. He has taught in Blois, France, at the University of Michigan and at Alfred Holbrook College in Ohio. In addition to teaching French, he will be in charge of the Rifle Club, which now is constructing a new indoor range.

Hugh M. Miller has been appointed instructor in piano to assist Robert R. Reeve. Mr. Miller is a graduate of the University of Oregon and has studied in Paris under Marcel Dupre, the organist. Mrs. Miller, formerly Mlle. Jeanne Vical, is an instructor in French at Mary Institute.

Tomorrow morning Dr. William H. Gaines, president of Washington and Lee University, will address the faculty and students. George P. Vierheller and Marlin Perkins of the St. Louis Zoological Gardens will speak and will show their new film, "Animal Closeups," on Wednesday.

Miss Louise Munsch, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Munsch, 5115 Page boulevard, has been appointed general chairman of the Fontbonne junior bridge party, which will be given Saturday, Dec. 8. The affair will take place in the resident students' dining room in Ryan Hall of the college.

Miss Munsch will be assisted by the following committees: Prizes, Miss Vera Stueber, chairman; Miss Clare Harder and Miss Vera Gauvin; Tickets, Miss Rosemary Michelson, chairman; Miss Hortense Gillette and Miss Ann McNamara. Refreshments, Miss Estelle McCarthy, chairman; Miss Roma Persells and Miss Helen Mark.

The Hosmer Hall Parent and Teacher Association will hold a dinner meeting Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at the school, 6584 Wydown boulevard. Rabbi Samuel Thurman, guest speaker, will discuss recent developments in Russia. Mrs. Thomas J. Cole, president of the association, will be in charge.

DEMAND FOR LIBRARY BOOKS SHOWS INCREASE IN OCTOBER

Greatest Demand for "Nijinsky," by Romela Nijinsky; Other Popular Titles.

St. Louis Public Library and its branches issued 69,218 more books for home reading in October than in September. There was an increase of 10 per cent in the number of books and pamphlets consulted in the libraries. New borrowers' cards issued, numbered 4644, and 3152 former card holders reregistered.

The Library added, 3895 books including 150 books in Braille type, to its collection, of which about half went to the Central Library and the balance to branches.

"Nijinsky," by Romela Nijinsky, was the book for which there was the greatest demand. Other popular books include "You Must Relax," by Edmund Jacobson; "Escape From the Soviets," by Tatiana Tchernavin; "The Native's Return," by Louis Adamic; "Vitality," by Boris Sokoloff, and "English Journey," by J. B. Priestly.

Webster Groves

THE marriage of Miss Maury Saylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Saylor, 479 Oak street, to the Rev. Alfred Daniel Buchmueller, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Buchmueller of Minonk, Ill., took place yesterday at 4 p. m. at St. Mark's English Lutheran Church. The father of the bridegroom performed the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Charles Bauslin.

The bride wore an afternoon gown of gold-colored velvet made on princesse lines with a high cowl neck. Her shoes and small-brimmed hat were brown, and her bouquet was of Joanna Hill roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Gloria Saylor, sister of the bride, returned from Chicago, where she is a student at the Art Institute, to be maid of honor. She wore a dress of green velvet made like that of the bride, and carried an arm bouquet of deep red roses. Mrs. Saylor's dress was of dark red velvet with which she wore a corsage of gardenias.

The Rev. Mr. Buchmueller had as best man Robert Waldauf of Cincinnati, and as ushers, John Shiff, Chicago, and Paul Jones, St. Louis, cousins of the bride.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the Algonquin Club for members of the families and a few friends. The Rev. Mr. Buchmueller and his bride left immediately afterward for a brief honeymoon. They will live at 918 Concordia lane, St. Louis.

The bride attended Wittenberg College at Springfield, O., and was graduated from Washington University, where she was a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority. The Rev. Mr. Buchmueller attended Elmhurst College, Elmhurst, Ill., and Eden Seminary.

"CITIES of the SUN"

SUN-TANS COST LESS than Fur Coats and Winter Ills

LIFE in the Cities of the Sun is the greatest common rejuvenator—adds youth to years, subtracts worries from business. There's a wealth of health and happiness in the carefree outdoor life of sun, surf and golden sand, and it's yours to enjoy at moderate cost again this season.

Health Rays - Outdoor exercise in ultra-violet sunshine mends bodily ills and restores youthful energy. Merely breathing the bracing seaside air will give you a new lease on life.

Moderate Rates - You can live here as economically as you can at home. Well located, completely equipped apartments and bungalows from $200 to $600 for the entire season. More elaborate units $750 to $2500. More than 200 modern hotels, 1500 apartment buildings and 5000 furnished houses, accommodating 150,000 visitors, assure low competitive rates for all. Travel costs are the lowest in history.

Come Early - The proportionate cost is less when you stay all season. If you can't come now, send the family and join them later. Don't deprive them of this golden opportunity for health and happiness.

HIGH SCHOOLS OF CITY AREA ORGANIZE DRAMATIC COUNCIL

Representatives of 10 Attend Meeting at Washington University; Others to Join.

Representatives of 10 high schools and preparatory schools organized the High School Dramatic Council of Greater St. Louis at a meeting at Washington University last week.

Schools represented were Mary Institute, John Burroughs, Principia, Hosmer Hall, Clayton, Maplewood, University City, Soldan, Roosevelt and McKinley.

Country Day, Kirkwood, Webster Groves, Ferguson and Cleveland sent assurances of their cooperation. Invitations to membership are being sent to other high schools in this area.

The organization resulted from efforts of Prof. William G. B. Carson, faculty sponsor and coach of Washington's dramatic society, to bring about co-operation in local dramatic work. At a meeting in January plans for a one-act play tournament or some other dramatic program to be held at Washington University will be made.

FINDS FOODS OFTEN CAUSE HEADACHES

Dr. Frank K. Hansel Says One Chronic Case Was Due to Eating of Onions.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex,, Nov. 17.—Dr. French K. Hansel of St. Louis, chairman of a session on allergies at the convention of the Southern Medical Association, today said in an address to the session, that severe chronic headaches are often found to have been caused by certain common foods.

As an instance, he cited the case of one woman who suffered headaches for years because she ate onions. The condition corrected itself when that food was removed from her diet.

Allergy, a comparatively new field of medicine, is a condition of hypersensitivity to certain substances, ordinarily innocuous. Hay fever is the most common allergy, being caused by pollen from trees, grasses and weeds, Dr. Hansel said.

Reaction in Several Forms.

Ordinary foods such as wheat, milk, chocolate, and eggs, may produce allergic conditions in certain people, Dr. Hansel said. The reaction may be in the form of a headache, stomach disorder, skin ailment or asthma.

Persons suffering from an allergy, Dr. Hansel said, usually develop the first symptoms in infancy, when the condition may manifest itself in the form of hives, eczema or colic. Other manifestations appear, he said, usually between the ages of two and five, when asthma, hay fever, or other nasal trouble may develop.

Dr. Hansel said about 10 per cent of the population suffers from allergy in some form. Eighty per cent of those who have hay fever, he added, are troubled the year round with other phases of the disease, such as headaches, skin disorders, or body swelling.

Feathers Among Causes.

Among factors producing allergy, besides food, Dr. Hansel mentioned feathers, such as pillows are often stuffed with; animal hair, most commonly met with in woolen clothes and blankets; household dust, and various types of cosmetics.

Treatment of the malady can be undertaken, Dr. Hansel said, only after a thorough study of the history of the patient, and performance of experiments to test the sensitivity of the skin to the common protein substances known to cause allergy. The patient is instructed to keep a daily record of foods eaten, so that the physician may determine from what source the allergy originates.

The Southern Medical Association, at its meeting here, decided to hold its 1935 convention in St. Louis. About 4000 physicians usually attend its gatherings.

10 CONCERNS IN MISSOURI LICENSED TO MAKE LIQUOR

Two of Four St. Louis Firms to Manufacture Whisky; Others Brandy and Wine.

Permits to manufacture liquor have been issued by the Federal Alcohol Control Administration to 10 Missouri firms.

Of the seven whisky distilleries licensed, two, Jack Daniels and Old Valley distilleries, are in St. Louis. The others are: Union Mill Distilling Co., Platte County; McCormick Mercantile & Distilling Co., Platte County; Old Holliday Distilling Co., Platte County; Stoddard County Distilling Co., at Kinder; Old Franklin Distillery, Inc., Franklin County. Carl H. Johnson, 5034 Raymond avenue, is secretary of the latter company, which expects to begin operations early next year on completion of its plant.

Three concerns, two in St. Louis, have permits to manufacture brandy and wine. The local firms are: Israel Teitlebaum, 5530 Easton avenue, and the Missouri Liquor Corporation, makers of kosher brandy and sacramental wine, 1509-11 Franklin avenue.

The third brandy-making concern in the State is the Knobview Fruit Growers' Association of Phelps County. This company last week purchased from the Government a 300-gallon capacity still seized recently by Federal agents in a raid on an illegal distillery in Luxemburg.

ONLY 4 OF 187 TAX BILLS SOLD BY COUNTY COLLECTOR

Owners of 26 Pieces of Property in Kinloch School District Settle Their Accounts.

Only four of 187 tax bills on property in Kinloch School District, St. Louis County, on which 1929 taxes were delinquent, and which were advertised for sale yesterday, were sold by Collector Benson.

Owners of 26 pieces of property paid a total of $102.79 to settle their bills before the sale. There were no bids on 157 bills. The four sold brought $13.52, the exact aggregate of taxes, interest and costs. Many of the bills advertised were on property in the vicinity of Ramona Park and Burke City.

INJUNCTION SUIT DISMISSED IN HOG HAVEN FARMS CASE

City Board of Estimates Approves New Plan to Take Care of Garbage Without Stench.

A stipulation was filed in the Circuit Court yesterday agreeing to dismissal of an injunction suit against the City of St. Louis and Hog Haven Farms, Inc., which involved disposition of the city garbage under a contract with Hog Haven Farms. The contract provided for disposal of the garbage by the city to Hog Haven Farms, which had acquired a 1200-acre tract on the Mississippi River, two miles south of the Municipal Bridge, as a hog-feeding ranch.

It was alleged in the suit, filed by five property owners living on the bluffs along South Broadway, that the garbage would cause noisome stenches to spread over the surrounding community, including their property. The petitioners contended the operation of the ranch would constitute a nuisance. A temporary injunction against the city was issued Feb. 27, 1930, by Circuit Judge Pearcy, but the decree did not embrace Hog Haven Farms, an Illinois corporation, as it had not been served with the suit. Dismissal of the suit also provides for dissolution of the temporary injunction.

Last October the Board of Estimate and Apportionment gave its approval to a new plan of garbage disposal, by which refuse would be pulverized, dumped into sewer mains and allowed to flow into the river. It was stated the new method could be handled without causing objectionable odors and without pollution of the river.

THE REV. F. W. BIBLE TO SPEAK

Several St. Louis Talks by Presbyterian Missions Secretary.

He will speak at 11 a. m. today at Second Presbyterian Church, at 6:50 p. m. in the chapel of that church before young people's groups, and at 8 p. m. at West Presbyterian Church.

Presbyterian laymen will entertain him at luncheon tomorrow at the Y. M. C. A. At 2:30 p. m. Tuesday he will address the annual praise meeting of the Woman's Association of Second Church. From 1904 to 1919 Dr. Bible was a missionary in the Orient.

CAROL POSTER COMPETITION

Annual Contest for Schools Will Close Dec. 8.

The St. Louis Christmas Carols Association will again conduct its annual carol poster contest in public, private, Catholic, and Luthern schools of St. Louis and the county. Entries in the final judging will be limited to the best six posters from each school, selected by the principal.

Copies of the rules of the contest, to be held in nine classifications, may be obtained at schools. The contest closes Dec. 8, and a public display of posters submitted will be held at the Central Library. Judging will be done after Christmas.

VERDICT FOR $40,000 IN INSURANCE SUIT

Widow of Dr. James E. Woelfle Wins Award Against London Firm.

A verdict for $40,368 in favor of Mrs. Hortense Woelfle, 4535 Lindell boulevard, against the London Guaranty & Accident Co. of London, England, was returned today by a jury in Federal Judge Davis' court.

The amount represented $37,000 principal and interest on two accident insurance policies which had been carried for 10 years by her husband, Dr. James E. Woelfle, a physician, who died Sept. 9, 1932. At that time they resided at Cairo, Ill.

Dr. Woelfle died four days after he had been injured while playing golf at Mounds, Ill. Mrs. Woelfle alleged that when he stepped into a hole and fell, the aorta, large artery carrying blood from the heart, was ruptured. Death first was attributed to angina pectoris but the body was disinterred and an examination showed a ruptured aorta.

The company contended that Dr. Woelfle did not fall, that if he did fall the aorta could not have been ruptured, and that the aorta was diseased.

A previous trial resulted in a hung jury. The trial required three days and the jury was out three hours.

PRIEST SUCCUMBS TO AUTO INJURIES

Rev. P. J. Fitzham of Flint Hill, Mo., Dies at St. Charles —St. Louisan Also Killed.

The Rev. Joseph P. Fitzkam, pastor of St. Theodore's Catholic Church at Flint Hill, Mo., died yesterday at St. Joseph's Hospital, St. Charles, of a fractured skull suffered Thursday afternoon when his automobile overturned on Highway 61 in St. Charles County.

He told motorists, who found him, that another car crowded his machine off the road, and failed to stop.

Father Fitzkam, 58 years old, was born in Missouri and completed his theological studies in Belgium, where he was ordained. He had been pastor at Flint Hill for 12 years and previously was stationed at Benton, Mo. His mother and a brother, residing at Ste. Genevieve, Mo., survive.

Leo Maurath, 21, a chauffeur, 3471 Sublette avenue, died Friday night at City Hospital of a skull fracture suffered early last Sunday when his automobile overturned on a road two miles south of Festus, Mo.

Frank Weber, 6337 Marquette avenue, a passenger in the car, told authorities that the accident occurred when Maurath tried to pass another automobile and ran off the highway. Weber suffered scalp wounds.

WHAT A SNOWY WASH, JULIA! WHITEST I EVER SAW
NOT ONLY THAT, RUTH, BUT THE "NO SCRUB" SOAP I USE MAKES CLOTHES LAST TWO OR THREE TIMES LONGER

BUY A NEW COAT WITH WHAT YOU SAVE

(Many women say that by washing this safe, "no-scrub" way they save as much as a hundred dollars on clothes)

Soak your wash snowy with these "scrubless" suds

Clothes come 4 or 5 shades whiter ... last 2 or 3 times longer

MOST clothes are scrubbed out before they're half worn out. Be smart! Change to Rinso—and say goodbye to washboards. Rinso's lively suds soak out dirt—save scrubbing—clothes last 2 or 3 times longer. You'll be surprised how much money you'll save in actual dollars and cents when you use Rinso.

Rinso is marvelous in washing machines, too. It's recommended by the makers of 34 famous washers. Great for dishwashing and all cleaning. So easy on the hands.

Try Rinso Free

If you never have tried Rinso, send a clipping of this offer with your name and address to Lever Brothers Co., Dept. N-81, Cambridge, Mass. A full-sized package will be sent you without cost.

TERRA COTTA FIRM'S REORGANIZATION PLAN

Cancellation of Bonds and Substitution of Stock Proposed for Winkle Co.

Plans for the proposed reorganization of the Winkle Terra Cotta Co., 5739 Manchester avenue, filed in Federal Court yesterday, call for the cancelation of $180,000 in outstanding bonds and interest and acceptance of bondholders of 6 per cent non-cumulative preferred stock. The cancelation would include the chattel mortgage securing the bonds, which have been in default since Jan. 2, 1933.

The new preferred stock, 1800 shares at $100 par value, would be issued to bondholders share for share. To assure equality of influence in management, it is proposed that the board of directors be composed of five members, two of whom would be elected by holders of the 400 shares of common stock, two by preferred stockholders and the fifth by these four directors.

For harmony in operation a voting committee of trustees, composed of R. F. Grady, president-treasurer; John G. Hewitt, secretary, and Andrew Winkle, would be intrusted with the voting powers of both classes of stock for five years, or until such time as the company paid four successive quarterly dividends. In the latter event the voting power of the committee would cease, and common stockholders only would have voting privileges.

The petition states that the officers think the company can endure continued losses for several years in the hope that returning prosperity will stimulate the construction industry, on which it depends, if the company is released from its bonded indebtedness. Under reorganization the firm's position, the officers say, would justify a line of bank credit with which to finance operations as orders are received. In this manner the business can be preserved, the petition says.

Schedules of the company show assets of $230,056 and debts amounting to $183,368. Assets include real estate, $87,940; accounts due, $6500; personal property, $3554; stock in trade, $55,484; machinery and tools, $41,516; stocks and bonds, $17,300; deposits in banks, $9020, and cash, $100.

Liabilities include, besides outstanding bonds and interest, unsecured claims covering $1422 unpaid taxes and $801 in bills for merchandise. Unsecured obligations would be paid in full under the reorganization proposal. The company was formed in 1889.

DRIVER HELD TO GRAND JURY IN DEATH IN SAFTEY ZONE

Criminal Carelessness Verdict Against Ralph Solberg Whose Car Hit Mrs. J. J. Rosenauer.

A Coroner's verdict of criminal carelessness was returned yesterday against Ralph Solberg, 44-year-old salesman, driver of an automobile which struck and fatally injured Mrs. Joseph J. Rosenauer, 59, in a safety zone at Jefferson and Lafayette avenues on the night of Nov. 9.

Witnesses testified that Solberg, driving south in Jefferson avenue, swerved into the safety zone in passing another machine. Mrs. Rosenauer, waiting for a street car, suffered skull and internal injuries from which she died at City Hospital early Friday. She resided at 2659 Hickory street.

Solberg, residing at 2618 Geyer avenue, did not testify on advice of counsel. Police records show that last July he was fined $50 for careless driving, but was paroled. He failed to report, and was listed as a parole violator. He was released on bond pending presentation of the Rosenauer case to the grand jury on Dec. 6.

DAILY SHAVES ORDERED FOR RUSSIAN WORKERS

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Nov. 17.—"Shave every day" is the advice of the Soviet Izvestia to workers. "Give us better razors," some of the newspaper's letter writers reply. Izvestia exhorts workers also to give up their seats in street cars to women and "don't eat with your knife."

Proletarian Russia rapidly is drifting away from the rough manners of the leather-coated men and women who delighted in the early days of the Soviet Government to show their contempt for refinements.

It is intimated that unshaved men may not be permitted to ride in the new Moscow subway. That threat is expected to create a new demand for razors and shaving soap, for the residents are more interested in the subway than anything else at the moment.

A story is told of one commissar who refused to grant an audience to an unshaven engineer.

FITZSIMMONS' WILL FILED

Estate Left to Widow by Judge-Elect.

The will of John T. Fitzsimmons, Commissioner of the Missouri Supreme Court and Judge-elect to that court, who died a week ago, was filed in Probate Court yesterday.

He left $1 to each of his children, Margaret Louise, John T., Louis G. and Paul E. Fitzsimmons, and gave the rest of his estate to his widow, Mrs. Susan P. Fitzsimmons, 6116 McPherson avenue, also appointing her as executrix. No estimate of the value of the estate was made. The date of the will was Oct. 18, 1928.

FORD'S RUBBER DEVELOPMENT IMPRESSES BRAZILIAN OFFICIAL

He Predicts American Will Control World Supply Within a Decade.

By the Associated Press.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 17.—Jarbas Peixoto, a secretary in the Ministry of Labor, expressed the opinion on his return from the 3,000,000-acre rubber development in Para that Henry Ford "will control the world supply of rubber within a decade."

Others who recently visited the northern territory were Admiral Aristides Mascarenhas and Chilean Ambassador Marcial Martinez de Ferra.

Peixoto said efficiency in Fordlandia was the highest in Brazil. Rubber trees now are growing, he said, in a tract of more than 8000 acres. "There are 1,200,000 trees in full development," he said, "and in nurseries there are 7,500,000 others."

The Admiral said there were about 2000 Indian plants being used for experimentation. He said he was impressed by the piers, health services, homes, streets and a hospital with 125 beds.

The territory is divided into tracts. Fordlandia proper measures 2,965,200 acres, 73 miles along the Tapajos River and 62 miles inland. Suamuma is smaller, with a total area of 677,750 acres, 31 miles square. The 1000 men employed live in 311 buildings, each family having its own bungalow. Water is brought from five miles away to a tank holding 158,400 gallons on a high platform. The power house has a production of 2150 kilowatts and a ton of ice is manufactured daily for general use. The railroad of the tract is five miles long and there is a 38-mile highway system.

19 SCHOOLS, TEACHERS' HOMES BUILT IN ALASKA THROUGH PWA

By the Associated Press.

JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 17.—The Public Works Administration has financed the construction of 19 school houses and teachers' residences in Alaska. The $135,000 program employed 250 men for two months. Employment in providing supplies was created for others indirectly.

For many years the territory schools, outside incorporated towns, have been small, badly-illuminated and poorly-ventilated, particularly in the north, where there are few trees and the cost of hauling building materials is excessive.

The territorial schools are maintained by Alaska, aided by the Federal Government through refund of certain taxes. The 96 schools have 5500 pupils and 300 teachers.

TWO JUSTICES OF PEACE TAKE OATH OF OFFICE

Joseph F. Eilers of First District and Frank S. Bledsoe of Fifth Sworn In.

Joseph F. Eilers, who was elected Justice of the Peace in the First District, and Frank S. Bledsoe, elected Justice in the Fifth District, were sworn in yesterday at the office of the Circuit Clerk. Both are Democrats.

Eilers announced he had appointed George Stewart, 4200 Gravois avenue, son of Democratic City Committeeman James Stewart of the Thirteenth Ward, as clerk of his court.

Five newly elected Constables also took their oath of office yesterday. They are: Patrick J. Fitzgerald, First District; John J. Kennedy, Third District; Thomas H. Quinn, Sixth; John F. Dougherty, Seventh, all Democrats, and Langston Harrison, Republican, Fourth District, reelected.

Thyrsus Play at Washington U.

"Three Cornered Moon," a three-act play by Gertrude Tonkonogy, will be presented Dec. 13 and 14 in January Hall at Washington University by the Thyrsus Society. Tryouts for the five men's and four women's parts have been held.

MUCH MARRIED RADIO ANNOUNCER IS FREED

No Evidence on Which to Issue a Warrant for Bigamy, Officials Say.

Erl J. Walsh, unemployed radio announcer, held since Nov. 10 while police investigated his four marriages, was released yesterday for lack of evidence on which to issue a warrant.

The investigation disclosed that the announcer's first wife, Mrs. Sadie Boehm Walsh, and second wife, Mrs. Florence McDiarmid Walsh, both of Cleveland, O., had obtained divorces. Wife No. 3, Mrs. Ruth Walsh of Fort Wayne, Ind., said she had not divorced the announcer, but she refused to furnish the evidence necessary to show that she is still married to him.

Mrs. Grace Beck Walsh, 4721 Goethe avenue, whom Walsh married last May, called at the Circuit Attorney's office yesterday and was advised that lack of co-operation by Wife No. 3 left no legal grounds on which prosecution could be based.

Walsh, 35 years old, met his fourth wife several years ago, when he was employed at a local radio station. Following their marriage, they lived together at her home, separating four weeks ago.

IRVING DILLIARD WINS $100 PRIZE FOR MAGAZINE ARTICLE

Post-Dispatch Man's Account of Life of James Milton Turner Brings Award.

Irving Dilliard of the Post-Dispatch editorial staff has been awarded first prize of $100 for an article on James Milton Turner, published in the fall issue of the Journal of Negro History, and adjudged the best article printed by that publication during 1934. Announcement of the award was made last week at the annual meeting of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, publishers of the Journal, at Houston, Tex.

Turner was born in slavery in 1840 on a plantation in St. Louis County. He spent his boyhood in St. Louis, with the exception of his fourteenth year, which was passed at Oberlin College, a rare educational privilege for a Negro at that time. He served as a menial to a St. Louis officer in the Civil War and after that promoted the education of Negroes in Missouri.

In 1871, President Grant appointed Turner Minister to Liberia, a post he filled for seven years. The first Negro to serve in the Diplomatic Corps, he urged American philanthropists to help native tribes instead of organizing colonies of American Negroes, whom he found unsuited to life in equatorial Africa. Later he took up the cause of Indian freedmen and was instrumental in securing Congressional appropriations for them in Cleveland's administration. He died in Ardmore, Ok., in 1915, of injuries suffered in an explosion, and was buried near Kirkwood.

The article grew out of a sketch of Turner which Dilliard wrote for the Dictionary of American Biography.

ST. LOUIS SCOUT SHOW PRAISED BY EXECUTIVE

Dr. James E. West of National Council Says It Was Best He Has Seen.

Dr. James E. West, executive of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, in a letter to the St. Louis council, said the St. Louis Merit Badge Show, which he visited last week, was the best he had ever seen. Outlining the importance of the Scout movement, he wrote:

"All over the world youth is being trained to carry on. Under the Soviets in Russia, under Hitler in Germany under Mussolini in Italy, it is being regimented, trained to mass action, and in many instances to a mass action that is militaristic at the core.

"But there is one youth movement which is built around the one great principle of the development of the individual boy—in reliance, in character, in leadership. It is American at heart; it is individualistic; it maintains the value of those ideals which have resulted in the growth and greatness of America. It is prepared, but it is not militaristic. That movement is the Boy Scouts of America."

Blue streamers for excellence of exhibits at the Merit Badge Show have been awarded to the following troops: Webster Groves 1, 2, 3, 7, 8 and 15; Kirkwood 5 and 1; Clayton 1, Maplewood 3, Ferguson 2, and Affton 1; and Troops 14, 55, 160, 71, 30, 222, 234, 174, 114, 135, 98, 26, 46, 249, 41, 220, 31, 122, 242, 52, 186, 100, 53, 14, 118, 209, 60, 109, 248, 92, 2, 86, 168, 77, 198, 65, 13, 4, 177, 90, 245, 95 and 126. Red, green and white streamers were awarded to other troops entered in the show.

A school for scoutmasters will open at Stix School at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow and continue for four consecutive evenings, with an overnight hike Dec. 15 and 16 to complete the training. The course will be taken by men who participated in similar classes last spring.

The midwinter camp at Irondale will be held from Dec. 27 to 31. Winter sports will be a feature, including, if weather permits, snowshoeing and skiing. There will be the usual fee of $1 per day.

Many recruits to scouting have been reported in recent weeks in the Scout "roundup" campaign. The campaign has provided an opportunity for boys who wanted to join the movement, but were unwilling to undertake tenderfoot experiences alone.

Troop Notes.

First Class Scouts of Troop 41, Delmar Harvard School, University City, will hold a week-end hike Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the troop camp on Clayton road to pass merit badge tests in pioneering, cooking and camping. A similar hike and encampment will take place Thanksgiving and the two days following.

Troop 242, St. Francis de Sales Church, will present a play, "The Adventures of Johnny," in connection with a court of honor to be held at the church Nov. 30.

A Sea Scout Ship and at least one Cub pack will be established at St. Charles as part of the St. Louis Council's program, under arrangements made by Leonard E. Martin, chairman of Suburban District and members of headquarters staff following a meeting with the Rotary Club of St. Charles last week.

Col. H. D. McBride, commissioner of St. Louis Council, addressed the annual dinner meeting of the Uncle Sid Club at Bellefontaine M. E. Church, South, recently, on "The Boy as a Community Asset." The dinner was served by scouts of Troop 260 who displayed in the church their Merit Badge Show exhibit.

Webster Groves 7 held a court of honor Friday night at which 23 merit badges were awarded and Franklin Reeves was made an Eagle Scout.

A bronze palm was awarded to Delnorte Bondurant at a court of honor held Thursday [illegible] Ferguson Troop 2, First Presbyterian Church. Star and life awards were made; six scouts were advanced in rank and 37 merit badges were presented.

Courts of honor will be held this week by Troops 77, 107, 139 and Webster Groves 14.

Electrical Board of Trade Meeting.

The St. Louis Electrical Board of Trade will meet at 12:15 p. m. Tuesday at Hotel Statler. Four law students of St. Louis University will debate the subject, "Resolved, that the President of the United States be empowered to enforce arbitration in labor disputes."

NEW YORK.

THE gage of battle has been flung into the Social Register by New York's select army of professional models, and unless the daughters of Park avenue quit chiselling into the none-too-lush field of the hardworking mannequins, there is going to be open warfare. Up in arms over the continued encroachment of debs and post-debs, the mannequins have threatened to picket the next society fashion show where wealthy girls do the modeling. If this fails, they will conduct a deliberate campaign to wean the sweethearts of the gilded youngsters away, and if that is heartless pirating the maids of money can strike their own buccaneer emblem.

This unusual facet of the class struggle has attracted much attention recently due to the indignation and organizing ability of Gertrude L. Mayer, fiery-headed proprietor of the Mayfair Mannequin Academy, 545 Fifth avenue, headquarters for the comely working girls.

Working up a preliminary head of steam on her own, Miss Mayer cast the issue into the recent convention of the Junior League at the Waldorf-Astoria. The heads of the league were a little taken aback by the suddenness of the proposal that all good Junior Leaguers give up a prized society hobby. They hemmed and hawed and reached no conclusion.

Support of Miss Mayer's demand was given by Miss Elizabeth Taylor, athletic southern blonde, president of the Junior League, Bryn Mawr graduate, licensed airplane pilot, former women's golf champion of Arkansas. Mrs. de Forest Van Slyck, New York, executive secretary, straddled the issue. She said she did not believe society girls should deprive professional models of the usual run of work, but that they had a legitimate place in society fashion displays where people come to see the models more than the frocks. Another speaker said she felt that when Junior Leaguers did ordinary modeling they did it as individuals, not as Junior Leaguers, and that hence it did not properly come under the head of convention discussion. Then the debate switched to the propriety of permitting one's name and portrait to be exploited by cosmetic or cigarette firms.

"I doubt," said Miss Taylor, "If, in most cases, the endorsers use the things they endorse."

"To mention the Junior League for commercialization," echoed Mrs. Van Slyck, "is undignified. It is a welfare organization." That ended the matter, as far as the convention was concerned.

Thoroughly angered, the embattled Miss Mayer lashed out with a statement that her group did not object to the use of society girls in society shows, except that their work was so lame that they gave the whole profession a bad name. Her objection, she asserted, was to the competition the Vassar and Bryn Mawr graduates created in the regular commercial field.

At her mannequin academy one day recently, Miss Mayer assembled a throng of her comely and elegantly attired associates.

"There is a rat in our midst," Miss Mayer began, "nibbling at our very profession, and we are here today to get together to buy a rat trap to catch the rodent."

Her beautiful listeners clapped their gloved hands.

"The rodent I refer to," the speaker continued, "is the society woman who, for a lark, acts as a model at either a commercial fashion show or in a dress shop, knowing nothing whatsoever about the art of modeling, thereby not only depriving trained models of jobs, but injuring the entire industry, because they are not experienced enough in the art of modeling. We must stop this practice at once, for each year this animal in our midst grows bigger and bigger."

Miss Mayer paused and tucked an errant, auburn ringlet behind her left ear. In the chairs before her, svelte shoulders twisted and gold and bronze curls gleamed under chic chapeaux. Outwardly the professional models in the room wore all the trappings of aristocracy. A few moments later, however, they were chattering about picket lines like the feminine comrades of Union Square and applauding an astounding suggestion that downtrodden labor had never conceived of in its age-old struggle against capital.

"If picketing doesn't work," Miss Mayer went on, "maybe we'll have to fight fire with fire and actually invade the society sanctums and steal the young debutantes' boy friends away. And, looking over you beautiful girls, I don't think we'll have such a difficult task."

From the audience a tall brunette with straight, sculptured features, straight, sleek hair and straight, tailored lines rose to inject an anecdote. She was introduced as Martha Rocfort, and her story, without any attempt to recreate the French accent, was as follows: "I came in late to a job one day and they tell me this girl came before me and they gave her my job because she is a society girl. I asked her why she was taking the job when she didn't need money as I do and she said: 'Yes, I need this job so I can make money to pay the maid who takes my dog out walking.'"

A murmur of indignation arose. Miss Mayer then pointed out that society models were, as a rule, poor models despite their ancestry.

"I personally feel, however," she continued, "that the majority of them know not the damage they are doing. If they did, I know a number of them would gracefully retire and subject their leisure to good books or plays, wherein they are injuring no one. I feel that the time has come when we models have got to get together, put our foot down and politely request these society girls to stay in their own back yard."

Then she read the text of a proposed resolution addressed to the Junior League and the dress shop proprietors of Fifth avenue, as follows: "We, the undersigned professional models, firmly protest against the prevalent practice of debutantes and society women acting as mannequins at fashion shows and shops, which we claim deprives deserving trained models, experienced in the field, of more than 1000 jobs a year.

"It has been proven that modeling is a specialized profession and one that requires expert tutelage. It is not fair for inexperienced girls to take away the mannequin positions from the professional models merely because they have social standing. Moreover, besides making it impossible for recognized professional models to appear in certain fashion shows, these society girls who have entered the modeling field as a lark, or for business purposes but without proper training, do by their performances as models tend to injure the standing of the modeling profession in the eyes of the world.

"We, therefore, do hereby appeal to these society women who participate in fashion shows and to the directors of fashion shows, as well as owners of shops and society organizations conducting style pageants, to please employ trained professional models only. We, the professional models, are willing to compete for jobs against these society women if they are actually interested in pursuing the modeling profession, but we feel that we should be able to compete on a basis whereby an unbiased judgment of our ability to model would be given, instead of a comparison of our respective social backgrounds."

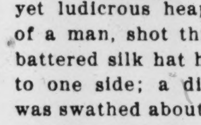
When the Ex-Landlord Killed the Practical Joker—

Tragedy Ended the Serio-Comic Warfare Between the Prudent Property Owner and the Osteopath He Said Had 'Pestered' Him.

Dr. Leon W. Squier.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

SEATTLE, Washington.



"HE PESTERED me—so I killed him!" The speaker was Charles G. Duke, 61-year-old wealthy Seattle property owner.

And lying on the sidewalk before him was a tragic, yet ludicrous heap. It was the body of a man, shot through the heart. A battered silk hat had rolled off a little to one side; a dingy, frock-like coat was swathed about the figure; and in a stiffening hand was clutched a broomstick, held as if it were a cane. An imitation monocle had clattered down from one of the dead man's eyes.

The body was that of Dr. Leon W. Squier, osteopath, the man Duke said had bothered him. The outlandish costume had been Dr. Squier's own idea. Friends say he was a great prankster. And he had paid for his last one with his life.

Duke made no effort to flee after he had shot Dr. Squier. He waited calmly until police came and arrested him, and he readily confessed the slaying. "He pestered me—so I killed him!" Duke kept repeating, and he has been repeating it ever since, adding only, "God knows I'm in the right."

Such was Seattle's now widely known "pester killing." No backwoods feud ever has been more fantastic than this quarrel between two men which reached its grim conclusion on a busy street in the Fairview business district of this Washington city one day last month.

It seems that some two years ago Dr. Squier and Dr. N. E. Nelson, a dentist, shared office space in a building owned by Duke. Times were hard and collections were poor. The two doctors got behind about $750 in their rent. Duke insisted upon collecting his money, and the tenants tried to compromise with him. Finally Duke brought suit against them. The case was settled out of court, Duke receiving about $250.

But Duke was not content to call the matter quits for $250. Soon, in the show window of a vacant store building belonging to him in the neighborhood, passersby were amused to see a large photograph of Dr. Squier.

Beneath it was scrawled in large letters: "Why doesn't this man pay his bills?"

Residents of the district regarded Duke as a "close" business man, inclined to fret over money matters, and they laughed at that first sign.

They laughed later when Dr. Squier moved into a house in the neighborhood, and Duke appeared across the street shouting, "How much are stucco houses renting for? Do you pay for that house like you paid for my office?"

While Dr. Squier and Dr. Nelson were outfitting a new office after having moved from Duke's building, Duke called to them, for the whole world to hear: "I own those partitions that are going in. That's my furniture and my linoleum!"

And, Dr. Nelson asserts, Duke came to their office once, and in the presence of patients of both, demanded, "Why don't you pay your honest debts?"

Dr. Squier's friends speak of him as having been a good-natured, jovial man. He was amused by Duke's antics. He retaliated, neighbors say, only by "kidding" the displeased elderly man. These occasions Duke now describes as "pestering him in front of other people."

THERE were no patients in Dr. Squier's office that afternoon of the tragedy, and Dr. Nelson was equally unoccupied. They decided they would go down the street and tease "old man Duke."

Dr. Squier liked to indulge in amateur theatricals; he was a great hand for "dressing up." So, smilingly, he donned the long black coat, the battered "topper," a monocle twisted from a piece of wire. The broomstick cane was a final touch.

Swinging it as jauntily as any dandy from Piccadilly, he and Dr. Nelson sauntered the short distance to where Duke was tending flowers in the parking strip in front of one of his buildings.

As they approached Duke, Dr. Squier altered his gait. He began to limp. It was a limp just such as Duke had acquired a month earlier. People in the neighborhood, noticing Duke's lameness and knowing of his dislike for Dr. Squier, had teased the old man about it a little. "You ought to see Dr. Squier about that limp," they would chide him, and Duke would go away, not liking it.

Perhaps it was the osteopath's mocking limp that enraged Duke so much as Dr. Squier and Dr. Nelson approached. This is what Dr. Nelson says happened:

"Dr. Squier was acting funny with the hat and cane, and Duke shouted for us to come closer. As we crossed the street and drew near, Duke pulled a gun from his pocket. Dr. Squier said something, and Duke fired, the bullet striking Dr. Squier squarely in the heart. The doctor fell dead."

That "something" Dr. Squier said, it is related, included a mocking query if Duke were a "real Duke of the peerage."

"It was a joke that ended in tragedy," says Dr. Nelson now, shaking his head sadly.

Duke's version of the shooting, given to police immediately afterward, was a little different.

"I was out in front of my place, minding my own business, when I saw them across the street," he explained. "I think they were going to beat me up. I went into my room in the rear of the building and got my pistol, slipping it into my right-hand pocket. Then I took my pitchfork and went back to work in my flower patch.

"The two doctors crossed the street and started toward me. I took out my pistol. Dr. Squier said, 'I'm not afraid of him. I'll take his pistol away from him and beat him up,' or something. Then I shot and he dropped."

After his first night in jail, Duke asserted he had spent the entire time in prayer. "I kept my mind on God all night long," he declared. "I didn't sleep a wink. I'll answer only to God for what I've done. . . . He knows I was in the right."

But Duke will have to answer to the State of Washington, too; and a superior court jury will have the opportunity to decide whether or not right was on his side. Meanwhile, he is being held in the King County jail in Seattle without bail on a first degree murder charge.

THAT afternoon after the shooting, Dr. Squier's body, his mummery become a shroud, lay on the sidewalk for nearly an hour before police took it away. The circumstances surrounding the slaying were so incredible that the officers could hardly believe the story.

Hundreds of residents of the Fairview district were clustered about. They were shaking their heads, dumbfounded. It was difficult for any to realize that the quarrel between Duke and Dr. Squier which had mildly amused them for so long had had this sudden, stark outcome.

Just once, apparently, had there been a serious altercation between the two prior to the shooting.

Maurice Vyvey, proprietor of a Fairview district bakeshop, told authorities how, about a month before the shooting, Duke came into the bakery where Dr. Squier was buying bread.

"Duke immediately began calling the doctor names," related Vyvey. "Presently the doctor replied in kind. In his excitement Duke pointed his finger at the doctor, touching him on the nose, and the doctor, who seemed to take the whole thing as a joke, started doing the same thing.

"Duke then hit Dr. Squier over the head with his walking stick. The doctor just tried to hold him at first, although his glasses had been knocked off; but when Duke hit him again, he took the cane away from him and hit him with his fist, blacking his eye."

It was then, Vyvey insists, that Duke screamed at Dr. Squier: "If you don't leave me alone, I'll kill you!"

Three other persons, according to King County Chief Deputy Prosecutor Emmett G. Lenihan, have said that Duke made threats against Dr. Squier's life. It is their statements that influenced the filing of the charge of premeditated murder against Duke—that, and the fact that he admits he went indoors and obtained his .32 caliber automatic pistol as he saw Squier and Nelson approaching the afternoon of the shooting.

Another of those who asserts that Duke threatened Dr. Squier's life is C. E. Horrigan, a shoe repairman. He also is a former tenant of Duke, and he also had a dispute with him about rent payments. Horrigan testified during a court hearing on the dispute that Duke had at one time threatened his life.

Duke figured in Seattle court news in May, 1932. At that time his son, Emerson, 19 years old, and his daughter, Helen, 17, testified that their father had horsewhipped them in moments of intense anger. Their testimony was given during the hearing of a divorce action against Duke brought by their mother, Mrs. Ida [illegible] Duke.

In addition to the murder charge to which he must answer, Duke is facing a civil suit, brought by Dr. Squier's widow, Mrs. Gladys Goddard Squier, in which she asks $75,750 damages from Duke for the fatal shooting of her husband. Mrs. Squier sued in her own behalf and that of her three children, Elizabeth, 19 years old; George, 17; and Lee Goddard, 16.

HOLLYWOOD.

DESPITE the fact that Hazel Forbes, former "Follies" girl and widow of Paul Owen Richmond, the cosmetics millionaire, has great beauty and a fortune estimated at $15,000,000 (which makes her about the richest ex-chorine on record), she hasn't her heart's desire. What she wants now is movie stardom — and nothing she can buy, or win with well-focused dart from her hypnotic eyes, can get it for her. She ascribes this failure to her great wealth and echoes the sentiments of the sage who first discovered that money "isn't everything."

Such as it is, however, Miss Forbes apparently knows some of its uses, as is indicated by the fact that the other day she disposed of a $2,208,000 holding in one of the largest companies in which she had an interest. Perhaps by so doing she felt she was making headway in her siege of Hollywood.

But there are several nasty people out here ready to point out that plenty of movie stars have started with tremendous fortunes, that George Arliss, for example, was a millionaire when he got his start in the movies, and that numerous others find their weekly thousands no impediment to screen success. Be that as it may, Hazel Forbes is dissatisfied; she finds her plight heart-rending; she regards herself as one of the unemployed and is as unhappy about it as all the legions of the forgotten. So she says.

Miss Forbes' career has not been as amazing as was that of Max Beerbohm's character, "Zuleika Dobson," for whose beauty practically all the undergraduates of Oxford drowned themselves. But it is similar in several respects. She has been one of the epic successes of what somebody called the skin-deep game."

She started life in that undistinguished faubourg, Astoria, Long Island, one of the more cluttered suburbs of Manhattan. There she went to high school and there she might very well have spent her life as so many—even beautiful girls—do: a few years as shopgirl, then a romance; a tired, underpaid husband and the long grind of life in one of the 50,000 exactly similar apartments in Flushing or Flatbush or Queens. That is not what happened.

Hazel Froidevoix (for that was her first name) won a school beauty contest. Just for the lark she decided to be one of the 500 competitors in the American Beauty Ball competition which was to be held at Hotel Astor in New York that year, 1926. That is how she emerged from the cocoon; gaudy wings and the honeysuckles were soon to come.

Of course she won the competition. His late Honor, Mayor Jimmy Walker, an unimpeachable judge of pulchritude in women, was on the jury which selected her. The other pickers were the Viennese artist, Ernest Linnenkamp; Harry Hirschfield, the cartoonist; D. W. Griffith, Vincent Lopez and Florenz Ziegfeld. She went to France to represent American girlhood at an International Beauty Contest in Paris.

WHEN that was over she didn't come right back to Astoria. She got a job as mannequin for a Parisian couturier in the Rue de la Paix and by the time she was ready to come home Florenz Ziegfeld and Earl Carroll, the rival variety impresarios, were ready to cut each other's throats for the privilege of glorifying Miss Hazel Forbes. This particular feud was occasioned by the fact that Hazel had apparently signed exclusive contracts with both of the famous lily gilders. Whether she did or not, it was an excellent story for the press agents and when it was over she was a Ziegfeld girl and properly glorified.

While working in the "Follies" Hazel Forbes met and married Edward Judson, an automobile salesman who knew his way through the stage door and soon was enmeshed by Hazel's rival, Neva Lynn. That may or may not have been the reason for their double-quick divorce. Another reason has been suggested in the sagas of the Main Stem. It is said that Jack Dempsey knocked down his friend, Joe Benjamin, in a quarrel over Hazel Forbes and that Judson objected to the prize fighter's interest in his bride.

At any rate, Eddie Judson was scarcely untied when he was off to Florida in the beautiful Neva's wake and rumors of an approaching marriage between them became black and white in the Broadway gab columns. But nothing came of it and the next thing the columnists heralded was Neva's flirtation with Tommy Manville, of the many marriages and the asbestos fortune.

Meanwhile Hazel Forbes was supplementing her "Follies" wages posing for tooth powder advertisements. That is how Paul Owen Richmond happened to notice her. Since he himself was in the trade, a manufacturer of numerous and popular "beauty aids," he had to follow the rival advertising. When he saw Hazel's picture he behaved as if Max Beerbohm had been manipulating the strings. He bought out the company that heralded Hazel's white teeth—just to get an introduction. That, at any rate, is the legend.

The upshot was a cruise on Richmond's yacht, during which Hazel was well chaperoned by her mother. Somewhere in the allegedly magic islands of the West Indies they became engaged. They were married one Thursday in May, 1931, at a Methodist Episcopal Church in Kennedyville, Maryland. The groom gave his age as 46; Hazel was 21. A wedding trip, also in the West Indies, followed without Hazel's mother.

There is no question but that they were very happy. In those days Hazel was able to get along with money and Richmond is said to have possessed something like $30,000,000 in the years before the depression. But the marriage idyll was short-lived. Within the year Richmond caught cold, developed double pneumonia. His wife sat beside his bed in Harbor Hospital in New York for seven days, uninterruptedly, and collapsed when he died. His entire fortune was made over to her, every cent of it. She is estimated to have had well over a million a year.

It was Richmond's declared wish that Hazel should never go back to the stage, and at the time she swore that she would obey. Unexpectedly, she decided to take over the management as well as the income of his great toiletry industry. She sat in his chair at directors' meetings. And while it isn't known just how much interest either she or her husband (who had been an heir) took in the cosmetics business, it is true that she sold her stock in a company founded in 1868, employing 1000 men and making over 150 kinds of soap and medicines and cosmetics in 11 American cities.

Miss Forbes finds such dealings extremely irksome. "That money," she says, rather petulantly, "is just an impediment to my career in motion pictures. It takes my time. I must rush from the lot for busines conferences in New York. And the psychological effect on producers of a girl having some wealth is detrimental. They think I have enough money and tend to give parts in pictures to other girls."

But, explains this unusual candidate for stardom, the money is the last thing she wants. "Every cent I make in motion pictures goes to charity—although saying that may sound like broadcasting my good deeds.

"I'm young," she continues, "and I want to work. I like motion pictures. Long before I came into any wealth or business I started as a chorus girl in the Ziegfeld 'Follies.' I wasn't afraid of work then and I'm not afraid of it now. Of course I don't need money, but money doesn't take the place of work."

Miss Forbes has been trying to break into the movies for about a year, now. Critics have continued to recognize her beauty, but casting directors have been persistently hard-boiled.

THUS, while Hazel Forbes did manage to get some sort of contract with one of the large producers last June, she is yet to be seen in pictures. Casting directors apparently give no preference to anyone. Venus, herself, would have to stand in line for a tryout, unless a director should have chanced to hear of her extraordinary attainments, which is unlikely, or unless some producer had a strong personal interest.

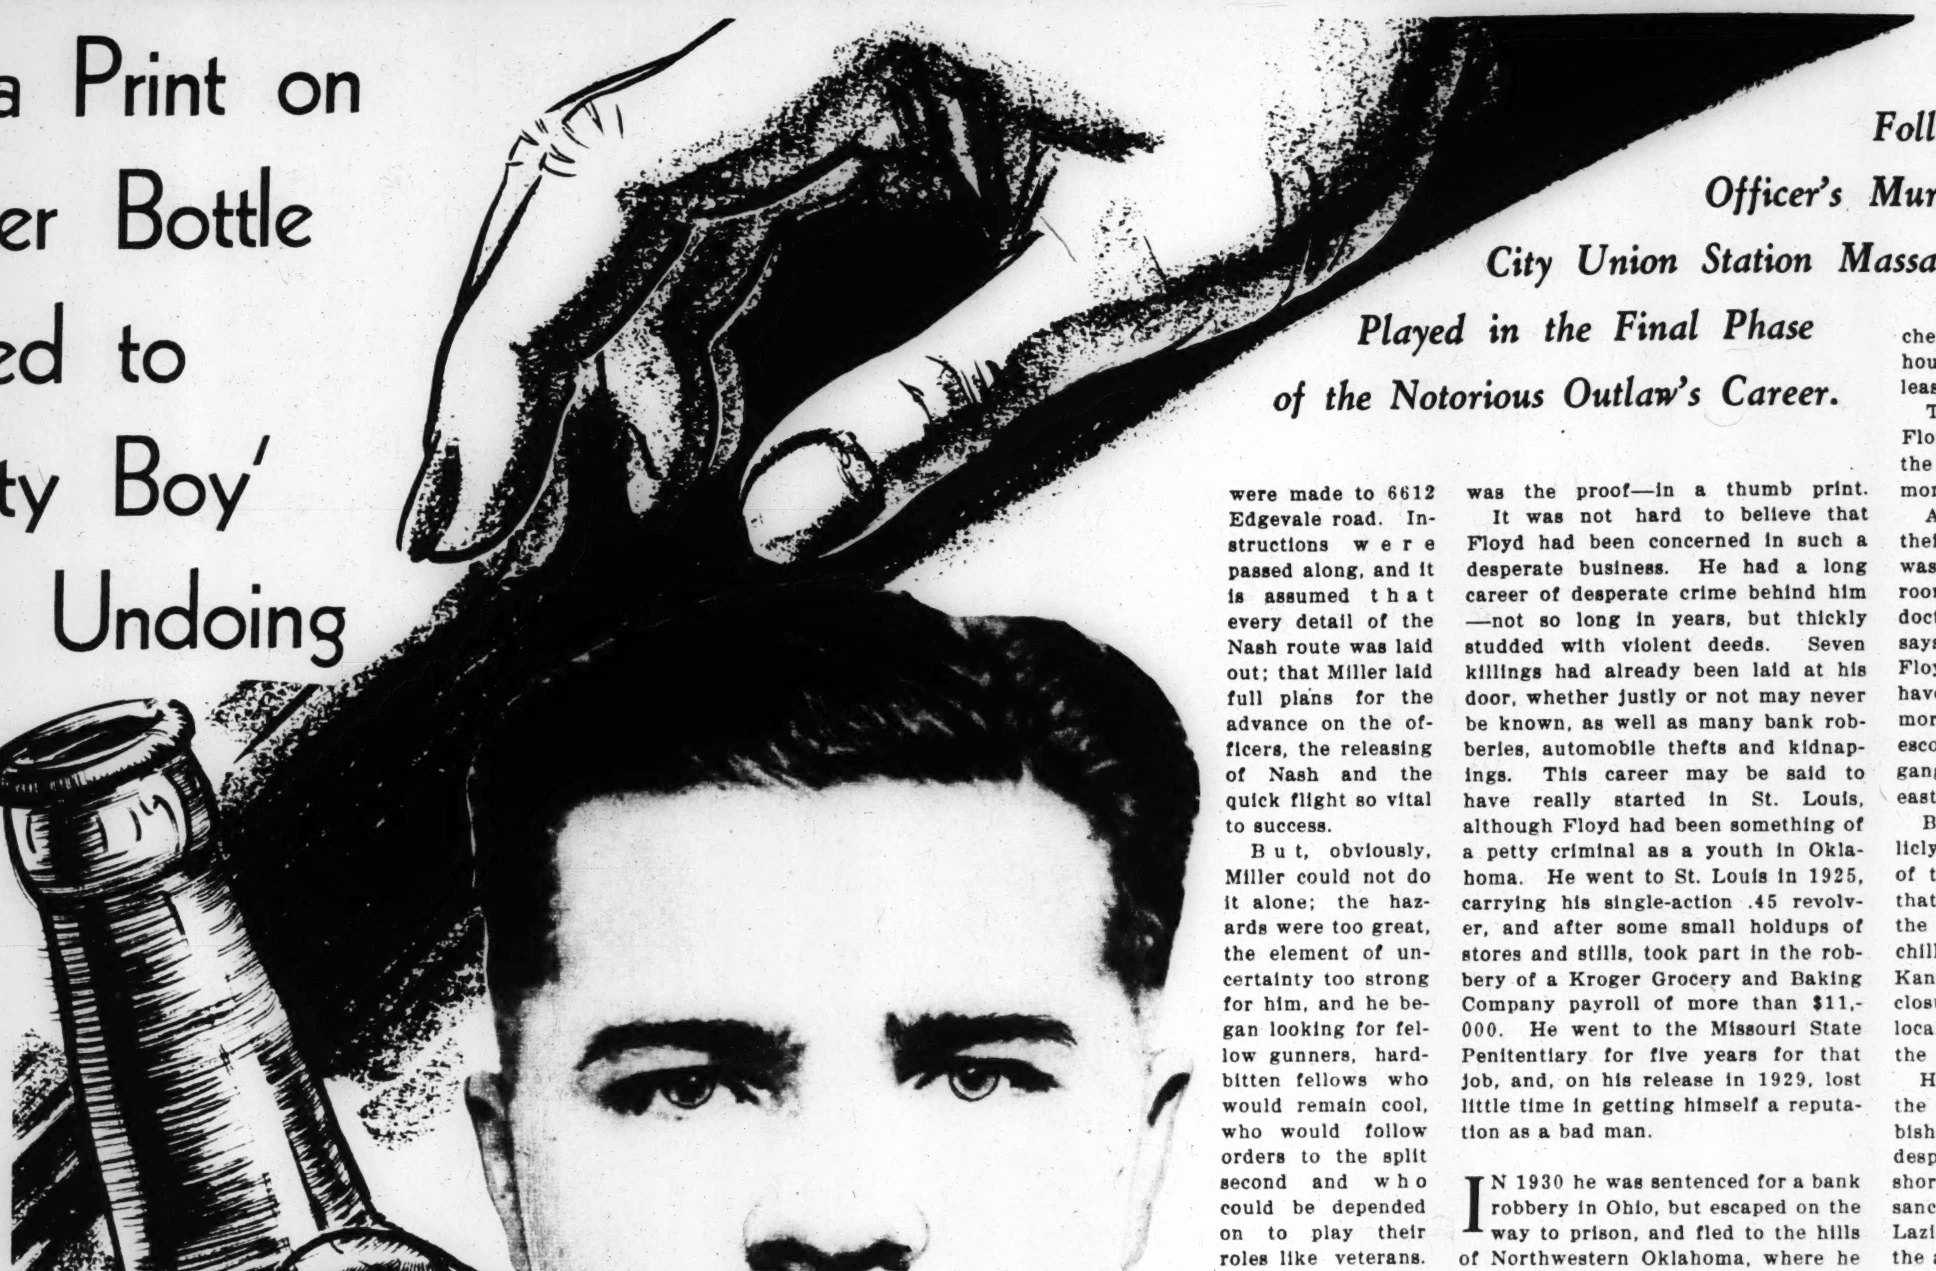
This particular Venus is interested especially in the plight of unemployed actresses. She plans to give what she gets for her screen work to assist them. In many ways, however, she feels that their position is enviable. Her money has actually proved a menace in one way—besides the alleged handicap to her "career." She has been threatened by extortionists.

"It would be a lot of fun," she thinks, "to go and come as I please without being kidnaped. That would be a pleasure greater by far than having a lot of money." As it is, she has to go everywhere with a bodyguard and every once in a while she gets a threatening note which she has to turn over to the police.

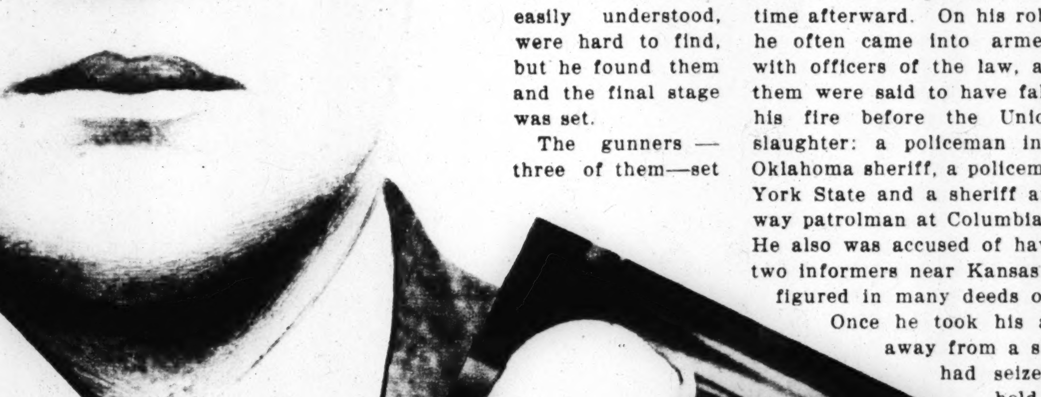
That isn't much fun for a girl, even if she has enough cash to hire an army to protect her. So Hazel Forbes is feeling heartily sorry for herself as she continues to make the rounds looking for a bit part, posing now and again for a rather effective fashion picture at her ornate house in Beverly Hills, and dashing back to New York to attend a board meeting or buy or sell a few thousand shares of stock.

How a Print on a Beer Bottle Led to 'Pretty Boy' Floyd's Undoing

The Events That Followed the Federal Officer's Murder in the Kansas City Union Station Massacre and the Part It Played in the Final Phase of the Notorious Outlaw's Career.



Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd.



Mrs. Charles Floyd and her 9-year-old son.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

KANSAS CITY. THE undeniable imprint of fingers on a discarded and dust-laden beer bottle, the loose tongue of a terror-stricken Italian racketeer, and—most important of all—his implication in the slaying of a Federal officer, made Charles A. "Pretty Boy" Floyd America's most widely hunted desperado and caused his death by violence at the hands of Government agents. The Government, implacable in running down those who murder its officers, had won again.

Floyd's body has been borne into the Oklahoma hills he made bloody, and his companion in crime, Adam Richetti, has been caught, so the almost incredible story of the tragic Kansas City Union Station killings of June 17, 1933, with which the Government connected them, can be told.

It is a startling chronicle of blood and disaster, that which deals with this murderous onslaught that mowed down four officers and a Federal prisoner at 7:30 o'clock the morning of June 17—it is also a story on the Government's relentless war on gangdom.

On that deadly morning of June 17, 1933, the sun threw a long shadow to the west from Kansas City Liberty Memorial Monument across the plaza from the Union Station. In front of the stately shaft numerous automobiles were parked, for trains arrive in rapid succession in Kansas City in the early morning. Crowds pushed through the waiting room.

Over toward one of the train exits stood a group of men, silent, intent, waiting. They were two patrolmen, William J. Grooms and Frank E. Hermanson of the Kansas City Police Department, station officials and newspaper reporters. They knew a group of officers was bringing in a notorious criminal, an escaped convict named Frank Nash, who had fled Leavenworth prison almost three years previously after serving more than six years of a 25-year sentence for assaulting a mail custodian in a robbery in western Oklahoma.

Presently the two patrolmen spied their party: the manacled Nash, Otto Reed, Chief of Police of McAlester, Oklahoma; Special Agent R. J. Caffrey of the Division of Investigation of the Department of Justice; E. Vetterli, agent in charge of the Kansas City office of the Division of Investigation; Special Agents F. J. Lackey and Frank Smith, Division of Investigation.

There was no conversation as the two groups of officers met, the party merely combining and moving out the waiting room door and across the station plaza toward automobiles that would carry the prisoner the 35 miles on to Leavenworth. They reached the cars and some of the men got in, while others prepared to enter other cars to form the escort for the prisoner.

Quickly and with deadly precision came a sharp command: "Reach up, higher, higher, higher!" One of the officers, his pistol in his hand at the first command to "reach up, higher, higher, higher," fired at the men from whom the command had come.

A quick shot, then a fusillade, and when the acrid smoke rose toward the blue sky the station plaza was a shambles, with dead and dying scattered in grotesque heaps where speeding bullets from machine guns had cut them down. Nash was dead, slain in the fury of battle—by mistake, according to the Government's reasoning. Grooms and Hermanson had breathed their final gasps and were inert heaps by the curbing. Caffrey, too, was still, his life ebbing away. Reed had been felled by a volley that left him a mass of broken and lifeless flesh. Vetterli was holding a seared arm, where a bullet had clipped him. Lackey was wounded and, with Caffrey, was soon hurried to a hospital. Caffrey was dead a few minutes after arrival at the hospital. Lackey recovered months later.

So rapid, so brutal, was the attack that several minutes elapsed before the bewildered crowd that was moving across the plaza and on the walks in front of the station knew what had happened. As if they were enveloped by a mist, the murderers sped away in a motor car.

ONLY a few had seen them and only two appeared to have any sort of description for the investigating officers. Mrs. Lottie West, in charge of the Travelers' Aid at the station, said one of the gunners looked like pictures she had seen of "Pretty Boy" Floyd. Mike Fanning, motorcycle patrolman, who rushed up the street to the scene, gave a meager description that was not adequate for general identification purposes.

The numbness that traditionally follows such a tragedy faded soon and an investigation such as this nation rarely has seen began to unfold. In what follows, the steps of that investigation are traced.

While the announced theory of the authorities was that the murderous attack was made in an attempt to free Nash, another theory was advanced, and probably is still held by some persons, as to the real cause of the slaughter. This was that the gunners were there to kill Nash and that they shot the officers also in making their escape. According to this theory, Nash was marked for death because it was feared by other criminals that he had "snitched" or would "snitch" on them. In support of this reasoning, it was pointed out that the usual practice is for one prison guard to return a man to prison; that a guard of several officers indicates need of protecting the prisoner from underworld enemies—particularly a prisoner who is considered valuable for information he may give. Furthermore, there was evidence that Nash was killed in the first volley from the gunmen, and it was argued that gangsters who were risking their lives to rescue a pal would be more careful than that.

Whichever explanation is correct, ordinary reasoning told the investigators that the beginning of their quest was at the arrest of Nash in Hot Springs.

Surely Nash would have acquaintances there, and so quietly and speedily was his transfer to Leavenworth begun that only by telephone or telegraph could the assassins know that he was on the way to Leavenworth.

With this in mind, agents began a careful check of communications from Hot Springs to Kansas City and elsewhere. As usually is the case, a lead developed that appeared to stand out above many of the others. The Department of Justice officially has described this event.

Immediately after the arrest of Nash became known in Hot Springs a telephone call was put in to Mrs. Frances Nash, the criminal's wife, by one Richard Tallman Galatas, the Government learned. Galatas informed Mrs. Nash that her husband was in Government hands and was to be transported back to Leavenworth at once.

Further, it became known that the criminal's associates were familiar with the route to Leavenworth, and this information, the Government alleges, was transmitted by Mrs. Nash to Louis (Doc) Stacci, at a roadhouse in Chicago. Following the chain of events, it was disclosed that Stacci put in a call to 6612 Edgevale road, Kansas City, the home of Verne C. Miller, a former South Dakota peace officer who had thrown in his lot with criminals and who was known to authorities as a professional machine gunner.

Miller was on a golf course, so a woman the Government says was Vivian Mathis, alias Mrs. Verne Miller, volunteered to take the word to Miller that Nash and the officers were due in Kansas City at 7:15 o'clock the morning of June 17.

In the meantime, Mrs. Nash had been taken by Galatas to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Farmer at Joplin, Missouri, where other telephone calls were made to 6612 Edgevale road. Instructions were passed along, and it is assumed that every detail of the Nash route was laid out; that Miller laid full plans for the advance on the officers, the releasing of Nash and the quick flight so vital to success.

But, obviously, Miller could not do it alone; the hazards were too great, the element of uncertainty too strong for him, and he began looking for fellow gunners, hard-bitten fellows who would remain cool, who would follow orders to the split second and who could be depended on to play their roles like veterans. Such men, as is easily understood, were hard to find, but he found them and the final stage was set.

The gunners—three of them—set out for the Union Station in a Chevrolet automobile. They waited while parked in a strategic place, saw the officers move across the plaza, and swung into their grisly business.

The tracing of the several telephone calls to Miller, once the Government learned about it, meant one thing for certain—Miller, a known killer, was implicated in some manner, and probably as one of the actual killers. At this time the Government did not know who the two others were.

SO TO Miller's home the officers sped, accompanied by the Jackson County Sheriff, Thomas B. Bash, who stood high in the estimation of peace officers, since he had killed three gangsters in an open fight some months previously. Carefully Miller's home was searched. Every object that might have a bearing on the case was scrutinized minutely. Sheriff Bash even picked up beer bottles for possible fingerprints. He found one print, of utmost importance it developed when the print was classified. It was the imprint of one of the thumbs of "Pretty Boy" Floyd.

Only the day before the killings Floyd and Richetti had kidnaped Sheriff Jack Killingsworth of Bolivar, Missouri, made him ride with them as a hostage and had freed him in the central industrial district in Kansas City. That means Floyd and Richetti were in Kansas City less than 12 hours before the affray and that they had met Miller. It had to be the night before the killings, for Miller had served them with beer and here was the proof—in a thumb print.

It was not hard to believe that Floyd had been concerned in such a desperate business. He had a long career of desperate crime behind him—not so long in years, but thickly studded with violent deeds. Seven killings had already been laid at his door, whether justly or not may never be known, as well as many bank robberies, automobile thefts and kidnapings. This career may be said to have really started in St. Louis, although Floyd had been something of a petty criminal as a youth in Oklahoma. He went to St. Louis in 1925, carrying his single-action .45 revolver, and after some small holdups of stores and stills, took part in the robbery of a Kroger Grocery and Baking Company payroll of more than $11,000. He went to the Missouri State Penitentiary for five years for that job, and, on his release in 1929, lost little time in getting himself a reputation as a bad man.

IN 1930 he was sentenced for a bank robbery in Ohio, but escaped on the way to prison, and fled to the hills of Northwestern Oklahoma, where he made his headquarters most of the time afterward. On his robbing raids he often came into armed conflict with officers of the law, and five of them were said to have fallen before his fire before the Union Station slaughter: a policeman in Ohio, an Oklahoma sheriff, a policeman in New York State and a sheriff and a highway patrolman at Columbia, Missouri. He also was accused of having killed two informers near Kansas City. He figured in many deeds of bravado. Once he took his automobile away from a sheriff who had seized it. He held up a policeman near Tulsa and took his car and clothing, leaving the victim naked on the highway. At Earlsboro, Oklahoma, he held officers at bay while a companion, George Birdwell, visited an undertaking parlor to see the body of his father. Almost any mysterious and murderous attack on "the law" might be attributed to "Pretty Boy" Floyd. The nickname, incidentally, is said to have been acquired in St. Louis, when Detective Sergeant John Carroll (now Chief of Detectives), looking over the prisoners in the Kroger robbery case, spoke of Floyd as "a pretty boy."

Every enforcement officer in the entire country was put on the lookout for Floyd and Richetti. Still, the Oklahoma outlaw was free, and it was not for months that Sheriff Bash heard what he considered confirmation of his theory that Floyd was an actual gunner in the Union Station slayings, and he heard it from the lips of a fear-ridden Italian racketeer, Michael LaCapra, alias Jimmy Needles, who survived the second attempt on his life one summer night at Argonia, Kansas.

LaCapra, known enemy of the slain John Lazia, king of the Kansas City racketeers, Democratic lieutenant and often called the overlord of the Police Department, was removed from Kansas to Sheriff Bash's jail in Kansas City on a Federal motor car charge. And, in the sanctuary of the death cell LaCapra began to talk about John Lazia, about attempts on his own life, which he laid at the door of Lazia's men, who were intent on avenging their chieftain. From LaCapra's lips came a startling story about the Union Station crime.

LaCapra said, according to authoritative sources, that Verne Miller first attempted to arrange for Nash's delivery with the aid of local gangsters, but that Lazia told him he would not permit "his boys" to participate in the affair. Lazia, according to LaCapra's version, told Miller there were two available men in town, and referred the gunner to Floyd and Richetti, then in hiding in a rooming house to which they had gone after releasing Killingsworth.

Then, LaCapra said, Miller met Floyd and Richetti and made plans for the delivery of Nash the following morning.

After the attack, the killers fled in their car. It is asserted that Floyd was wounded, was returned to the rooming house, and a Kansas City doctor attended him (the Government says it knows who the doctor is). Floyd and Richetti are then said to have remained in Kansas City more than 24 hours before being escorted out of the city by local gangsters. Miller immediately went east alone.

Before long the Government publicly announced that the mystery of the murders had been solved and that Floyd, Richetti and Miller were the actual participants. That brought chills to the Italian gangsters of Kansas City for the LaCapra disclosures had hinted strongly at a local tieup with the criminals in the case.

Henchmen of Lazia shouted that the LaCapra testimony was rubbish, that he was talking the talk of a desperate man who knew his life was short once he was released from the sanctuary of his cell. They insisted Lazia was in no way connected with the attack on the officers. Lazia himself, of course, could not speak out in his own behalf.

The early leads established by the Government resulted in accusations against Miller, Stacci, Mrs. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Farmer, Mrs. Nash and Galatas and his wife, and before long several of them were in custody. Galatas, however, was elusive and for more than a year was free, although hunted. Then, on October 10, this year, came a Federal announcement from Washington that Galatas had been taken at New Orleans nearly three weeks previously, and that the case was ready for disclosure to the public.

Galatas secretly was removed to Kansas City where he was indicted by a Federal grand jury as an alleged conspirator in the Nash plot.

ALSO, it was pointed out at this time that the Government was without power to try the accused persons for murder, because a Federal officer had not been killed on Government property. The Government's charge would be conspiracy, but the State could act on the murder charges.

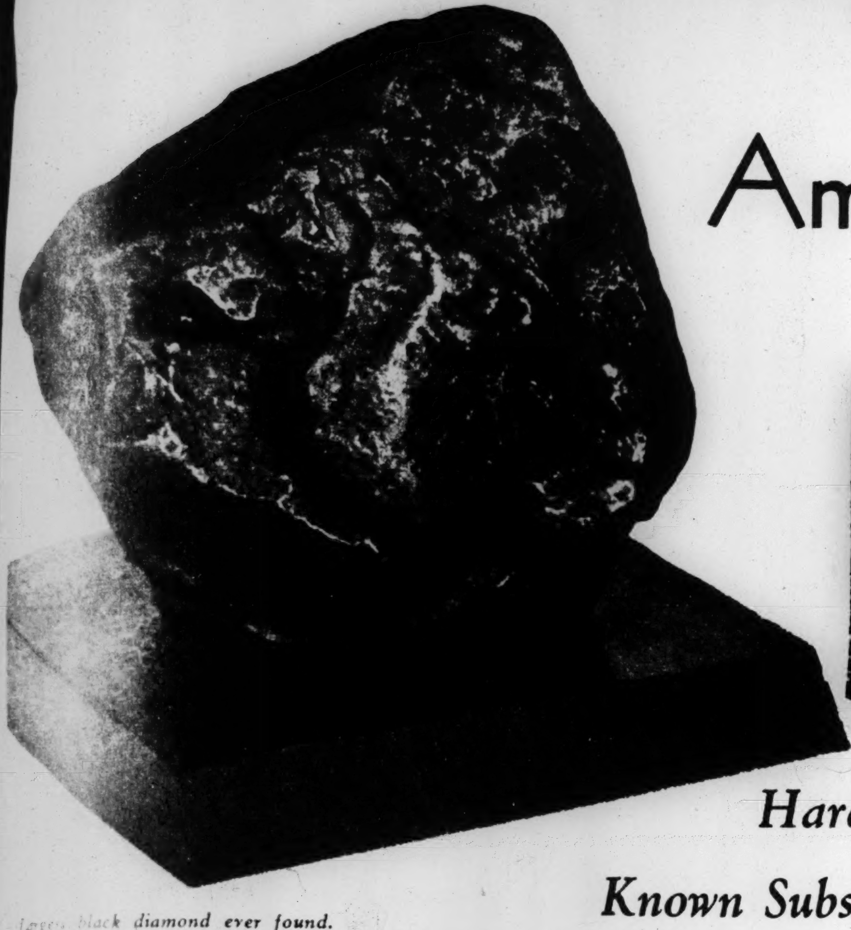
Everywhere Government agents redoubled their efforts to capture Floyd and Richetti. In spite of the marshaling of forces, the hunted men eluded their pursuers, and for a time no tangible clews were reported, until Richetti was captured October 20, near Wellsville, Ohio.

That was enough for the Government agents.

Richetti in Ohio meant Floyd was somewhere near. And a few days later, near East Liverpool, Ohio, the Federal officers shot the desperado to death.

Thus the three gunmen accused of having slain the five men at the station were accounted for. Miller and Floyd dead (Miller was found beaten to death in Detroit late in 1933), Richetti captured, and recently indicted. But the story does not end here, for the Government plans to go ahead with prosecution of the several others suspected of having been involved in the negotiations, both before and after the killings.

The BLACK DIAMOND—Now Among World's Most Precious Minerals



Largest black diamond ever found. It came from Brazil and is valued at $350,000.

Hardest Known Substance in the World, It Is Priced as High as $150 a Carat Though Once No More Valuable Than Coal.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

NEW YORK.

ON AN outstretched hand lay precious stones that a thief wouldn't bother to pick up. They didn't look precious. There was no sparkle to them, no beauty. A gandy er wouldn't wear one to a dog fight. Yet the handful was worth $100,000, and worth it in a truer sense than bright, ornamental jewels of equal price, for each of these dull, unlovely pebbles that looked like cinders or bits of dirt was destined for productive work. Hardest of substances, they were black diamonds, drudges of gemdom—but valued more highly than most drudges.

David Bandler, member of a firm of diamond dealers, held the $100,000 handful the other day and told about the black diamond, which has become such an important factor in mining and heavy industry that it has commanded a price as high as $150 a carat. Bandler had just returned from Brazil, where virtually all the black diamonds are found and where his firm has a government concession for mining them.

"Back in Civil War days," said Bandler, "these stones were packed in herring barrels and sold for 25 cents a carat. A Dutchman once used a [illegible]-carat diamond worth $250,000 as a counter-weight on a door."

Today black diamonds are among the world's most precious gems; ordinarily they bring more money in the open market than white diamonds. Their distribution over the globe is extremely limited. In Brazil, the one country in which they are produced in quantity, thousands of persons gain a livelihood from mining them.

A peculiarity of the traffic in black diamonds is that, despite their high value they need no special protection. Thieves can't pawn them. They have no value as jewelry. Unidentified persons can't sell them, because all legitimate dealers in black diamonds are well known among the mining and industrial firms which use these stones.

The chief virtue of a black diamond is, of course, its hardness. No earthly substance is known that will cut a black diamond. It can't be done by any tool yet devised by man. Formerly it was the white diamond which reigned supreme as the acme of hardness, but soon after an Amsterdam diamond cutter experimented with black diamond dust in the cutting of white diamonds, it was recognized that the black diamond is even harder than the white. And besides, said Bandler, they're tough. They have no planes of cleavage like white diamonds and consequently they are ideal cutting tools.

Rock cores as small as broomhandles and as large as marble columns have been extracted with black diamond drills. Black diamonds have bitten through more than one mile of slate, limestone, granite and quartzite. Black diamonds have bored into millions of tons of iron ore on the Mesaba Range. Black diamonds are exploring bridge and skyscraper foundations. They are searching for water tunnel sites. The Bandlers have sold the Federal Government enough black diamonds to drill 300,000 feet of rock at Boulder Dam. Wherever industry requires supreme hardness and toughness, the dealers in black diamonds find a market for their wares.

Ten years ago a member of the Bandler firm made a sudden invasion of the diamond fields centering in the State of Bahia, Brazil. European dealers had brought about an impasse in the American market by a sudden stoppage of importations. A combine of shrewd traders had closed the regular channels of buying to all Americans.

Disguising his mission under an assumed name, Bandler appeared among the traders. At that time the black diamonds were commanding $60 to $70 per carat. He bought the gems from independent traders. The European combine jumped prices and before long there was a lively contest for ownership of the little black pebbles.

BANDLER and his competitors bid against each other until the price had soared to $150 a carat. At this all-time record high the backbone of foreign resistance was broken, and for an outlay of $1,000,000 in cash the Bandlers were allowed to trade openly in the black diamond market.

Since the supply of black diamonds could scarcely keep up with the demands of industry, Bandler determined to penetrate the interior and see for himself how the diamonds were found. He received ample discouragement on all sides. His competitors described the terrors of yellow fever, of snakes, mosquitoes and wild Indians. On investigation, however, he discovered that there had not been a case of yellow fever in Bahia for two years, so thorough had been the work of the Rockefeller Foundation.

A French hotel keeper warned Bandler against the perils of the jungle. "Thank God," he said, "I managed to come out alive. I once made the trip to the interior, having visions, like yourself, of becoming the king of carbon. But now, I tell you, I am thankful to be the king of soup."

Undismayed by all these warnings, Bandler went to the jungle diamond mines. He found to his amazement that they were being worked by the most primitive methods. Sitting on his mule, Bandler thought of how much easier it would be to achieve better results with machinery. Not one diamond miner had invested more than $5000 in his holdings, and there was not a wheelbarrow or pump in the district.

Seeing the great opportunity for mechanical operation, Bandler engaged a canoe and sailed down the Paraguassu River. He examined lands and made a reconnaissance map of the district.

Later he interested the Government in his proposition to establish mechanical mining methods and was granted the first concession, permitting him to exploit the mineral resources for 30 years on a royalty basis.

THE Bandlers purchased Mocombo, a farm of 40,000 acres, for $60,000, which gave them rights on one side of the river. Later they bought 70,000 acres on the opposite side. This concession and property gave the Bandlers mineral rights to a tract of about 18 miles on both sides of the Paraguassu River, the richest black diamond region in the world.

But this marked only the beginning of a hard task. Supplies, machinery and equipment had to be hauled up the river by canoe and the natives had to be instructed in the care and use of machinery.

At the beginning of operations, 90 per cent of the miners contracted virulent malaria. The Bandlers hired an American doctor and his staff of mosquito experts. They reduced the violence of the fever and confined it to two per cent of the population.

The black diamonds are mined on the surface, from alluvial deposits in the river bed. All the richest deposits have already been exhausted, and it becomes increasingly difficult to separate the diamonds from the diamond dirt. Without modern mining machinery, the price of black diamonds would undoubtedly soar to new highs.

The Bandlers have already invested more than $700,000 in machinery. One thousand tons of freight had to be hauled to the concession. At Bahia the machinery was placed on sailing barges and hauled 50 miles up the river. The next step took it 160 miles by rail and the journey was completed with a canoe trip of 40 miles.

One of the paradoxes of black diamond mining and trading, according to Bandler, is that there is no record of anyone having been robbed, cheated or defrauded in the Bahia district. Native miners are very trustful of prospective buyers, and hand over diamonds for examination without demanding a receipt. It is commonplace for a buyer to ride into the jungle with $100,000 in cash on his person and return to the city with its equivalent in black diamonds. The authorities and the natives themselves would deal harshly with anybody even suspected of robbery. The Brazilians have great respect for personal property rights.

Of course, the difficulty of selling the black pebbles in a secret market is what deters would-be robbers. Lone salesmen travel to remote mining camps in America and Canada without protection. They are safe because black diamonds are not negotiable.

BEFORE the African production of white diamonds, Brazil was the largest diamond producer in the world. At that time it was a colony of Portugal and slaves worked the mines.

It is legendary that a slave who found a black diamond would be rewarded with his freedom. A black diamond had never been found anywhere but in Brazil. The operators of the South African Kimberly mines have to depend upon Brazilian diamonds in their drilling operations.

The size of industrial black diamonds ranges from one-sixteenth carat up to several hundred carats. Large stones are rare; a 3078-carat black diamond is the largest found so far. Since it was too hard to cut, it was crushed and broken up and used to develop the Mesaba iron range.

In the past few years the Bandlers have handled black diamonds ranging from 100 to 450 carats.

According to one of Tiffany's gem experts, the finest white diamonds also come from Brazil. It has been said that the largest white diamond on record was discovered in Brazil. It was called the Braganza and weighed 1680 carats when discovered, some time between 1741 and 1797. Some experts dispute the claim that it was a white diamond, believing it was a topaz. However, the famous "Star of the South," a white diamond weighing 254 carats, was discovered in Brazil in 1853.

SKETCHES FROM LIFE

High Lights on Unusual Personalities

MRS. RUFUS L. TAYLOR
VLADIMIR KANAZIREFF

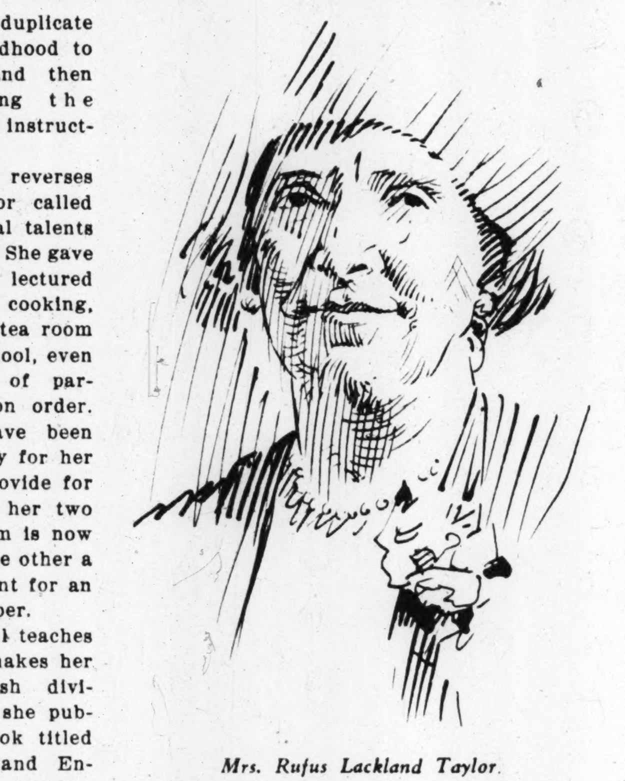
She Excels in Two Inconsistent Avocations—Cooking and Bridge

GAGSTERS, playing their whimsical variations on the theme of the woman who spends all afternoon at bridge and then rushes home to prepare dinner with a can opener, wouldn't care for Mrs. Rufus Lackland Taylor. She takes all the air out of that wheeze. Mrs. Taylor will play bridge all afternoon—real bridge, too—then rush home and into the kitchen, and presently emerge with a dinner that is at once a work of art, a marvel of science, a treat to the stomach and a benison to the soul.

This confounding of jokesmiths is due to the singular fact that Mrs. Taylor considers cooking fully as important as bridge. She likes to cook as well as she likes to play bridge. And she has attained such proficiency in doing both—she has won a national bridge tournament, and people who have experienced unparalleled epicurean pleasure at her table swear she's among the first cooks in the land—that out of the two quite unrelated, even antagonistic activities, she has created a double-barreled career.

Mrs. Taylor's two outstanding talents might afford a basis for a sprightly little brawl between geneticists and behaviorists. Did she inherit her card sense from her father, who took his cards seriously and played them expertly? Or did this faculty result from the sharp, relentless competition at the card table that her father required of her as a child, and from standing long hours beside his chair at poker games, occasionally gravely taking a little-girl sip of his toddy? Did her culinary skill come to her in chromosomes from a mother and father who appreciated fine food and knew how to prepare it? Or is it merely a natural result of her early environment and training; of living in a household where good cooking was as essential as good manners. Perhaps it doesn't matter. Anyway, her family seems to have had a good deal to do with the way she turned out.

BEFORE her marriage to Rufus Lackland Taylor, who died some years ago, she was Caroline Newman. Her father was Socrates Newman, her mother was Lina de Vitalis; both were of French ancestry. The family was "well fixed" and socially prominent. Caroline received her schooling at convents and at the Sarbonne in Paris. Her expertness in cooking was developed by observation at home, by going into the kitchens of Southern France on trips to Europe, by courses at the Cordon Bleu, the famous cooking school in Paris, and by experimentation inspired by her interest in the subject. In cards, she kept up with the popular trend by progressing from the duplicate whist of her childhood to auction bridge and then contract, studying the games with expert instructors.



Mrs. Rufus Lackland Taylor.

When financial reverses came, Mrs. Taylor called on her two special talents to provide income. She gave bridge lessons, lectured and wrote on cooking, helped operate a tea room and a cooking school, even prepared dishes of particular delicacy on order. Her earnings have been sufficient not only for her support but to provide for the education of her two sons, one of whom is now a naval officer, the other a Paris correspondent for an American newspaper.

Mrs. Taylor still teaches bridge and still makes her cooking pay cash dividends. Recently she published a little book titled "French Sauces and Entrees," in which she has condensed and simplified elaborate recipes and given them individual touches drawn from her own experience. A St. Louis gourmet of wide acquaintance with fine food wrote her about the book: "It is remarkable for the very choice selection and the comprehensive yet concise treatment of the subject."

The cooking in which Mrs. Taylor excels is, of course, of the French type. One of the things she tries to achieve in every dish is a blending of flavors, so that no one ingredient monopolizes the taste. One of the highest tributes one can pay to her skill is to eat with enjoyment something she has cooked and wonder what the dickens it is.

Eternal vigilance is the price of superior cooking as well as of liberty, in Mrs. Taylor's opinion. That, and taking pains.

"I never leave the stove when I'm cooking," she says. "And I never stop tasting. You've simply got to watch a meal in the making. You can't put something on the stove, then go and take a nap and expect it to turn out perfectly. When I roast meat, for example, I keep basting it almost continually.

"A cook should be willing to go to all sorts of trouble to get results. When I told a cook once how to prepare a certain dish which contained sieved chicken livers, she said the livers would have to be cooked before they could be put through the sieve. I said no, they should be sieved raw so that the proper flavor would be obtained by cooking them in the pulpy state. She said it couldn't be done. So I put them through the sieve myself. It took me all afternoon but I think the result was worth the trouble." She smiled as if savoring again that toothsome product of her skill. Mrs. Taylor is very appreciative of good food. Unlike many women, she enjoys eating what she herself has cooked.

The most difficult thing to cook? "An omelette," says Mrs. Taylor unhesitatingly, "is, I think, the hardest to get just right. The greatest dexterity is required to make it hold together and still be smooth and fluffy. The eggs must be given just the right amount of beating, the cooking must be timed almost to the second, it must be flipped in just the right way. The pan should be of just the proper size; incidentally, there should be a pan for omelettes which is not used for anything else. I am opposed to the use of flour thickening or milk. Perfect omelettes are not very common in this country. Plenty of mine have been flops."

As for her favorite dish, she has never been able to decide between chicken chaud-froid and mussels a la mariniere. Both, she declares, make her gastric juices fairly bubble with enthusiasm.

Cards and cooking don't make up Mrs. Taylor's whole life. She is extremely fond of music, enjoys the theater, likes to get out in the country. She used to ride, hunt and fish a lot. Now that she has given up such strenuous diversions, she devotes a good deal of time to reading, a great part of it in French.

SHE reads much poetry, and that seems rather odd to her. Habitually she is engaged with several books at once.

Then she has many friends. She's known as "good company." A sociable, hospitable woman, with an engaging, off-hand manner.

Although living in an apartment with a pocket-size kitchenette, she frequently has guests for a meal. Not long ago she served a dinner for 10 persons. That, she admits, required some finessing, and when she had managed it she rather felt as if she had brought off a Grand coup.

Her good nature is even equal to a humorously philosophical acceptance of what many disciples of good living would consider a major tragedy. Purveyor of gastronomic delight, she now has to deny herself much of such enjoyment; her health has forced her to go on a diet. She doesn't like that, but she's amused by the irony of it.

KEITH KERMAN.

Once a Leader in the Balkan Wars—Now a Pacifist

FROM early manhood Vladimir Kanazireff "always had a crazy idea" that he must become a diplomat. With that intention he went across Western Europe, across the Atlantic, halfway across America—making part of that journey not once, but several times. His chosen career has always eluded him. Each time it seemed within his grasp he was called back to war; he has spent most of his life as a soldier. His nearest approach to diplomacy, an appointment as Bulgarian Consul in Petrograd, was stopped short by his country's entry into the World War. And now he is a school teacher in St. Louis, his ambition still frustrated, though it has ceased to be important by this time.

Vladimir Kanazireff was brought up on the Macedonian revolution, as he says. It was a dominating motive in his life, even from childhood. "But I have been in America for 12 years now," he says. "I have outgrown my hatreds and my early chauvinism. Now I can admit that we, too, have made mistakes." Yet Kanazireff is not an old man. Slightly past 50, he seems much younger.

At times, however, his face takes on the weary look of great age. "I have seen such paradoxes," he says, "—a priest, with a cross in one hand and a Bible in the other, this standing for charity and that saying 'you must not kill,' leading a regiment into battle, running before them to the slaughter." Speaking like that, his deep eyes take on a heavy, brooding look. But a moment later his thin, muscular brows are alive, his cloven chin is vibrant with broken English words, a long, impatient hand shoves back a fugitive strand of his fine, black hair. Tall, slender Vladimir Kanazireff still looks very much the aristocrat, with his long, delicate and slightly aquiline nose, his sensitive lips and high forehead.

He was born a Macedonian, in the town of Razlog, which is situated in a lovely valley between three great, snow-capped mountains. That is now a part of Bulgaria, though Serbs and Greeks both claim that the Macedonians are their compatriots. But at that time the entire section was under the despotic rule of Turkey and had been kept in subjection for five centuries.

Although Vladimir Kanazireff has lost the bitterness engendered by lifelong experience with Balkan quarrels, he still becomes passionate in describing the Turkish oppression of his people. Macedonians had to wear a distinctive sash and walk in the streets with their heads bowed and their hands in a supplicating attitude. If one went down the street looking jaunty and carefree, he was a marked man. Their rulers demanded abject humility. Their judges were stupid and indifferent. There were summary executions and no civil justice.

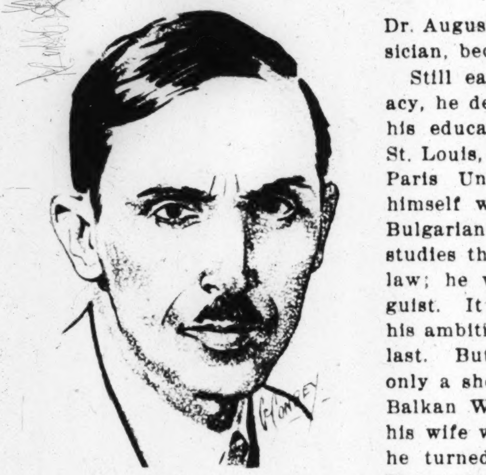
"The result of this," Kanazireff says, "was that we had to lie and simulate and hide our feelings. This developed features not so pleasant in our people. They became cruel as a result of sudden, unjustified killings. We bore the Turkish yoke for many centuries." His English intonation has in it traces of Russian, Turkish, French, Bulgarian, Slovene—all of which he speaks fluently.

Kanazireff's own family (there were eight children, four boys and four girls) were less restricted than most, for the father was politically prominent and acted as emissary to the Turkish provincial authorities. This gave them greater boldness than some of their neighbors, and got them into no end of trouble, but he himself kept out of the strife for a time. After he had finished school, he was sent to the Military College at Sofia. There young Kanazireff acquired a deep love for the Bulgarians and strengthened his antipathy for Greeks, Serbs and Turks. When he was graduated in 1901 he became an officer in the Bulgarian Army.

Two years later the rebellion was ripe and Kanazireff had to leave the Bulgarian Army to go home and fight for his own people. He describes the war-like bands, the comitadji, one of which he led, and shows you a book of photographs, strangely reminiscent of an 1890 college year book, except that most of the presidents of the "fraternities" are shown dead on the battlefield. The Macedonians were reconciled to identifying themselves with Bulgaria if they could break the oppressive yoke of Turkey.

IN 1903 Kanazireff was ordered with three other patriots to go to Razlog and organize Bulgarian sentiment among the townspeople. The Turks discovered the plan, which would have resulted in the seizure of the town. They anticipated Kanazireff's group. On a certain day Turkish troops, mobilized in the mosques, rushed out, burned half the town and killed more than a hundred people. The conspirators had to flee to the mountains.

Kanazireff's sister disguised herself as a gypsy girl, went to the house where he had last stayed. It was burned to the ground. She poked in the ashes and found a charred lump of wood, resembling a leg. Immediately she identified it as her brother's—and fainted.



Vladimir Kanazireff.

But Vladimir Kanazireff was far away by this time. With the downfall of the general uprising he had worked so hard at, he went back to Sofia and rejoined the army. He knew that his compatriots were resorting to dynamite terrorism, but felt that he could serve best as an officer, not as a bomb thrower. He remained away from home and waited.

Meanwhile, his desire to be a diplomat became more urgent. When a brother-in-law who lived in America offered to support him if he came here to study, he left the army again and traveled to Granite City, Illinois. Unfortunately, he had not taken the depression of 1907 into consideration. When he arrived here his brother-in-law had become bankrupt and was unable to help him in any way. So he was forced to earn a living by teaching French. One of his pupils, the daughter of Dr. August Rooch, a St. Louis physician, became his wife.

Still eager to get into diplomacy, he decided to get the rest of his education in Paris. He left St. Louis, entered the Sorbonne at Paris University and supported himself with a small job at the Bulgarian legation. His special studies there were in history and law; he was already a good linguist. It seemed for a time that his ambition would be satisfied at last. But he had been at Paris only a short time when the First Balkan War broke out. Leaving his wife with their year-old baby, he turned back to the Balkans. Personal ambition and devotion to his family seem never to have been motives equal in force to Vladimir Kanazireff's patriotism. He was not to see his young wife and their child again for years.

The Balkans wars were too complex to describe in any analytical way here. Suffice it to recollect that they were fought during 1912 and 1913; that Bulgaria, Serbia, Greece and Montenegro were allied against Turkey. Afterwards, Turkey and Rumania intervened when the allies disagreed and began cutting each other's throats, that constituting the Second Balkan War. The first war was fought on three fronts, one of which covered most of Thrace, a triangular province, the eastern angle of which was Constantinople. The western "leg" opposite Constantinople was the Bulgarian frontier.

Kanazireff's part in the conquest was highly important, though obscure. It was his duty to prevent the Turks from landing reinforcements on the shore of the Sea of Marmara, a large part of their troops being bottled up in the Dardanelles. He was then a Major in command of two battalions stationed near Shar Keui. For his valorous action in defending that port with exhausted troops, outnumbered 100 to 1, he was awarded Bulgaria's Medal of Bravery. It was at that battle that the Turks executed 25 severely wounded Bulgarians under the flag of the Red Cross. Kanazireff has never forgotten the attendant horrors.

After the Balkan Wars he went back to Paris and was graduated in 1914. The following year he got his appointment as consul to Petrograd, but had only held it a few months when his country entered the World War as an ally of Germany. He was made Chief of Staff of the so-called Occupation Brigade in Serbia and was shocked by the cruelty of the treatment of civilians behind the Macedonian front.

HE IS temperamentally and intellectually averse to terrorism and tried his best to put an end to the barbaric methods he saw on both sides. A captured French dragoon revealed to him that French officers had depicted his troops as cannibals, but his photographs show him playing backgammon with a captured English officer. There were humane and humorous sides to the war and these did not escape him, though they stand out less than the hideous barbarity.

"No one who has not seen war," he says, "could imagine its utter horror. The truth is much too awful!"

Although Kanazireff's conduct as an officer has won him seven orders, including Germany's Iron Cross, he is now an ardent pacifist. He came back to St. Louis to join his wife and daughter, following two years of effort to free Macedonia after the Armistice. At that time he supported himself as an attorney, but the insurrections and terrorism in his country were so ever-present that he could not ask his family to live there; many of his friends were murdered before he left for America.

Now he is a United States citizen. He got a job as school teacher here on his return, working at first as a substitute and straining himself so much in trying to get a permanent position that his health was seriously damaged, though wars and revolutions had left no mark.

He now lives in a comfortable, though unpretentious apartment at 5912 McPherson avenue and teaches history at Beaumont High School. He still writes for Macedonian journals and, when possible, goes back with his wife and 23-year-old daughter. The latter says he would like to spend more time helping his much-injured country get straightened out. But he has not the opportunity and reconciles himself by reading every scrap of political news that comes to him. At heart Vladimir Kanazireff is still a Macedonian leader of comitadji, however well tempered by experience.

The Professional Models' War on the Debutantes

the resolution and moved forward en masse to affix signatures. Before the ink was dry reporters were seeking out the society girl models.

"Isn't it the silliest thing?" purred Beatrice Hudson, a post-deb famous for her cigarette ads. "I don't know who these mannequins are or what they mean by this, but I hope they don't picket me. I've done this three years."

"It is foolish to say society girls are inferior models. If they were, they wouldn't be hired. As a matter of fact, I think they're better. Even the amateurs you see in charity fashion shows are better."

Elsie Little, tall, blond daughter of Mrs. Kobbe Little, 101 East Seventy-second street, agreed.

"I don't believe any girl should work if she doesn't have to," Miss Little said. "But girls who need the money, as I do, have just as much right to work as any other girls, even if they are in society. I need the work desperately. It's hard and tiring and you don't do it for fun. It is interesting, but sometimes I put in 10 and 12 hours a day."

"I certainly don't model for fun," declared Mary Taylor. "I do it for money and because I need what I earn."

Mimi Richardson, another post-deb, said: "It shouldn't make any difference whether a girl is in society or not, if she needs the money. Society girls work just as hard as the others, and no one gives them any preference."

NANCY VANE, daughter of an old Philadelphia family, said: "I work because I need the money. The depression just sort of centered around the Vane family—and that's what put me to work."

Said Katherine Pell of Park avenue: "I don't think any girl should compete in a profession like this just for a lark. But neither do I think she should be banned because she's a society girl."

So far, the earnings of the society models have not endangered the working girls who top their profession, such as Winifred Strickland, Betty Wyman, Frances Joyce and Alice Lorraine. But they have taken a heavy toll in the ranks, and if they continue to believe their own stories of the dire poverty in Park avenue's duplex apartments, their inroads will be even more disastrous.

The reason? John Robert Powers, the town's outstanding modeling impresario, tells why: "Clients no longer want the theatrical type of girl for posing. They want the girl who looks as though she has just stepped out of Meadowbrook. She must either be in the Social Register or look as if she ought to be in it. She's got to look Park avenue. The chorus girl type is out. Modeling used to be done mostly by actresses, but society women are dominating the field now.

"I don't mean my models have to be society girls. It doesn't matter whether a girl is born on Sutton place or Second avenue, if she has that unmistakable smartness. When I get a call for a debutante type, I don't say to my secretary: 'Give me a debutante type.' I say: 'Send me someone who looks like a debutante.' Many girls from modest homes have an innate smartness. Well, maybe not many, perhaps one in 100,000. But they have the same chance as the Junior Leaguer. Some girls from Second avenue actually become advertising symbols for Park avenue."

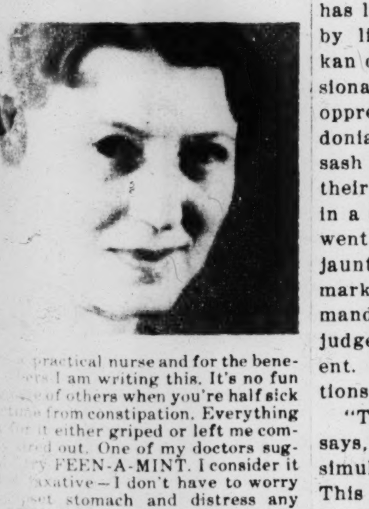
I was half sick all the time



I am a practical nurse and for the benefit of others I am writing this. It's no fun taking care of others when you're half sick all the time from constipation. Everything I took for it either griped or left me completely tired out. One of my doctors suggested I try FEEN-A-MINT. I consider it the ideal laxative—I don't have to worry about upset stomach and distress any more. FEEN-A-MINT certainly gives the system a marvelous and comfortable clearing. It's so easy and pleasant to take that it's wonderful for children and saves struggling with them when they need a laxative.

Chewing gives greater relief

We have hundreds of letters telling of the relief FEEN-A-MINT has given people. It works more thoroughly and more comfortably because you chew it and that spreads the laxative more evenly through the system giving a more complete cleansing. People who object to violent laxatives that cause cramps and griping find FEEN-A-MINT an ideal solution of their problem. Over 15,000,000 men and women can testify to the satisfaction FEEN-A-MINT gives. And it's so easy to take with its refreshing mint flavor. Try it next time. 15 and 25¢ at all drug stores.

THE CHARACTERS

GRUMPY—A very unhappy old bear.
MINERVA—Grumpy's daughter.
TEDDY AND EDDIE—Grumpy's little grandchildren.
BILL BUNNY—An ambitious little rabbit.
RIP AND RIEDA RAC—A pair of house-hunting raccoons.
WILLIE WISDOM—A wise old owl.

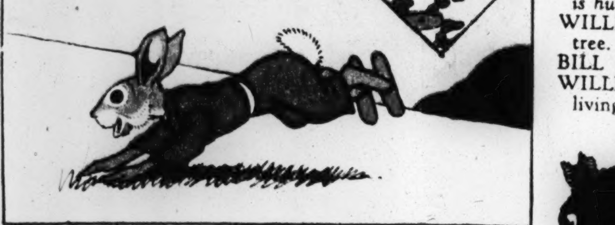
All was peace and quiet in Grumpy's daughter's home. Minerva was busy preparing for their long winter's sleep. Teddy and Eddie were playing on the floor. Suddenly the door opened, the twins let out a cry and ran to their mother. She looked around and there was a much torn Grumpy. He limps over and steadies himself by leaning on a chair as



THE PLAY BEGINS

MINERVA—(Alarmed.) Good gracious, father, what has happened to you?

GRUMPY—O-o-o-oh, it was horrible. I thought that old fool Long Claws was going to kill me.

MINERVA—Long Claws? Surely, father, you've got more sense than to fight that wildcat. How did it happen?

GRUMPY—O-o-o-oh, I was out hunting for a new cave to sleep in this winter, because my old one caved in last spring, and I ran into that no-good Bill Bunny. I told him what I was doing and said I would pay him if he would help me. Bill spoke right up and said he knew of a dandy vacant cave and told me to go over and look at it. So I walked over to the cave and went in, and all of a sudden that fool cat jumped on me and nearly clawed me to pieces. O-o-oh, it was terrible. I ache all over. O-o-oh.

MINERVA—That mean little rabbit. I'll bet he knew all the time that Long Claws lived there.

GRUMPY—Sure he did. I'm going to find Bill Bunny and throw him right smack in that cave. (Poor Bill was absolutely innocent of any intention to harm Grumpy and is totally ignorant of Grumpy's plans for revenge. We find him trying to rent a hollow tree to Rip Rac.)

BILL BUNNY—If I were you, Rip, I'd rent it before someone else does. I'll have Willie Woodpecker fix it up a bit if you'll take it.

RIP RAC—Hm-m-m. Well, that's fair enough. Let's see what Rieda has to say. (They talk it over with Rieda and Rip rents the house. Bill, elated, is hurrying home when he is stopped by Willie Wisdom.)

WILLIE WISDOM—Hello, Bill, I just saw you rent Rip that old hollow tree. What have you hiding in it, a nest of bumble bees?

BILL BUNNY—Of course not.

WILLIE WISDOM—Well, you sent Grumpy to a cave that Long Claws is living in and he got all scratched up. (Bill is frightened and he starts running for home.)

BILL BUNNY—I'll swear to Grumpy I didn't know Long Claws lived in that cave. But I will never make Grumpy believe me. (Meanwhile Grumpy has begun hunting Bill.)

GRUMPY—Wait until I catch that rabbit. He'll swear he didn't know that cat lived in that cave, but he's going to know it after I throw him in there.

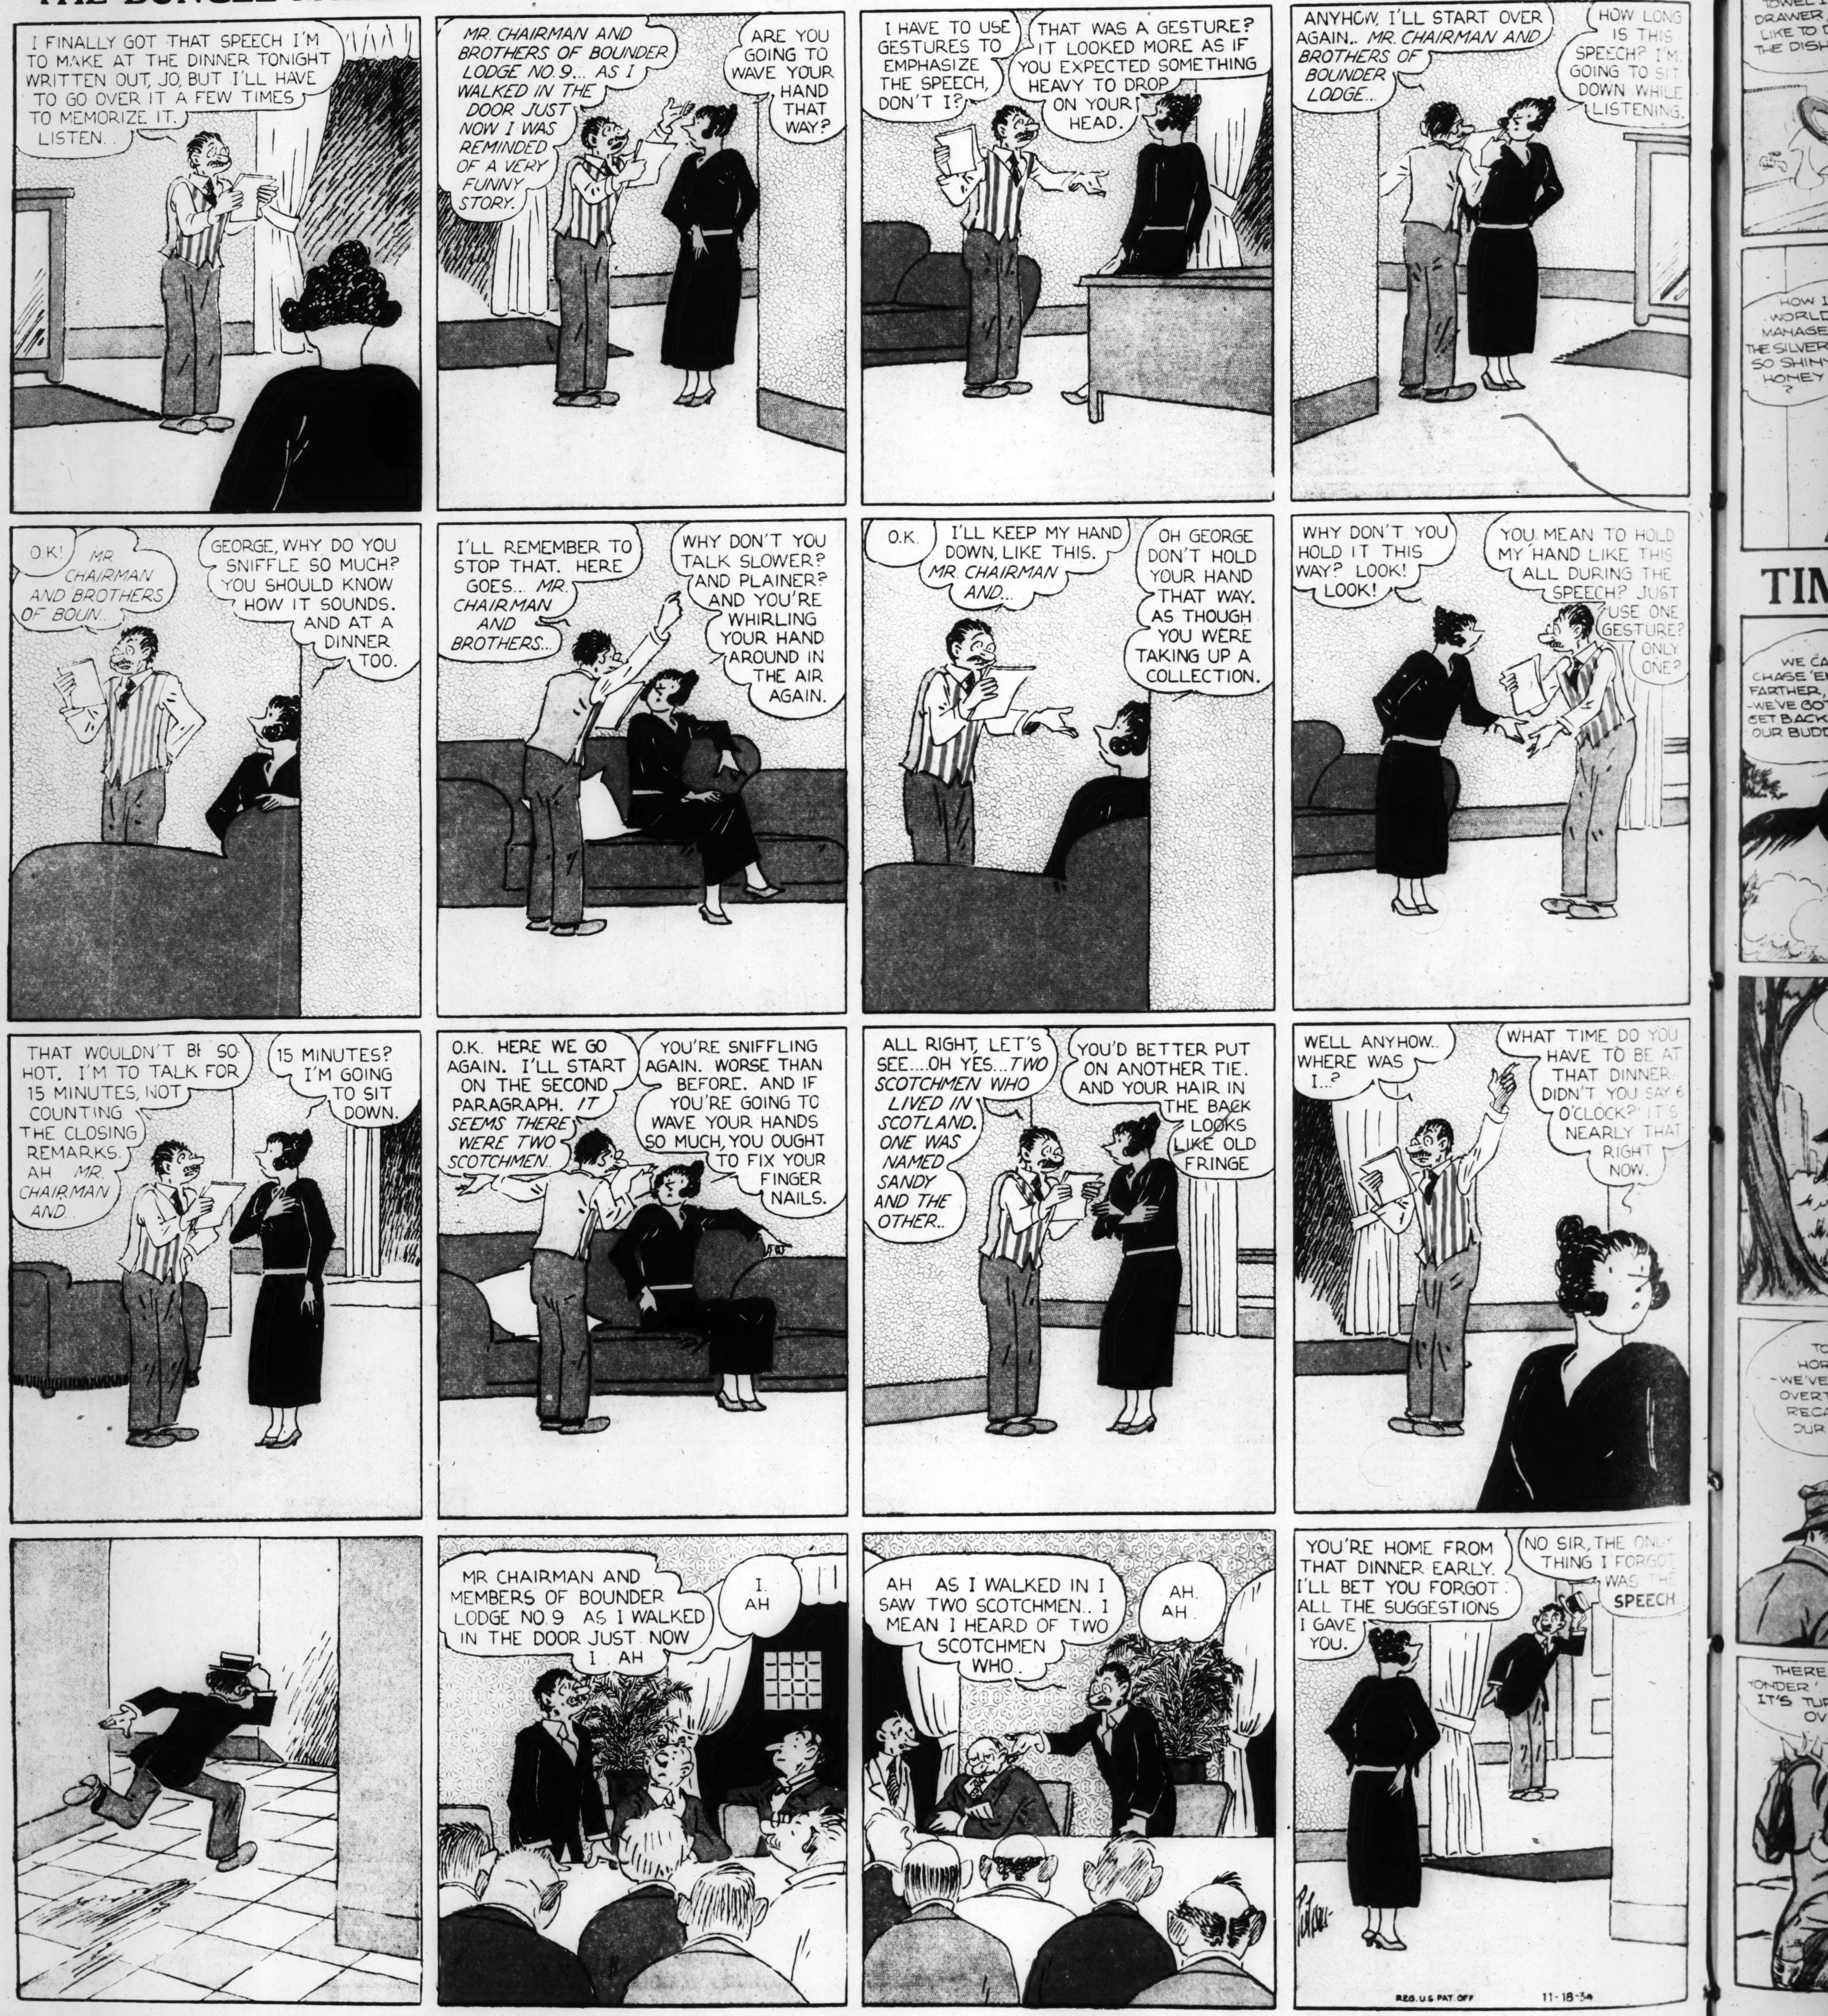
By H. J. TUTHILL



I FINALLY GOT THAT SPEECH I'M TO MAKE AT THE DINNER TONIGHT WRITTEN OUT, JO, BUT I'LL HAVE TO GO OVER IT A FEW TIMES TO MEMORIZE IT. LISTEN..
MR. CHAIRMAN AND BROTHERS OF BOUNDER LODGE NO. 9... AS I WALKED IN THE DOOR JUST NOW I WAS REMINDED OF A VERY FUNNY STORY.
ARE YOU GOING TO WAVE YOUR HAND THAT WAY?
I HAVE TO USE GESTURES TO EMPHASIZE THE SPEECH, DON'T I?
THAT WAS A GESTURE? IT LOOKED MORE AS IF YOU EXPECTED SOMETHING HEAVY TO DROP ON YOUR HEAD.
ANYHOW, I'LL START OVER AGAIN.. MR. CHAIRMAN AND BROTHERS OF BOUNDER LODGE...
HOW LONG IS THIS SPEECH? I'M GOING TO SIT DOWN WHILE LISTENING.
O.K! MR. CHAIRMAN AND BROTHERS OF BOUN..
GEORGE, WHY DO YOU SNIFFLE SO MUCH? YOU SHOULD KNOW HOW IT SOUNDS. AND AT A DINNER TOO.
I'LL REMEMBER TO STOP THAT. HERE GOES... MR. CHAIRMAN AND BROTHERS...
WHY DON'T YOU TALK SLOWER? AND PLAINER? AND YOU'RE WHIRLING YOUR HAND AROUND IN THE AIR AGAIN.
O.K.
I'LL KEEP MY HAND DOWN, LIKE THIS. MR. CHAIRMAN AND...
OH GEORGE DON'T HOLD YOUR HAND THAT WAY. AS THOUGH YOU WERE TAKING UP A COLLECTION.
YOU MEAN TO HOLD MY HAND LIKE THIS ALL DURING THE SPEECH? JUST USE ONE GESTURE? ONLY ONE?
THAT WOULDN'T BE SO HOT. I'M TO TALK FOR 15 MINUTES, NOT COUNTING THE CLOSING REMARKS. AH MR. CHAIRMAN AND..
15 MINUTES? I'M GOING TO SIT DOWN.
O.K. HERE WE GO AGAIN. I'LL START ON THE SECOND PARAGRAPH. IT SEEMS THERE WERE TWO SCOTCHMEN..
YOU'RE SNIFFLING AGAIN. WORSE THAN BEFORE. AND IF YOU'RE GOING TO WAVE YOUR HANDS SO MUCH, YOU OUGHT TO FIX YOUR FINGER NAILS.
ALL RIGHT, LET'S SEE....OH YES...TWO SCOTCHMEN WHO LIVED IN SCOTLAND. ONE WAS NAMED SANDY AND THE OTHER..
YOU'D BETTER PUT ON ANOTHER TIE. AND YOUR HAIR IN THE BACK LOOKS LIKE OLD FRINGE
WELL ANYHOW.. WHERE WAS I..?
WHAT TIME DO YOU HAVE TO BE AT THAT DINNER. DIDN'T YOU SAY 6 O'CLOCK? IT'S NEARLY THAT RIGHT NOW.
MR CHAIRMAN AND MEMBERS OF BOUNDER LODGE NO. 9 AS I WALKED IN THE DOOR JUST NOW I . AH
I. AH
AH AS I WALKED IN I SAW TWO SCOTCHMEN.. I MEAN I HEARD OF TWO SCOTCHMEN WHO..
AH. AH.
YOU'RE HOME FROM THAT DINNER EARLY. I'LL BET YOU FORGOT ALL THE SUGGESTIONS I GAVE YOU.
NO SIR, THE ONLY THING I FORGOT WAS THE SPEECH

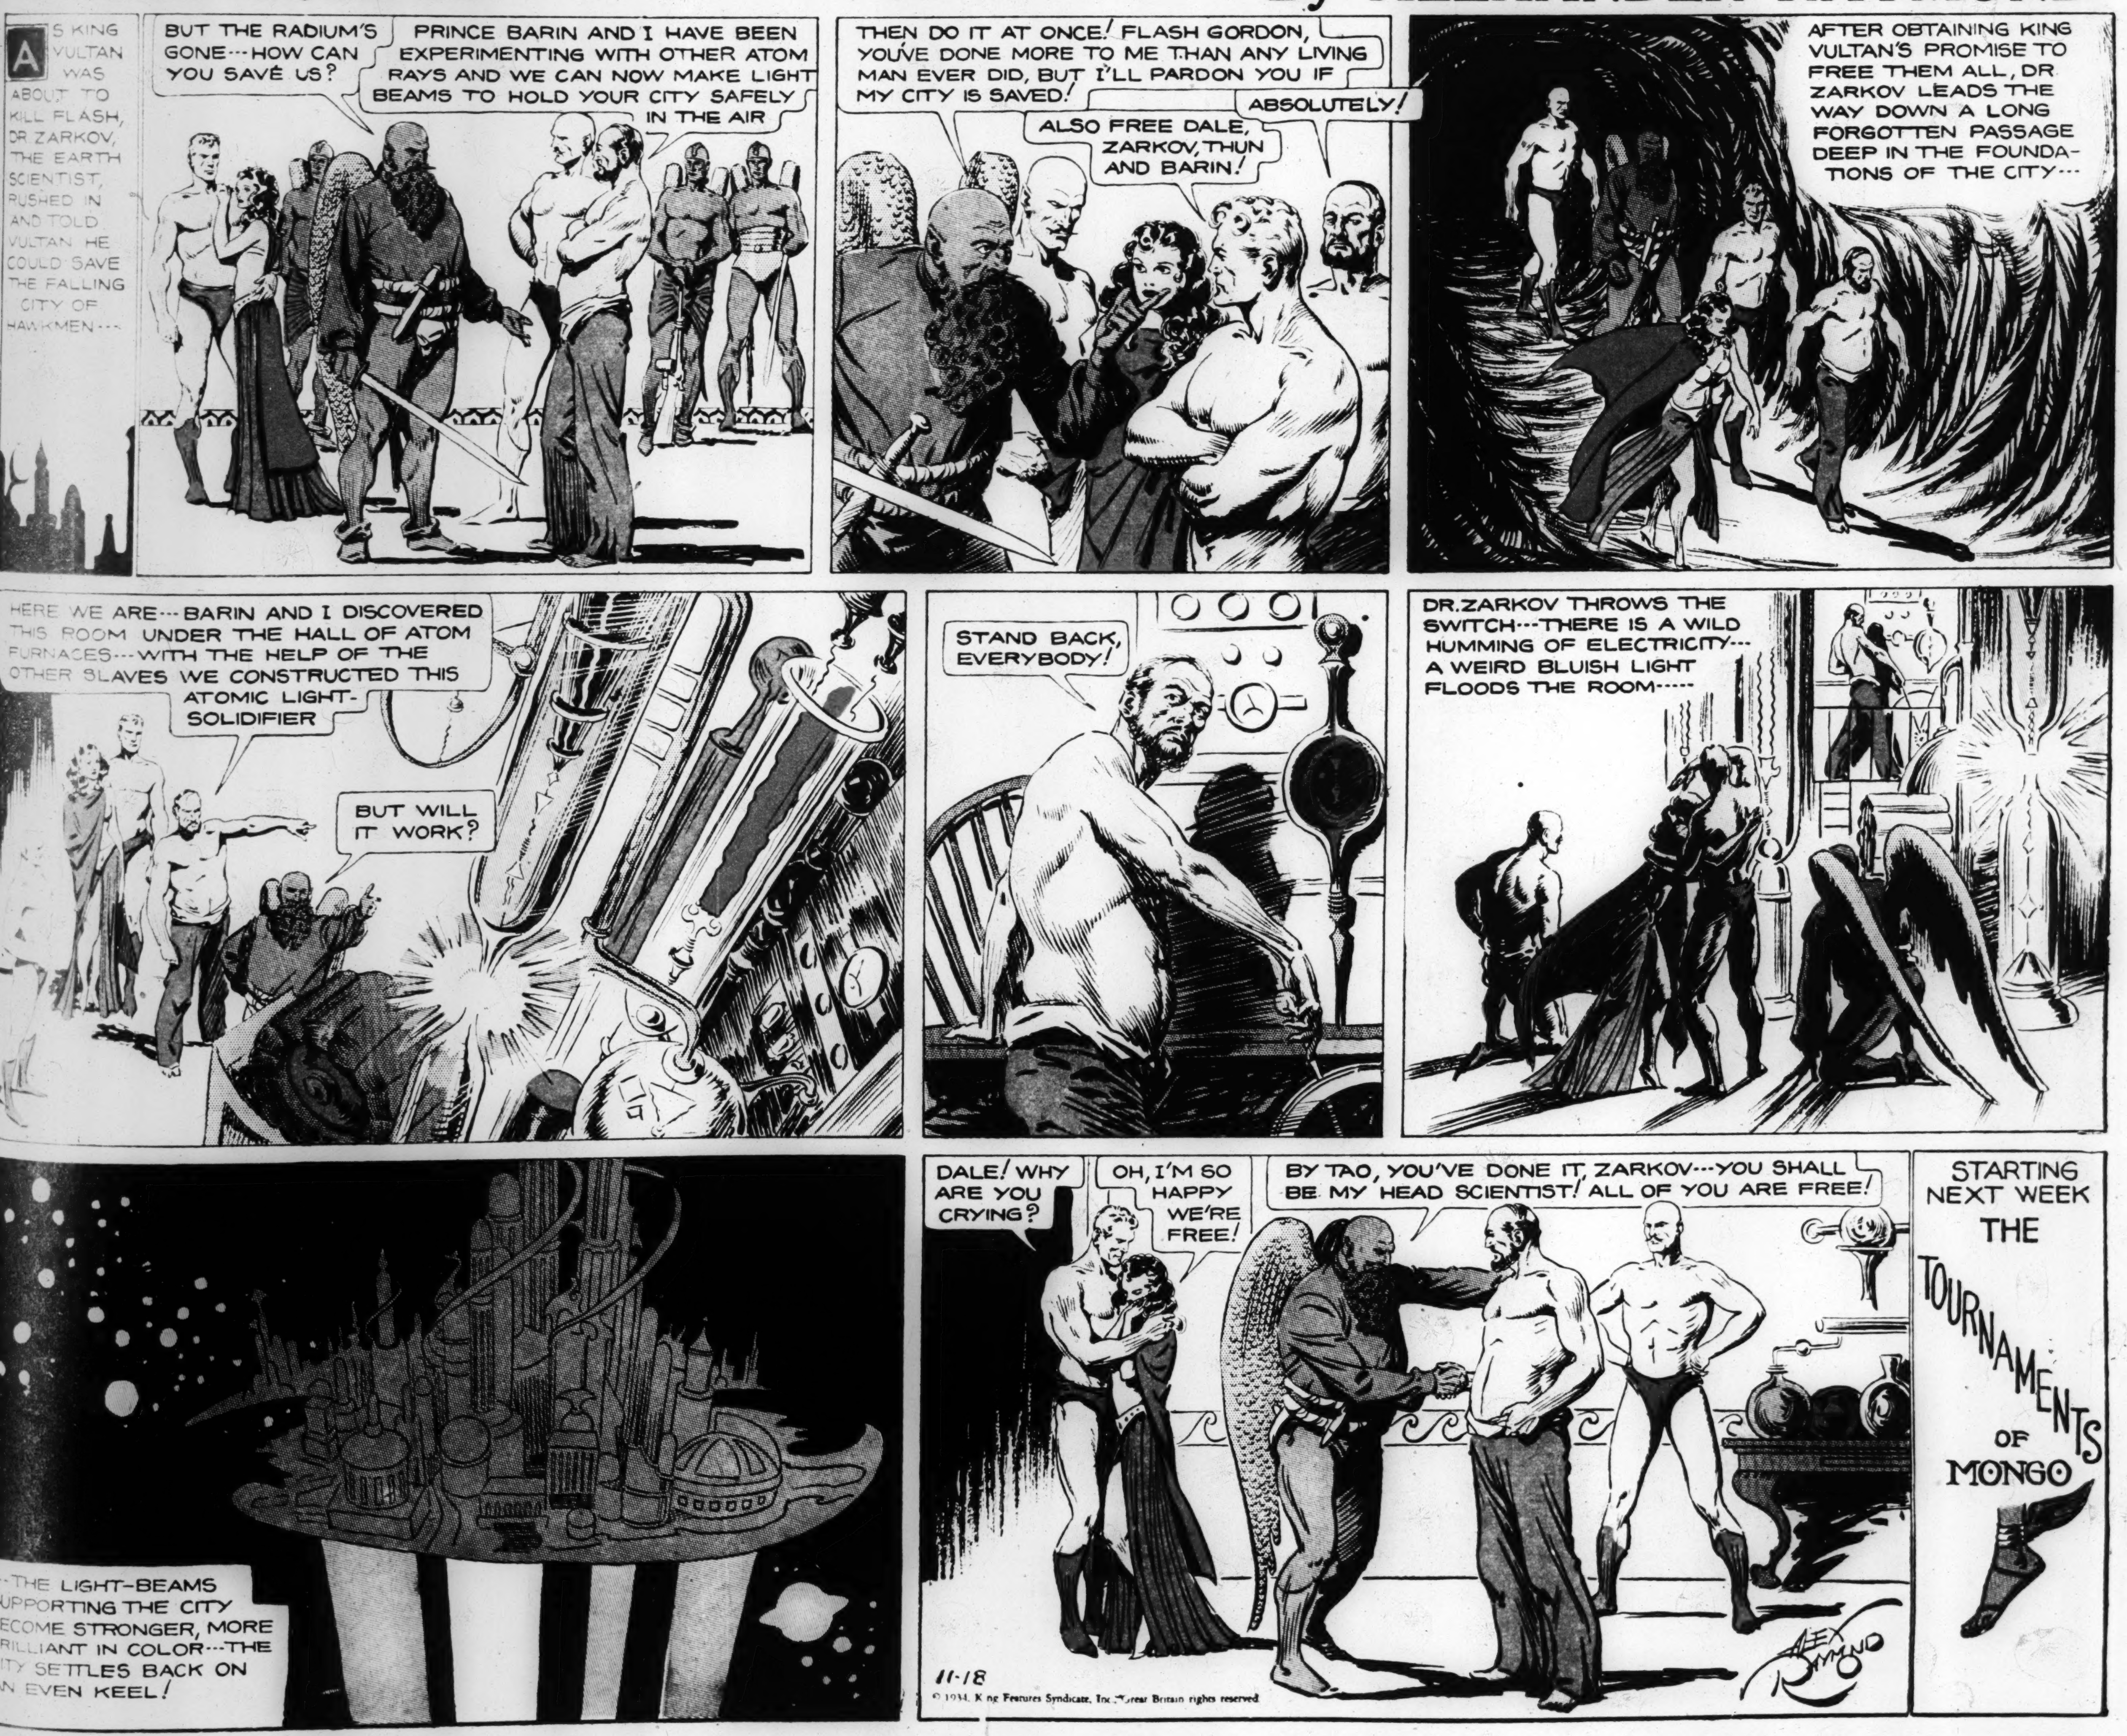
FLASH GORDON ◆ By ALEXANDER RAYMOND



AS KING VULTAN WAS ABOUT TO KILL FLASH, DR ZARKOV, THE EARTH SCIENTIST, RUSHED IN AND TOLD VULTAN HE COULD SAVE THE FALLING CITY OF HAWKMEN---
BUT THE RADIUM'S GONE---HOW CAN YOU SAVE US?
PRINCE BARIN AND I HAVE BEEN EXPERIMENTING WITH OTHER ATOM RAYS AND WE CAN NOW MAKE LIGHT BEAMS TO HOLD YOUR CITY SAFELY IN THE AIR
THEN DO IT AT ONCE! FLASH GORDON, YOU'VE DONE MORE TO ME THAN ANY LIVING MAN EVER DID, BUT I'LL PARDON YOU IF MY CITY IS SAVED!
ALSO FREE DALE, ZARKOV, THUN AND BARIN!
ABSOLUTELY!
AFTER OBTAINING KING VULTAN'S PROMISE TO FREE THEM ALL, DR ZARKOV LEADS THE WAY DOWN A LONG FORGOTTEN PASSAGE DEEP IN THE FOUNDATIONS OF THE CITY---
HERE WE ARE---BARIN AND I DISCOVERED THIS ROOM UNDER THE HALL OF ATOM FURNACES---WITH THE HELP OF THE OTHER SLAVES WE CONSTRUCTED THIS ATOMIC LIGHT-SOLIDIFIER
BUT WILL IT WORK?
STAND BACK, EVERYBODY!
DR.ZARKOV THROWS THE SWITCH---THERE IS A WILD HUMMING OF ELECTRICITY--- A WEIRD BLUISH LIGHT FLOODS THE ROOM-----
---THE LIGHT-BEAMS SUPPORTING THE CITY BECOME STRONGER, MORE BRILLIANT IN COLOR---THE CITY SETTLES BACK ON AN EVEN KEEL!
DALE! WHY ARE YOU CRYING?
OH, I'M SO HAPPY WE'RE FREE!
BY TAO, YOU'VE DONE IT, ZARKOV---YOU SHALL BE MY HEAD SCIENTIST! ALL OF YOU ARE FREE!

UNCLE JIM REVEALS HIS POP CORN SECRET
UNCLE JIM'S COMING FOR THANKSGIVING!
AREN'T WE GOING TO HAVE POP CORN TONIGHT, UNCLE JIM?
YOU BET! I BROUGHT SOME JOLLY TIME POP CORN WITH ME!
POP! POP! POP! POP! POP! POP! POP! POP! POP! POP! POP!
GEE, THIS IS GREAT - UNCLE JIM SURE KNOWS HOW, DOESN'T HE?
THE YOUNGSTERS LOVE POP CORN, BUT I NEVER HAVE ANY LUCK POPPING IT - WHAT'S YOUR SECRET, JIM?
THAT'S EASY, MARY -

"The secret of success in popping corn lies in using corn that is in good popping condition. There's one pop corn that pops every time. It's called Jolly Time Pop Corn."

"Why is Jolly Time better?"

"To pop perfectly, pop corn must contain just the right amount of moisture. Ordinary pop corn often dries out, loses its moisture and then just won't pop worth a cent. On the other hand, Jolly Time Pop Corn is put in perfect popping condition through the special patented Volumized process, which substantially increases the popping volume and makes the popped corn far more tender."

"But why doesn't Jolly Time dry out?"

"Because, after being Volumized, Jolly Time is sealed in air-tight tins so that no moisture can escape. That's why every tin of Jolly Time Pop Corn is absolutely guaranteed to pop, and half the fun of pop corn is in popping it."

Jolly Time is a special variety of the finest hulless pop corn, free from annoying hulls and tough fibers. Every tin absolutely guaranteed to pop perfectly. Get Jolly Time from your grocer, and enjoy the finest pop corn you ever tasted.

BOYS! GIRLS!

SAVE TOPS FROM TINS

GET 6 BIG NEW STAND UP BALLOONS
JOLLY TIME HULLESS POP CORN Guaranteed to Pop

Wouldn't you like six big new stand-up balloons? They're such fun. You'd pay 25c or more for six, but they're given away to make new friends for Jolly Time Pop Corn. Here's how to get yours. Get a tin of Jolly Time from your grocer. Cut out top showing the words "Jolly Time Pop Corn." Send to the American Pop Corn Company, Sioux City, Iowa, along with 10c (coin or stamps) to cover handling and mailing, and we'll send your six balloons at once. Ask mother right now to get some Jolly Time Pop Corn and send for your balloons right away, as this offer closes soon.
